HOUSE No. 568—Situated on a corner lot in North Vancouver, this two-level bungalow commands a view of the water-front and city to the south, and mountains to the north. As the property slopes to the rear, the basement recreation room has full-sized windows to capture the vista, and the garage is neatly placed under the kitchen. Unusual feature is the balcony off the kitchen which leads to the ground level at the rear. The kitchen itself is particularly bright and efficient, with the corner breakfast table adding to its attractiveness. Room arrangement is good, with the exception of the little dining room, which must carry cross-traffic. The owners planted a laurel hedge along the front and side of their beautiful property, which is visible in the photograph. Notice mountains in the distance. Britons Anticipate November Atom Blast

LONDON (AP) — Britons speculated Friday that their second atomic explosion may be set off in Australia within two months. The conjecture followed an announcement that Britain's three top atom men will fly to Australia in early November.

The three are Dr. W.G. Penney, scientific director of Britain's first atomic explosion Oct. 2 in desolate Monte Bello islands off Western Australia; Sir John Cockroft, boss of Britain's Harwell atomic energy plant; and Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, British atomic energy controller.

The announcement said Penney will return to Australia Nov. 5. He is scheduled to be followed by Cockroft on Nov. 10 and Gen. Morgan the next day.

Don't Run Schools

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — "I don't think we should run our schools to accommodate tourist associations," Dr. G.A. Wheable, superintendent of schools, said today in reply to a Canadian Tourist Association request that summer vacation should be extended through September.

"The public has a big investment in their schools and why should their investment stand idle while others make money?" he said. "Anything that would shorten the school year is absolutely out."

The request came from the association's conference in Niagara Falls yesterday. The move would set back Labor Day to the third week in September and extend the vacation season through September.

Oldest Dock Worker

LONDON (CP)—John Harris, 88, believed Britain's oldest dock worker, had to stop work due to a drop in timber shipments. As soon as business improves he plans to go back to work.

Bailieboro W.A. Plans Nov. Bazaar, Dinner

BAILIEBORO. — Bailieboro United Church W. A. met at the home of Mrs. Charles Dawson on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Hugh Fallis, presided and read the scripture.

It was decided to hold a supper and bazaar in the Anglican Church basement early in November. An invitation was accepted from Fraserville W. A. to attend a missionary meeting. It was announced that a missionary rally would be held in Trinity United church in Peterborough.

Outline To Builder Highest Payment You Can Afford

Naturally you want the most house for your dollar. To get it you must help your builder by outlining to him the full amount of the monthly payment which your budget should stand and the amount you originally invest. Ask plenty of questions—make sure that you understand each other perfectly before you permit him to bid.

Make sure, before a detailed cost estimate and bid is made, that the design you have selected is within the general range you wish. Your builder or lumber dealer can tell you this.

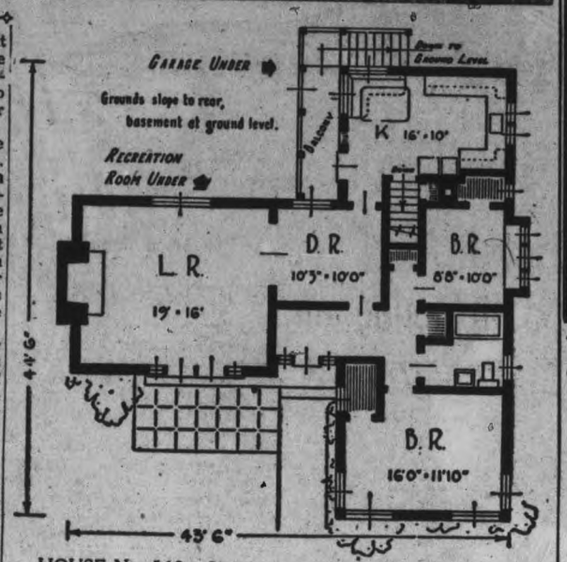
Peculiarly enough, it makes little difference to your builder whether you construct a large or small home. His compensation is based on time and effort a structure requires of him. Small homes take less time and they involve less financial risk. Many builders prefer to build them in large numbers on a modest percentage.

Your builder—contractor is an individual who gathers together for your convenience in one person the functions of as many as 30 different trades and operations. The process of determining the price of a home is one of carefully checking the materials and labour operations in these 30 trades. There are many qualities and many prices for each operation. Someone has to make the decision as to just which grade material shall be used for a certain place in the house and how the work shall be done—it is the answer to this question repeated many times which determines the final cost of your home.

When you take the time to give your builder exact information as to your requirements and wishes there is no reason for him to make guesses and decisions which might unnecessarily boost the cost of the house. In lieu of specific information it is natural for the builder to estimate sufficiently high to cover all contingencies.

If the first estimate on the house you want exceeds your cost limit, don't throw up your hands in despair, go over the plan and specifications step by step with the builder. Every house built is a compromise. Remember that slight changes in the requirements which cut the cost of each item five per cent all along the line may make as much as $1,000 difference in the total cost.

By all means avoid making your builder gamble. If he is sure of his ground and has full knowledge of exactly what is required of him, he will help you get a good house for a fair amount of money. He will not try to profiteer; but if he must take risks, he must protect himself. Remove the risks and you cut your costs.



There is a good rule to follow: "Change your mind before you start the building job—not during it". Have all the "pros and cons" talked out before the building materials arrive at the site. Talk is cheap—but building material and labour cost money.

DO THESE THINGS:

1. Before you spend money for to the general price class into which your choice falls.
2. Question everything. Before you decide on any kind of material or equipment to be sure that some other material wil not do the job as well and at less cost.
3. Make a general list of everything you want in the house and get your builder's opinion item by item.
4. Avoid generalities. The only accurate cost of a building is based on definite specific items.
5. Be sure you know exactly how much you have to spend before you start negotiations.
6. Don't spend all your fund at first—leave yourself a contingent reserve.

Fail To Quell Fire Colliery Sealed Off

NEW WATERFORD, N.S. (CP)—A section of No. 16 colliery was sealed off today after tons of water and carbon dioxide failed to control a fire in the roof strata.

H.C.M. Gordon, Dosco chief of coal operations, said some 300 men would be affected by the shutdown, expected to last three weeks. Majority of them, however, would be transferred to other sections.

The mine, second top producer of Dominion Coal Company, employs 1,100 men and has been idle since the fire was first discovered Monday.

Say TV Humor Real Problem For Comedians

By BOB THOMAS

This week I had a chat with Milton Berle, the longtime (four years) Mr. Television and first major comic to find gold in TV. He had some sage comments about the serious difficulties of being funny.

Television eats comedy material like a mammoth dredger chewing on a river bottom. It is the ultimate in the growing mechanization of humor.

In the 19th century, humorists like Mark Twain could write a few works and live off them for the rest of their lives. Then the focus of humor shifted to the vaudeville stage. Comics could operate the same act for 10 or 20 years without wearing out their welcomes on the various circuits.

TROUBLE FOR HUMOR

But the age of mechanized entertainment spelled trouble for humor. Slapstick flourished in the movies, then gave way to sophisticated comedy. Now that has worn out, and there is little to laugh at in movies.

Radio provided an almost insatiable appetite for comedy. Stars hired large stables of writers. The end result was an impersonal, machine-age type of comedy that provided little laughter.

Now that the novelty is wearing off TV, it is experiencing the same death of real comedy.

Red Skelton is doing a weekly TV show, another on radio and shooting a movie for the theatres at the same time. Bob Hope will be doing a daily radio show, a weekly one, plus occasional TV shows and movies. Milton Berle holds the TV screen for an hour three times a month.

It's impossible for them to be funny all of the time. Even the great Jimmy Durante doesn't always hit the mark, and he's on TV only once a month.

There's one hopeful note: the age of slapstick appears to be passing in TV. The story shows are taking over.

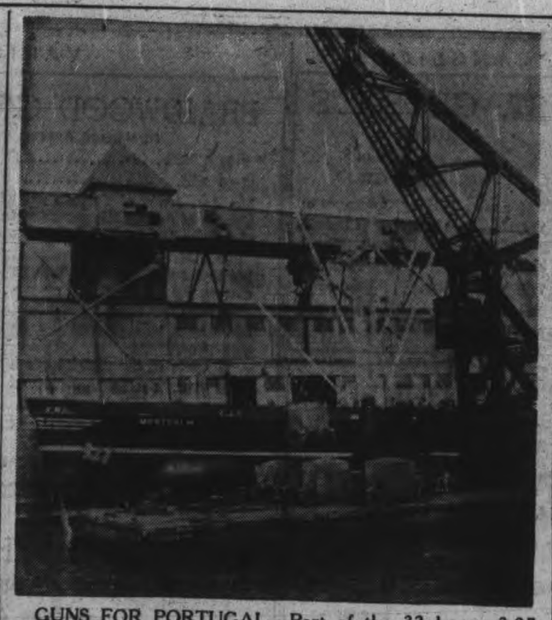
Weekly Newspapers Much Improved—Ford



LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Weekly newspapers have shown decided improvement typographically and editorially in the last 15 years, Arthur R. Ford, Editor-in-Chief and vice-president of the London Free Press, told the Southwestern Ontario Weekly Newspaper's Association yesterday.

Speaking at a luncheon at Highland Golf Club at the annual fall meeting, Mr. Ford noted the "ever-widening use" of pictures to illustrate news stories in daily and weekly newspapers.

Hitchhiker Injured In Car-Truck Crash

TRAFALGAR (CP) — Belmar Thorpe, 19, of London, a hitchhiker, was seriously hurt yesterday when a car driven by John P. Scott, 30, of Galt, was hit by a truck.

Thorpe was a passenger in the Scott car. Police said William Needham, 43, of Cooksville, was the truck driver.

GUNS FOR PORTUGAL—Part of the 32 heavy 3.27 anti-aircraft guns destined for Lisbon, Portugal, are shown here being swung aboard the Canadian freighter Montcalm. The shipment, along with shells for the guns, is a Canadian contribution under the NATO agreement.

How To Place South Monaghan In Organization?

Peterborough district map in the mosaic floor of the vestibule at the City Hall is not to be taken too literally. Its boundaries do not pretend to be exact, but merely to indicate approximately the location of communities Peterborough likes to regard as its neighbors.

Anyway, the Christmas seals committee was meeting the other evening in the City Hall, and as township people are given opportunity to assist this good cause, reference was made to South Monaghan. To several members that township appeared to present a little problem in geography. It looked to be a part of Peterborough county.

However, actual kinship rests with Northumberland in its municipal relationship. It looks in that direction also in provincial affairs, but in federal matters it is part of the riding of Peterborough West.

So, Mrs. Gordon Pammett's claim of South Monaghan for Peterborough the other night had substantial support in the position nature allotted to it, and as the map loosely suggested, but as a county its boundaries and taxes and its local law and government are all attached to Northumberland and its county town of Cobourg.

Got Slow Death Under Nazis

MUNICH, Germany (Reuters)—Admiral Hans Canaris, chief of the German counter-intelligence executed by the Nazis for treason, was given a particularly slow death, a witness said in court here yesterday.

He was strangled until unconscious, then cut down, revived, asked how he liked his foretaste of death, and then strung up again till he was dead, the witness said.

A prison guard, asked how any human could do this, replied that the executioners "got extra schnapps and sausage for that."

The witness who told the story was Fabian von Schlabrendorf, ex-army officer jailed with Canaris for taking part in the July, 1944, plot against Hitler.

He was giving evidence in the trial here of Otto Thorbeck, president of the court martial which sentenced Canaris to death, and Walter Huppenkothen, who prosecuted.

Lutheran Delegates Accept Revised Bible

SEATTLE (AP)—Delegates to the 18th biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America voted last night after a three-hour argument to accept the revised standard version of the Bible.

The action places the largest group in Lutherandom behind the new translation. The vote means that the Joint Commission on the Liturgy will be requested to include the new version in a forthcoming hymnal.

Eisenhower Decides Not To Give Report

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Baltimore Sun correspondent with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reports today that the Republican presidential nominee has decided against making public a report on his financial standing.

The decision by Eisenhower reversed an earlier announcement by the general's staff that he would match the income statement made public two weeks ago by Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, the Sun's dispatch says.

Drew Anxious Convertibility Allowed Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said yesterday Canada should cooperate in every way possible to bring about convertibility of sterling and freer world trade.

The main objective of the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London next month, he said, should be the removal of trade and currency barriers.

MAKES POINTS

At a press conference after his return from a three-week fact-finding tour of Europe he made these points:

1. There is a "great desire" in the United Kingdom for greater trade with Canada.
2. One of the things that impressed him most during the tour was West Germany's reconstruction.
3. Russian-controlled East Berlin is "alive with police."
4. If other countries respect tariff and trade agreements, then the United States should respect them as well.

His reference to the united States came after he said that the Geneva trade agreements and other international pacts would not have been reached if it had been expected that sterling and the dollar would not be convertible.

Newest T.B. Drugs Bought On Prescription

OTTAWA (CP)—The Health Department announced yesterday that the two newest drugs to be used against tuberculosis—isoniazid and iproniazid—now can be purchased on prescription.

Formerly the drugs were available in Canada only for research in tuberculosis sanatoria, hospitals and other medical research centres.

The department said the drugs are not to be regarded as "cure-alls" but simply as weapons in the fight against tuberculosis.

DIPLOMAT'S SON KILLED

OTTAWA (CP)—The only son of Dr. Horacio Roberto de Leon Belloc, economic attache at the Argentine embassy, was killed yesterday when he crawled under a dairy truck before it started away from his suburban Rockcliffe home. Horacio de Leon Belloc, 3, died in hospital shortly after the accident.

Canada Faces Big Pile-up Of Unsold Grain

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada faces prospects of a big pile-up of unsold wheat at the end of the current crop year, government statisticians indicated yesterday.

They placed Canadian wheat available for export and carryover this year at about 728,100,000 bushels—highest in peacetime history and well above last year's 569,400,000 bushels.

At the same time the Bureau of Statistics pointed out that world wheat production is unusually high this year and this may trim imports to Western Europe where near-record harvests are reported.

"Unless exports exceed by a wide margin the previous record of 407,600,000 bushels set in 1928-29, some increase over current carryover stocks can be expected at the end of the 1952-53 crop year," the bureau said.

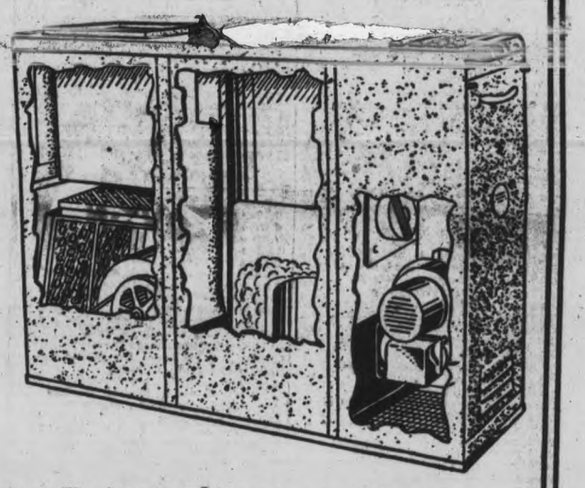
Canada exported about 357,000,000 bushels of wheat last year and will have no problem selling that much again or even more if there is no shipping bottleneck, government wheat experts said. Every effort is being made to boost sales.

QUEENLY VINTAGE—Virginia Best, 22, of Menlo Park, Calif., proves that the vintners of America have superlative taste concerning more things than the juice of the grape. Virginia has been chosen to reign as Queen of National Wine Week, and she's gathering some luscious grapes in preparation for the festival.

Immigrant Fails To Meet Canadian Standards

OTTAWA (CP)—An Immigration Department spokesman said yesterday that Mischel Hapalo, the "man without a country," was deported from Canada because he could not meet Canadian immigration standards.

Hapalo, described in a Southampton, Eng., dispatch yesterday as a Polish refugee from communism, is reported living in luxury aboard the Cunard liner Scythia because no country will take him. The Scythia is in drydock at Southampton.



The spokesman said Hapalo has a record of convictions in France, from which he was deported.

"We have no evidence," he added, "that he is a Communist. On the other hand, we have no evidence that he is a refugee from Communism."

IF WINTER COMES—The first real sign of winter appears at Hornell, N.Y., as the east gets snow. The early five-hour snow fall resulted in the cancellation of classes in public schools and traffic tie-ups. Although the snow melted quickly, most of the city was without electric power for a short time.

BAHA'I

"The gift of God to this enlightened age is the knowledge of the oneness of mankind and the fundamental oneness of religion. War shall cease between nations, and by the will of God the Most Great Peace shall come; the world will be seen as a new world, and all men will live as brothers."

Abdul-Baha.

Say Highway Work Stopped On Section Of 28 Six Miles South Of Apsley

Doucette, Deputy Minister, Unavailable For Comment On Unconfirmed Report; Work Said Removed From Immediate Tenders

Has the Ontario Department of Highways decided to stop work on improving Highway 28 about six miles south of Apsley? Neither highways minister George Doucett nor the deputy minister of highways could be reached for comment on this unconfirmed report before press time today. All the highway between Burleigh Falls and Apsley was apparently on the list for immediate tender, when the work was started, but the last six miles south of Apsley is said to have been removed from the list recently.

The section of the highway in question is in the Bancroft division and an engineer of the department there said Friday that the only thing he knew about it was that the plans were drawn up at Bancroft and forwarded to Queen's Park for the department's approval.

NO REASON KNOWN

No reason has been suggested for discontinuing the work now and removing the last six miles slated for improvement from the immediate tender list.

Motorists travelling over the road north of Burleigh Falls where work on improving the surface has been completed comment on how much smoother and safer it is than before.

Heavy road building equipment is still being used to trim up the work which is being finished and there is speculation as to why the department does not go ahead and finish improving the highway into Apsley.

The firm which is doing the job has men and equipment employed on the Highway and it would seem logical that it could be finished at less cost now than if it is postponed until some later date.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

MEET TUESDAY

Finance committee of city council will meet Tuesday night, following the Thanksgiving holiday.

LARGE PICKEREL

TRAFFIC JAM

Dozens of cars brought by people meeting friends and family arriving for the holiday on the Friday evening C.P.R. train from Toronto created a tight traffic jam which seemed to untangle with no dented fenders.

FOR TIDINESS

Two sand jars for cigarette butts will be bought for the police station. One is for the witness room and another in a hall. This is a recommendation of the council's property committee. Probably "no smoking" signs will be hung in the halls.

PARK LIT UP

Victoria Park was suffused with light most afternoons this week. The richly colored leaves have prismatic effect accentuating the translucence flooding the slope to the county building with a warmth that should glow until the leaves are gone.

SUMMER THEATRE AGAIN

Michael Sadlier, director and producer of the Peterborough Summer Theatre, has asked the Board of Education for the use of Queen Mary auditorium again during the 1953 season. He thanked the Board for their co-operation during the last season. His request was referred to committee and it will be considered by the 1953 Board.

HIGH SCHOOL X-RAYS

High school students will have their chests X-rayed sometime between Nov. 3 and Dec. 5. The date has been approved by the Peterborough Board of Education. The chest survey is a joint undertaking of the Department of Health, Peterborough T.B. Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

TWO-DAY PLAY FESTIVAL

Entries for the Peterborough Drama Festival of one-act plays are now nearly complete, and order of performance will be decided at a general Festival meeting Wednesday night. Chairman Peter McCombe announces that there will be two nights and one matinee of plays at the Queen Mary auditorium: November 21 and 22.

Set Penthouse Rent At $50 For Caretaker

An answer to the question Ald. W. G. Beggs raised at the council meeting Monday about the renting [illegible] at the City Hall to the caretaker, Earl Hope cropped up in property committee conversation Friday afternoon.

Council adopted the report of the property committee including this clause: "That the rent to be charged the caretaker for the apartment provided for him in the building be $50 a month, and that one of the conditions of his employment be that he occupy the apartment with his family".

Ald. Beggs asked why a year had passed until this definite action was taken providing a rental income for the city of $600. One of the factors of delay in decision was the recurrence in the property committee meeting Friday of the vision of a domestic clothesline on the roof of the City Hall.

More essential in the council's deferring the renting of the quarters on the roof last year was the probationary period in Mr. Hope's engagement. The winter then set in, months passed, and the apartment remained vacant.

Alternative to the clothesline was seen in the comment of Ald. Gillespie: "The only feasible thing to do is to put in an electric drier."

And that was the suggestion of the architects. However, it was reported that Mr. Hope had said that a low line on the roof would be hidden from the street by the parapet above the walls.

Committee mentioned that Mr. Hope and his family would use only the private entrance at the rear of the building. This was another circumstance which had previously received some attention. There are three children in the Hope household, and concern was expressed about play space for them.

Flaming Countryside on Show

Thanksgiving weekend is more than just a weekend of turkey and pumpkin pie. People offer their thanks in their own way and in their own place. More often than not they will drive into the country to see what their personal thanksgiving is for. The trees, under the first nip of frost, have turned to the autumn shades and colors. Plump, smug pumpkins sit on the cool ground among the sheaves of corn. Partridge and ducks are in season, the time for fishing is almost over, and the deer season is almost here. Traditionally the best weekend of the fall for a drive through the country, Thanksgiving this year will offer some of the finest scenery it ever has. Trees in the north country are in their brilliant prime, and around Peterborough this week the first gaudy colors of autumn are showing.

Because it is sometimes difficult to make a decision on where to go and what to see, these suggestions are offered for a weekend of driving pleasure.

You don't have to drive far to see what autumn has to offer. One of the shortest and most beautiful drives the district can show is north to Burleigh Falls on Highway 28, and west along the Oregon Trail to Buckhorn.

From Buckhorn you can choose whether to return by the county road that intersects Highway 28 south of Lakefield, by Gannon's Narrows through Ennismore and Bridgenorth, or up the Rockcroft road to Catchacoma.

From the Rockcroft road, you can cut across through some magnificent countryside to Bobcaygeon, then west on Highway 36 to the Downeyville road, south to Omemee and back via Highway 7 to Peterborough.

LONG OR SHORT

You can make your trip by car as long or as short as you will.

One of the most worthwhile trips is this: north on Highway 28 to Bancroft, south on Highway 62 to Madoc, and west on Highway 7 to Peterborough.

On this one, you pass Paudash Lake, one of the finest landscapes in autumn that could be seen. Apsley, Cedar Lake, Bow and Otter Lakes (the latter two near Bancroft) are several spots worth seeing.

Highway 62 has almost solid bush on either side from Bancroft south to Bannockburn, and should be at its best by the weekend. Overall distance is about 175 miles.

Two other trips that touch the north country are to Lindsay, then north to Minden or Haliburton on Highway 35. Recent travellers through that section report that the road from Haliburton to Minden is a solid mass of colors. To Minden and return the estimated distance is [illegible] more needed to Haliburton.

Around Rice Lake fall colors should be at their best. You can make a start by going south on Highway 28 to Bewdley, then going around the south side, returning via Keene. Distance for this is roughly 90 miles.

TO RICE LAKE

If the trip were made the other way, going from Keene east to the east end of the lake, the tourist could cut south on Highway 45 to Cobourg, passing through the Northumberland forest. Distance for this is about 120 miles.

Another tour through another county—Durham—may be made by Citizens Urged To Provide Milk For Manila Children

A group of Peterborough organizations—a cross-section of the commmunity—met Friday night and agreed to start on a welfare project that would benefit the people of some needy country. It was suggested that Peterborough people chip in and help provide milk for undernourished children in the Phillippine Islands' city of Manila. There are 35 health centres and eight infant day-care centres for Manila children. Fresh milk is 50 cents a quart and because of much undernourishment among the children the city has, in the past, provided powdered milk for the needy.

This costs so much money that Mayor Arsenio H. Lacson has asked for financial help; if they don't get it they may have to stop providing free milk.

Sixteen people from various organizations in the city met in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel on Friday night to hear what Peterborough could do to help needy parts of the world. Manila was one of four situations that was mentioned.

The meeting was called by Dr. E. LeRoy Dakin, international field representative of C.A.R.E., an international relief agency in the Americas that has sent 11,000,000 packages of food and clothing overseas and has had $130,000,000 worth of material shipped through it.

C.A.R.E. stands for the Co-Operative for American Remittances to Europe, a post-war relief agency. However it has expanded so that it has offices not only in the United States but also in Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Peru.

EXPANDS WORK

Dr. Dakin said that C.A.R.E. continues to be an agency where purchases can be done on a person-to-person basis. But, in cooperation with the United Nations, the organization has expanded its activities so that a community in Canada can help out a community elsewhere in the world.

The emphasis is now on self-

BIRD IN THE HAND—

Hardwareman Harry Green doesn't need to go hunting for partridge; they come to him. On Thursday afternoon he spied a plump hen bird on the fire escape at the rear of Campbell & Best store. The partridge was coy and hopped up the steps as Harry approached it. Wandering into an open hallway door of an apartment was a fatal manoeuvre, for, that is where it was cornered. It appeared to be quite tame and content at being held in the hands and in order to get rid of the bird Utilities Manager Ross Dobbin took it up to the Filtration zoo to add to the wildfowl pen colony. Since no delivery receipt was signed did Mr. Dobbin have trussed grouse for supper?

The other car received about $85 damage to the right rear corner. It was going north on Aylmer St., and was driven by Spiro Zakos, 612 Homewood Ave. Con-

Pumper Arrives Fights Fire In Barn Next Day

BETHANY (Special)—A barn fire between Bethany and Omemee Thursday morning gave the village's newly organized fire brigade a chance to try out the new portable pumper which arrived Wednesday.

OLD HOTEL STABLE

The barn, a landmark in the district was the stable at the old hotel at Franklin, a village which disappeared after the old Grand Trunk line between Omemee and Bethany was torn up.

It was filled with hay and a ram perished in the flames. Other animals, including a horse which became terrified by the fire were saved.

George Smith and Orleo Wright arrived about 9.30, with the pumper on a truck owned by Harry Jones of Bethany. They brought along about 200 gallons of water in three barrels and a trough tank.

"Had they not been there at the time they were, a large L-shaped barn would have gone without doubt," Chief [illegible] just 30 feet [illegible] ing barn and caught fire three or four times. There were also two other barns in the yard which were in danger but did not catch fire.

Cause of the fire is unknown.

When the Omemee pumper arrived with its 500 gallon water tank the Bethany pumper was practically out of water. "They were actually responsible for saving the other barns," said Chief Stevens who gave full credit for keeping the fire confined to the one building to the Bethany volunteers.

97 Holsteins Shown By Hastings Breeders

Fifteen breeders brought out 97 head. Three new exhibitors were Quinte Cattle Breeding Association, Mrs. Wm. McComb, Bonarlaw; and Hugh Gray of Belleville. Roy Ormiston was judge. One of his comments was: "Hugh Gray showed an outstanding junfor calf, winning the largest class of the day, that for junior heifer calves, with 21 entries, more than half of them shown by a 4-H Club members."

C.A.R.E. PACKAGES

People who want to send C.A.R.E. packages abroad from now on will be able to do so by placing their orders with Cherney Bros. The order will be passed along to headquarters and delivery is guaranteed. Somebody wishing to send a $10 parcel to Austria, for example, will be able to pay their money at the Peterborough store and everything else is looked after. The service is being provided by Cherney Bros.

Blame Faulty Wiring For $2,500 Truck Fire

Company officials estimate the loss at $2,500.

Driver Jack Donaldson, 384 Welsh Ave., smelled smoke before he went into a house on the old Norwood Road to make a delivery.

He tried to find out if the smoke was coming from the truck but could find nothing wrong. Inside the house, he heard the horn blow and when he came out, the truck was in flames and beyond saving.

City Cuts Rent Of Store In Ashburnham

Rental of the store in the Ashburnham town hall building, 99 Hunter St., was dropped from $60 to $40 for the city's tenant, Mrs. Myrtle Armitage as a recommendation of the property committee Friday to city council.

The rate was reduced to the rental level of the other stores in the block near the corner of Mark St.

Mrs. Armitage made a personal appeal to the committee represented by Ald. H. S. Longhurst chairman, Mayor Waddell and Ald. J. E. Gillespie. Revision of the rent was proposed by Ald. Gillespie and seconded by Mayor Waddell.

Store rentals of the building are to be reconsidered at some later date, probably not until the new year, with valuation on the basis of square footage, as the committee proposed.

"FAIR TREATMENT"

Mrs. Armitage (not Miss, as previously reported) said she was asking only for "fair treatment." Rents of the other stores were at $40 a month. Her location, she said, could not be rated [illegible] property [illegible] stairway leading upstairs to the Town Hall, occupied the corner of the building. That fact was recognized by the City Trust when they administered the city properties. The Trust had refused to permit an electric sign to be placed by a tobacco company on the Mark St. Wall, because it was not the outer wall of her store.

Incidentally, Mrs. Armitage told the committee that the police department cells of the old municipal building when Ashburnham was a separate municipality, once occupied the rear of her store. Renovations to make use of that wider space was one of the details of improvement which had been an expense to her.

Add Significance

Crops Huge, Prices Low At Thanksgiving

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians celebrate Thanksgiving Day Monday. This year the observance takes on added significance as farmers complete harvesting the biggest grain crop in history.

The traditional Thanksgiving Day dinner tables will be loaded with turkey—cheaper in most centres this year than last—and with chickens, ducks and geese that are also lower in price than a year ago.

It's the big day on the farms, which this year produced a record wheat crop of around 654,000,000 bushels and an all-over grain crop estimated at 1,310,000,000 bushels, beating the record of 1942.

And in the towns and cities there will be sports events and general celebrations from the Atlantic to Pacific. Thousands will attend major football games in east and west, and other thousands will crowd into a wide range of attractions.

80 YEARS OLD

The first Thanksgiving Day in Canada was on April 15, 1872, proclaimed as a day of thanksgiving for the restoration to health of the then Prince of Wales, later Edward VII. In 1879 the government proclaimed Nov. 6 as a day of thanksgiving for that year's abundant harvest, and it's been a harvest celebration ever since, with some exceptions.

In 1887, for instance, the annual observance was held June 21 to mark Queen Victoria's golden jubilee. In 1897, Victoria's diamond jubilee was celebrated.

For the last 20 years, however, Thanksgiving Day has been held on the second Monday in October. Seven years ago, it was proclaimed as a day of thanksgiving for the restoration of peace.

In normal years Canada's Thanksgiving day as a harvest festival follows a tradition of ancient times in other lands. On this continent, the first Thanksgiving was observed in New England after the harvest of 1621.

The autumn equinox in ancient Rome was marked by feasts and parades in which "horns of plenty" symbolized man's gratitude for the fruitfulness of the earth. The Druids, the Greeks and the Israelites of Biblical times also celebrated similar festivals.

In the United States, Thanksgiving Day is the fourth Thursday in November, and therefore doesn't come this year until Nov. 27.

Pickup Family Envy Of Town Boys and Girls Always At Top Of Classes

By E. S. C.

MILLBROOK.—The announcement by the government at Ottawa that John Wellington Pickup had been appointed Chief Justice of Ontario has been received with general approval by the legal profession but in no section of the province has it been received with more delight and pride than in his native village of Millbrook.

The Chief Justiceship is of course the highest honor, and carries with it the greatest responsibility a member of the legal profession can attain in the province; an office attained only by one who is outstanding in the profession and who is recognized for his probity and sound citizenship.

REMEMBER FAMILY

There are still many people in Millbrook and Cavan who remember the Pickup family when they were residents of the village and the active part they played in its social, church and community life in general. John Wellington Pickup, the new Chief Justice, is a son of the late William Scott Pickup and his wife Agnes Eliza Barkwell who came into Millbrook from the township of Hope in the late 1880's, Mr. Pickup having purchased the old established Cosgrove hardware business which he operated for some years. He was an energetic public spirited citizen taking an interest in municipal affairs and served for a time as reeve of the village.

There were five boys and two girls in the Pickup family and they were the envy of their contemporaries for their brilliant academic records at the local schools. It just seemed as though the Pickup boys an girls could not be matched by any other boys and girls and it is doubtful if a more clever family ever passed through the local institution of learning. The two oldest boys, Stanley and Harry, became ministers in the Presbyterian church before the union, Stanley having passed away in Toronto only within the past year. He was a very fine athlete and was rather an outstanding player on the village hockey and lacrosse teams in the late 90's.

GRADUATED IN MEDICINE

Clarence graduated in medicine and is a resident of western Canada as is also Samuel who graduated in pharmacy. In so far as the professions are concerned, therefore, this is a highly creditable record for five boys in a village family. At the time the Pickup boys acquired their respective professions there were m[illegible] tunities available for y[illegible] finance their way through colleges or the law schools as there are today. The government in those days did not provide, in partial recognition of their military service, free tuition for boys who desired to go through the higher institutions of learning; there were not the opportunities to pay their way through colleges or law schools as there have been in more recent times, by lucrative employment during their vacation periods and there were not as many scholarships available to students who topped their classes during the various college terms. Boys in those days, excepting those whose fathers were recognized as being financially affluent, had to achieve their educational objective in the hard way. And it was in this way the Pickup boys reached their ambition to contribute something worth while to the welfare and culture of Canada.

ENTERED RUDDY OFFICE

John Wellington was one of the younger members of the family and after passing through the local schools he entered on the study of law in the office of Robert Ruddy who practiced in the village for many years before moving to Peterborough. Wellington, as the new Chief Justice was called by the people of the community, went on to Osgoode Hall law school where he had an outstanding record, which was no surprise to local people who knew the Pickup family, and upon graduation and being called to the bar he entered the legal firm of which Chief Justice Robertson just recently retired, was the senior member. His record in the practice of his profession has also been outstanding he having been senior counsel in many prominent legal actions in the higher courts as well as senior counsel for both the dominion and provincial governments before commissions investigating matters of public interest. He has been a bencher of the Law Society of the province for a number of years.

WIFE MILLBROOK GIRL

The new Chief Justice's wife, as many local people know, was a Millbrook girl, Kathleen Fitzgerald, descended through both her father and mother from two of Cavan's oldest families, amongst the original settlers of the township.

John Wellington Pickup will carry ability and dignity to the high office to which he has been appointed. He follows a line of distinguished jurists who down through the years have adorned the Chief Justiceship of the province a few of whom have been Chief Justice Armour, Sir John Beverly Robinson, Sir William Meredith and Sir William Mulock. In fact it is worth noting that the is the second Chief Justice of the province who was born and spent his early life in this community. The late Chief Justice Armour was the son of the Rev. Samuel Armour, the first rector of the parish of Cavan.

The people of Millbrook and Cavan will join in extending congratulations to Chief Justice John Wellington Pickup and wish for him many years of service in his high office.

Want Stricter Licensing Of Car Drivers

TORONTO (CP)—More strict licensing of automobile drivers was asked yesterday at the 32nd annual meeting here of the Ontario Insurance Agents' Association.

The association handles 65 per cent of Ontario insurance business other than life.

The London association requested stricter controls to cancel or revoke operating licences and also for periodic examinations for all drivers.

The Toronto group asked for written examinations for all drivers. It also asked that all parties to accidents be required to produce an insurance card regardless of damage incurred.

LIMIT AGE

The Kitchener-Waterloo association said no one under 18 years should be permitted to drive. The group also urged a periodic examination of all vehicles and a physician's certificate of fitness for all applicants for drivers' licences.

The association also suggested testing for licences be conducted by the provincial police. Some persons now giving tests are connected with the automobile business, the association said.

The Oxford county association complimented girl drivers. It suggested the surcharge for drivers under 25 be dropped for the girls and that they be classed as "select" in rating classifications.

N.B. CABINET—The new cabinet of Premier Hugh John Flemming is the youngest in New Brunswick history. Average age is 45. In the provincial general election last month, Progressive Conservatives won 35 seats in the 52-member House, ousting the Liberals who had been in power 17 years. The new 11-member cabinet is shown at its initial meeting. Clockwise from left are: Dr. J. F. McInerney, health and social services; C. B. Sherwood, agriculture; N. B. Buchanan, land and mines; D. D. Patterson, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Flemming; T. Babbitt Parlee, president of the executive council; W. J. West, attorney-general; Edgar Fournier, power commission chairman; Roger Pichette, industry and development; C. S. Taylor, education, federal and municipal, and A. E. Skaling, labor.

Barter Deal Not Likely To Work Out

OTTAWA (CP)— A trade official Friday expressed doubt that an Anglo-Canadian barter deal could be worked out to exchange surplus Canadian tobacco for British goods Canada needs.

"If Britain had goods which we wanted, she likely would sell them for cash and not through barter," the official said.

He was commenting on a St. Thomas report yesterday that district tobacco growers were urging the government to arrange a barter plan to exchange 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 pounds of Canadian tobacco for British goods.

Britain, short of dollars has decided to buy only about 8,000,000 pounds of Canadian tobacco this year, sharply down from the 35,000,000 pounds she purchased a year ago. Part of last year's purchase was for stockpiling.

Tobacco farmers fear a heavy surplus this year unless the export market of Canadian tobacco is boosted.

Calgary Visit Off Massey Sick

CALGARY (CP) — Governor-General Vincent Massey yesterday cancelled plans for a two-day visit to Calgary because of a "severe" throat infection.

The 65-year-old Governor-General contracted a severe chill Thursday at Fort Macleod, Alta.

His private railway car will remain here until tonight when he leaves for Vancouver, resuming his first visit to Western Canada since his appointment early this year as the Queen's representative.

US Will Oppose Transfer Of Truce Talks To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y (CP)—United States delegate Ernest Gross said yesterday the U.S. will oppose any attempt to "transfer" the Korean truce talks to the United Nations General Assembly.

Gross told the U.N. Correspondents' Association that strictly military questions should not be discussed at the Assembly opening here Tuesday.

He indicated however, that the U.S. will seek assembly approval of its conduct of the Panmunjom truce talks in the name of the U.N. Asian-Arab delegates here have indicated they would be hesitant to approve conduct of talks of which they have no first-hand knowledge.

Gross said the U.S. will also oppose any discussion at the Assembly of procedure of transferring prisoners-of-war—the only issue apparently holding back the ceasefire in Korea. He said that is a military question.

But the policy of not forcing Chinese and North Korean prisoners back into Communist hands could be brought before the Assembly. This was interpreted as an indication the U.S. will ask for specific Assembly endorsement of the principle of voluntary repatriation.

Palefaces Still Grabbing Land

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Joe Mathias plans war on the paleface unless plans for what he terms an Indian land grab are abandoned.

The 75-year-old chief of the Capilano tribe in North Vancouver was aroused today by a city of Vancouver offer of $25,000 for two acres in the Kitsilano reserve for a park.

An industrialist is reported to have offered the Indians $40,000 for the land but the city has refused to rezone it for industrial use.

Chief Mathias says he may carry a protest to the Queen if he gets an invitation to the coronation next June.

Foe Of Bigotry In U.S. Rev. E. L. Hunt Dies

NEW YORK (CP)—Rev Edward Lawrence Hunt, Canadian-born Presbyterian minister and foe of bigotry in the United States, died Thursday in suburban St. Albans at the age of 92.

Hunt was famed for his denunciation of anti-semitic excesses in Romania in the 1920s and the Nazi persecution of Jews in Hitler's Germany.

Youths Treated Roughly By Indianapolis Police

An unpleasant experience by two Peterborough youths in Indianapolis this summer shows the difference between the way policemen here treat tourists and the treatment Canadians can expect in the Hoosier capital.

Here, when an American tourist parks by a fire hydrant, parks in a no parking area, fails to put a coin in a parking meter or commits any other parking infraction, the policeman on the beat leaves a pink courtesy card in the windshield.

An "X" is marked opposite the type of infraction but the motorist does not receive a summons, is not required to pay a fine and does not even have to come to the police station.

They parked outside the Y.M.C.A., where several other cars were parked. They put enough money in the parking meter for an hour's parking and 45 minutes later returned to find the car gone.

The boys went to the police station and found the car owned by Jim Telford's mother, Mrs. Percy Telford, had been towed to the station by police.

They had to pay a $10 fine for illegal parking and another $6 towing charge to get the car. Then they discovered the police had broken into the car and removed the contents. They were naturally excited and disturbed about the way they had been treated by the polfce and after Jim Telford signed for the aricles he discovered several articles of clothing that had been in the car were missing.

"We go out of our way to show them consideration, because we believe tourists are good for the city," Chief Thompson added.

VOLUNTARY VISIT

Although the courtesy card left on tourist cars for parking infractions does not require them to come to the station, Chief Thompson says they frequently do.

"It gives us an opportunity to have a chat with them and explain the regulations to them."

Below the part of the card where the infractions are marked, Peterborough's courtesy cards read: "We hope you enjoy your visit to Peterborough. Please help us to avoid accidents and make our streets convenient and safe for all. Thank you." They are signed by Chief Thompson, above the motto, "Peterborough Welcomes You."

In explaining his reason for bringing the incident to light, Percy Telford said Friday, "in this day and age, with a premium on our dollars, Canadians are spending millions in the United States. It is just as well to warn Canadians about this unusual law in Indianapolis."

Mr. Telford wrote the mayor, Alex M. Clark, requesting an explanation for what had happened.

EXPLANATION

In reply, he received a letter from city prosecutor John M. Ryan. Mr. Ryan skilfully evaded Mr. Telford's charge that several articles of clothing were missing by pointing out that his son had signed for the articles when he claimed the car.

[illegible] then cited a city ordnance permitting police to tow a car away when it is obstructing traffic.

The letter continues: "We sincerely regret any inconvenience which may have been caused to your son. We sincerely appreciate and encourage visitors to our fair city and attempt to extend every courtesy that we can and, in turn, sincerely hope that visitors return the courtesy by observing traffic regulations."

James Fraser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has written the Hoosier Motor Club outlining the incident and the letter ends with this comment: "These two university students have returned to Canada with a very dim view of Indianapolis hospitality."

Mr. Fraser wrote: "Here in Peterborough we have our own parking problems and have no sympa·hy for local citizens who run afoul of the law. However, we do show some consideration for strangers, particularly from the United States who are not expected to be as familiar with parking rules and regulations as our motorists. Surely, we can expect similar courtesy to be shown in other cities."

What's Nickel got to do with television?

"A great deal, son. In fact, if it weren't for nickel there wouldn't be any television today. You see, some of the working parts of a television set can't be made without special types of nickel alloys. And others just wouldn't work as well as they do if nickel weren't used."

"In the cathode ray tube, for example, there is what is known as an 'electron gun'. Its job is to fire a stream of electrical energy on to the viewing screen, where you see it in the form of pictures. Parts of that 'gun' can't be made without nickel. Then, too, there are other types of tubes and parts inside the set for which nickel is the best material."

"It's worth remembering, son, that metals have to meet unusual requirements for television. Some must be highly magnetic, some non-magnetic. Others must expand or contract in special ways. Fortunately, metallurgists had developed nickel alloys that meet such needs. And today, we can be sure nickel scientists are keeping pace with new ideas for the future."

Red Offensive Brings End To Market Slump

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Communist offensive in Korea was given partial credit this week for pulling the Toronto Stock Market out of its five-week slump.

The market bounced sharply upward Thursday and Friday after being on the decline since about Sept. 5. Explanations for the rebound were varied.

Some observers suggested that the new Communist attacks in Korea and indefinite postponement of the truce talks pointed to a fairly long war in Korea. War activity usually increases the demand for many base metals and manufactured goods. The base metals and industrial indices rose on the Toronto Exchange.

"Corrective measures" was the phrase used to describe the action of western oil stocks. The theory is simply: "What goes down must come up."

OILS HOLD PROMISE

Most observers feel that western oils hold good promise of production and dividends but that many stocks before the slump were overpriced. When prices went down far enough, buyers were attracted and an upward trend set in.

One of the explanations for the rise in gold stocks appears contradictory of these theories. The golds explanation is based on the possibility of a business recession which some observers predict for mid-1953.

If prices generally headed downward, gold production costs might decrease and make gold mining more profitable.

The general market upswing this week does not appear to be a "boom." Traders have been looking before buying and a number of stocks have lost strength in spite of the general trend. Whether the market will reach levels prevailing before the slump is still an open question.

The Toronto exchange started the week with a general decline with western oils in the lead. In Montreal, industrials and papers moved downward. This trend continued until Wednesday when prices turned mixed in Montreal and industrials gained at Toronto. On Thursday and Friday, both centres reported climbing prices.

New York trading followed a different pattern. Prices were low Monday, but improved Tuesday and started to rise with rails leading Wednesday. Thursday showed a slight set-back with mixed prices and this continued Friday.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto [illegible] showed industrials up 2.08 at 257.80, golds up .31 at 87.01, base metals up .26 at 180.86 and western oils up 5.49 at 126.37.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .25 at 31.45, utilities up .9 at 88.5, industrials up 1.8 at 204.8, combined up 1.5 at 166,0, papers up 3.34 at 675.48 and golds up .45 at 65.08.

Marmora Mine Sets Off Big Blast

MARMORA (ENS)—The heaviest blast thus far was put off this week at the Bethlehem Iron Mine causing windows to rattle and shake in Marmora village. At the mine approximately 10,000 tons of rock broke loose from the working face of the pit and was hurled about one hundred feet, being piled up in small chunks easy for handling with the mine's huge equipment. The wall of the pit had been drilled to a depth of more than 40 feet and about 25,000 pounds of explosive were used. The rock is being removed in layers of about thirty to forty feet. As the rock is broken loose, three huge electric shovels load it into a fleet of twenty 22-ton trucks which operate with clock-like regularity between the shovels and the place where the rock is being dumped. A large crusher has been installed and the whole surface of the rock pile covered with crushed rock to permit the trucks to travel over the pile in any direction just as though it were a regular road.

At the mine headquarters foundations are laid and the steel framework erected for three large buildings to do duty as office, warehouse, machine and repair shop. Other buildings include an oil and grease building and a modern washroom for the men [illegible] ed off which is expected to accommodate about 120 cars.

St. Peter's Graduates Told Education Goes Past School

Real education is taken from school alone, the Rev. L. J. Bondy told members of the graduating class of St. Peter's High School Friday evening.

Father Bondy, head of the French department of St. Michael's College, Toronto, said that education was a cradle-to-the-grave proposition. A man learned new things continually, and his education was going on as long as he continued to learn.

In school, he said, the student was expected to get a partial grasp on his responsibilities to his fellow man, to his state and to his church. While he stressed a man's duties to his church, he reminded the graduates that "man must live." His duties to society, beginning with his family are among the most important.

Speaking of the growing importance of university education, he mentioned that Catholic [illegible] in Peterborough have an especial advantage in that there is a college of their own faith connected with the largest university in the British commonwealth.

Since education was being discussed more than ever, it became a duty of a citizen to take his part in it.

The graduation exercises, held in the auditorium of the new St. Peter's grade school, opened with a processional of the students to the platform, followed by the salutory address by Paul Hickson. Miss Dorran Quinlan introduced the graduates.

Greater Opportunities In Weston—Webster

LINDSAY (ENS)—Police Chief Art Webster, who announced yesterday that he will retire his post here within a month to take on the job of Chief Constable in Weston, said today that the possibility of the force in that town being included, in the near future, in a metropolitan force with the Toronto and surrounding municipalities forces was one of the prime reasons for his move.

"There'll be opportunities there that wouldn't be possible here," said the chief, when questioned about the action. "There'll be good senior positions open when the metropolitan force is created down there."

The chief, who mentioned it, thought the promise of higher pay, a larger force and the fact that Weston has not hotels or outlets, as a prime factor in his decision to leave Lindsay after four years' service.

Fish Eaters Turn To Cod

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics says lake fish consumption is 25 per cent of the total compared with about 90 per cent before 1939.

"Lake fish have pretty well priced themselves out of the market," a Toronto dealer said. "East-coast cod fillets retail at 48 to 49 cents a pound whereas lake trout sell about 69 cents a pound. And the cod is all edible while the consumer buys trout with head, bones, skin and scales."

The bureau reported a total lake fish catch of 10,961,000 pounds, worth $2,797,000 in the first seven months this year. In the same period last year the catch was 12,217,000 pounds worth $2,852,000.

The whitefish catch declined more than 500,000 pounds and lake trout 182,000 pounds.

Warsaw Post Office

of service. Suceeding him was Rufus Payne, and later Milton Drain, from whom the office was taken over by the present Postmaster, Frank Sidey.

FAMILY RECORD

With the establishment of the summer postoffice at McCracken's Landing in 1915, Harold G. E. Choate, son of Arthur F. and brother of the writer, was appointed Postmaster. The unbroken postal service in Dummer township of the three generations of the family thus totals 110 years.

Throughout all these years of manifold change the "Warsaw Stage," one of Peterborough County's oldest agencies of transportation, has carried on uninterruptedly. Saddleback riders, carts, wagons, buckboards, have come and gone, succeeded by the magnificence of Donald McIntosh's three-seater covered carriage with its luggage "boot" in the rear (the limousine of its time) [illegible] route remains to this day what it always was in essence — generically a "stage," specifically the one and only "Warsaw Stage."

So far as the eye of the present writer can discern, no one who has served the Postoffice Department in Peterborough County within the 110-year span herein reviewed, has become a Croesus of inordinate wealth derived from what are sometimes called the "spoils of office." Viewed against the background of demands upon them, the postal workers' monetary rewards have been something less than modest, certainly never high. But it may well be that the rewards most to be cherished are not monetary at all. The multitude of quiet workers who have played their parts through the formative years of one of Canada's most helpful social services may ask no higher satisfaction than lies in a consciousness of constructive work faithfully performed.

Upper Canada's Rebellion Head Given Memorial

DUNDEE, Scotland — (CP) — William Lyon Mackenzie, Scottish-born leader of Upper Canada's rebellion of 1837, will be honored tomorrow in the unveiling of a memorial in this town of his birth 157 years ago.

The memorial has been erected under the terms of the will of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, son of the Great Rebel's youngest daughter and former Prime Minister of Canada, who died in 1950.

TO UNVEIL WINDOW

Norman A. Robertson, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, will unveil the stained-glass window and bronze plaque in St. Mark's Church.

The window, executed by Scottish artist Alexander Russell, has St. Mark as the central figure. Beneath it, the Canadian coat-of-arms is reproduced in color.

The plaque, done by a Canadian jewelry firm, carries the inscription:

"Reformer and patriot — His passion for freedom and hatred of privilege helped to win the struggle for responsible government in Canada."

The simplicity of the tablet is relieved only by an intertwining of Scottish thistles and Canadian Maple Leaves in the corners.

RECORDS HIS LIFE

The plaque records, too, that Mackenzie emigrated to Canada in 1820. After that, he was elected to the Legislature of Upper Canada in 1828; elected first mayor of Toronto in 1834; exiled after the 1837 rebellion; elected to the Legislature of Canada in 1851; died in 1861.

The service of dedication will be conducted by Rev. J. Victor Logan, minister of St. Mark's Church. The Lord Provost of Dundee will narrate events leading to the erection of the memorial .The sermon will be delivered by Very Rev. J. Hutchison Cockburn, former moderator of the Church of Scotland and one of its representatives in the World Council of Churches.

Commission Discusses Niagara Falls Work

Death Rate Lower Population Goes Up

GENEVA (Reuters) — Medical science has lowered the death rate in post-war years with the result that the world population has risen to about 2,377,000,000—almost 400,000,000 over the pre-war total.

A 700-page report on vital statistics, issued here yesterday by the World Health Organization, said the decrease in deaths was prevalent in most countries, due to vigorous measures against disease and to progress made in hygiene and nutrition.

Plowing Match Draws Politicians

There's something in every politician, apparently, which prods him to remember the "grass roots." And if none of them is quite sure what "grass roots" means, at least he knows instinctively that plowing has something to do with it.

All this week the tented city at this rural centre 20 miles west of Ottawa has been bustling with hustings performances which threatened at times to overshadow the international plowing matches. The closing day yesterday climaxed the performance.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, who addressed a windup banquet in Ottawa last night, got in on the show early. He made an unexpected appearance and toured the exhibits and throughout the day cocked a knowing eye at the furrows.

DREW ARRIVES

He beat the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition by several hours but his entrance was more spectacular. Mr. Drew arrived by air from Montreal earlier, motored to Ottawa, held a press conference, dropped in at his home and then made a bee-line for Carp.

Carp is in Carleton County, Mr. Drew's own constituency, and the Opposition leader, who had just missed a fall fair at nearby Metcalfe when he went overseas, seemed happy to have made the International Plowing Match on his return.

Drawn by the lure of the plow earlier in the week were Premier Frost of Ontario and George Dunbar, Ontario Municipal Affairs Minister.

Manitoba's Premier Campbell made the long trip from Winnipeg just to see the matches, professing himself "just a plowing man at heart."

MAYOR'S MATCH

The St. Laurent-Drew appearance by no means highlighted the plowing match, which drew many Ontario Reeves and deputy reeves. The feature of the show was put on by nine mayors and reeves of Ontario towns and cities.

Answering a challenge by Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton, Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto won the Mayor's Trophy by outplowing the field of nine.

Mayor Whitton was chagrined. She regarded it as a dangerous enough threat to her political security as to warrant half-humorous charges that the match was "fixed" in explaining her loss to Ottawans.

475 Delegates Registered For 19th Y.P.S. Convention

Young people from all over the province and points in Quebec began arriving Friday evening for the annual convention of the Presbyterian Young People's Society of Ontario being held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Thanksgiving weekend.

It is the society's 19th provincial convention and will be the last one sponsored by the provincial P.Y.P.S. which has been divided into synodical organizations.

This is the first time the P.Y.P.S. convention has been held in Peterborough and convention chairman Barbara Luther reported Friday evening that 475 delegates had registered.

A full schedule of events has been arranged for all day Saturday and Sunday and the final sessions will be held Monday morning.

WELCOMED AT CHURCH

The delegates were welcomed in the church auditorium and the convention was officially opened, with John Johnston of Montreal, first vice-president of the P.Y.P.S. presiding. A worship service was followed by refreshments [illegible] delegates then went to their [illegible] lets which have been arranged by members of the St. Paul's congregation.

In welcoming the young people, James Dutton, chairman of the board of administration of the church appealed to the delegates "to support the church in every way you can. There has never been a time in the history of the church when the challenge to every member is so great," said Mr. Dutton.

"In all things, Christ Pre-eminent," is the theme of the convention and the Rev. C. G. Boyd in his address of welcome told the delegates they were "ambassadors of Christ in the valley of the world's nauseating cynicism."

ONE FROM P.E.I.

Delegates have registered from Sarnia, North Bay, Windsor, London and Montreal, and Mr. Johnston in looking over the audience commented that he saw one represenative from Prince Edward Island.

The young married couples entertained the young people before the formal opening of the convention by arranging progressive recreation. In the church auditorium, a film, "Crossroads," was shown by the Peterborough Film Council.

Today, the morning session begins at 9 a.m. and at 10, there will be group discussions on topics of interest to the delegates in connection with their work in young people's societies.

Following the service of worship at 11.15, the Rev. M. di Gangi of Hamilton, will deliver the first theme address. Mr. Di Gangi served with the Presbyterian Italian mission in Montreal for six years and is now minister of St. Enoch's Presbyterian church in Hamilton.

PLAN DISCUSSION

In the afternoon, there will be discussion groups discussing racial and religious prejudices, Christian use of time, talent and treasury, the role of young people in the church and sharing faith with others.

A banquet at Club Aragon will highlight the Saturday evening program and will be followed by a program at St. Paul's church, which will review the work of the provincial P.Y.P.S. over the last 18 years.

There will be a special communion service for convention delegates at 9.30 Sunday morning and in the afternoon, the Rev. J. Alan Munro of Toronto will conduct a missionary rally, explaining the work of the church "Across Canada and Beyond the Seas."

Between 14 and 16 missionaries from various countries are expected to attend and following the rally, Bob Bisset will be in charge of a missionary forum.

Sunday evening, there will be a rally service and Mr. Di Gangi will deliver the second address on the convention theme.

Monday morning, the day will begin with a devotional and song service followed by discussion groups on "What it means to be a Christian."

After a worship service at 11.30, Mr. di Gangi will deliver the final theme address.

New Styles Taken to Women

LEEDS, England (CP)—Barbara Goalen, one of Britain's leading cover-girl mannequins, brought a one-woman dress show to housewives here. It was a show with a difference.

Instead of silently parading models, Barbara was out to get reactions from the audience. So, when she appeared in such a style innovation as a black rep suit with calf-tight skirt and soft-shouldered middy jacket tightly buckled around the hips, she cried: "Hands up those who like it."

After the initial shock, a few wavering hands arose. Leeds, centre of Britain's cloth industry, is noted as a centre of fashion criticism and has a reputation for sticking to simple, tailored styles.

"We've all got the willies," said Barbara at the start, "so if you like anything, for goodness sake clap."

She showed 13 models made from the most exclusive fabrics of the West Cumberland silk mills and valued at £2,000. The audience gave an enthusiastic reception to a grey wool and acetate mixture suit with belted jacket and narrow slit skirt, worn with a red garbo hat and cravat.

"You can't sit down in it," someone challenged. Miss Goalen obliged but wound up the demonstration with a resounding "ouch."

Barbara imparted a personal touch to the show by such tricks as clipping earrings to her shoes instead of her ears and wearing a pirate scarf twisted tightly round her head, with an ultra-smart cocktail dress.

Marmora W.I. Holds October Meet

MARMORA (ENS) — The October meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. Kouri with the president, Mrs. H. P. Nayler, in the chair.

Grandmothers' night was observed.

Various letters were read. One was from the Marmora Library Board thanking the Institute for their annual donation. Another was received from P. I. Timmins, field secretary for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, thanking the members for the fine amount received through the recent canvass and the evening tag.

The Marmora District Chamber of Commerce replied to the letter sent them by the Branch with respect to its willingness to cooperate with the Chamber and village council in the needed lettering of streets.

The Chamber replied to the effect that action would have to be initiated by the council, thereby securing a grant. They would stand by the Institute in giving assistance should the council later decide to proceed with the project.

The Unitarian Service Committee, in another letter read, thanked the Institute for their support of the Bread for Greece campaign last year and intimated that a further appeal along the same line is being launched now. Five dollars was voted to each of the two appeals. Four thank-you cards were read by Mrs. R. E. Neal.

The November meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. E. C. Prentice.

Mrs. F. Grant gave two appropriate readings and Mrs. R. E. Neal also gave a reading, "How to Bury a Women's Institute." Mrs. I. B. Nichol read two humorous poems. Mrs. Nayler conducted a bingo-like grandmothers contest. The committee of the month served refreshments.

Shirley Sickler Married In Quiet Ceremony

St. George's Anglican Church was the scene of a quiet wedding recently when Shirley Doreen Sickler, daughter of Mrs. J. Hoar, of Peterborough, became the bride of Edward W. Davey, son of Mrs. V. Parnell, of Toronto.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Vernon Sickler, of Toronto, the bride was attended by Miss Hazel Sickler, sister-in-law of the bride.

After the reception, which was held at Club Aragon, the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Buffalo. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Davey will live in Toronto.

Council Of Women Urges Move To Cheaper Housing

Is a low cost housing project for the aged needed in Peterborough? This question is again being raised in the city one year after it was partly investigated and dropped by the City Council.

The Local Council of Women has decided that it is needed and its first move to do something about it was an open meeting at the Y.W.C.A. Friday night.

The meeting was in the form of a panel discussion followed by a general discussion of this question. It was attended by representatives of women's organizations and groups in the city.

The research already done by the Local Council of Women was outlined by Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss, president.

"The Local Council of Women have decided that the pensions are not adequate for the rentals asked for apartments in Peterborough today. We feel that the situation has grown to such dimensions that it is necessary to take some steps towards providing accommodation for those who are living on pensions and can't afford to pay these rentals."

Mrs. Steinkrauss explained that the Council hoped that after the project had been discussed by all the women's organizations a brief would be prepared and presented to the council.

"It is neither our intention nor our right to legislate, nor do we intend to make any decisions at this meeting," Mrs. A. W. Nelson, chairman of the meeting, said in her opening remarks. "This is merely a meeting for discussion. We want you to take back through reports to your groups and from your groups, get decisions on this matter. We are inviting constructive criticism and decisions and will give you an opportunity to bring back your findings."

She said that members of the Local Council of Women had visited completed projects for the aged in other communities and reported their findings at the organization meetings.

"While working on this project we have heard of several cases of elderly people in Peterborough being cramped up in one room or even part of a room and we think that this situation is not necessary in this day and age," she continued. "Especially so, when other communities such as Burlington, Whitby, Toronto and Owen Sound have been able to provide pleasant low cost accommodation for their aged."

These projects in other communities were discussed by other participants in the panel discussion.

The panel and general discussion was led by Charles Forsyth, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. The panel was made up of six women representing various women's organizations.

Mrs. J. N. Wood described the low-rental apartment housing project built and in operation in Owen Sound.

Five units of eight apartments each have been built in this community. The project was financed by a loan of 90 per cent of the total cost of $200,000 by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The remaining 10 per cent was provided by the municipality.

The project was built and is being operated by a housing company set up by the city. It will be paid for with the surplus of rents over operating costs at the end of 47 years.

The apartments in the project are of two types—single apartment with a bed-sitting room, kitchen and bath renting at $22 a month, and a double apartment with a living-room, bedroom, kitchen and bath renting at $27.

The recently opened one-floor home for the aged at Belleville was described by Mrs. Steinkrauss. She explained that this operated somewhat differently than the Owen Sound project. Although there are four apartments in the Belleville project, the greater part of the sleeping accommodation is four-bed dormitories. The occupants receive their meals in a central dining room or if necessary in their rooms and there is a recreation centre and hospital included in the home.

The building was financed by the county with the aid of government grants.

The remaining projects in other communities that were described were similar either to the Belleville or Toronto projects.

Following the panel and general discussion, the meeting was divided into groups for further discussion. The groups appointed spokesmen to place more questions before the panel. These questions and their answers dealt with more information concerning financing and the type of accommodation that would be most suitable for Peterborough.

Mrs. Steinkrauss pointed to the apartment type of accommodation where the occupants could be more independent and which would provide a real home, as the most suitable type of project. Other speakers supported her ideas. And there was also general agreement among the panel that a hospital and recreational centre should be included.

It was also pointed out that such a project should not be limited to elderly people, but to others living on a fixed low income such as war brides receiving pensions.

Mrs. Nelson closed the meeting by asking the women attending to take back the information they had received to their groups for discussion, and bring back the results.

The members of the panel discussion were: Mrs. Steinkrauss, Mrs. J. N. Wood, Mrs. Frank Merritt, all of the Local Council of Women; Mrs. Fred Samis, representing Mark St. United Church W. A.; Mrs. Arthur Hancock, representing Lily Lake W. A.; and Miss Jean Watson, representing the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Miss Marion Foster, program director of the Y.W.C.A., and Bill McFarlane, Y.M.C.A. secretary, assisted Mr. Forsyth in conducting the meeting.

Considerate Girl Insures Future In-law Relations

DEAR MISS DIX: Next month the boy I love is coming home for a short visit, then he is going overseas. He asked me to meet the plane with his parents. I know and love them and, since I feel that this meeting should be primarily theirs, I want to know how I can hold myself back and let his folks have first "grab." Also I don't want to appear too possessive while he is home. Naturally, what I really want is to throw myself at him the moment he steps from the plane, but I feel that isn't the thing to do.

H. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:: Such thoughtfulness of others should make you a well-loved daughter-in-law in any family. Too bad more girls can't have a touch of the same consideration. The ability to appreciate the other fellow's feelings is a priceless one. While its inherent possession is a great asset to anyone's personality or character, the quality can also be cultivated. Lack of thoughtfulness is behind the loneliness of most people, and is the chief reason for unpopularity.

HOLD BACK A LITTLE

When you meet the boy, hold back just enough to let his parents know that you expect them to have the first loving greeting; they'll be very quick to relinquish him to you. During his stay at home, don't monopolize his company every day, or every evening, even if he suggests it. Sometimes boys can be very thoughtless and a small reminder from a wiser girl will keep family relationships much better balanced. You will be repaid a thousandfold for your realization of his family's right, and your own clear conscience will be sufficient reward—though I hope not the only one—for your surrender of possession.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Can you recommend a night school that older people can attend? I am 45. Do you think I would be able to learn at my age?

MOLLIE.

ANSWER: No truer adage was ever quoted than that "It is never too late to learn!" You will find a school offering night courses in practically any subject you want. Adult evening classes are conducted in many high schools, with subjects varying from art and sewing through languages, English, history and other academic courses. For more information on these, write your local Department of Education.

The Y.W.C.A. offers fine courses in varied subjects at low cost. Your local branch will help you find exactly those most suited to you. There are also specialized schools with evening courses on every topic known. These may be located through the classified pages of your telephone book. Many of these, however, are quite expensive, so make thorough inquiries before you sgin up. For your purpose, however, I strongly recommend the Y.W.C.A. After two or three sessions, you'll become so interested in the work, and will meet so many nice people, that you won't have time to worry about "having the courage to go on."

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife left me three weeks ago and says she is going to file for divorce. We have never quareled, and she has no complaint against me, as far as I know. She left on a vacation in July, came home a few weeks later mooning over some man she had met while away. Although she hasn't seen him since, she says she doesn't want to live with me any more. I am 56, and she is 46. I am prepared to stick with her through thick and thin, as I really do love her.

MICHAEL R. D.

ANSWER: Your wife's actions sound typically mid-forties. Many a woman who has no fault to find in her husband goes off on a similar tangent. If you wife gets the divorce she'll regret it bitterly, so oppose it if at all possible. It may take a year or two before she settles down to normal again, but if you have the patience to wait, you'll be rewarded. She probably needs the care of a good doctor, too. Try and see that she gets it.

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: The other day I bought raisin squares from our local bakery—they were so delicious I would like to make some just like them . . . print a recipe for Date Squares some time if it is not too much trouble.—Marjory B.

ANSWER: Bless you, Marjory, for saying there was no hurry. My raisin squares may not be anything like your bakery's. If not, write again and describe these heavenly morsels.

One cup sour cream, 1 cup sugar, about 2½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream together the sugar, sour cream and vanilla. Sift the flour and measure it and sift it with all of the remaining dry ingredients. Add to sour cream mixture. If necessary to make a dough that can be rolled add more flour. Roll dough very thin, then cut it into 2½-inch squares.

Filling: Three-quarters cup each sugar and water, 1½ cups chopped raisins, 1½ tablespoons flour. Mix together dry the flour and sugar, then stir in the raisins and sugar. Cook, stirring, until mixture thickens. Chill. Spread this on half of the square dough, leaving an edge of at least ½-inch uncovered. Cover with remaining squares, pressing edges tightly together. Place at least 1 inch apart on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes.

DATE SQUARES

One and one-half lbs. dates, 1½ cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 2½ cups rolled oats, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup shortening. Add boiling water to dates and cook over low heat until thick. Cool. Add vanilla. Mix and sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and baking soda. Add rolled oats which may be put through food chopper or not, just as desired. Add brown sugar and cut the shortening in as you would for pie pastry until mixture is fine crumb. Spread one-half of the mixture in a buttered pan about 12 x 8 inches. Cover this with the date mixture. Pat remaining crumb mixture over dates evenly. Mix together 1 beaten egg and 2 tablespoons water and brush entire top with this mixture. Bake 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr. Cut into squares while warm. Let cool in pan. These should be baked 24 hours before handling.

QUESTION: Enclosed find recipes for ripe cucumber pickles which you asked for. Did the printer make a mistake when he said ½ cup salt in the corn relish recipe. When you have time write some recipes for using a boiling chicken. Chicken with dumplings, etc.—Doris A.

ANSWER: Thanks for the recipe for Ripe Cucumber Pickles which follows:

RIPE CUCUMBER PICKLES
(Contributed by Doris A.)

Peel 12 large ripe cucumbers. Take out seed and pulp and cut in small squares. Cut up small 6 onions. Let above stand in salt and water to cover overnight. (Emem's note: ½ cup salt to each quart water). Make syrup of 1-pound white sugar, 1 quart vinegar, ½ cup dry mustard, a little cayenne pepper, 2 teaspoons each turmeric and celery seed. When syrup boils add vegetables (which have been drained) and boil till tender. Seal in sterile jars.

The ½ cup salt in corn relish recipe is correct but if it seems too salty for your taste reduce amount to ¼ cup and taste the relish before bottling it. I will run a column in the near future on boiling fowl.

QUESTION: Would you please send me some diabetic jam recipes —and could you give me a recipe to can red peppers—Mrs. Ed. G.

ANSWER: I have mailed the diabetic jam recipes to you.

SWEET PEPPERS, PIMIENTOES, [illegible]ER

Remove seeds and stems from washed peppers without breaking walls. Plunge into boiling water and simmer for barely 5 minutes. With sterile forks transfer at once to small sterile jars. Fill jar to overflowing with boiling water (do not add salt) and seal to within ⅛ turn of tight. Process in hot water bath 45 minutes at boiling point. Remove and tighten seal. Keep in cool, dark cupboard.

Hastings WA Meets In Roslin

MARMORA (ENS).—The annual meeting of Hastings Deanery Woman's Auxiliary was held on Thursday at Roslin commencing with a celebration of Holy Communion in St. Paul's Church.

Rural Dean A. S. McConnell of Trenton officiated, assisted by the Rev. R. S. Gardham, rector of the parish. The special preacher was the Rev. L. E. Hawkes of Tweed, who preached on the text "Look unto the rock from whence ye were hewn and unto the pit from which ye were digged." He sketched the history of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada.

Dinner followed in the parish hall. Prior to the afternoon session were nominations by ballot for deanery president. A Dorcas conference was conducted by Mrs. E. Kent of St. John's, Stirling.

The afternoon session was opened with prayer by Rev. R. L. Gardham. Mrs. H. Sills of Plainfield extended a welcome to the visiting Auxiliaries with a reply from Mrs. H. Rodgers of Stirling. Speaker was Miss M. Horrobin who has spent several years as a missionary teacher in Japan.

Branches gave a short report on their activities for the year. Addresses were then given by Mrs. Leroy Boyd, Diocesan president of Kingston. She outlined the Dominion W. A. annual held in London, Ont., at the time of the General Synod of the church.

The invitation from St. James W. A., Tweed, to hold next year's annual there, was accepted. The election of Mrs. Tanner of St. John's Stirling, was announced after a question box had been conducted.

Attending from St. Paul's Marmora, were Canon and Mrs. J. M. Brownlie and Mrs. R. G. Winters, president of St. Paul's W.A.

Evening Auxiliary Meets In Norwood

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Evening Auxiliary of the United Church W.M.S. held their thank-offering meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Reta Pakenham, Ridge St.

The president, Mrs. Pauline Weir opened the meeting and spoke on the meaning of "Thanksgiving" closing with the reading of a prayer by the late Rev. Peter Marshall. After discussion it was decided to co-operate with the Afternoon Auxiliary for a bazaar.

Mrs. Stanley Flett conducted the worship service with the theme, "The means of grace". Psalm, Jubilate was read in unison, also a prayer "Confession of Sin", was repeated. Mrs. Flett read the scripture lesson. For the study period the subject was "The Village of Angola". Mrs. Charles McConnell told of the life and activities of the natives of Angola, contrasting life in the pagan villages with that in Christian villages.

She also spoke of the aid given the rural folk by the agriculture missionary.

Lunch was served by the hostess and the committee in charge.

300 BRIDGES IN GHENT

driving south on Highway 28 to the Cavan turn, west from there on Highway 7A to the intersection of Highway 35, then north to Lindsay and back on Highway 7 through Omemee, Fowler's Corners, etc.

By taking this route, the tourist can see the hills around Cavan and Bethany, the dark evergreens mixed with the gay colors of fall. Distance is about 80 miles.

Starting out the same way, you could drive south on 28 to the Millbrook turn, west to Millbrook, and south to Garden Hill. The road leading east to Highway 28 brings you out just south of Bewdley.

And if you want to chose your own road, there are dozens of side roads north and south of Highway 7 east of the city. Almost any one is worthwhile, but especially the road leading south to Keene. From it branch east to Lang, then south along the east side of the Indian River to the road leading east from Keene, and back home whichever way you will.

Citizens Urged

help in the war-devastated and under-developed areas. Besides food and clothing, agricultural implements, tools, medical supplies, and books are being provided. Work is being done in co-operation with the United Nations agencies.

Dr. Dakin said that he thought Canada had a most important part to play in the working of the United Nations. And a community project would benefit the people here as well as those in the countries receiving C.A.R.E. benefits.

A total of $187,000 spent on procuring radium;

Thirty iron lungs are being bought;

Midwife kits are being supplied to India where 200,000 women die every year in childbirth;

Layettes are being provided for the new mothers in Israel;

Schoolbooks for children and technical books for university students are found;

WOULD FOLLOW LEAD

If Peterborough makes a community contribution it will follow the lead of two other Ontario cities: Timmins that decided to raise $2,200 for an orthopedic nurse at a Japanese university, and also books for Malta.

Friday night a steering committee was appointed from among the 28 groups invited to the meeting at the Empress Hotel. They will consider the milk-to-Manila-school children project at a second meeting, Oct. 20, in the Chamber of Commerce board room.

Members of the steering committee will be George Cheatle, chairman, and representatives from Roman Catholic, Jewish and Protestant religious denominations; also organized labor, Chamber of Commerce, Local Council of Women, Service Clubs' Council, and the United Nations' Association.

The suggested Peterborough project would be for looking after a number of the 35 health centres in Manila. Each of these centres has 20 undernourished children, making a total of 700 between the ages of two and six years. There are also 100 infants who need care.

The total cost of providing powdered milk for these 850 undernourished children is estimated at $11,352.50 a year, or $13.36 per child per year.

Dr. Dakin suggested that Peterborough meet a portion of the $11,352 budget, or as much of it as the people of Peterborough and district could afford to pay.

THANKSGIVING should mean a lot more than gathering in the garden produce and having a family gathering for a turkey dinner!

For Parents Only

Parents Should Encourage Children To Be Thankful

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Thanksgiving should mean more than the gathering of the fruit and vegetables from the garden and the reunion of the family in one home for a turkey dinner," a mother said thoughtfully.

"It should be a time when we, as parents, express our gratitude to God in prayer and by our attendance at public worship, for all He has done for us and for our children. Mothers and fathers should consider whether or not they are encouraging the growth of a thankful attitude in their children."

QUESTION FOR GROWN-UPS

"What are the things for which you are most grateful?" Have you ever asked your child this question? It is a good question for grown-ups too, because older people are apt to take their blessings for granted! In Glasgow a little while ago the school children were asked: "What are the loveliest things you know, persons not counted?"

Here are some of their answers —"The scrunch of dry leaves when you walk through them; the feel of clean clothes; cool wind on a hot day; climbing up hill and looking down; hot water bottle in bed; our dog's eyes; street lights on the river; the smell of rain; an organ playing; red roofs in trees; smoke rising; rain on your cheeks; the smell of new-mown hay; red velvet; the moon in clouds; the feel of running; looking into deep clear water; the taste of strawberries; a swallow flying; water being cut at by the bow of a boat; a mounted policeman's horse; an express train rushing; a builder's crane lifting somethihng heavy; the feel of a dive; a thrush singing."

AWARE OF OUT-OF DOORS

These Scottish boys and girls showed that they were aware of the out-of-doors. Perhaps their parents had taken them on walks in the country when they were small. Likely they had encouraged them when they were older to go on hikes in their leisure time.

Scottish children are no more fortunate than our own Canadian boys and girls in their country. Think of the color and variety of our changing seasons—spring with the delicate green, summer with its sunny skies and blue lakes, autumn with its harvest of fruits and vegetables when the leaves are turning scarlet and gold, and winter with its miracle of white snow. Fortunate is the child who has been taught by his father and mother that the world in all its beauty of form and color is the "handiwork of the Lord."

Gratitude to God is expressed in many prayers witten for children. But mothers do well to encourage a little child during his prayer at bed time to thank God in his own words if he can, for any special thing which he has enjoyed. A. A. Milne's poem which pictures Christopher Robin saying his evening prayer is an appealing one. The small boy's words, "Thank you God, for a lovely day" may well be added to a child's bedtime petitions.

PRIVATE DENTAL SURVEYS

Because so much time is taken up in routine checking of children's teeth, the Board of Education's dental officer finds he cannot get along as fast as planned in clinical work. Besides, many children, once they have been surveyed, are taken by their parents to their own family dentist for clinical work. Because this causes duplication the Board of Education are encouraging parents to take those children, who can't possibly be surveyed by the end of the school year, to their own dentists. Mrs. Blake Bell, chairman of the health committee, said this was not a change in policy—just a saving in time.

Watch Those Nice Desserts They Could Kill You—Doctor

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Take it easy on that whipped-cream loaded section of pie.

According to Dr. H. T. McAlpine it and other desserts lead to the black future of a life of obesity.

Speaking to industrial physicians meeting here, Dr. McAlpine pointed a gloomy picture for the over-weight.

He said that recent investigation has shown that 20 pounds overweight can increase the death rate by 18 per cent; 40 pounds overweight can increase the rate by 40 to 45 per cent.

In addition to the possibility of early death, overweight is behind many diseases. Among these are hypertension, circulation ailments, complications in diabetes, overworked heart and kidneys, psychological problems.

Obesity increases the incidence of suicide, the death rate from accidents and the dangers during surgery.

Dr. McAlpine said any person whose weight exceeded by 10 per cent that which would be normal for height and sex at the age of 35 is obese.

Canada Will Lead The World In Production Of Aluminum

By W.R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's production of aluminum in the next two years will be stepped up nearly 50 per cent and is expected ultimately to approach figures that today tell the story of world production.

This swift rise comes through huge development operations of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd., only producer of aluminum in this country.

The expansion is in two provinces, Quebec and British Columbia. At present Canada's entire production is centred in Quebec. The company's biggest production unit is at Arvida, up north in the Saguenay district.

Further production is under way in this area—through power projects at Chute du Diable and Chute a la Savanne, each of 270,000 horsepower, on the Peribonka River.

KITIMAT PROJECT

The newest expansion is in northern British Columbia, a $550,000,000 project. There the gigantic task has been started of building a 350-foot-high dam to reverse the normal eastern flow of water, pouring it through a 10-mile tunnel through solid rock of the Coast Range.

From there the water will plunge on, still controlled, to the power site at Kemano, 125 miles west of the dam. The electricity generated — eventually 1,600,000 horsepower—will be carried by transmission lines 50 miles to Kitimat, site of what is expected to be the world's largest aluminum smelter.

The huge smelter, to be producing in 1954, will then have a basic annual output of 100,000 short tons. When other phases of the planned development are completed, ultimate production of 600,000 tons a year is looked for.

Canada now supplies about 25 per cent of world production of aluminum; the United States 50 per cent and other countries 25 per cent. Outside of Canada and the United States, most production is in the United Kingdom, continental Europe and Russia. Actual production in Russia is not known but was estimated at 200,000 tons in 1951.

World production in 1951 was 1,700,000 tons. Canada's production was about 440,000 tons, of which roughly 350,000 tons came from the big Arvida smelter. The rest came from smaller production units at Shawinigan Falls, Ile Maligne and Beauharnois—all in Quebec province.

QUEBEC DEVELOPMENTS

With Alcan's power development at Chute au Diable, 50,000 tons will be added this year; through the development at Chute a la Savanne another 50,000 tons will be added in 1953.

Then in 1954 will come the expected 100,000 tons from Kitimat. The date for the ultimate step-up to 600,000 tons a year at Kitimat cannot yet be forecast—depending possibly on world demand—but when that figure is reached Canada's total production will be running more than 1,100,000 tons.

Bauxite ore, from which aluminum is made, now comes to Canada from the British Guiana mines of Aluminium, Ltd., parent company of Aluminum Company of Canada. With increased production of aluminum, extra bauxite will be brought in from Jamaica and from French Guinea in Africa.

Aluminium Ltd. operates, through subsidiaries, in 19 countries. Its principal operations are the mining of bauxite; the generation of hydro-electric power and production of Aluminum of Canada, and the fabrication of aluminum in England.

Aluminum ranks sixth among Canada's exports and the Aluminum Company of Canada exports more than two-thirds of its production.

U.K. BEST MARKET

In 1951 the United Kingdom took 46 per cent of Alcan's output, the countries 12 per cent. Nineteen per cent went to domestic consumers. Canadian consumption has risen from 10 per cent to 19 per cent of total production during the last five years.

Until 1951, exports to the United States rose during the last few years. In 1947 the United States took only five per cent of Canada's production; in 1948, 22 per cent; in 1949, 21 per cent; in 1950, 39 per cent; then in 1951, 23 per cent.

When the United States began feeling an aluminum shortage, Alcan in May, 1951, offered the United States government 440,000,000 pounds—220,000 tons—of aluminum at 16 cents a pound. Delivery, beginning at once, was to be made over a period of about 36 months.

There was no immediate acceptance and later an extension of the offer until Oct. 31 was asked. This was agreed to, say Alcan officials, but when the time limit was reached there was still no word from Washington. Britain stepped in and took the aluminum. Since then the United States has obtained some of the same aluminum from Britain, Alcan shipping it over the border to designated points instead of to England.

ANOTHER PLAN

Again, say Alcan officials, when commercial users of aluminum in the United States were short early this year the company submitted a plan to the United States government. Under this plan conditions were outlined by which Alcan would make 150,000 tons available. The United States government was asked to underwrite 100,000 tons—that is, if commercial users took only 90,000 tons, for instance, the government would take the remaining 10,000 tons. There was no acceptance.

Prospects of sharp United States expansion in aluminum production were seen late in August when the Aluminum Company of America announced it is contemplating building a $400,000,000 smelting plant in Alaska with annual capacity of 200,000 tons.

But the project would hinge not only on purchase of land and government approval but also upon getting electric power from Canadian water.

The proposed smelting plant would be built near Skagway, Alaska. Power would have to be generated by damming the Yukon River near Whitehorse.

EXPECT PROBLEMS

There have been no definite announcements since then, but Canadian officials in Ottawa at that time said there would be many complications. First, Alcoa would have to obtain agreement from the Canadian and British Columbia governments before there could be diversion of the Yukon waters. Second, the Canadian government would want assurance that power and navigation interests in the Yukon would be well protected.

First production of aluminum in Canada was in 1901 at Shawinigan Falls. The little company at that time was known as the Pittsburgh Reduction Company. Production was about 70 tons a year. In later years Alcan shifted main operations to the Saguenay district, where it owns the Shipshaw hydro-electric-power development.

Shipshaw construction was in two main stages, [illegible] an early plan. The first stage, utilizing the fall of the Saguenay River and with an installed capacity now of 300,000 horsepower, was completed in 1934. The second, and larger, stage was completed in 1943 with an installed capacity of 1,200,000 horsepower. To support this capacity, water storage facilities at Lake St. John had to be augmented to bring the storage capacity up to 400,000,000,000 cubic feet.

Alcan's production in 1937 was only 49,500 tons. In 1939 it was 82,500,000 tons and the peak year came in 1944, a war year, when production reached 460,000 tons. In 1950 it was 396,000 tons.

ARVIDA PLANT—Aerial view of the world's largest aluminum smelter at Arvida, Que., near the Saguenay River (seen in the background). Twenty-five per cent of the world's aluminum supply is produced at Arvida and three other Quebec plants of the Aluminum Company of Canada. More than 6,000 are employed at the Arvida plant which gets hydro-electric power from Alcan's Shipshaw and Isle Maligne power developments nearby.

ALUMINUM INGOTS—Every day more than 2,000,000 pounds of high-purity aluminum ingots leave the shipping platform of the four Quebec province smelters of Aluminum Company of Canada. This pile of ingots is at the Arvida plant. For production of aluminum, Alcan has harnessed water power at Shipshaw and Isle Maligne.

Havelock WMS Hears Section Rally Report

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Mrs. William Forsyth and Mrs. Herbert Hoard were hostesses for the October meeting of the W.M.S. of Havelock United Church at the home of the former on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. P. Haig led the worship period. The study, a portrayal of African villages before and after Christianity had done its work, was led by Mrs. H. Hoard, assisted by Mrs. F. Rogers, Mrs. R. G. Newman and Mrs. G. W. Chiles.

The fall thank-offering service was set for Sunday evening, November 16, at 7:30 o'clock, when the Rev. R. G. Newman, who has spent six years as missionary in Japan, will give an address on his experiences there, accompanied with a new set of slides on Japan by Wilma Thomas.

A special feature of the program was a report on the sectional rally held in the Hastings United Church on Tuesday, when each of the six members of the local auxiliary presented one of the highlights of the rally. Those reporting were: Mrs. R. G. Newman, Mrs. G. W. Chiles, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. P. Haig, Mrs. H. Agnew, Mrs. F. Rogers.

Mrs. A. Anderson, the supply secretary, is now taking subscriptions for the "Missionary Monthly" for 1953.

Refreshments were served.

Roller Topples Over Driver Killed

OTTAWA (CP) — Joseph E. Dufresne of Lancaster was killed today when the 10-ton pavement roller he was driving went out of control and toppled over a high embankment beside the Montreal highway, four miles east of Ottawa.

Dufresne was employed with the Dibble Construction Company, Ltd. of Ottawa, working on a section of the new trans-Canada highway. The driver and a helper, Norman Lough, 45, of Cumberland, were manoeuvering the machine into position when it went over the embankment, pinning Dufresne under it. Lough was uninjured.

Nude Body Hurled In Don River

Police Investigate Fiendish Murder, Woman 'Carved Up'

TORONTO —(CP)— The slashed and battered body of a woman about 40 years old was found floating face down today in the Don River in east-central Toronto. Police described it as "a case of murder most likely done with a carving knife."

The woman, so far unidentified, had her throat cut from ear to ear and her jugular vein pierced. Police said there were bruises and other cuts over the rest of the nude body.

Chief coroner Smirle Lawson described it as "the work of a madman." He said the woman was killed within the last 36 hours.

THROWN FROM BRIDGE

Police said the woman may have been murdered in a house "some time last night." Then she was stripped of her clothes and thrown from the bridge to the river 40 feet below.

Inspector Sam Johnson said "she was certainly hacked up."

"Her throat is almost cut away and her stomach was ripped open by some sharp knife," he said.

Police said the woman was an Indian and had been seen in the east-central section of Toronto known as "Cabbagetown." They hoped to identify her in a matter of hours.

British Note Rejects Iranian Terms

LONDON (AP) — Britain today sent off a note to Iran rejecting Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's terms for settling the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, official sources said.

The Iranian leader demanded seven days ago a British down payment by today of £20,000,000 as an essential first step towards a settlement.

The British note does not slam the door on future Anglo-Iranian talks, the informants said

It was said to dispute in some detail Iran's claim that £49,000,000 is owed by the government-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Ridgway Has Heavy Guard

LONDON (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway flew into town today and was greeted by the heaviest police guard seen at London airport since the war.

All was quiet. Metropolitan Police Superintendent Hougham said the guard of about 170 police was his own idea.

Communists sparked a wild protest demonstration when Ridgway made his first official visit to Britain as supreme Allied commander in Europe last July 9.

Ridgway flew from Paris to address the Pilgrims Society, an Anglo-American friendship group, tonight.

2 Others Injured As Car's Bumper Buried In Grill

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Three people were killed and two others critically injured Monday afternoon when their cars collided head-on two miles east of Norwood. Dead are: Mrs. Peggy Enns, 28, of St. Catharines; Wilmot E. Harrington, 77, R.R. 3, Trenton, and his cousin, Steve Harrington, 75, of the same address. In Civic Hospital in critical condition are: Mrs. Wilmot Harrington, 65, undetermined head injuries, and Mrs. Walter Saxton, 65, mother of Mrs. Enns, unconscious with a fractured leg and undetermined head injuries.

Peter Enns, 31, husband of the dead woman, is in fair condition with a lacerated scalp, and his sister-in-law, Miss Joyce Saxton, 23, suffered slight cuts on her forehead. She was not admitted to hospital.

Provincial police who investigated said that the Harrington car—a 1930 model—was eastbound on Highway 7 and pulled out of the line of traffic. The 1947 car driven by Enns crashed full-tilt into the older auto.

Force of the crash was so great that the front bumper of the older car was driven into the radiator of the Enns auto. Both cars are beyond salvage.

Three ambulances were called to the scene by police, and all those injured were brought to Civic Hospital for treatment. Traffic was blocked for about half-an-hour until O.P.P. officers arrived and directed it.

Cars were so badly twisted out of shape that police had to pry the injured from the wreckage.

Walter Saxton, husband of the injured Mrs. Saxton and several other members of the family, were in a car ahead of the Enns auto. They heard the crash and turned back.

Traffic was heavy at the time, partly because of the Norwood fair which was held Monday, and partly because of the heavy flow of Thanksgiving weekend motorists.

Search For Reds On UN Payroll Hitting Snag

NEW YORK (AP)—A search for American Communists on the United Nations payroll has been stymied in part by the refusal of five witnesses to answer questions by United States Senate investigators.

The five — Four present U.N. employees and one former U.N. steno-typist—refused yesterday to say whether they ever were Communists or whether they knew any Reds in the U.N.

The three-man Senate internal security sub-committee continues its hearing today.

The four U.N. employees questioned yesterday were Alfred J. van Tassel, Joel Gordon, Frank C. Bancroft and Stanley Graze. The former employee was Benjamin Mandel. All are Americans.

Bancroft, a documents control editor, gave a flat "no" answer when asked if he ever engaged in espionage. The other four wouldn't go that far.

Ottawa Unlikely To Agree To Relaxation

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government is not likely to agree to any relaxation in the method of paying off the 1942 Anglo-Canadian loan, financial officials said today.

But they disagreed with a British financial editor, Oscar Hobson, that Canada, by the terms of the repayment plan, actually imposes any ban on trade on United Kingdom investment in Canada.

Hobson, writing in the Liberal News Chronicle, urged that Canada remove the so-called "ban" on trade in U.K. investment and make this concession at the forthcoming Commonwealth prime ministers conference.

Officials here said it is up to the U.K. treasury to decide whether there is to be trade in U. K. investments in Canada. The only Canadian provision is that the U.K. treasury apply dollars equivalent to the security traded against the wartime loan.

TERMS OF LOAN

Under the terms of the loan, Canada provided Britain with $700,000,000 which was to be interest-free during the war. Later this interest-free concession was extended by agreement.

Britain was to pay off the loan by applying dollars derived from U.K. investments in Canada when they are redeemed or reach maturity.

So far about $480,000,000 of the loan has been paid off, leaving a balance of about $220,000,000. By agreement last year, the two countries decided that the method of repayment be continued for another three years until 1954 when the plan would be again studied.

Allies Unleash Heavy Attack

SEOUL (AP)—The Allies' heaviest attack in nearly a year knocked Chinese Reds off two knobs of Triangle Hill on the central Korean front today. Seven [illegible] troops launched [illegible] attacks [illegible] behind a curtain of artillery and tank fire. Chinese atop the 1,500-foot [illegible] soldiers and hand grenades down the slopes. Two miles east of Triangle, other U.N. soldiers attacked a second 1,500-foot hill. The twin peaks anchor the eastern base of the old Communist iron triangle supply and troop massing area. A U.S. Eighth Army officer described them as "very strong outpost positions outside the normal Chinese main line of resistance." He emphasized they were not part of the main Chinese line.

About 17 miles to the west, south Korean soldiers pushed ahead doggedly in an attack to drive Chinese Communists from their last foothold on White Horse Mountain. The Reds held desperately to two low knobs on the northwest ridgeline.

The fighting on White Horse has raged for eight days and has cost the Chinese an estimated 10,000 casualties.

Allied planes pounded the Chinese.

PLATOON LEADERS MARKED

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the front that Allied platoon and squad leaders wore brightly colored cloth crosses on their backs. These marked their progress so that artillery batteries could keep a rolling barrage "walking" ahead of the troops.

"Allied planes raided a Communist hand grenade factory near the Red Korean capital of Pyongyang Monday and set off a great explosion, the Far East Air Forces reported.

Pearson Elected President Of UN General Assembly

UNITED NATIONS N.Y., (CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, was elected president of the seventh session of the United Nations General Assembly which opened today. Pearson received 51 votes. Another four votes went to Mme. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India. Five countries abstained from voting—apparently the Soviet bloc.

Pearson's acceptance speech was slated for about 3.30 p.m. EST. He told reporters: "It's a great honor for Canada and a great responsibility for me. I will do my best to discharge that responsibility."

IN FRONT ROW

The United States secretary of state, Dean Acheson, and Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia sat in front-row seats as the retiring assembly president, Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, banged the gavel at 11:20 a.m. EST.

The leaders of the opposing free world and Communist blocs did not greet one another as they entered the $12,500,000 hall where they will clash during the next few weeks on such subjects as Korea, disarmament, Germany, Austria and independence for colonial countries.

OPTIMISM MISSING

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri of New York City, greeting the delegates from the rostrum, admitted the "original optimism and even perhaps some of the good-will" which hailed the U.N. seven years ago is missing today. But, he told

Using Torture For Confessions

VIENNA (AP) — Iron Curtain refugees arriving in Austria claim Communist police of Eastern Europe are turning more and more to physical torture to extract "confessions" from anti-Communists.

One young Czechoslovak girl who claimed she was arrested in Bratislava and accused of being a spy, said:

". . . I was forced to stand against a wall, holding a coin against it with the end of my nose. Each time the coin dropped, I was beaten again. . .

"They put matches between my bare toes and lighted them. The worst of all was when they drove staples for paper under my finger nails."

She claimed that during three days' torture and 11 days' interrogation, she did not break down, although she received no food. She said she had nothing to confess, and finally, after spending some time in labor camps for "political re-education," she was released. But she feared re-arrest and escaped to Austria at the first opportunity.

Regent Fired For Ambitions

CAIRO (Reuters)—Col. Rashad Mehanna, regent of the Egyptian throne who developed "political ambitions," was fired early today by Premier Mohammed Naguib for betraying the military movement.

The powerful army council, headed by Gen. Naguib, took the [illegible] ed up with a detailed public announcement of the charges against Mehanna, a former artillery officer and the only soldier on the three-man regency council.

Hope Child 3 Reveals Killer

CHESTER, Calif. (AP)—Police today studied many leads, but admitted their best clue to a robber who beat a man and three children to death Friday may be locked in the memory of a fourth child, left for dead by the killer.

The child, 3½-year-old Sondra Young, is recovering in hospital from head wounds similar to those which killed her father, grocer Guard Young, 43, two sisters, Judy, 6, and Jean, 7, and a neighbor boy, Michael Saile, 4.

The five were found Saturday in the trunk of Young's car. The killer or killers apparently waylaid Young outside this little logging town as he returned with $7,128 from his regular Friday trip to a bank at Westwood, 14 miles away.

Police hope to question Sondra today.

Secret Blue Prints Found On Golf Course

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—The Secret Service sought today to find out how blue prints of one of Britain's latest bombers got scattered over a golf course near here.

The prints were from a nearby factory of A.V. Roe, builders of the first delta-winged heavy bomber and of the Shackleton bomber, which took part in the recent "Mainbrace" North Atlantic Treaty Organization exercises.

Passersby saw the drawings lying on the edge of the golf course and turned them over to police.

A Roe official refused to specify to which type of aircraft the prints belonged "because it is now quite certain that people who should not have seen the drawings have seen them."

Stalin, 10 Aides Named Re-Mould Party Program

MOSCOW (AP) — The 19th Congress of the all-Soviet Communist party has named Prime Minister Stalin and 10 aids to re-mould the party program in line with changes in Russia's international relations and internal developments.

A similar revision commission was named by the last party Congress, in 1939, but the Second World War, and post-war reconstruction prevented completion of its work, a Moscow radio broadcast said.

Later today the Congress is expected to elect a central committee empowered to organize a praesidium to replace the present politburo. It also must choose a secretariat and a party-control committee and elect a central inspection committee.

A radio announcement said the revision committee headed by Stalin includes four politburo members, all deputy premiers of the Soviet Union. They are L.P Beria, L.M. Kaganovich, G.M. Malenkov and V.M. Molotov.

Others on the committee are O.V. Kuusinen, chairman of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the Karelian Republic; P.N. Pospelov, head of the Marx-Engels-Lenin Institute and former editor of Pravda; M.S. Saburov, chairman of the state planning committee who presented the five-year plan objectives to the Congress: D.I. Chesnokov, I.I. Rumyantsev and P.A. Yudin.

The announcement said the Congress had decided to reshape the party program because of great changes in international relations and in the building of socialism in this country.

The revised program will be presented at the next party Congress slated to meet in 1956.

The revision committee will use as its guide Stalin's 25,000-word statement, "Economic Problems of Socialism in the U.S.S.R.," which was published on the eve of the Congress opening Oct. 5.

One of Stalin's main points was that conflict in the capitalist camp make war between capitalist nations more likely than between a capitalist country and Russia.

Boy 5, Rescues Father After Slide

Willis Green, 78, and his son, Arthur, 50, were trapped while digging sand on the elder Green's farm. The walls of the pit gave way, burying the older man in 35 feet of sand and covering Arthur to his armpits.

Donald ran with his shovel and dug his father's arms free. They both then worked frantically at the sand covering Willis Green but could not find him. Other men finally reached the body.

Red Sympathizers Blamed In Incident

WINDSOR (CP) — Communist sympathizers are being blamed for an incident early Monday morning in which a Chinese Nationalist flag was torn down and taken away from headquarters of the Chinese Benevolent Association.

Lee Dean, president of the association, said the flag was flown with a Canadian flag and the Union Jack from standards at least 10 feet above street level. The occasion was the 41st anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Republic, which has been superseded by the Communist "People's Democracy."

He expressed the conviction that the flag had been taken by representatives of subversive groups in the city which are hostile to the non-Communist National government.

Say U.S. Officers Backed Guerrilla Group

BONN (CP) — U.S. Army authorities sponsored the creation of a German guerrilla army for use in a third world war without telling the U.S. high commission about it, informed sources said Monday.

Premier August Zinn, of Hesse, who made the first statement about the alleged partisan group last week, said Monday that a joint U.S.-German commission established to investigate his charges has adjourned temporarily to study its results so far.

The West German news agency DPA said that U.S. sources had stressed the fact that U.S. authorities had no knowledge of the group's illegal political activity—a blacklist of leftists to be "shot if necessary" in case of a Soviet invasion — until several members were arrested in September.

ASSERTED AUTHORITY

It said U.S. authorities were cooperating with the Germans to clear up these illegal activities.

The informed sources said Monday that when High Commissioner Walter Donnelly summoned Gen Manton Eddy, commander of the army in Europe, to his headquarters last week, he asserted his authority over the army in all matters short of an actual shooting war.

Meantime, a senior army spokesman at Eddy's headquarters repeated earlier denials that the army knew anything about the secret guerilla army. He said no army officer had been authorized to make a statement about the issue.

The DPA account said the partisan group was established with the U.S. Army's knowledge soon after the outbreak of the Korean War in June, 1950, and quoted U.S. sources as saying the group was formed "within the framework of West European defence."

Train Hits Car, 3 Killed

WOODBRIDGE (CP)—Two men and a woman were killed last night when a freight train crashed into their stalled truck at a level crossing. Five other passengers, including three young children escaped injury. The dead: Robert Thomas Dobson, 39; Mrs. Helen Chapman, 55, wife of the driver, and Henry Cronkrite, 36, all of Meadowvale about 15 miles west of Toronto. Four of the five passengers who escaped with only a shaking up were Mrs. Cronkrite, widow of the dead man, and her three baby girls. They were all seated in the back with Cronkrite. Constable David Nixon rescued the driver, Lloyd Chapman, by pulling him from the front seat, second before the train struck.

ON WAY HOME

The tragedy occurred as the eight persons were returning home from the Woodbridge farm. Hundreds of fair visitors witnessed the accident.

Constable Nixon said the Canadian Pacific Railway train was about a mile away when he noticed the truck stalled with its bumper over the tracks. He ran up to the truck and told the driver to back it up but "the driver seemed to be frozen to the wheel."

Churchill Government In Stronger Position Now

LONDON (Reuters)—Parliament reassembles today with Winston Churchill's government firmly in the driver's seat. The split in the opposition Labor party has taken the heat off the Conservatives. The Conservative government may take advantage of its new strength to push ahead quickly with denationalization plans for the steel and trucking industries.

The Commons resumes sessions after a two-month summer vacation. The next three weeks, the tail end of the old session, will be devoted to cleaning up domestic issues and preparing for the new winter session.

The new session will open Nov. 14 and Churchill then may show his hand. His program will be outlined in the Speech from the Throne, the opening state message read by the Queen, which will reflect the policy of her ministers.

Churchill has a majority of 16 in the House. But this figure means a lot more now than it did before the summer.

The Socialist opposition has been shaken to its foundation by the internal strife between Aneurin Bevan's left-wingers and Clement Attlee's moderates. This has left it weak and divided just when it needs maximum unity to fight Churchill's announced plans to return to private ownership some of the industries nationalized by the Socialists when they were in power.

Three months ago Labor said an immediate election would sweep it back into power. Now it is worried that some popular issue might give Churchill a chance to call a snap election and win an increased majority.

$50,000 Holdup Foiled For Three Thugs

TORONTO (CP)—Three masked men, one armed with a sub-machine-gun, tussled with two clerks at the Robert Simpson Company's downtown mail-order C.O.D. office Saturday but failed to get $50,000 lying on a nearby table. The men fled empty-handed.

Clerks George Thaler, 50, and George Browne, 58, were taken to hospital with blood streaming down their faces after the fight.

The gunmen lined 15 other employees against a wall before Thaler began grappling with one man who carried a revolver.

"The thug hit Thaler and Browne on the head with his gun," said I.W. Hamilton, office manager. "The gunman got frightened and started to run. Another of our men hit him with a chair but he kept on going."

"Let us begin all our work in the name of God," Austin urged, "in order to fulfil the work of "this capital of peace."

Austin mentioned Canada's "great" contribution of seven nickel-plated doors for the main entrance of the assembly hall. Among the advisory architects he listed Ernest Cormier of Montreal.

Both France and Britain have let it be known that they will oppose putting the Tunisian and Morrocan questions on the agenda. The French also have voiced irritation over the U.S. attitude on colonial questions.

O.P.P. constables John Gray and Jim Healey caught two men on a Smith township sideroad Saturday night who pleaded guilty to theft charges today.

Constable Gray said in court today that Mel G. Thompson, 32, and John Burfield, 20, were arrested on a Smith township sideroad at 2 a.m.

He said the pair were near a car stopped along the road which had attracted the officers' attention.

There was a quantity of auto parts in the rear of the car, constable Gray said. It was later established that the auto parts, valued at about $40 were taken from wrecked cars, belonging to Ken Reid, who owns a wrecking lot two miles west of Lakefield.

Both Burfield and Thompson are in the army. They were remanded a week for sentence, to see if they are absent without leave from their unit.

2 Youths Admit Robbing House

Two city youths who pleaded guilty to breaking into the dwelling of Sherman Preston on River Road north, August 30, were remanded a week for sentence.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for the remand to check on whether the pair, Gerald Stinson, 19, and Benjamin Logan, 20, both of 270 William St., have records.

O.P.P. Constable George Louth who investigated the breakin testified he obtained statements from Logan and Stinson admitting they had broken into Preston's house.

Accidents Few In Haliburton Despite Traffic

LINDSAY (ENS).—Haliburton and Lindsay O.P.P. reported the past weekend as one of the heaviest they have ever encountered in this area for traffic and tourist business. The final long weekend of the year before the winter apparently drew many more people to the highways than ever before, and the police worked overtime handling the crowds.

Constable Ken Denniss of Lindsay reported no fatal or serious accidents although there were three major collisions in the holiday rush. His men worked extra patrols and handled a record amount of traffic.

No serious accidents were reported in any of the northern detachments, but over-crowding of the highways brought many traffic problems to the various provincial officers. Lodges and motels from Lindsay north to Haliburton were packed during the weekend and accommodation was at a premium after noon Saturday. A car-truck collision Friday night on the Minden-Haliburton road sent a Toronto woman to the hospital with a fractured pelvis.

The truck, driven by Miss Pauline Williams of Haliburton, and the car driven by Vincent Lapetina, of Toronto, met head-on on the highway. About $800 damage was done the front of the truck, and about $700 to the car. No one in the truck was injured, but all the members of the party in the Lapetina car were shaken up, and Mrs. A. Rundle was taken to the Red Cross outpost for observation. The next day she was removed by ambulance to hospital in Toronto. Constable Hardy of the Minden O.P.P. is investigating the accident.

Russia Limits Sale Of Grain To Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia so far has agreed to sell Britain only 200,000 tons of grain during the coming year, usually well-informed trade experts said today. Last year the contract was for 1,000,000 tons.

Britain would have welcomed a similarly big contract this year both to save dollars and to help farmers who concentrate on livestock production and depend on imported feed grain.

Russia's reported decision, which may soon be the subject of an announcement here, may be linked with British restrictions on the export of strategic materials to the Soviet Union.

GIGANTIC TORTOISE

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flax took on a good tone in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Other grains moved narrowly and generally lower.

Moderate shipper demand, mostly of a domestic character, appeared in oats and barley trade. A few American orders also came out in oats.

Flax uncovered further export buying, with fairly liberal hedging well absorbed. Rye dealings were local and dull.

11 a.m. grain prices:

Oats: Oct. unch 82½; Dec. ⅜ lower 80⅛B; May ¼ lower 79A; July ¼ lower 77⅜.

Barley: Oct. not open; Dec. ½-⅝ higher 1.23½; May unch 1.16 ⅞A; July ⅛ higher 1.13⅝-A.

Dr. John Wilson, Lakefield Dentist Passes

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Lakefield residents learned with regret of the sudden passing of Dr. John Orr Wilson at his residence, Bridge Street, early Sunday morning. He was 68 years of age and had not been well for the past week, but his illness was not regarded as serious.

Although a resident of the village for less than two years, Dr. Wilson was well known, both as a capable dentist and as a public minded citizen. He was a director of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Peterborough Curling Club and the Peterborough Bowling Club. He was of the Presbyterian faith.

Of Scottish descent, he was born at Markdale, a son of the late Rev. Andrew Wilson and Helen Spence. In 1911 he graduated from the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto, and practised in Toronto for 18 years and in Windsor for 23 years. He took post-graduate work at Chicago and Toronto.

Dr. Wilson is survived by his wife, the former Vera Thurston, six sons, Edwin, Bertram, Harry, Fred, Jack and William, and two sisters, Mrs. Eva Patten and Miss Victoria Wilson.

The funeral service will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 p.m. from the Heinden funeral home, with the Rev. W. H. Tonge, of the Lakefield United Church, officiating. Interment will be in Lakefield cemetery.

A resolution proposed by President John L. Lewis said the sum was needed "to replenish the treasury burdened by recent heavy disbursements and to provide for future contingencies."

Gunnery Range Costs $450,000

HALIFAX (CP)—Work is to start immediately on the most modern gunnery range in the world, a $450,000 structure at Osborne Head near Cow Bay, off the mouth of Halifax harbor. With it, the Royal Canadian Navy can produce completely trained men for service afloat.

Seamen will be able to use every type of gun and radar director used in the navy, except the six-inch gun, carried only in Canada's two cruisers.

The guns are pointed from the headland over an area of water stretching miles out to sea. The targets will be the normal variety towed by tugs, or sleeve drogues trailed from aircraft.

Cmdr. George M. Wadds, Atlantic Command gunnery officer who sparked development of the range, says it has many advantages.

"It will allow us to train the gunnery staff of a ship from the captain to the lowest ammunition passer. Furthermore, it will ensure that gunnery personnel on course get their firing practice before they graduate. Right now we depend on ships to take them to sea for day and night firings. The snag is that ships are not always conveniently at hand."

Included at the Osborne Head range will be devices for simulating an encounter with an enemy at sea. Gun platforms will have devices to make them heave and roll—one of the toughest problems of accurate shooting afloat.

The shooting area will extend about 20 miles southeastward out to sea, well away from the shipping lanes to and from Halifax.

Warnings will be radioed and posted to mariners and fishermen, and a fast boat will be used to keep interlopers out of the danger area while firing is on.

Bond Redemption Announced By Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The Finance Department today announced plans for meeting the redemption of two Government of Canada bond issues maturing Nov. 1 and $100,000,000 issue of deposit certificates maturing Nov. 15.

The government will issue a new $450,000,000 loan, dated Nov. 1, 1952, to provide part of the cash required, and the rest will come from "other resources of the government, including the proceeds of the sale of Canada Savings Bonds.

The new issue consists of two maturities — one-year two per cent bonds maturing Nov. 1, 1953, and two-year 1½-month two per cent bonds maturing Dec. 15, 1954. In each case these are additions to maturities at present outstanding. The new one-year bonds are being offered at 99.05 to yield about 2.97 per cent to maturity and the 1954 maturity is priced at 97.75 to yield about 3.10 per cent.

Both series are non-callable to maturity. Interest on the one-year bond is payable May 1 and Nov. 1. Interest on the two-year 1½-month bond is payable on June 15 and Dec. 15, the first interest date being Dec. 15, 1952.

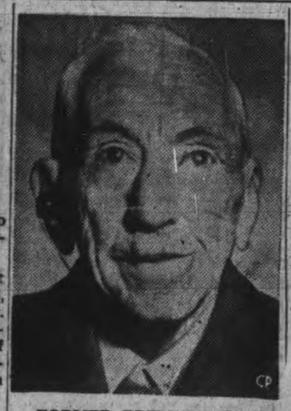
Korean Veteran Found Dead On Lonely Road

COBOURG — (ENS) — Two deaths were reported in this district over the weekend.

Dead from a highway accident Sunday is Donald Wilson, 26, railway worker of Agincourt. Said by police to have committed suicide, Harold Smith, 22, of Colborne, died Monday morning on a Cobourg side road from a .22 calibre bullet.



Patrolling the outlying Elgin street at 4. 45 a.m. Constable C. Cunningham noticed a car parked off the road in a lonely spot with apparently nobody in it. He went over to inspect it and by the light of his flashlight saw a form huddled up in the back seat. At first he took it for a man sleeping but something about the hunched position led him to examine more closely and he then discovered the lifeless body of Harold Smith, construction worker at the ordnance depot in Cobourg. A .22 calibre rifle with one expended bullet was between his knees. The slug had entered his mouth and in to the brain. Later investigation revealed that Harold Smith had been despondent during the past few days. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Smith of R. R. No. 5, Colborne, he was born in that district and early this summer returned after 18 months in Korea with the Canadian army. No inquest will be held.

CRASHES INTO POLE.

The death of Donald Wilson was an unusual one. Sunday morning at 6.30 he was proceeding east of Cobourg about ten miles when his car left the road, went into a ditch five feet deep and crashed into a telephone pole. Wilson's car was damaged on the front side. He got out and thumbed a ride into Cobourg to see about getting a tow out of the ditch. One his return to the scene of the accident he talked to Provincial Constable Stan Judson who recommended that Wilson go into town and see a doctor. Wilson replied that there was nothing wrong with him and that his main concern was to get his car out of the ditch. Then he suddenly swayed and collapsed. Constable Judson rushed him into Cobourg General Hospital but he was breathing his last when he was admitted. No autopsy was performed, but the attending physician expressed the opinion that there had been internal bleeding caused by the accident which brought about a fatal blood clot.

Queen Sees Her Portrait

LONDON (AP)—The Queen had her first look at her portrait by Texas artist Douglas Chandor today, when she returned to London from her vacation in Balmoral, Scotland.

The portrait, commissioned by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to be presented to the British Embassy in Washington, was taken to Buckingham Palace this morning from the hotel room Chandor has been using as a studio.

School Costs

Last year this city had to raise $718,120 to keep its schools going during the year. This was nearly half what the city had to raise through tax levy for all other municipal purposes combined. Yet the maintenance and operation of schools is by no means the full cost to this city; there are debentures and interests thereon to meet each year, debts incurred because of new and additional schools built. These school building debentures form a sizeable part of the city's expenditure of $519,988 for debt charges last year.

* * *

Throughout the Province generally debenture debts for education have risen very sharply in the last six years. In 1946 the total debenture debt of municipalities for their schools was $42,182,000; last year this debt had risen to $120,91,000. This was 203 per cent. higher than the average school debenture debt in 1939; nearly three times as great as in 1946. Thus school building has been putting the cities and towns of Ontario disproportionately into debt.

* * *

School building costs have been high because so many schools have had to be built or extended, and at peak material and labour prices. According to the Canadian Educational Association it costs from $650 to $850 a pupil to build a new public school, and about $1,500 a student to build a new high school.

We sympathize with the Letter Review of Fort Erie's opinion that these costs are quite fantastic, particularly for high schools.

* * *

In its criticism, the Review remarks that these buildings are occupied only one hour in four. It argues that the expense is due to "the insistence of teachers, trustees and parents on building palatial establishments where the emphasis is more on sport and amusement than on learning." This criticism is given weight by figures for several Toronto schools. The Toronto Board spent $9,368 to furnish a teachers' room at Lord Dufferin school. A million dollar addition is being built to the Lawrence Park Collegiate. It will contain an art room, a band room, a chemistry room, a guidance room, a physical training room, a health room and two dressing rooms. It will also have a library, a $160,000 swimming pool and a thousand-seat auditorium. The present auditorium will be turned into a gymnasium.

* * *

We do not ask if all these elaborations to school plants are really necessary (how Socrates would have laughed, teaching in the market-place), but we do ask if they can be and should be afforded, in view of the high cost of staffing and maintaining schools. Perhaps we can take consolation in these provincial statistics: municipal taxation for educational purposes is 37.7 per cent. of the total taxation, only 5.7 points more than in the low-cost year 1946, when schools took 32 per cent. of the taxes. However the amount of taxes they are now taking is a much larger one because taxes are much higher. In 1946 taxes in Ontario municipalities for school purposes amounted on the average to $10.15 a head: last year it was $19.73 for each person in the municipality—nearly twice as much.

* * *

Looking at the situation in the city and in the Province generally, we think that school boards would best win favour with their publics if they get school buildings costs down, build schools fit for children who are not Arabic princes supported by oil royalties, and require equipment so in keeping with the public purse. Peterborough has taken a step in this direction, as the contract prices for the newest school have shown.

The Long, Weary War

The Korean war is in its third year, the so-called truce talks are in their second year, and still the war goes on: bleakly, heavily with the end always in sight but never, it seems nearer. The dash of Canadian courage which touched it recently is a bright relief from the wearisome monotony of the despatches. The young lieutenant and corporal who detached themselves from their patrol, took a prisoner and under fire dashed back with him, well deserved to be decorated immediately in the field of their exploit.

It is hard for those of us who have not been in Korea to imagine what the setting is like, and what has happened in that sad land. One observer who has recently returned reports to us that the capital, Seoul, is a symbol of the whole country, and that it is a city of desolation.

More than half the city is in ruins. Some of the foothills are crowned with factories and colleges and they, also, are derelict. The wide avenues are lined with the thin fronts of buildings that do not hide the rubble and twisted iron behind. The roads are worn and broken. There are scars like splashes on the sides of walls where shells have exploded. The Capitol buildings, which the Japanese built of grey stone when this was their colony, is gutted and empty, though a sentry stands at its gate and a complicated Korean flag is lashed to its broken dome.

It is, in fact, a town ruined by war: no rare thing in the world today. Signal wires droop between the dusty trees. Sentries, white and negro, stand outside dilapidated buildings and jerk little salutes at officers. Military notices are nailed to tree trunks and to the stumps of lamp posts; they point the way to a dozen different headquarters; they warn the personnel of the United Nations that all cafes and restaurants are out of bounds; over and over again, they say, epigrammatic and minatory, "Native Liquor Blinds" and "Native Liquor Kills."

These notices are for the military traffic that grinds and bumps all day and night through the city, to and from the front, as impatient of its surroundings as the water in a river bed. There is literally no civilian traffic, no shiny limousine for the black market king, no family car for the philoprogenitive missionary.

The civilians move on foot, or else are packed like dates into a box in one of the rare trams whose windows are always broken and the sides dented. They live in fantastic concentrations on the edge of the city where the fighting was less bitter. Here they have single storied, inward-looking houses packed side to side and separated by narrow stinking alleys. They are capped with ponderous roofs of curving tiles. Their walls are bright with coloured bricks. The doors are of heavy oak and the windows are barred.

Sometimes, through a half open door, you catch a glimpse of a tiny courtyard inside. There are many children; old men smoke brass pipes sitting on a polished floor; the interior walls are sliding screens in the Japanese manner, so that there is no distinction between the life of the yard and of the house. There are often heaps of shell cases—which might come in handy—or fly-blown prints of the Sacred Heart—since many are Christian—or great jars for storing grain—which are unlikely to be full.

The people are either old, or else they are women and children. There is nothing in between, since war has passed like a wave four times in two years over Seoul and has washed the young men away. Often down a back street, you hear the harsh voices of war orphans singing in class from the other side of a wall, where they have found a refuge in an old school or someone else's house.

It is such an eye-witnesses account and the reports of spirited valour in one spot or another which bring Korea into sharper focus after these years of slugging, static war, and ineffective talk of truce.

Presidential Candidates Speak Through Mouths of Communists

For the moment we wish to attribute a paragraph from a speech to General Eisenhower, and another paragraph to Governor Adlai Stevenson. Here is the first paragraph: "General Eisenhower told the Republican convention last night that a third world war would finish Soviet Russia as a fighting power. Emphasizing the strength of the United States, he predicted that if Soviet aggressors kindle the flame of a new world war, it will be their last one. The Republican candidate however appealed for still further strengthening of the United States."

Here is the second paragraph we wish to quote, (with amendments): Stevenson declared: "The vigilance of the American people is the keenest weapon in the struggle against the enemy infiltrators and there is no doubt that by heightening and sharpening their vigilance, the American people will be able to render harmless the agents of Russ[illegible] how many they send to us and no matter how they disguise them."

We wish now to disclose that General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson did not say these things: they were said exactly as we have quoted by the Soviet Deputy Premier Bulganin and by the head of the Soviet police organization Beria at the 19th Communist Party Congress in Moscow on Wednesday—exactly as quoted except that we have substituted American for Russian, and Soviet for United States.

Who is convincing whom?

NOTE AND COMMENT

A wit on the Ottawa Citizen remarks that all the breweries in the U.S.A. keep frothing on radio and TV about putting out "the best beer," and if there's a second-best beer, they're keping it a well-corked secret. You've got you're metaphors mixed, Citizen. In the States—where beer bottles have gone out of fashion—it's a canned secret now.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

I HAVE just been listening on the radio to a recording of an "African Suite" for string orchestra by the African composer Fela Sowande. I found it pleasant and wholesome music, traditional in feeling and untouched by modern Isms; in fact Sowande's harmonic idiom is pre-Tristan. What stumped me was the label "African". Some of the themes admittedly had a negro flavour, and the air of unsophisticated happiness that suffused the whole suite accorded well with the simple joy of living that is so characteristic of the African native in his own country—the broad smile that discloses a row of flashing ivory teeth. Yet technically and spiritually Sowande belongs to the earlier half of what has been called the English renaissance. The African suite sounds as though it has been written by a talented and sensitive English composer of conservative tastes, reared on Stanford and Parry and on nodding terms with Sir Edward German and the earlier Vaughan Williams, probably as the result of a trip to Africa (adjudicating at festivals?). Sowande in the European tradition modulates and develops his themes; the African uses the more primitive device of reiteration in much the same way as Stravinsky in his choral ballet "The Wedding".

✧ ✧ ✧

HERE ARE a few biographical details concerning Sowande, who is still fairly "young" as far as composers go and is not too well known in North America. He was born in Nigeria in 1905, and received his education at the Church Missionary Society's Grammar School in Lagos and later at King's College, Lagos. Thus he falls in a different category from Coleridge Taylor, who though of African descent was born in England and never visited the continent of his ancestors. Yet Sowande was brought up under strong European influences and after he left college was for six years deputy organist and choirmaster at the Cathedral in Lagos, where he might still be but for an unusual happening. In 1935 he was "discovered" as a solo pianist and took part in a London West End show called "Blackbirds" which attained wide popularity not only because it was the first all-negro show of its kind in London but also on account of the high quality of the production. At the same time two chorale preludes for organ on "African Sacred Folk Melodies" were published and well received by organists. During the war he served with the R.A.F. At present he lives in London, where he is Musical Adviser to the Colonial Film Unit and also Organist and Choirmaster to the West London Mission. His output is not large. Unless a composer has private means he must take on other engagements or starve unless he has the good fortune like Tchaikovsky to find somebody who believes enough in his work to subsidize him for several years. Some, like Mozart and Schubert, chose the harder way, while others managed to combine composition with teaching, conducting, playing the organ or even such unlikely avocations as chemistry or military engineering.

THERE IS a small but by no means undistinguished group of musicians who have never had to worry about where the next meal is coming. It is often repeated thoughtlessly that nobody works unless he is forced to do so. In a broad sense this is true, but in the commonly accepted meaning that nobody would do a stroke of work without the hard pinch of economic necessity this statement is often contradicted by facts. Felix Mondelssohn, scion of a wealthy Jewish family, burnt himself out prematurely in the cause of music. Parry, Bax, Sir Thomas Beecham and Vincent d'Indy are a few other examples taken at random to show what nonsense it is to say that nobody would deliberately choose to work if they could possibly avoid it. Admittedly the man with private means has a much greater freedom of choice as to what his life work should be. He has money to spend on training to equip himself for his task. Yet in some ways it may be harder for him to excel. For example parental disapproval is always harder to surmount when the parents have money and influence. Furthermore the narrow conventionality of the upper classes, especially in years gone by tends to stifle the direct and uninhibited approach of the artist.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT CANNOT be said that Ralph Vaughan Williams has ever been much beset by conventionality or its opposite pole of freakishness. He has trodden his own path with steadfast purpose, and Sunday celebrated his eightieth birthday. Though he has never sought to found a "school" his influence has been vast and he is held in affectionate regard by thousands of musicians as V.W., the Grand Old Man of English music. His roughhewn but kindly features, his sloppy dress and slouching gait, and above all his mountainous form mark him out as a combination of tramp and mystic. Tramp and mystic he is; V.W. can be genial in society, but he is happiest when in the country, away from the glitter of the big cities. Even his London Symphony depicts a London seen through the eyes of a countryman.

✧ ✧ ✧

V. W. WAS born in in a quiet Gloucestershire vicarage, and like most sons of the clergy enjoyed that happy medium between luxury and hardship which is most conducive to a happy and healthy childhood. [illegible] was not until 1904, when he was over thirty, that something happened to him that changed his whole career. He started to discover for himself the treasure-house of English folk music, which up till comparatively recent times had been virtually ignored by the musically literate. He threw himself vigorously into the new folksong movement, steeping himself in the idiom of these homespun ditties, touring the outlying districts in search of them and taking them down on paper for the first time in most cases. Rooted in the soil himself he felt a kinship with English folksong. He also sensed that the stranglehold of German standards, German technique and German Kultur-snobismus over English musical life of the time could be loosened only by returning to these despised and rejected folksongs that lingered on in the minds of country folk.

THE FOLKSONG revival, with all its extravagant claims, is now a thing of the past and may be considered vieux jeu by some, but it was a very necessary phase in the English renaissance. Since those crusading days V.W.'s muse has taken him far along the road of Christian mysticism. His latest works, though not so obviously "folky", are none the less deeply imbued with the spirit of English folk song.

SKYLINE OF OIL'S INDUSTRY: New refineries at Sarnia, the largest of their kind in Canada, to process western oil brought pipeline to the Sarnia terminus. At night they make a striking silhouette.

Threat To Central Canada?

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THE LATEST contest over freight rates now being waged before the Board of Transport Commissioners represents the fourth round in a battle that began in 1946.

Each application, including the present one, is for a horizontal increase expressed in terms of a percentage of the then existing rates. Thus there is a pyramiding process. The allowable ceiling on railway freight rates, as a result, now stands 70 per cent. above the immediate post-war level, and if the current pair of applications (8 per cent. followed by 9 per cent.) are granted in full, it will rise to 100 per cent. In other other words, permissible freight rates would be double what they were just before the first increase was granted in 1948.

Yet rates do not automatically rise everywhere by the percentage allowed by the Transportation Board. Where competition from truck and water transport is a potent factor, they are held down. This explains why Ontario and Quebec, the chief beneficiaries of alternative forms of transportation, have never shown much interest in these interminable and dreary rate cases. The western and Maritime provinces, on the other hand, are aware that the main burden of increases must fall upon them, since what essential revenue the railways fail to gain in one geographic region they must try to make up in another.

The railways are hit in two ways by their most formidable modern competitors, the trucks. They lose a substantial volume of business outright, and to retain the balance they must charge less than would otherwise be the case.

The central provinces are not concerned about all this, but even they may come in time to take stock of the freight rate problem. There is, for example, the claim—now being tested in some of the states — that heavily loaded trucks are causing more wear to the highways than they pay for in taxes. Should more drastic regulations be imposed against road transport, the degree of competition to the railways from that source might be expected to lessen. This in turn would tend to ease the brakes on rising freight charges in the populated sections of Ontario and Quebec. These provinces might then, for the first time, display an interest in a matter that already disturbs the rest of Canada.

Letter To The Editor

OUTSIDE TOILETS—BUT OTHER IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

Sir: In reading the article in the paper last night on outside toilets I find it mighty hard to understand why the Board of Health should cons[illegible] when there is other things in worse conditions down here such as, broken down sidewalks and no street lights in this block between Ford Ave. and High St. at all, not even one. It certainly is not safe to go out at night as you are just taking chance of tripping on the sidewalks and maybe breaking an arm or leg.

As for owning cars, yes nearly every family on this street do own cars, as we need the car lights to see to go out at night. I have four children so I never go anywhere except in the car. Our taxes have tripled since we have been here, with no improvements except water and sewer. We did manage to get the water into the house as the pump water was full of germs and unsafe to drink.

But as for plumbing, we certainly can't manage that yet. I guess we will have to wait for our ship to come in, as the high cost of living keeps us guessing now. We figure if we have to live like country folks without sidewalks or street lights we might just as well have a country style toilet too.

So, instead of worrying about our little problems down here, how about Mr. Dewart coming down and looking the situation over as we need improvements, especially with the ice and snow coming soon to make the conditions worse.

Out of 16 houses in this one block 13 or 14 are home-owners and tax payers.

Hodge-Podge Growth

(Windsor Star)

Windsor is paying a penalty for its hodge-podge manner of growth. This is illustrated frequently when desires of industries to expand, or to find new locations, bump up against present zoning regulations.

Often these involve real hardship either on the part of the industries concerned or on that of those who have invested in homes in the areas concerned. There is no easy solution in many of these cases. If we always accede to industrial demands, we are aggravating an already aggravated situation. If we reject natural desires of industry, we are hampering industrial growth.

Part of the problem is due to there having been several municipalities, without a common plan of development, prior to amalgamation. Part of it was due to the short-sightedness of those in charge of affairs.

One result is Windsor has too few good residential areas, segregated from factory areas and not criss-crossed by railway lines.

The problem isn't unique to Windsor, of course. Other cities have it in greater or lesser degree. But some, by setting aside large areas years ago for industrial development and others for residential purposes, and adhering strictly to their zoning, have fared much better than others.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Elisha came again to Gilgal: and there was a dearth in the land. . . . And there came a man from Baal-shalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley, and full ears of corn in the husk thereof. And he said, Give unto the people, that they may eat. And his servitor said, What, should I set this before an hundred men? He said again, Give the people, that they may eat: for thus saith the Lord, They shall eat, and shall leave thereof.

So he set it before them, and they did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the Lord. (II Kings 5:38, 42-44.)

And the sons of the prophets said unto Elisha, Behold now, the place where we dwell with thee is too strait for us. Let us go, we pray thee, unto Jordan, and let us make us a place there, where we may dwell. And he answered, Go ye. . . . But as one was felling a beam, the axe head fell into the water: and he cried, and said, Alas, master for it was borrowed.

And the man of God said, Where fell it? And he shewed him the place. And he cut down a stick, and cast it in thither; and the iron did swim. Therefore said he, Take it up to thee. And he put out his hand, and took it. (II Kings 6:1, 2, 5-7.)

PETERBOROUGH CAPTURES MANN CUP AGAIN

Trounce Vancouver Squad By A 15-6 Decision To Sweep Series In Four

By CEC. PERDUE

The Petes' Timbermen retained their Mann Cup crown, won last year in Vancouver, by trimming the Vancouver Pilseners 15-6 last night in Maple Leaf Gardens to sweep the Canadian finals in four straight games. After a 9-1 opening win in the set last week, the Timbermen just yanked out the next two decisions by margins of one goal, but on Thanksgiving Day—before a slim crowd of 1,450—they waltzed to the triumph in their easiest chore of the series. They spotted the B.C. champions a 3-0 lead halfway through the first quarter, but then took command to pile up the count and finish like real champions.

SHOT THEIR BOLT

It was 4-4 to end the first quarter, 7-5 for the Thorpe team at the halfway mark, and 11-6 going into the final heat when they slapped in four markers without a return. Unlike their previous two tilts, Vancouver shot their bolt early and were being soundly trounced in the late stages of a fairly fast and quite clean encounter. Of the dozen penalties handed out (all minors), the winners drew five.

Following the final bell, the losers grouped around the Timbermen and offered congratulations, shortly before the Mann Cup was presented by C.L.A. president T. J. O'Brien to Coach Bob Thorpe and team captain Dootch Vitarelli jointly. For being voted by the press as the best player in the series, Lou Nickle of the Petes received the Mike Kelley Memorial Award. Goalie George Johnston of Toronto Yorks at the same time was given the Charles Querrie Trophy for being voted the most valuable O.L.A. player for the season.

SOUND LACROSSE

Playing sound and solid lacrosse from midway through the first stanza, the champions looked their part practically all through. They had swell goaltending again by the Moon, effective checking and plenty of smart attacking. The losers turned in the most inept performance of the four frays, fading from the first frame on. They actually didn't have an individual star over the route last night.

Several of the Timbermen were outstanding, though all went good. Dootch Vitarelli, in possibly his last lacrosse game—since he has said he would retire this year—went great guns with four fine goals and an assist. Don Ashbee, a huge help to the locals all through the playoffs, banged in two markers and helped on four more. Hustling Ross Powless clicked for three counters and an assist. Lou Nickle was in on three with two of them goals. Bob Thorpe, as steady as ever, aided on a pair and checked effectively. Single goals went to Nip O'Hearn, Curly Mason, Roger Smith and Harry Wipper, and single assists were notched by Russ Slater, Mason and Wipper. It was the third straight Mann Cup for Mason, Slater and Wootton.

LED THE LOSERS

Dave Redline led Vancouver with two markers, as Jim Swanson, Ernie Smith, Harry Buchanan and Denny Huddleston tallied once each. Bert Ticehurst was good for two assists, with one each going to Elmer Buchanan and Huddleston. Goalie Green, like his mates, faded in the last half.

The B.C. squad looked strong in the early stages of the melee. Harry Buchanan started them off right when he raced in to rap home his own rebound off Wootton's pads. A few minutes later, Redline broke fast to take Elmer Buchanan's pass in the clear and smash it into the twine on the run. Redline just returned then from a slashing penalty in time to take a pass in the clear from Huddleston and rush in quickly to bullet the ball into the cage and make it 3-0. Ashbee got one back seconds later on a lovely backhand drive with Vitarelli's long forward pass. When Huddleston slapped in Ticehurst's corner passout to make it 4-1 a few Toronto fans began to yell: "Where are the great Timbermen tonight?" They were answered smartly when the Petes roared in for three goals in the final minute of the period. O'Hearn cuffed home the first on nifty running combination with Wipper and Mason. The later rifled in the next from Slater. Then Smith scored [illegible] for holding. He was off when Nickle took Ashbee's pass on the run to flip it into the hemp. All were back as Ashbee made it 11-6 with another neat backhander from Thorpe, tearing across in front of the crease to take the corner passout.

ADDED IT UP

Vitarelli started the fourth with nice finish on Nickle's passup and it stayed that way until late in the period. Then Powless rapped in a rebound on a hard shot by [illegible] a very sharp angle shot that fooled Green completely. Powless finished the scoring when he cuffed in a rebound after a shot by Smith. The Petes were running rings around their rivals in the last several minutes of play.

Vancouver: Goal, Green; defence, Byford and E. Smith; centre Webb; wings, Hanson and Huddleston; rover, E. Buchanan; alternates, Redline, Ticehurst, Swanson, Marsh, Whittaker, H. Buchanan and Sakich.

CANADIAN CHAMPIONS AGAIN — Coach Bob Thorpe's Timbermen thumped Vancouver Pilseners 15-6 Monday night at Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens to win the Mann Cup series and the Canadian senior lacrosse championship in four straight games. Ross Powless throughout the series was grabbing loose balls; (top photo) stocky Powless goes high for a rebound after Vancouver's goalie, Jack Green, flipped the ball up. Moon Wootton (centre photo) stops Vancouver's Bus Byford on a goal attempt, Byford falling into the crease while Powless charges in. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

While lacrosse is the big sports' news here today, let's mention a few hockey items first ere returning to the gutted-stick game. After all, a summer sport shouldn't completely overshadow football in the fall and hockey as winter nears. Anyway, there's a puck exhibition here tonight between the A.H.L. Syracuse Chiefs and the Petes in Civic Arena. A promising preview of the long ice season. And tomorrow there's a re-organization meeting of the P.M.H.A. at 7.30 in the "Y". Open to officers, managers, coaches and others interested in the minor hockey setup here. They had 12 teams in last winter, with the peewees also tied in, and Otonabee Wolves of this organization won a provincial bantam title. A good setup.

* * * * * *

Alfie Moore, as new coach of Belleville Glens in our O.H.A. senior "B" group, is expecting to add two defencemen, a forward and a goalie to the Quinte crew of the 1951-52 season. That would make the Glens real contenders in a strong group. Moore has been around plenty in pro hockey ranks. Played first for Aura Lee juniors of Toronto, then went to London seniors and later made the Chicago Cardinals in 1929. Played next for Teddy Oakes in Kitchener and then to Cleveland of the International League under Hap Emms. Springfield next, back to Cleveland, then New Haven, Indianapolis and Hershey. Moved up to New York Americans of the N.H.L. and later helped Chicago Hawks win the Stanley Cup. Finished up in 1942 with Buffalo. Quite a traveller.

A Really Solid Outfit

Prexy Bob Peirson of the Petes' Timbermen was talking the other day about the club having a sound constitution. "We have a 12-man board," he said, "three of whom are elected every year for three years and each member signs a note for $250 to become a member. Thus, they all work." He pointed out that extra bleachers and all at Miller Bowl has put the value up to $27,000, and the place is insured for $15,000. They set aside 25 per cent for repairs and give another five per cent to promote minor lacrosse. Leaving 70 per cent to operate the Timbermen. Miller Bowl is leased from the city for 20 years with a renewal clause stating that if the club must move, the city will move the stands. It is a sound organization.

* * * * * *

Congratulations to the Timbermen, Mann Cup champs for the second straight year. Waltzed through the Vancouver crew 15-6 in Toronto last eve to sweep the set in four straight and show lacrosse followers of Canada that they're tops in 1952. It was a fitting finish to five months of stiff competition, but the B. C. victors didn't give them nearly the opposition that Toronto Yorks did in Eastern Canada senior finals. Plenty of whooping it up by the Petes and their loyal followers—hundreds were on deck at the Gardens for the finale—after the cup was presented, and after Lou Nickle was voted best player of the series, the husky young defenceman playing a fine running game throughout.

* * * * * *

Victors Get the Spoils

And that is that. These starry exponents of Canada's gutted-stick game can now break training in gobs, having done what they set out to do last May. The coveted Mann Cup returns to the Liftlock City to repose another winter in a bank vault. It is fine publicity for Peterborough, and the club officials, coach and players deserve a civic reception. They are worthy champions. Every man jack on the firing line did his duty and wrapped up the series in the shortest possible time. They can lay aside their sticks now for a well-deserved rest and start in on the Knife and Fork League along the banquet trail. They will be winners there, too.

Orfuns whitewashed the luckless Kingston Tanks 59-0 in O.R.F.U. play yester aft to keep atop their group with Cobourg Galloping Ghosts—who trimmed Oshawa 34-0 and then dropped a 25-5 weekend exhibition to McMaster University. Tony Kotowski's classy grid squad presented a smashing line and a versatile backfield to completely dominate the K's in Morrow Park before a fair-sized crowd. Roy Armstrong was in great form to go over for three majors and kick nine converts. White, McIntyre, Ouelette, Huntley, Groves, Bartley, Hodson and the rest really rolled in every quarter. They blocked kicks, snared fumbles, ripped the Tanks' line apart, skirted 'em, passed them dizzy—in fact 'twas quite a debacle. It'll be a whole lot tighter here Friday when Ghosts and Orfuns clash for the group leadership—that should be the game of the season.

Say Sedgman One Of Best Players

Two of Australia's great stars of yesteryear, Sir Norman Brookes and Gerald Patterson, rate the 24-year-old world amateur champion as one of the two top players of all time. The other, they say, is Bill Tilden.

The discussion came up as a result of Gardnar Mulloy's ranking of Sedgman as the seventh best player the world has produced. The veteran American star recently placed Don Budge, Tilden, Jack Kramer, Fred Perry, Ellsworth Vines and Bobby Riggs ahead of the wiry Aussie ace.

"Frank loses too many matches to be considered a world beater," Mulloy said.

Brookes and Patterson believe Sedgman and Tilden belong in a class by themselves. Behind the two they group Budge, Kramer, little Bill Johnston, Tilden's Davis Cup partner of the 20s, and France's Henri Cochet.

S.P.S. Juniors Win Again As T.C.S. Loses

St. Peter's junior gridders downed Trinity College 22-3 on the latter's campus in a Saturday exhibition. It was the third win in as many games for the S. P. S. squad. The Lynch lads have home games against Lindsay in Morrow Park on Wednesday.

St. Pete's took the kickoff and in four successive first downs they drove to the eight-yard line, with speedy Bob O'Rourke crossing them for a major, husky Don Chambers converting. T. C. S. used a fast no-huddle system with lots of end runs. They ploughed up the field and threatened but could not go over, settling for a kick to deadline. Kearns, Hickey, Chambers and O'Rourke drove well up late in the quarter.

Hickey bucked down to the nine-yard strip and O'Rourke went over again, Terry Fitzpatrick taking Hickey's pass to convert.

The rest was a fast, hard and close battle with the S. P. S. line holding the strong T. C. S. attackers pretty well in check, though they did get a point to make it 12-2 at the half.

OPENED IT UP

Wide-open pass plays by the Saints in the third split the homesters' defence, Hickey passing successfully no less than eight times to Quinlan and McGee. Quinlan took a short pass then and sped 40 yards for what would have been a major but it was ruled offside. T. C. S. then drove hard again and kicked another point.

St. Peter's came out in the fourth full of hustle, the line opening up holes for plunges by Foley, Kearns, Hickey and Chambers. Big Dick Foley ran around end for an unconverted try. T.C.S. started to roll till Urban Kubica grabbed a fumble and the Saints opened up again. O'Rourke, Hickey and Chambers all bucked for hefty gains and Hickey threw a touchdown pass to Quinlan for the final major count. The convert was not good. The Saints' whole backfield shone in this encounter, and the line was strong, with Kubica, McGillen, Nolan and Allen particularly effective up front.

Argo Losses Blow To City

"Again" referred to the game here Saturday when the Argos led 12-0 at half time and lost 27-18. Thanksgiving, they were 15 points up going into the last 15 minutes, when the roof caved in on them.

The "again" also referred to the 16-0 lead Ottawa Rough Riders overcame in a game Oct. 4 and a 12-point first-half lead Hamilton wiped out in another encounter a few weeks ago which ended in a 13-13 tie.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

At first glance, you get the idea that it would have been a great thing for sport in America, a fine thing to cement international friendships, if Emil Zatopek, the champion runner of the Olympic Games, had accepted an invitation from officials of the government of the United States, endorsed by President Truman, to visit this continent and show the citizens of democracy the unmatched speed and endurance that swept him to three Olympic crowns.

Now we're glad Zatopek didn't accept. For, as it turned out, he is a mere tool of the Soviet's efforts to seize even upon the Olympics as a medium for propaganda.

For the Olympic flame that burned so brightly above Helsinki was barely extinguished before Zatopek was in front of a microphone making propaganda for the Russians—who had used their ruthless technique to send his fellow-countryman John Masaryk to death through a high window and to convert Masaryk's—and Zatopek's—once proud and free Czechoslovakia into a virtual slave state.

In commenting on the Games that had so signally honoured him, Games to foster international co-operation and global [illegible] ing for the Olympic Games."

And when he refused to accept the invitation to visit the United States, he sneeringly stated he wouldn't be a party to "a circus."

So we can get along very well without Zatopek. He has automatically barred himself. It is regrettable Soviet Russia should use international sport for political purposes.

It is doubly shameful that it obtained the help of Emil Zatopek, native of a country that once held its head high among the free nations of that world. And quite as shameful that Zatopek consented to accede to such a shameful role.

In winning the 5,000-meter, 10,000-meter and marathon races at the Olympic Games, this 29-year-old Czech Army officer proved himself beyond doubt one of the most magnificent athletes in history.

This remarkable man is the P. T. Barnum of track and field. He puts on a show that would be the envy of a John Barrymore. He runs with his head hitched over his left shoulder, his face wrapped in agony, his fists clenched, elbows bent in a fighting position. His tongue hangs out of his mouth and he appears to be gasping desperately for air.

But all this while the muscular legs are pounding off a steady beat. He staggers and struggles from the waist up, but he is poetry in motion from the hips down.

Black Hawks Going Strong Take Two Games; Detroit Downed Twice

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Those upstart Chicago Black Hawks are due for a fancy pasting and the parent Detroit Red Wings are cheesed off enough to rap their farmhands at Chicago tonight. Maybe the Champs are justified, considering what has been happening in the young National Hockey League season. You could almost accuse Sid Abel's club—a mixture of Red Wing and Toronto Maple Leaf cast-offs—of masquerading as the champion Wings. They've won three straight and are as cocky as all get-out at the top of the standing.

Two of the three clubs they've clipped in their overnight reversal of form of recent years have turned on the Wings and given them a rough ride. For instance, consider last weekend.

The Wings go to Montreal Saturday and Canadiens knock them over 2-1. And didn't Hawks spoil Canadiens' 1952-53 season debut at home Thursday by dumping them 3-2?

SPURT FROM BEHIND

And while Detroit was taking its beating, the Hawks were sending 13,811 Maple Leaf Gardens fans home talking to themselves after the not-so-fearsome Leafs lost their home opener 6-2.

Both clubs were spoiling for a fight, an all-time N.H.L. records for penalties in one game—25—was set and Leafs spurted from behind to score two final-period goals and leave Detroit Olympia with a 4-4 tie.

Even the fans are getting into the act in this so-far screwy season. At Boston Sunday, the game was held up 10 minutes while policemen and arena officials tried to untangle a jam at the wicket windows.

The Bruins haven't been accustomed to such patronage and their ticket sellers were a bit stale. When the game did start 11,194 fans were in their seats for the season's premiere. Capacity at the Boston Garden is 13,500 and a crowd figure that gets beyond 10,000 is foreign to the Bruins the last few seasons.

The happiest players around the league probably are the Hawks' goalkeeper Al Rollins, defenceman Gus Mortson and centre Cal Gardner. They went from Toronto to Chicago in the four-for-one trade that sent goalkeeper Harry Lumley to the Leafs and they've been hitting on all cylinders.

ROLLINS IN LEAD

Rollins has the best goalkeeping record in the league to date and Gardner has figured in the scoring in every game. Mortson has been a bulwark on defence.

In the Toronto game, Gardner scored once and got two assists and Mortson also received an assist. At home, Gardner assisted in Bill Mosienko's third-period insurance goal after Pete Babando netted one in the second session.

Elmer Lach and Billy Reay were the Montreal marksmen in Canadiens' Saturday night victory over the Wings. Alex Delvecchio scored for Detroit. Johnny Peirson of the Bruins and Bert Olmstead of Canadiens matched goals Sunday.

The season's scoring honors, however, belong to the Leafs' Ted Kennedy who bagged three at Detroit Sunday, including the tying goal with only 45 seconds remaining. Ron Stewart notched the other Leaf goal and Detroit's four were divided among Ted Lindsay, Gordie Howe, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson.

Stengel Signs 2-Year Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel yesterday signed a new two-year contract to manage New York Yankees and, with a sly wink, hinted that his salary will hit $100,000 a year.

This would make him the highest paid pilot in the history of baseball.

Neither the Yankees nor Stengel announced how much money the wrinkled diamond genius would make in seeking to extend his string of four straight world championships, but Casey let the cat out of the bag at a press conference.

"If you guess $75,000, you're low," the 61-year-old pilot said under questioning.

"Will it be $100,000, counting bonuses and any other arrangements?" a reporter asked.

"Well," said Casey, "it shouldn't miss."

Irish Dump Spitfires As Positions Shuffled

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Entries in the Ontario-Quebec Junior Hockey race shuffled for early positions in standings during the Thanksgiving weekend and Barrie Flyers and Toronto St. Michael's of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League took the inside track with two wins posted so far.

The Flyers, flush with a 12-8 home opener Friday night, downed Windsor Spitfires 4-2 Saturday. Centre Skip Teal led the Barrie victory with three goals. The fourth was notched by Fred Petsch.

ST. MIKES GO WELL

Downing St. Catharines Teepees 7-5 Friday night the St. Michael's lowered their sights on the Spitfires Sunday and scored a 10-0 Bull's eye. Toronto's scoring parade was led by Murray Costello with three goals. Paul Knox racked up a pair while Ed Plata Marc Reaume, Jack Caffrey, Bill Lee and Jim Logan potted singles.

Toronto Marlboros and Oshawa Generals fought to a 2-2 draw Sunday in Toronto after the Duke's hung on to a 1-0 lead until the third period. Stan Paker and Jack Armstrong were the Oshawa goal-getters. Eric Nesterenko and Wally Maxwell scored for the Marlies.

The Generals slipped at the start, losing their home opener to St. Catharines Teepees 7-5 Saturday night. Brian Cullen paired for the Teeps. Singles went to Wimpy Roberts, Willard Haas, Alex Leslie Charlie Marshall and Kenny Schinkel.

The Marlboros Saturday night squeezed out a 3-2 win over Kitchener — Waterloo Greenshirts in Kitchener after the Shirts fought sharpshooter Eric Nesterenko sunk two and Bill Harris one. Graham Joyce and Orv Tessier fired for the Greenshirts.

BILTS BOW LOW

Guelph Biltmores, 1951-52 Memorial Cup Champions, were jockeyed out of position. Battling to a 2-2 draw Friday with the Greenshirts, they went down to a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the Galt Black Hawks Saturday night.

The Hawks' win was credited to goals by Bob Wilson, Eddie Switzer, Neil McDonald and John Muckler. The Biltmores' single was fired by Harry Howell.

In Montreal, the Junior Canadiens waltzed to a 7-3 victory over the Quebec Citadelles in the J.A.H.A. opener. Richard, Boucher and Provost potted two each while the single went to Hollingworth. Leclerc, Henri and Kukulowicz scored for Quebec.

Desrosiers' overtime goal Sunday gave the Three Rivers Reds a 3-2 win over Montreal Royals.

Tonight's action will see Three Rivers at Montreal Canadians, Quebec and Montreal Royals, Oshawa at Galt and Kitchener at windsor.

Queen's Dump McGill 20-7.

By CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Queen's Golden Gaels, the dark horse team of the 1952 Senior Intercollegiate Football Union, are still an unknown quantity after two weekends of play in this year's 24-game school schedule.

In a complete reversal of form from the previous weekend when they bowed 33-1 before Western Mustangs, the Tricolor from Kingston galloped hom 20-7 Saturday over McGill Redmen in Montreal. The victory was Queen's first in nine scheduled games.

While the Gaels were sending Vic Obeck's Redmen to their second straight defeat of the season, a University of Toronto Blues late-game single salvaged a 7-7 tie against Western at London. For the 15th year Varsity failed to break the no-victory jinx that has been theirs in Little Stadium.

TIED FOR FIRST

The Varsity-Western deadlock leaves the two colleges tied atop the four-team standings with a win and a tie for three points each while Queen's can claim a single victory in the runner-up slot. McGill is in the cellar with a pair of losses.

Brian Timmis Jr., son of the great Hamilton Tiger middle wing of the late 20s, was the difference at Montreal with a touchdown and three long kicks for singles in the Tricolor cause.

Tied 1-1 at the end of the first quarter and 7-7 at the half, it was all Queen's in the closing minutes of the clash. They put together two touchdowns, two singles and a convert in the final quarter for 13 points and the game.

Billy Bell and Tony Arnoldi scored Queen's last-quarter majors while Ken Atwood and Don Ball booted two converts. Arnoldi's touchdown came on the last play of the game and no attempt was made to convert it as Tricolor fans swarmed onto the field.

McGill's only bid came in the ... blocked and recovered ... quick kick attempt on the Queen's 33-yard line. Cam Kenney took the ball over on two straight plunges through centre and Geoff Crain converted. Crain also booted McGill's first-quarter single.

BLUES GAIN TIE

Bill Bewley provided Toronto Blues with their late-game point for the 7-7 tie at London when his placement attempt went wide. However, it was the same Bewley who fumbled on his own 15 in the second quarter where Syl O'Hara scooped up the ball and raced across for Western's only touchdown of the game.

Al Haig booted three first-quarter singles for the Blues, but O'Hara's major and a single off Gino Fracas' kick-off provided the Mustangs with a 6-3 half-time lead.

Bewley made it 6-6 midway through the third quarter with a placement and Jim Carroll booted a long kick from his own 25 early in the third period to put Western back into a brief 7-6 lead before Bewley's effort for the 7-7 final.

Queens moves into Toronto next week-end for the annual varsity home-coming week-end and what may prove to be the game of the year. Western plays at McGill.

Tigers Filch Win From Argos 2 Games In Row

By JACK SULLIVAN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

The "Whiskeee-wee-wah eat-'em-raw" battle cry of Hamilton Tiger-Cat fans thundered across the Big Four football circuit today bellowing defiance that this 1952 edition of the Battling Bengals is one helluva ball club. Ask Toronto Argonauts. Tigers ate up big Double Blue leads in their Thanksgiving weekend home-and-home series to claw out 27-18 and 25-16 victories that sent them winging to a three-point league lead. It conceivably could keep them at the top when the schedule closes Nov. 8.

And Argonauts? They slithered from a first-place tie into third position, four points off the pace and one behind the Dominion Champion Ottawa Rough Riders who dumped the feeble Montreal Alouettes 25-12 and 23-6.

ANYBODY'S GUESS

Edmonton Eskimos split with Calgary Stampeders, coming from behind for a 16-10 Thanksgiving verdict after dropping a hard-fought 33-30 decision Saturday. Eskimos have clinched second-place and they now have the choice of grounds in the opener of the two-game total-points series with Les Lear's ever-dangerous club.

The Western Conference results and Montreal's seventh and eighth losses were more or less expected, but it was anybody's guess on the Toronto-Hamilton series. Fans of both teams probably would have settled for a split and Hamilton's victories pointed up one thing to coach Frank Clair's Argonauts:

Tigers were down by a 12-0 first-half lead Saturday and then steam-rollered to four converted touchdowns and as many singles to stifle a hollering 25,974 Toronto crowd.

It was much the same story Monday, but this time Argonauts were within two minutes of victory when the Bengals chewed up the grass at Civic Stadium at Hamilton, striking for two lightning-fast touchdowns in the 120 seconds. The 17,200 screaming fans, largest crowd to watch a game in the city's colorful football history, poured out of the stands to hug the dead-tired Tiger-Cats who practically perpetrated larceny in taking the decision.

Tigers charged from behind a 16-1 third-quarter deficit to score 24 points on four touchdowns, three converts and a single behind the sensational running of Ray Dohn Dillon and fancy-dangling Hal Waggoner. They struck with all the fury of men possessed, capped by Dillon's 45-yard touchdown scamper as the gun was fired to end the thriller.

SARNIA DROPS FIRST

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, the league-leading Sarnia Imperials, practically a shoo-in from the season's opener, defeated the Redskins 15-6 at Brantford Saturday, but suffered their first defeat of the season at Toronto Thanksgiving Day when Balmy Beach pulled a 22-8 upset.

The victory, combined with Beaches' 41-1 walloping over the winless Windsor Royals Saturday, assured them of a post-season date with the Imps to decide which team will meet the Big Four champion in the eastern final.

Brantford salvaged one game, a tight 17-12 decision over the Royals at Windsor Monday. It was Redskins' second victory of the season, but it came too late to be of help in their play-off bid.

IMPS STOPPED

Sarnia's powerful ground attack was stopped almost cold by the brilliant defensive play of Ted Oatter, Don Baker and Gene Miller.

Arch McAffer, Red McKelvie, Corky Duchene and John Chorestecki were about all Sarnia had to show offensively. Chorestecki scored the only Imperial major. McKelvie converted one, kicked a single on a placement attempt and Bill Weiss kicked the other single.

Redskins opened the scoring on a touchdown by Tom Moran who pounced on an end-zone fumble by Jack McKelvie. Glen Dawson converted.

Bill Weiss kicked a single to give the Imps a one-point edge early in the second quarter. Before the half McKelvie kicked a placement from 28 yards out to make it 10-6.

Another placement by McKelvie from the 25 and successive singles by McKelvie and Jim Burr increased the le[illegible] finishes the [illegible]

ROYALS FIGHT HARD

At Windsor the Redskins fought off a desperate Windsor club to emerge with a tight 17-12 victory before a crowd of 500.

They were tied 6-6 at half-time but in the fourth Brantford slammed over two quick touchdowns. Royals replied with a converted touchdown, but the threat exploded in the dying moments when Don Toms intercepted a Bobby Lee goal-line pass.

Dawson engineered Brantford's strong aerial attack from the quarter slot. He hit John Blaicher with a pass to the Windsor 15 and then dropped a touchdown strike to the end into the arms of outside Babe Mazza.

Redskins broke the deadlock early in the fourth quarter when Dawson uncorked another touchdown bomb to the end zone, this time to Blaicher from the five-yard line. Dawson then ended a 75-yard assault with a three-yard line smash across. Dawson converted two of Brantford's touchdowns.

Beaches unleashed their most potent scoring thrust of the 1952 season Saturday by charging to a lopsided 41-7 triumph over Windsor before only 300 persons.

Fleet outside Fred Smale was the big gun for Toronto as he scored four touchdowns—all on aerial strikes. Beaches were compelled to kick only once during the 60 minutes.

Johnny Pont, Fred Street and Marty Carrington went over for the other Beach touchdowns and Dale Doland kicked six conversions.

Scotty Bissett accounted for all Windsor's scoring.

Gardner Leads NHL Race For Most Points

MONTREAL (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks, cellar-dwellers in the National Hockey League for the last six seasons, have given notice that things will be different in the 1952-53 season.

The Hawks, reinforced in an off-season deal with Toronto Maple Leafs, are perched atop the league today, undefeated in their first three starts.

The six points to the credit of the Hawks give them a three-point margin over Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens, tied for second place with one victory, one defeat and one tie in their three games played.

Boston Bruins and Toronto come next, tied with one point apiece and New York Rangers bring up the rear, having lost the two games they have played. The Bruins have only played one game while Toronto has played two.

GARDNER ON TOP

In the early individual scoring race, Cal Gardner of Chicago tops the list with six points—three goals and three assists—one more than posted by Ted Kennedy of Toronto who has a 3-2 mark. Sid Smith of the Leafs is next with four points and is followed by four players with three points.

The only shutout of the season is held by Al Rollins of the Hawks who blanked New York 2-0 Sunday, but the best goals-against average is held by Jim Henry of Boston who allowed only one goal in the one game played by the Bruins.

Individual bad-man honors go to Ted Lindsay of the Wings who has spent 30 minutes in the penalty box.

K-W SMOTHERS SARNIA

SARNIA (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers defeated Sarnia Knights of Columbus 16-9 in an O.R.F.U. junior game Saturday. Kitchener will meet Windsor A.K.O. in the playoffs.

Kuntz scored twice for Kitchener while Roga scored one touchdown and converted one to give the winners 16. Sauve scored for Sarnia on an interception in the first half, Wright converted and Kitchener was rouged twice on kicks by Wright.

BEST PLAYER AWARD for the Mann Cup series went to Timbermen's defenceman, Lou Nickle, Monday night after the Timbermen won the Canadian championship for the second straight year. Nickle, an outstanding junior last season, thumped the Vancouver Pilseners solidly throughout the series. He was thoroughly surprised when Lyle Barr, of the C.L.A., presented him with the award, the Mike Kelly Medal. He was chosen as best player in the series by a vote of sports newsmen.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Yankees And Philadelphia A's Dominate All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's World Champion Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics dominated the 1952 Associated Press Major League All-Star team, capturing half of the 10 positions.

Seven of the 16 big league clubs, four in the American, were named to the AP's seventh annual All-Star squad, selected by 72 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The American League had six players to four for the National.

The Yankees and Athletics were the only clubs with more than one representative. The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers and American League runner-up Cleveland Indians had only one member each on the team. The second place New York Giants in the National had none. Other clubs that had single members include St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies.

The All-Star Team:

First base—Ferris Fain, Athletics (.327)

Second base—Jackie Robinson, Dodgers (.308)

Third base—Al Rosen, Indians (.302)

Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees (.253)

Right field—Stan Musial, Cardinals (.336)

Centre field—Mickey Mantle, Yankees (.311)

Catcher—Larry (Yogi) Berra, Yankees (.273)

Righthanded pitcher—Robin Roberts, Phillies (28-7)

Lefthanded pitcher — Bobby Shantz, Athletics (24-7)

Four players are holdovers from the 1951 team. They are Fain, Robinson, Rizzuto and Musial. Musial made the team for the sixth time, missing only once since the poll was inaugurated in 1946.

Shantz, 27-year-old southpaw ace of the Athletics, received the most votes, getting all but two of the 74 cast. Musial was right behind with 68, but he received seven votes for first base. He was the only player to receive votes for more than one position.

REFS CALL 'EM CLOSE

DETROIT (CP)—The News says that National Hockey League heads are "trying to put over a new idea of rules enforcement."

A sportspage story signed by columnist Paul Chandler explains Sunday night's N.H.L. record of 25 penalties in the Detroit-Toronto game as "the result of a radical experiment with the whistle."

Says Chandler:

"Without any public announcement, the N.H.L. referees have been launched upon a call-'em-close-crusade that is without precedent. In its current form, it is baffling fans and players and where it'll stand a month from now is a pure guess."

He quotes Carl Voss, N.H.L. referee-in-chief:

"We're trying to get rid of hooking and holding, all the cheap little stuff. . . . Everybody has sought this for years. The policy was voted up by the governors' rules committee last May and that was an order from them to me. So we have given orders to the referees to call penalties closer than they've ever been called before."

"This is hopeless. the whistle ruined basketball and it'll kill hockey. It's as bad for one team as the other and worse for the spectators. Nobody knows what's going on."

Ghosts Defeat Red Raiders; Lose To Baptists

COBOURG—Football fans had a good weekend of rugby dished out to them on Saturday and Thanksgiving Day. They saw the Galloping Ghosts trounce Oshawa Red Raiders 34-0 in an intermediate rugby game on Saturday. A large crowd Monday watched the Ghosts take on the McMaster University Marauders senior intercollegiate team and lose out to the visitors by the score of 25-5.

The Oshawa game was a one-sided affair in which the Motor City crew never got beyond their own 50 yard line. One of the best plays came in the last quarter when Hatt threw a forward pass for 25 yards to Hendry who ran 35 yards to score a touchdown for the Ghosts.

Cobourg scored 11 points in the first half, six being recorded in the first quarter on Medhurst's touchdown and Hatt's convert and 11 in the second quarter on Brodie's two majors and a convert by Jones. Score at half time was 17-0.

Medhurst registered a touchdown in the third quarter which Jones converted. Alexander scored a touchdown with no convert in the final quarter and in the last minute of play Hendry crossed the line for a touchdown which Jones converted.

GAME ON MONDAY

The game Monday was a good one to watch in spite of the fact that the university team had a definite edge over the Ghosts.

The Marauders had a strong defence line and as the game progressed the Ghosts had to resort to many forward passes, some of which were broken up very effectively by McMaster. However the game was very tense at times in spite of the off-balance score and the fans appeared to be satisfied.

The play was quite close in the first quarter. Neither team made much progress on the field and the score was 0-0 at quarter time. The Marauders commenced to show a superior opposition in the early stages of the second quarter and near half time Pellech scored a touchdown after a series of plays that brought the wrath of the Cobourg fans over the refereeing. However the criticism was not justified. What actually happened was that a forward pass on a third down from near the goal was incomplete but Cobourg was penalized for interference which nullified the third down and gave McMaster three new downs, and Pellech went across for five points, Dodds getting the convert. In the third [illegible] yard line and Riggleworth went over for a converted touch. The Ghosts stepped up the pace in this quarter. Hendry made a sensational interception of a catch fumbled by Nells and went over for a touchdown. Jones failed to convert. In the final quarter Crawford registered a touchdown which Dodds converted. Riggleworth kicked a single and followed it with a touchdown from six yards out which Dodds converted.

Orfuns Wallop Kingston In 59-0 Grid Game To Keep Tied Atop Group

Orfuns celebrated Thanksgiving Day with another one-sided football victory over Kingston Tanks at Morrow Park. Led by Roy (Army) Armstrong, who scored three majors and kicked nine converts and ably assisted by the entire squad, the Kotowski men rang up a final count of 59-0 over the hapless visitors. The victory was Orfuns' fifth in a row for a total of 14 points and places Peterborough on even terms with Cobourg who also have an aggregate of 14 by virtue of their recent victory over Oshawa.

The Ghosts meet Orfuns here on Friday night in "the game of the season" for first place in the intermediate "A" group standing.

BLOCKED KICKS

No less than four blocked kicks in the first quarter of play proved disastrous to the visitors' cause and gave Orfuns an early advantage when Fred Chess' line failed to hold sufficiently well to give Eric Rank's sturdy boot the needed protection for proper punting. It was a weakness the men of Kotowski were quick to capitalize upon. Two blocks resulted directly in major scores.

Peterborough scored early after a rapid downfield drive, a blocked kick and a K. penalty had brought them deep in rival terrain; then speedy Rabbit White ran about 15 yards to score.

MET DISASTER

Kingston fought back in a gallant attempt to regain equilibrium but hit a nightmare of disaster instead when within seven minutes, Orfs, led by such as Jack McIntyre, Ken Newark, Floyd Ouellette, Gord Beatty, Bill Trimm, Bounce Howe, Ron Hodson, et al, blocked two more attempted points on third downs, with first McIntyre, then Ouellette crashing over from about 10 yards out in each case as the homesters played heads-up ball. Petes scored their fourth TD near quarter's end on a nice run by Armstrong around left end a jog of about 25 yards; the former Collegiate star converted all scores from placement.

Two more majors in the second stanza with Armstrong the ball carrier, one unconverted, gave the Orfuns a 35-0 edge at the half and though the visitors battled, their lack of cohesion, blocking and field generalship, not to mention aerial power, left their best efforts ineffective. Orfuns, on the other hand, showed continued improvement and Coach Kotowski gave his boys a chance to strut their wares.

BILL RETURNS

Smashing Bill Huntley saw action after a lengthy layoff due to injury, scored a major and reeled off some nice gains. While Hodson turned in possibly his best game to date. Burly Bev Groves in the third with Huntley; and Hodson and boisterous "Beaker" Bartley clicked for majors in the final quarter. The latter scored from a short Berry pass close in and popular Beak got a rousing hand as he finally hit the deck.

Volkswagen Car Conceived By Adolph Hitler 15 Years Ago Sweeping World Market

By BRACK CURRY

BONN, Germany (AP)—A little, beetle-shaped German car conceived by Hitler 15 years ago is catching the fancy of motorists around the world.

It has the curious name of Volkswagen, or People's Car.

The Volkswagen is being exported to 32 countries—and in some people are actually lining up to buy it.

It is rolling toward first place in Europe. It is by far the most popular car with the Germans. One out of every two German cars is a Volkswagen.

Europeans like the speed, simplicity and economy of the Volkswagen. A rear-engined, four-seater, the Volkswagen hits 70 miles an hour and travels 36 miles to a gallon. It sells in Germany for 4,800 marks or $1,142. Prices in foreign countries are higher.

Since the war, more than 100,000 Volkswagens have been exported. The demand abroad is so great that the Volkswagen plant says it could easily sell its entire output in foreign markets.

About 33 per cent of this year's record production of 130,000 Volkswagen is earmarked for export.

Volkswagen officials say the car is a hit in Canada. Since it has no radiator, it never freezes up in the cold Canadian winters.

The car was the brainchild of Hitler who promised every German a Volkswagen in the garage for the equivalent of $266.

The Nazi labor front built the plant. Some 330,000 Germans chipped in to finance its construction. In return they were promised cars which were never delivered.

Only a few Volkswagens were turned out before the war. Then the production was fed to the Wehrmacht. Rommel used scores of the cars in his North African campaign.

The Germans who contributed toward building the plant have gone into court claiming they are shareholders. Pending the outcome of this suit, the plant has been turned over to the federal government to operate.

Adjust To Idea Of Retirement By Intelligent Planning Ahead

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Part of a long letter from a reader will serve to introduce a most important subject. She writes:

"I learned early about how an inferiority complex develops by having to wear peculiar clothes, and by having no time for play or social adjustment. Another lesson that just came naturally was that if I intended to survive I was going to have to fight back occasionally. Is it any wonder that I soon developed a critical, suspicious, distrustful dislike for people?"

This reader says she married at 19, has two sons, and now 23 years have passed. She adds:

"But now, with the boys away at school most of the time, my home is like a morgue and days drag, and I am wondering about what to do with the remaining 30 or so years of my life. I am really not so elderly that I can't develop new interests, even if I do wear glasses for reading, sewing and close work, but I have got to change my attitude toward people."

This reader presents a problem with which millions, roughly between the ages of 40 and 55, are faced in varying degrees. The busy years of raising children to the point where they are more or less independent and adult slip by rapidly, and suddenly the mothers, in particular, are faced with carving out new interests and activities to replace those which kept them busy for so many years.

Practically the same problem hits the fathers, too, but later — when they come near the time to retire from their life work. Both problems, however, are similar.

Most human beings who are not physically or mentally incapacitated do not take well to doing nothing. Consequently, planning and adjusting either to the growth of a family or retirement requires some intelligent thought, preferably before these events actually occur.

TRY USEFUL ACTIVITY

Some useful activity which the person likes and does well is what is most desirable. Recently, a pamphlet has come to my attention which seems to me should be of particular value, and, while designed for those who are about to retire, it should be almost equally useful for those who are like the writer of the letter quoted at the beginning of this column.

This pamphlet is called "Getting Ready to Retire," and can be obtained from the non-profit educational organization known as the Public Affairs Committee, 22 E. 28th St., New York 16, N. Y., for 25 cents.

Believe US Too Optimistic On Chiang Army's Strength

By STANLEY RICH

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—United States sources here are of the opinion that the folks back home may be a little oversold on Chiang Kai-shek's tight little island, fortress Formosa.

A succession of U.S. Congressmen, judges and publishers visited Formosa this summer. Almost to a man they gained a quick confidence that the Chinese Nationalist armed forces have grown so powerful that their island stronghold no longer is in any danger of invasion.

Chiang's troops are stronger, certainly, but if the Chinese Communists threw a major invasion force across the Straits of Formosa, the defenders are not considered better than a 50-50 bet to hold.

The two staunch bulwarks of Formosa today, these Americans say, are the U.S. Seventh Fleet which guards it and the 120 miles of rough water between the island and the Red mainland. It is considered doubtful that the Reds could get a big force across now—even opposed by nothing more than wind and waves.

American military men describe Chiang's ground forces as probably the best drilled in the world, but these Americans feel, however, that Chiang's forces have gone about as far as they can go until American equipment arrives in quantity. Nobody expects that will be soon.

The best available estimates total the Nationalists at 410,000 overall with the following breakdown:

Army:—280,000 troops of which one-third are non-combat supply personnel. They are well equipped with small arms, but short on ammunition. They are drastically short of tanks and heavy artillery.

Air Force:—80,000 men but only 225 rapidly-aging Second World War vintage planes. Gasoline supplies are shot.

Navy and Marines:—Possibly 50,000 men described as showing the best improvement of all Chiang's forces.

ONTARIO COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

Since 1871, graduates of this famous school have upheld the tradition of continual advancement. Its exacting science of pharmacy, chosen career of these men and women, progresses year by year. This spring, the class of '52 will have completed 5½ years of college training and apprenticeship. These qualified graduates will take their place in drug stores, in hospitals, in research and manufacturing, in government service . . . to be, as always, professionally yours!

The proudest moment of his life.

Take a good look at the certificate that hangs on the wall in your drug store. Placed there by your druggist, it is tangible evidence of one of the proudest moments of his life. Signed, sealed and dated for all to see—his professional recognition as a registered pharmacist.

What does this mean to you?

Think! Without the years of training and study . . . without this qualification by law . . . without the personal "interested-in-you" service . . . your druggist would not hold your high regard. Your justifiable faith is evidenced in the precision equipment in his prescription department—in your appreciation of the convenience of his friendly store where you buy such a wide variety of specialized merchandise. Truly, your drug store is a centre of professional service . . . that's why—

Roseneath Fair Continues Reputation As One Of Best

ROSENEATH (ENS)— One of the best district fair, in the opinion of the experts, was held on Friday at Roseneath. Good weather attracted large crowds. The president, A. J. Campbell, declined to estimate the attendance but said that it looked like the largest crowd that they had ever had. Whatever the total count of the turnstiles, the day was a sunny success. Motor cars were strung along the roadsides, packed parking spaces that had been laid out to accommodate the restored mobility of the district since the end of the war, and finally headed off in long lines in every direction when the show was over.

OPENS FAIR

The fair was officially opened at 1.30 p.m. by the past president, Fred J. Slade, Cobourg, who had been president of this association for 25 years.

Present was Mr. George Dawe, of Warkworth, a former president, who held that office for some years previous to Mr. Slade becoming president.

Results of the horse races were:

Talent Parable Lives Again

KITCHENER (CP)—The Swedenborgian members of the Church of the Good Shepherd made the parable of the talents live again Sunday when they returned more than double the money they had taken off the collection plates in April.

Facing a deficit in 1952, the church governors decided early this year to try a practical application of the parable. Reading the parable to his congregation last April 20. Rev. David P. Johnston told the members to take as much money as they wanted from the $1,000 being passed to them on collection plates.

Many of the members took money, bought seed and sold vegetables or flowers. Others purchased wool and sold knitted goods. Some sold baking or costume jewelry, using the money from the collection plates to buy their raw materials.

At a special Thanksgiving service Sunday they returned to the plates the results of their work—$2,212.

French Captured 200,000 In Six Years Of Civil War

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—French union forces have taken more than 200,000 captives from the Communist-led Vietminh in the six-year Indo-China War. Most of them now are free.

A check disclosed there now are only 63,115 Vietminh in concentration camps scattered in north, central and south Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

Of these, 7,899 are listed as regular prisoners-of-war—men taken in combat with the French troops. A total of 55,216 are numbered as "internees."

RELEASE PRISONERS

Since Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh started his rebellion on December 19, 1946, the French, from time to time, have released hundreds or thousands of imprisoned Vietminh.

The French carefully screen all Vietminh internees. Where it is proved they were impressed into Vietminh military service or forced to otherwise aid the Vietminh, action is taken to arrange their eventual liberation.

MASS AMNESTY

The Vitnamese count heavily upon mass amnesty as a means of rallying former suspected or outright adherents of the Vietminh to the government of Vietnam.

Although there never has been an official agreement for the exchange of prisoners between the French and the Vietminh, batches of French union captives are liberated from time to time by the Vietminh.

Orders Special Frames

LONDON (CP)—A doctor here ordered a non-corroding gold-filled spectacles frame to be supplied free under the National Health Service. His patient is said to perspire freely, damaging ordinary frames.

French Language Courses Planned, Allard

QUEBEC (CP)—Romeo Allard, corresponding secretary of the Club Champlain of Kingston, said Sunday an increase in French-speaking residents in Kingston has resulted in plans for French language courses next year.

Mr. Allard said in an interview the number of French-speaking Canadians has increased from 350 to 2,200 in the last five years.

The Ontario Department of Education is sympathetic to the movement for bilingualism, he said.

Shaw Museum Becomes White Elephant For Trust

By ROBERT JONES

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, Eng. (AP)—George Bernard Shaw was an egotist who believed most firmly in the lasting reputation of his own genius.

It shines brightly enough in London's theatreland, where playgoers have been flocking to see Katherine Hepburn in "The Millionairess," one of Shaw's later, and according to critics, lest effective plays.

But at Ayot St. Lawrence, tiny picture postcard village 30 miles from London, where Shaw lived, worked and died, the cold hand of public indifference is already felt.

For nearly 40 years Shaw lived in the 14-room Victorian mansion he called "Shaw's Corner." Six years before he died, he left it to the country, doubtless in the belief he was building a shrine comparable to the Shakespeare Shrine at Stratford.

READY FOR BUSINESS

After his death in November, 1950, the National Trust, semi-official organization that looks after Britain's historic buildings, turned Shaw's Corner into a museum.

The National Trust spruced the place up and arranged as many of Shaw's personal belongings and knicknacks as it could in three downstairs rooms. It spent $1,120 on building a car park, engaged an erudite custodian to show visitors around—then sat back and waited for visitors to roll up at 28 cents a head.

For a time the public obliged. But today the stream of cars has dwindled to a trickle. The National Trust reluctantly is coming to the conclusion Shaw's Corner looks like a financial flop.

"Of course, it's too early to say anything definite yet," a Trust official commented. "We will review the situation at the end of the year."

FUND FLOPS TOO

Under the terms of Shaw's bequest, the National Trust would not be able to unload the house on the open market. But it might possibly be let either to a literary person or to an organization.

The Trust had hoped to get enough money to endow the museum from a Shaw Memorial Fund launched last November to raise $700,000. The aim of the fund would be to help young playwrights get their work performed and to encourage festivals of Shaw's plays.

But this, too, looks like turning out a financial flop. So far only $2,800 has been raised.

VOL. CV. No. 87 — TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

BEREFT OF BROTHER

George Henry Hoyland, Toronto, died Saturday evening in his 93rd year. He leaves his widow and one brother, John Hoyland of Peterborough. Funeral is Wednesday afternoon in Toronto.

GATES CLOSED

The gates on Lansdowne St. of Morrow Park will be closed Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., cutting off through traffic of George St. A Holstein show will be on in the grounds.

THEIR SUMMER ENDS

Seven 'lady bugs' on a window screen Monday, evidently seeking snug spots in which to hole up for the winter, appeared to suggest that their season outdoors is about to end. But even they could be wrong.

SAW BUCK IN DUMMER

Up on the Dummer side of Clear Lake Monday, Harold Dormer went out to look for partridge. He had gone only a few paces when he saw an antlered buck looking him in the eye. The deer turned, hopped a juniper bush and vanished.

END OF HOLIDAYS

Seventy-one days to Christmas and the next cluster of holidays. December 25 is on Thursday, and probably it will be arranged for industrial workers to put in hours of work in advance giving them Thursday to Monday. Thanksgiving Day was the last of 1953 season that began around Easter time, followed by May 24 and the others.

ABSTRACT PAINTING

A travelling exhibit of abstract paintings by Canadian artists will be brought to Peterborough some time after Nov. 7. The exhibition which is opening this week in Oshawa, will visit Toronto, London, Peterborough, Windsor and Hamilton after Nov. 7.

POSTPONE LABOR COUNCIL

Because the regular meeting date fell on Thanksgiving Day the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) will not hold their October meeting until the 27th. The labor council is composed of delegates from trade unions that are affiliated with, or directly chartered to, the C.C.L.

[illegible]

Firemen went to 160 Maria St. on Thanksgiving Day to put out a rubbish fire. There was no damage but it did move Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster to issue a reminder: Rubbish may be burned outside only after the fire department have given permission to do so. Phone 5713. On Mondays, Acting Chief Foster reminded, rubbish fires aren't permitted because they will smudge family washings hung out to dry.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER

A hit-and-run driver sideswiped the right side of her car late Monday night, Mrs. Mary Sculthorpe, of 232 Edinburgh St., reported to city police. The right rear door, rear fender, bumper and hub cap of her 1951-model car were damaged in the collision. Mrs. Sculthorpe said her car was parked on Aylmer St north of Edinburgh St. She heard a crash while in her house and when she went outside she saw a car speeding away to the south.

Still Has Bullet

CAPETOWN (CP)—Edward Williams, 15, was shot with a real bullet while playing cowboys. The bullet landed in the sac around the heart but surgeons decided not to remove it since the native boy appears fit and well.

Three Huckleberry Finns From Chatham Snared By Alert Police, In Modern Times

Three would-be Huckleberry Finns who left Chatham without the knowledge of their parents were returned home Monday night after a two-day adventure. It was fun while it lasted, they found; but what with alert cops, two-way radio and unsympathetic parents, running away from home isn't what it was in Huck's day.

The three boys — the oldest only 13 years of age—came to Peterborough on the 1.30 a.m. train Monday, and tried to put up for the night at the Grand Hotel. Their worldly possessions as they set out on their adventure showed more imagination than practicability: a stack of comic books, fishing tackle and $11 in cash.

Constable Andre Dalton spotted the three runaways as they were bargaining with Roy Crocker manager of the Grand Hotel, for a room. As the time was 2.30 a.m., and the boys had no adult companions, Constable Dalton decided to question them.

The three told a cock-and-bull story about arranging for a meeting with one of their fathers for a fishing trip in the Kawarthas. As the father did not show up on the 1.30 a.m. train they were staying in the hotel overnight, they said.

Constable Dalton cross-questioned them and soon found that the names they had given and the story they were telling were both fictitious.

Next day Det. Sgt. W. A. (Bud) Clarke and Constable Douglas Farthing got the boys' real names: Mike Dowdall, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Daniel and Mike Bourdeau, 12 —all of Chatham.

Except for a tense and silent trip home Monday night (in company with a stern parent), that's the way the adventure ended for the boys. No lazing on the sunny Mississippi like Huck; not even a fishing trip in the blue Kawarthas.

Justice R. M. Dennistoun Dies At 87 In Manitoba

One of Peterborough's best-known native sons, Mr. Justice Robert Maxwell Dennistoun, 87, died Sunday night in hospital after a long illness. He was a retired judge of the Manitoba Court of Appeal. Since 1907 he has lived in Winnipeg where he first went as western counsel for the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Author of the first Workmen's Compensation Act for Manitoba, he lectured for some years in law school on this subject.

APPOINTED JUDGE

After leaving the army as a deputy judge advocate-general, with the rank of colonel, he was made a Commander of the British Empire, receiving his decoration from King George V. In the same year he was appointed a judge of the court of appeal for Manitoba.

An active Mason, he was master of Corinthian Lodge 101 in Peterborough in 1894, taking a position his father and grandfather had held in their generations. In Winnipeg, he was a member of the Northern Light Lodge, from which he retired on his appointment to the bench.

His family, one of the oldest recorded in Scotland, has been associated with the legal profession in Canada since 1800. Both his grandfathers were county judges and his great-grandfather, Alexander Fisher, was first district judge in Ontario, on the Bay of Quinte.

He was head of the Dennistoun family of Dennistoun, Scotland which has a well-authenticated history reaching back more than 700 years.

Born in Peterborough, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James F Dennistoun and received his early education here. After leaving collegiate, he went to Queen's University, from which he graduated in 1885.

STUDIED LAW

On his graduation from Queen's he was articled to the Toronto law firm of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin and Creelman, and was called to the bar at Osgoode Hall in 1888 He then began practice in Peterborough, his firm becoming in time Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson.

In 1907, he moved to Winnipeg as western counsel for the Bank of Commerce, and was in two years appointed a solicitor for the bank in Winnipeg. Specializing in corporation law, he had as clients a number of insurance and banking corporations.

For more than 40 years a governor of Trinity College School, Port Hope, he was for many years chairman of the advisory board of the Children's Hospital, Winnipeg, and of the Margaret Scott Nursing Mission there.

An active churchman of the Church of England, he was at various times church warden and member of all the synods, diocesan, provincial and general. As a sportsman, he was fond of shooting, golf, tennis and sailing.

In 1892 he married Mildred Beck, daughter of the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, rector of Peterborough. Two sons predeceased him: James Alexander died in 1948, and John Romeyn was killed in air combat in 1916.

His widow, one son and two daughters survive him. The children are: Robert Peel Dennistoun, of California, Mrs. F. Sandford Holland, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Athol O. McBean, of Vancouver.

4 Top Holsteins Coming For Big Show

Four of the top drawer Holstein sires of this country will be seen in the show ring at Morrow Park Wednesday morning in the opening phase of the Central Ontario Black and White Championships.

That is the expectation of Jerry Nelson, Holstein fieldman, and it is his promise to the interested public.

The Durham, Ontario and York champion bulls are coming with their county titles, and with them is "Rockwood Rocket Tone" of the Quinte Breeders' Association, Belleville. He is of Manitoba breeding.

"Rocket" is said to be an all-time great in the male line of the Black and White breed. He was all-Canadian three-year-old last year and was awarded the grand championship at the Royal Winter Fair. He is now in his fourth year.

From Ontario county will be "Elmcroft Champion" owned by George R. McLaughlin of Elmcroft Farms, and finally the York county champion from the McCloskey herd.

Judging of the male classes begins at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and the numerous female groups will take up the afternoon.

The show at Morrow Park is the climax of the season of exhibitions for Holstein cattle in Central Ontario. Winners at the county shows are eligible. The Central Ontario ring admits only local winners. That is the process of elimination.

190 HEAD

Mr. Nelson estimates at 190 the number of head from Simcoe, York, Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland, Hastings, Lennox-Addington and Prince Edward.

This is the eleventh annual East-Central championship exhibition. A new class this year is for dam and daughter. D. S. Dunton of Brampton will be judge.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge. Women's Auxiliary of the Peterborough Holstein Club will serve refreshments.

ROARING FLAMES swept through the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. D. Stuart, a mile north of Cobourg Monday while the owners were away. Only a television set, washing machine and a few chairs were saved. The fire which started about 9 p.m. had little opposition from the Cobourg fire department which was almost helpless because of a lack of a water supply.—(Keith M. Porter Photo)

Man Burned Out Second Time

COBOURG (ENS).—Fire Monday night destroyed the two storey dwelling and contents owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. D. Stuart. The house was located just north of the town.

Firemen were hampered by lack of water and oil tanks of the furnace added fuel to the flames. Loss is around $20,000. Mr. Stuart was burned out two years ago when he lived near Baltimore.

Contract Dispute Second Hearing

Management and the union at the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. are awaiting the second hearing of a conciliation board in their present contract dispute.

The union, Local 527, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.), are asking for a 15-cents-an-hour increase in wages; a reduction of the work week from 42½ to 40 hours with no loss of take-home pay; a cost-of-living bonus incorporated into their wages; and, an improved vacation plan.

About 120 production workers are affected.

The two parties have been negotiating since before the contract expired, last April 23.

The present C-O-L bonus is a one-cent-an-hour adjustment for each 1.3 change in the official index. This bonus should be incorporated into the wages, union members argue.

Local 527 officials also want two weeks' vacation after three years' service. At present it is two weeks after five years.

Shooting Fracas In Restaurant

TORONTO (CP) — James Boga, 57, today was charged with attempted murder after a shooting fracas last night in a downtown Toronto restaurant.

Police said Boga, a laborer, had been [illegible] entering the munist. He went home to get his rifle and 100 rounds of ammunition to "square things his way," police said.

He returned to the restaurant with his sawed-off rifle in a suitcase, took it out and shot at Joseph Asztolos sitting at the counter. The bullet embedded itself in the showcase. Restaurant patrons and Asztolos disarmed Boga. Asztolos said he had never seen Boga before.

Robert Scott Heads Hasty Pees Executive

Two Belleville men were elected to the executive of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental Association Sunday afternoon, following the Hasty Pees reunion banquet in the Legion Hall.

Bill Graydon was re-elected for the third time, as secretary treasurer of the association.

It has not yet been decided where the 1953 reunion will be held.

Car Hits Pole 2 Slightly Hurt

Two men were injured slightly when a car went out of control and crashed into a hydro pole at Water and Antrim Sts., Saturday night.

Harold Collins, 50, 649 Donegal St., received multiple cuts about the face and head and a severe gash on his left ear when his head went through the windshield. Collins was a passenger in the car which was driven by Albert Blondin, 469 Donegal St.

He was taken to Civic Hospital by Patrol Sgt. Gordon Trennum and was released after being given out-patient treatment.

The accident occurred, Blondin told police, when he tried to go around a car which had stopped in the middle of the intersection.

Percy Brett, 106 Warwood Rd., Islington, said he was travelling east on Antrim St., and stopped for the intersection at Water St.

Seeing no traffic coming, he said he started across the intersection, then saw the Blondin car coming north and stopped.

In swerving right to avoid a collision, Blondin said, he was unable to pull his car back to the left and went up on the curb, striking the telephone pole at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Girl, 4, Hit By Auto Escapes Serious Hurt

LINDSAY (ENS)—A four-year-old Lindsay girl escaped death or serious injury in the town's only serious traffic accident over the long holiday weekend, according to Chief Constable Webster.

Shirley Kitter, of Queen St., darted in front of a car driven by [illegible] Monday. Woodburn attempted to stop in time, but the girl was struck by the car and thrown to the pavement. Dr. W. R. Growe was called to the scene of the accident, but found the girl suffering from nothing more than brush burns, and took her home for treatment. Woodburn is not being charged in the incident.

Elsewhere in Lindsay an attempted break-in was made on the Master Feeds store here on Monday morning but nothing was taken. Constable Henley, on patrol early on Monday morning, noticed that the cellar window of the store on Queen St. had been broken in, and pushed out of its frame. He called John Pullen, an employee, and found that the window had been shoved into the cellar. Inspection by Mr. Pullen revealed nothing had been stolen.

Bigger Tea Export

KARACHI (CP) — The government of Pakistan has announced a provisional export allotment of 40,000,000 pounds of tea for the 1952-53 fiscal year. This is 10,000,000 pounds more than the target first announced.

Lacrosse Champs Go On Parade Given Reception

Citizens will have a chance to welcome the Peterborough Timbermen, Canadian senior lacrosse champions, tonight at a parade down George St. and a public reception [illegible] will be followed by a civic dinner for the players, officials and their wives in the Empress Hotel.

A meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce this morning, with Mayor Hugh Waddell, Jim Fraser of the Chamber, and a number of club officials to arrange the tribute for the second time winners of the Mann Cup.

It was decided to have the team and their wives assemble in front of the Armouries at 8.15 p.m., moving off at 8.30 in a parade down George St. The C.G.E. Pipe Band and the Citizens' Band will supply the music, the players will probably ride on the fire truck, which will be followed by other trucks and cars for wives, officials and others. George Ludgate is master of ceremonies at the lacrosse bowl where citizens are invited in meet the champions. The civic dinner will follow about 10 o'clock.

The team members will also be presented to the hockey crowd at the Civic Arena between the first and second periods in the exhibition game between the Petes and the Syracuse Warriors. The Warriors have been training in Lindsay.

Two Enter L.C.B. Store, Escape

LINDSAY (ENS)—The second break-in within two months occurred at the Minden store of the Liquor Control Board Saturday night, when two men were interrupted while in the process of an attempted theft. Both escaped but provincial police and York township police are on the trail.

According to Constable Al Hardy of the Minden detachment [illegible] were stopping in a truck outside the store, since they could not find accommodation owing to the Thanksgiving crowds in the town. About 1 a.m. they heard a sound, and investigated to find someone in the liquor store.

They found two men inside the store, and captured one, while the other ran out the back way and escaped in a car. The men noted the make and model of the vehicle as well as the licence number. The three hunters took the captured man to the office of the O.P.P. in Minden and phoned for the constable. Before he could arrive, however, the man, who seemed familiar with the interior of the office, went through the office and out the back way.

An all-night search commenced with Constable Hardy assisted by Constable Williams, of Fenelon Falls detachment, and Constable Montstevens, of Lindsay. They hunted the escaped man until 5 a.m. Sunday without success.

On Sunday, the ownership of the car was traced to a York township man, and investigation is proceeding, under the direction of District Commissioner Allan Stringer, the C.I.D. in Toronto and York township police.

Traffic Tie-up

Fans going to Toronto on Monday afternoon for the Timbermen - Vancouver lacrosse game found traffic along Highway 2 heavy. In fact it took most cars about four hours to make the trip from Peterborough. Several cars were caught in one jam which moved from Newtonville to Bowmanville in one hour. This jam started at Welcome where traffic coming from Port Hope was lined back a mile waiting a chance to enter the highway at the Welcome caution light. Only two policemen were seen along the way, one at Welcome directing traffic and the other operating the lights in Newcastle.

Boy Loses Leg After Fall Into Combine

MILLBROOK (ENS)— Falling into his father's combine cost nine-year-old Carl Brown his right leg Saturday afternoon.

He was rushed to Civic Hospital but the leg was so badly mangled that it had to be amputated shortly after he was admitted. His condition is said to be satisfactory today.

When the youngster climbed on top of the combine, his father warned him to get off. Believing the boy had obeyed, the first time the father knew that Carl had fallen into the machine was when it stalled.

Carl had fallen into the machinery and his leg had stopped the combine.

Dr. Willoughby Belch, son of the owner of the farm, and instructor in anatomy at the University of Toronto, was just on his way to get his father's cattle when the accident occurred.

Dr. Belch and his brother, Tom, a final year U. of T. medical student, both home for the holiday, attended the seriously injured boy. Dr. Belch gave him a hypo to ease the pain and together with the boy's father, they started for Civic Hospital.

Dr. M. E. Hobbs was phoned and he met them on the road. Dr. Hobbs phoned the hospital and after a flying trip to Peterborough, Dr. Hobbs operated on the boy's leg immediately.

Carl attends Fallis Line public school. There are three other children in the Brown family, all girls—two aged 14 and 16 and a baby aged two.

Thieves Rob 6 Cottages, Loot $2,000

Stony Lake Cottages Cleaned Out, Total Not Complete

At least six cottages on Stony Lake have been broken into by thieves during the last couple of weeks. And the value of the loot, when finally totalled up, will probably come to $2,000.

O.P.P. Constable Tom Armitage is heading the investigation. Not all of the owners have been able to get up to their cottages so a full inventory of missing property is not yet available.

$500 WORTH TAKEN

One of those most heavily victimized was C. F. Hawk of Oakville, whose cottage is on the island. Practically everything that was portable and was of any value was taken. The loot, amounting to about $500 in value, included a movie camera and other cameras, canned goods, fishing equipment, bedding and other furnishings and some liquor.

Another cottager, Thomas Murdock, of Keewatin Ave., Toronto, had carpentry tools, wrecking bars and other tools, valued in all at $50, taken by the thieves.

The cottages of John Dibblee of Beaumont Ave., Toronto, and Clive Smith of Evelyn Ave., Toronto, were entered but police still do not know if anything was stolen.

A 12-gauge shotgun, fishing equipment and tools were stolen from the cottage of Keith Russell of Lightwood Rd., Toronto. The Russell place is southwest of Mount Julian.

The door of the D. W. Brown cottage, Rochester, was smashed in and the thieves walked off with almost everything that was moveable, including the bedding.

It is the biggest series of thefts this season among summer cottages in the Kawartha district.

Hoffman In Charge of East German Army

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—A lantern-jawed man roars over Russian Zone highways in highpowered automobiles these days, racing from barracks to parade grounds, inspecting, shouting orders, demanding speed and more speed.

Tall, young, black-eyed and tireless, he is the general of the new East German Communist Army, now 100,000 strong and destined to reach 25-division strength in the next two years.

"General" Heinz Hoffmann has come into high station after 25 years of fidelity to the Red cause. As a boy, he ran errands for the Communists in the Red uprisings that tore the industrial Ruhr asunder in the 1920s.

LOYAL COMMUNIST

As a youth he fought with the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War. As a crown man he was a Kremlin favorite, living in the Soviet Union like many other German Communists during the years Hitler's Gestapo made things too hot in their homeland.

Now only 41, Hoffmann has been entrusted with the delicate job of raising an East German Army, loyal only to Stalin. The suspicious Russians did a lot of sorting and discarding before the selected Hoffmann.

Former Nazi generals were considered and rejected. The Soviets used some of them, but only in relatively minor roles.

After a quarter-century of International Communism, Hoffmann is a highly diluted German. He speaks German now with a Russian accent, and is married to a Russian woman who speaks no German at all.

PERSONALLY POPULAR

People's policemen who have fled to the West say Hoffman is personally popular with the troops despite rigorous discipline he imposes.

In his position of trust, Hoffmann is believed to know more about the Soviet military aims in Germany, at least, than perhaps anyone else with the exception of the political boss, Walter Ulbricht.

"BIDING OUR TIME"

His status has given some of his "confidential" speeches to his troop commanders a highly interesting flavor. Some of his remarks leaking out through deserters give the general impression the East is biding its time. For example, Hoffmann told the Weimar Police School early this year "there is no hurry to graduate because there will be no war in Europe for the time being."

The General is reported further to have said that the Korean conflict would be deliberately prolonged, "then something would happen in Egypt" and only then would Germany be on the time table for some kind of action.

Brain Surgery Helps Palsy Patients

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Brain surgery is giving new life to many people with shaking palsy, or Parkinson's disease.

The surgery removes some nerve cells in the brain, to halt the uncontrollable shaking of arms of legs or muscles of the face and neck, or overcome speech troubles.

The operation has benefitted 65 per cent of 600 patients to date, Dr. Roland Klemme of St. Louis University school of medicine writes in the journal, Post-Graduate Medicine. It's not done on persons past 50, unless they are in exceptionally good physical condition.

Shaking palsy is caused by destruction or damage to certain nerve cells at the base of the brain. Infections that hit these cells are one cause of the disease. The great 'flu epidemic of 1918 is often blamed for causing many cases in people now living. It is estimated the disease has increased 500 to 900 per cent since 1918, Dr. Klemme reports.

STARTS AT ANY AGE

The disease can start at any age, from 10 to 90. Sister Elizabeth Kenny, the famed polio worker, has disclosed she is suffering from it.

Shaking palsy is almost never fatal of itself but can cause paralysis and incapacitate people so much they are easy prey to infectious diseases.

Any of a number of different drugs may sometimes help control the shaking, but the effect is usually just temporary.

The surgery removes part of the pre-motor cortex, the part of the brain in front of the motor cortex, main control centre of voluntary body movements.

One man, now 38, had six operations, each removing more and more of the cluster of brain cells, Dr. Klemme writes. At the start, tremors about his face, neck and mouth were so bad he couldn't speak at all, and often had to be fed by tube.

RETURNS TO WORK

The first operation brought temporary improvement, the second did no good. The man kept asking for more and now is back at work, able to talk clearly. He has only a slight tremor of the right hand.

Another man, now 39, had speech trouble and shaking of the right arm and leg for 25 years. After two operations, he's back at work on his farm, driving a tractor, doing all other chores.

About three per-cent of persons die during or after the operation, 18 per cent aren't helped at all, and another 10 per cent just think they've benefitted, he said.

"We get results in about 65 per cent of our patients. From the patients' point of view—when they say repeatedly, 'if I have one chance in a million I will take that chance'—a 65-per-cent result is not bad!"

Forest fires on film

Forest fires rage all winter long in cottagers' associations, schools, logging camps, service clubs, tourist groups, and wherever anyone is sincerely interested in helping to preserve our forests. These winter fires are all on film, and they're shown by the Forest Rangers for two main purposes: to help educate and instruct those people who may have to fight fires some day; and to show everyone the danger and the useless waste caused by forest fires.

Rangers almost as busy as they are when they have real forest fires to control but they're quite happy about it. The more people there are who are interested and want to learn about fire hazards, fire seasons, fire losses, and fire-fighting techniques . . . the fewer fires we're likely to have. If you're interested in getting such films for showing to your group you can get in touch with any Forest Ranger and he will be glad to look into the matter for you. It's good business for all of us to know about forest fires . . . to keep them in mind and keep them out of our forests.

U.S. Pollsters Busy Sampling Again

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK (CP)—The pollsters, whose prophecies turned sour in the 1948 presidential election, are out sampling opinion again, but this time John Q. Public's indecision has prevented any flat prediction.

The consensus is that many Americans have not yet made up their minds how they will vote Nov. 4.

It was the voter's indecision or his propensity for changing his mind that tripped up the pollsters in 1948 when they predicted a win for Republican candidate Thomas E. Dewey over President Truman.

STOPPED TOO SOON

Dr. George Gallup, whose American Institute of Public Opinion poll was wrong four years ago, said in an interview earlier this year that he had erred in stopping the polls two weeks before the election, thus failing to catch the shift of opinion, particularly in the farm section. He plans to poll right up to the wire this time.

The pollsters are emphasizing that many voters have yet to decide on their choice. Elmo Roper, another pollster who was caught off base in 1948, reported early this month that half the voters were wholly undecided or torn between the two candidates.

Roper, who stopped polling two months before the last election, now is trying to determine why the voter makes up his mind the way he does.

The big pollsters, such as Gallup, Roper and Archibald Crossley, whose main business between elections is market research or sampling other phases of opinion, are augmented this election by other agencies.

One of the biggest jobs of testing political sentiment so far has been done by the Associated Press which enlisted hundreds of its staffers and thousands of newspaper men in a country-wide survey.

The AP said that survey, completed in September, showed that editors and writers considered Republican Gen. Dwight Eisenhower the probable winner over Democrat Adlai Stevenson — if the election were run off at that time.

AP RUNS POLL

But the AP pointed out that many newspaper men who took part in the survey believed that large numbers of voters had not then made up their minds.

An interesting sidelight on the minor pollsters has come from a tiny corner of the State of Oregon where Crook county has, since 1880 voted in favor of the candidate who turned out to be the nation's choice.

Now the Crook county people are fed up with having their pulse taken by election pollsters and are hanging up the telephone or slamming the door on public-opinion testers.

NO ANSWER

"A poll a day became a problem and irritated Crook Countians began refusing to state a preference, slamming the door on possibly priceless advance information as to what the nation will do Nov. 4."

But O'Neill himself had one clue. He reported that Mrs. Dolly Fessler, county Democratic chairman, has twice asked her party leaders for campaign material and has received no response.

Dr. Jordan Says

Easiest Way Stop Smoking Is Never Start the Habit

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A shocking letter recently came from a reader who said: "In our neighborhood at the school district there are many cases of very young children smoking. It seems to be a common thing for children 12 to 15 to take smoking as a matter of course. They even offer the cigarettes to children of 8 or 9."

In grownups, who are in a position to decide whether the pleasures of smoking are worth more to them than the posible harmful effects, all that is necessary is to state the known facts from time to time so that they can judge.

In children, however, smoking should be discouraged since it can surely do them no good. Such practices as described in the reader's letter indicate a terrible lack of responsibility on the part of the parents and the law enforcement agencies in regions where these practices are allowed to exist.

It is wel known that excessive smoking—and even moderate smoking—interferes with athletic performance. Certainly, those who smoke are likely to get short of breath if they exert themselves immediately afterwards.

It is not surprising then that athletes in training are warned against smoking at least during the competitive season.

Many smokers complain of cold hands and feet. In all probability this is because the nicotine in tobacco smoke is absorbed and causes the blood vessels to contract, thus preventing them from carrying an adequate supply of warming blood. In some people, in fact, the contraction of the blood vessels is so great after smoking as to cause a rise in the blood pressure.

Furthermore, those who have definite blood vessel diseases are forbidden to smoke, since if they continue trouble is almost certain to occur and amputation of a limb may even be necessary.

TOBACCO IRRITATES LUNGS

Tobacco smoke irritates the delicate mucous linings of the breathing passageways. It is also likely to cause coating of the tongue and many heavy smokers develop a slight cough and even hoarseness from the irritating effects of the smoke. Some reports indicate that smoking increases the chances of cancer of the lungs.

Many people write to inquire how they can stop smoking. Unfortunately, there is no easy way, and about all that can be suggested is the use of will power and perhaps the substitution of some other motion such as chewing gum. By far the easiest way around the tobacco habit is not to start smoking at all.

Soviet, Israeli Government In Ownership Struggle

By ARYE WALLENSTEIN

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—A silent struggle for ownership of one of Jerusalem's most strategic zones is going on between the Soviet authorities and the Israeli government.

The triangular-shaped "Russian compound," which at present houses Israel's Supreme Court, the detective force, the city's prison and a government hospital, lies on the fringe of no-man's-land along the Israeli-Jordan lines, linking them with the heart of the Israeli-held new city.

In the hands of the Soviets, the "Russian compound," comprising scores of large buildings, could easily be turned into a "Kremlin fortress," and a private Russian "gate" between the Jewish and Arab parts of Jerusalem.

In talks with the Israeli authorities, Soviet representatives have laid claim to all the property which used to belong to the Czarist Russian owners before the Bolshevik revolution and which, according to cautious estimates, is valued at some $50,000,000.

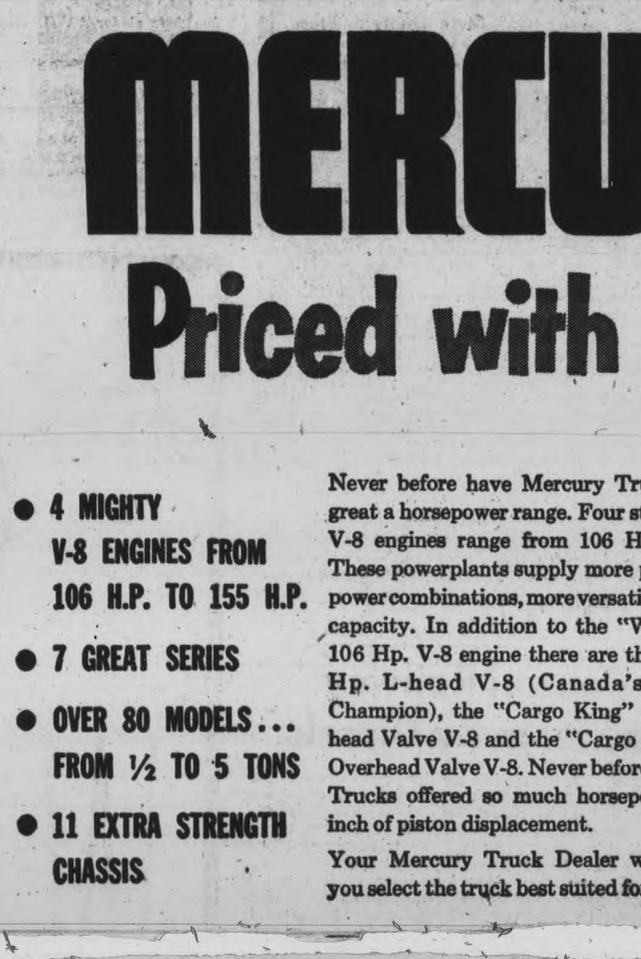
I. Zeitzeg, a former Soviet police and army officer, and M. Kalugin, an archaeologist, both protected by Soviet diplomatic passports, came to Jerusalem in the middle of 1951 as representatives of a newly-born "Russian archaeological society."

They put forward a claim that this society is the successor to the Czarist "Russian Palestine Society," owner of the bulk of Russian property in the holy land.

TAKE OVER OFFICES



Within a few months, they succeeded in ousting the secretary of the "White Russian" committee of the Russian Palestine Society, took over his offices and caused him to seek shelter in a French monastery.

The "archaeological" mission is the latest in the chain of Soviet attempts to gain possession over Czarist-Russian property.

The Israeli government decided this summer that the property of the Russian Palestine Society is to be administered by the administration-general until such time as the question of ownership and succession can be settled by the courts.

500 Hasty-Pees Reunite For 7th Annual Reunion

It was a weekend of renewing acquaintances and talking over old times for the more than 500 from Manitoba to Quebec and many Ontario centres who attended the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment's annual reunion here Thanksgiving weekend. It was the unit's seventh annual reunion and was not as largely attended as the fifth reunion in Peterborough in 1949 when an estimated 700 were here. Pete Castle, president of the Duffy Club which sponsored the three-day reunion termed it "very successful" and said he was well pleased with the number who attended. Many of the former Hasty Pees brought along their wives and those who did not have advance registrations experienced difficulty in getting hotel accommodation Saturday night.

An estimated 400 marched in the parade to Confederation Park where a memorial service was held Sunday morning. Headed by the Hasting and Prince Edward Reserve Regiment bugle band of Belleville, the parade formed up at the Armories in four companies.

There were three other bands in the parade; the C.G.E. Pipe Band, the Peterborough Citizens' Band, and the Bowmanville Pipe Band. A band marched between each of the companies.

The parade moved off from the Armouries, south on Aylmer St., then east on Chralotte St., to George and up George St. to Confederation Park where the memorial service was conducted by Canon Walter Gilling and the Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant. A wreath was laid on the war memorial by Pat Gahagan in memory of fallen comrades of the Hasty Pees who died in both World Wars.

REUNION BANQUET

Padre F. M. Goforth, Director of Canadian Army Chaplain Services in Ottawa who was with the regiment during the bloody Italian campaigns of the Second World War was guest speaker at the reunion banquet in the Legion Hall Sunday afternoon.

Two hundred and fifty former members of the regiment heard Padre Goforth outline his suggestions for writing the battle history of the Hasty Pees.

"I feel the story our boys wrote over there (in the Second World War) can be the finest story ever written about a Canadian regiment," Padre Goforth said.

Padre Goforth said he had read a number of regimental histories and too often, they consist of a series of sketches about the heroes of the regiment who have won decorations.

"What about the ordinary lads who carried out the orders and won the objectives?" he asked and urged that full credit be given to the ordinary soldiers who served in the regiment.

His tribute to the men who served in the regiment and "did the dirty messy jobs, who never won decorations but always did the job," drew strong applause from the audience.

REGIMENT'S GREATNESS

In writing the history of the Hasty Pees he pointed out that it should be kept in mind that "the regiment's greatness as a fighting unit lay not only in its leadership which was always good, but in the quality of the average man who did his job and got us where we were meant to get."

He said the type of man he had in mind was the fellow who threw himself over a wounded comrade lying on a stretcher when the other stretcher bearers ducked for cover as a shell burst on the Italian front Christmas Day of 1943.

"This sort of thing happened many times," Padre Goforth continued, but such men were never decorated or mentioned in newspaper despatches.

It should also be given a touch of humor he said and be a "down to earth story" including the hundreds of "funny incidents which happened during the fighting."

He said the unit had been fortunate in having the best type of commanding officers and they should be given credit for the fact that "in one campanign after another, the regiment's casualties were remarkably small for the jobs that had to be done."

Padre Goforth said the "forgotten sections" should also be remembered when the story of the Hasty Pees is being put together. "The anti-tank platoon, the ones who did the messy clean-up jobs, and "all the chaps who all through the campaign didn't get the glory that came to the infantry companies."

"Our unit has a particular spirit and a special kind of story. I would like to see the history of the regiment tell that story as we all saw it unfold during those years," said Padre Goforth.

Massey Hopes To Visit Cariboo Country

VANCOUVER (CP) — Some out-of-the-way parts of Canada can expect to see Governor-General Vincent Massey in the months to come.

At a press conference yesterday aboard his train Mr. Massey's future travelling plans were discussed. And, at one point, a spokesman said:

"It is His Excellency's hope that, in the months to come, he will be able to spend considerable time in out-of-the-way places throughout Canada. He is most anxious to see and come to know places where Governors-General have not gone before.

LIKES COUNTRY

"He is extremely attracted by the greatness of the country and hopes to visit such places as the Cariboo country, Aklavik on the Arctic Ocean and, in the easternmost part of Canada, the outposts of Newfoundland."

Fully recovered from a two-day illness, a throat infection, Mr. Massey today continued his official visit to Vancouver which opened yesterday to the boom of a 19-gun salute.

The schedule includes a visit to the University of British Columbia, a Canadian Club luncheon, various functions in New Westminster and a visit to the Alaska Pine and Cellulose Ltd. Plant.

Mr. Massey will leave for Victoria tonight aboard the destroyer Sioux.

The throat infection prevented Mr. Massey from making an official visit to Calgary — he stayed aboard his train during the time it was stopped there.

Of Course They Exist

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—A group of New Zealand scientists, engineers and air pilots yesterday formed a society dedicated to proving that flying saucers really exist. The founders of the new society—the Civilian Saucer Investigation of New Zealand, Inc.,—said saucers must be operated by a high intelligence since they avoid even pursuing aircraft.

Algoma Central Railway Replaces Steam By Diesels

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) —The Algoma Central Railway has become Canada's first to use diesel locomotives exclusively.

In announcing the changeover, Traffic Manager J.P. Mader termed it the "end of an era."

The line's total trackage is 327 miles, running between the Sault on the south, Hearst on the north, with a spur line to Michipicoten on Lake Superior.

Nine of the 39 A.C.R. steam locomotives stand here in little-used sidings where the grass has already begun to grow. They are the last of the line's "steamers," removed from active service in recent weeks.

"The steam locomotive has character," says Jim Gordon, the line's senior engineer who joined the railway in 1905. "A steamer coming through the Agawa Canyon in 40-below-zero weather was a sight a man can never forget.

DIESELS BETTER

"Yet the diesels are 1,000 per cent better; there is no arguing around that fact."

Twenty-one diesel road switchers now are doing the work of the 39 steam locomotives better and cheaper, Mr. Mader said.

The line pioneered in two major railroad developments. It designed and built its own steam cars for heating passenger trains in winter. All its freights are equipped with two-way radio to enable locomotive crews to communicate with the caboose and with other trains.

Founded in 1899, the A.C.R. last year did a gross business of more than [illegible],000. Pulpwood moved down the line to the Sault in hundreds of thousands of cords, and steel from the Algoma Steel Corporation plant went porth by the trainload for trans-shipment over trans-continental lines.

A million tons of iron ore is hauled by the railway yearly from the Helen Mine [illegible] loaded into ships for the Sault or U.S. points. Coal for Central Northern Ontario goes north from the harbor, as does sulphur for paper mills at Kapukasking, Smooth Rock Falls and Hearst.

Presbyterian Young People Meet

Christ Stands Pre-eminent As Foundation of Universe

In relation to God, the world, and the church, Christ stands "pre-eminent"—above all others—as the foundation of the universe and the King of creation.

This was the subject of a series of three addresses delivered by the Rev. M. di Gangi to the provincial Presbyterian Young People's Society convention held here during the weekend.

CONVENTION THEME

Mr. di Gangi was guest speaker at the convention which opened Friday evening and ended Monday noon. He is minister of St. Enoch's Presbyterian Church, Hamblton, and spoke on the convention theme, "In all things—Christ pre-eminent."

"There are people who imagine Christ has nothing to do with things like politics, economics, art and science," said Mr. di Gangi. They may limit the right of Christ to 'religious things' because of sectarian or secular principles."

These people are denying Christ's sovereignty over the world, Mr. di Gangi declared. He emphasized that Christians must relate all things: political and economic powers, social forces and institutions, family ties and recreational activities to Christ.

He is pre-eminent in all things and either Lord of all or not Lord at all, Mr. di Gangi said.

IN FAMILY LIFE

As creator of life, he occupies a position of first importance in family life. In economics: factory, farms and banks must keep in mind his relation to them. He has created the world, put coal and oil in the ground. He sustains the world by giving seasons for sowing seeds and reaping the bountiful harvests. Both capital and labor must bow before him. As the lordship of Christ is recognized, many economic ills will disappear, the speaker continued.

Turning to politics and the field of government authority, Mr. di Gangi said "Everyone in authority is responsible to Christ for the use or abuse he makes of his power. They are responsible to Him. He is Lord, even over the State."

Christ's supremacy must also be recognized in the fields of education, science and art, Mr. di Gangi said, and in recreation, he urged the young people not to allow temporal enjoyments to take precedence over Sunday worship.

NEED REVELATION

As creatures of limited knowledge, we are ignorant and need revelation and God has provided us with revelation through the truths of the Christian faith, he said.

"What do we know of the things that really matter?" the speaker asked. "We know how to manufacture luxuries, but not how to remove the blight of poverty. We know how to communicate and televise across the miles, but we do not know how to contact our fellow men in the way of understanding. We know how to win wars, but not how to live in peace."

Without Christ—its foundation stone—the universe would disintegrate into chaos, said Mr. di Gangi. Life would be impossible in a world of chance where there would be no gravity, heredity, sunshine or seasons. "Science would be an endless experiment without result, a ceaseless research without conclusion, were it not for the fact that Christ is King of creation."

As the source of the Church's life and the sustainer of its activity, Christ is the head of the church, said Mr. di Gangi. We are living in times when dictators challenge the right of Christ to rule the church but must never allow civil government to limit, stifle or pervert the church of which Christ alone is the head.

Labor Union Points Up Collective Bargaining Snags

MONTREAL (CP) — A labor union, in an unusual submission to a Quebec arbitration board, has pointed up thwat it terms "the cultural snags in collective bargaining."

The submission is that of the United Steelworkers of America (C.C.L.-C.I.O.) in its dispute with the Quebec Iron and Titanium Corp. The company is engaged in a huge, new iron ore development in a rugged area of eastern Quebec far down the St. Lawrence River.

SETS OUT PROBLEMS

In addition to statistically-based arguments for wage increases, the union brief sets forth at length the cultural problem involved, partiarly in Quebec, when a foreign company is concerned.

The submission says the Quebec Iron and Titanium Corp., "is owned and operated by Kenecott Copper Corporation and New Jersey Zinc Company."

"The mine itself is situated in a culture not only different from that of the parent corporation, but also the oldest and most stable non-English-speaking culture on this continent.

"These facts point to the most significant inter-cultural contact at present developing between the United States and French Canada."

The union suggests that in setting a wage or stipulating holidays in a foreign country, an industrial firm "is not simply making a financial bargain."

The firm "becomes involved in the construction and redesign of a social framework that will have far-reaching implications for its own welfare as well as for the welfare of the native employee and his community."

The brief recites instances of violence against managers of American companies and adds:

". . .These examples of 'direct action' are in a sense a counterpart of the united behavior of the managerial group. For, instead of an inter-French-English group concern for the total problem and a variety of inter-group efforts at solution, each group rallies with those of its own kind to cope with forces it really does not understand. . .

"Broadly speaking, industries have located in Quebec for one of two reasons: One group because the prevailing wage rates are low; the other group because only in Quebec can they find the power or commodity they need. . ."

Enrolment will begin Jan. 2 for youths who have reached the age of 16 years and have passed certain aptitude tests. They will be accepted for specialized training in army trades at corps schools.

About 200 youths will be chosen for the first course. They will sign on for a period of seven years but may take their release at the end of five years if they wish.

On enrolment, a soldier apprentice will draw half the pay of a private recruit and will draw normal rates of pay on reaching 17. When qualified, he will also draw trades pay.

Registration Urged Cy Corps

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario command of the Canadian Corps Association urged the federal government Sunday to put into effect a national registration as soon as possible.

A resolution passed unanimously by the provincial convention said: "Perhaps not all immigrants admitted to Canada within the last few years have the welfare of Canada at heart an are therefore susceptible to the influence of subversive elements already in Canada."

The convention also criticized the civil defence situation in Canada. It said the civil population is seeking greater leadership from governments in the matter.

Britain Denies Help Requested

LONDON (AP)—The Foreign Office yesterday denied a Cairo press report that former King Farouk had asked Britain to save his throne and crush Maj.-Gen. Mohamed Naguib's military coup last July.

A spokesman told a press conference "no request of any sort was received directly or indirectly from Farouk" for British military help at the time of the coup.

In Cairo the Arabic newspaper Al Akhbar said Naguib's government had gathered enough evidence to try Farouk for high treason and demand the death penalty. The paper published a detailed account of Farouk's alleged actions just before he was driven off the throne and out of Egypt by Gen. Naguib's coup.

Miss Laura McColl was maid of honor and Miss Sally Fee was her cousin's bridesmaid. They were frocked in identically styled floor-length taffeta gowns and matching boleros. Miss McColl was in apple green with a matching feather headdress and carried a cascade of yellow 'mums and Miss Fee was in yellow with matching headdress and carried a cascade of bronze 'mums.

Mr. Earl Fritz of Kitchener was groomsman and the ushers were Mrs. Jerome Gross and Mr. Henry Gross, both of Kitchener and Mr. Clifford Pirie.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother received in a midnight blue crepe gown, matching crepe hat, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. John Gross, assisted. She wore a navy gown, navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Wedding Of Wide Interest

CAVAN, (ENS)—St. Andrews United Church, Millbrook, beautifully decorated with baskets of white and shell pink 'mums, was setting Saturday for the marriage of Marie Estelle Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Douglas to Donald James Caldwell of Newmarket, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caldwell, Dundas. The Rev. A. M. Butler officiated.

The bride, who was given in mariage by her father, was in a strapless floor length gown of frothy nylon net over shell appliques. It was made with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt, and she had a matching bolero and gloves and a short veil held in place by a beaded cut velvet cap. She carried a cascade boquet of white carnations and 'mums.

Miss Hope Douglas was her sister's bridesmaid in a strapless net over taffeta, [illegible] netted bodice and a bolero of matching brocade. The bouffant skirt was worn over crinoline. Her cascade boquet was of pink carnations.

Julie and Joan Armstrong twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armstrong, were flower girls. They were dressed alike in floor-length yellow nylon marquisitte over crinolines made with fitted bodices and gathered full skirts. They wore blue velvet sashes and matching headdress and carried nosegays of white button 'mums. (A pleasant coincidence was that it was the twins' fifth birthday.)

The groomsman was Dr. R. E. Turner of Hamilton and ushers were Mr. Arthur Menaul, Brantford, and Mr. Ralph Pyle Bancroft.

A cousin of the bride, Mrs. George Hamilton, Palmerston, played the wedding music. Miss Margaret Hamilton, Palmerston was the soloist and sang, "O Perfect Love", before the service and "Where'er you Walk", during the signing of the register.

At the reception in the church hall, the bride's mother, assisting in receiving the guests wore an afternoon dress of plum crepe lace trimmed, and a matching feather hat. She wore an orchid corsage. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore a lace trimmed afternoon dress of admiral blue crepe with matching hat. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the reception the guests drove to the home of the bride's parents where the gifts were displayed. Later in the evening the bride donned a wool suit of rose biege, a navy hat and accessories and a top coat of thistle wool and the couple left for a short trip. They will make their home in Newmarket.

The groom is a graduate of McMaster University, Hamilton and the bride a graduate of the University of Toronto.

Use 'Plume Line' For Smart Hair

The "plume line" calls for three main lengths in the hair—two to 2 inches in front, about one to two inches between the ear and the forehead, and about one to 1½ inches on top of the head.

SIGNING THE MARRIAGE REGISTER is Mrs. Alan Armstrong, the former Miss Marjorie Lacheur. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were married Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Anglican Church. They will live in Islington.—(Garfield Studio Photo)

Armstrong-Lacheur

The wedding of Marjorie Ethel, daughter of Mrs. Charles Lacheur and the late Mr. Lacheur of Peterborough, to Mr. Alan Steele Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Armstrong of Toronto, took place Saturday afternoon in the All Saints' Anglican church.

The Rev. M. P. Poole, rector, was assisted in the ceremony by the Rev. Douglas Paterson, cousin of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. John C. McMillan of Montreal. She was wearing a classic gown of white satin with cathedral train, with trimmings of Swiss lace, and a becoming headdress of the satin and lace which held her fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white shasta 'mums.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. J. C .McMillan, as matron of honor, Mrs. Clayton Selkirk and Miss Margaret Jean Loucks as bridesmaids. Materials chosen for their gowns were mauve bengaline and amythest velveteen. The bengaline gown was fashioned with strapless bodice, cuffed with peaks of velveteen, and the very full skirt fell in folds to the floor. The velveteen capes were shaped and shirred into a shrug jacket effect. Their headdresses were of mauve braided tulle enhanced with brilliants and they carried bouquets of chrysanthemums shaded from the mauve of their dresses.

Mr. John Armstrong was groomsman for his brother and another brother, Mr. Wm. Armstrong and Mr. Donald Murray of Peterborough, were ushers.

A setting of white 'mums banked with ferns was arranged in the church. The wedding music was played by Miss Margaret Flowers and Mrs. W. Beard was soloist. Before the ceremony the Lord's Prayer was sung and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love."

The reception of guests was at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. Mrs. Lacheur received in a gown of cameo blue crepe and wore navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a gown of wistaria lace and crepe and a hat in dusty rose shade and her corsage was of matching roses.

The bride and groom left afterwards on a wedding trip to Quebec, Mrs. Armstrong travelling in a bronze suit and matching accessories and she had a going away corsage of bronze 'mums.

They will live on Agar Crescent in Islington on return.

DOROTHY DIX

Housekeeping Real Art Never Resent Domesticity

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a mother should be responsible for teaching her daughter cooking and housework? I am 18, engaged to a boy whom I expect to marry when he comes out of service, about eighteen months from now. I want very much to be a good, efficient housekeeper, and have appealed to my mother to teach me domestic procedure. I work during the day, but have Saturdays and Sundays free. She claims she hasn't the time or patience to teach me. Mother is a good cook, and I want very much to follow in her footsteps. She has never required me to help with the household, or permitted me to assist with entertaining, sewing or the like. How can I learn these things I want to know?

BERYL M. K.

ANSWER: At what point does the average mother assume that her maternal responsibilities terminate? Some women seem to think from the time a child enters school, further training is up to teachers. Far too many, like Beryl's mother, do not realize that the training of a son or daughter is an endless job. The best teachers in the world can accomplish just so much for a youngster; the rest is up to the parents, and one of a mother's obligations is to train daughters—and son, too—to carry on home responsibilities. Even a very young child can learn to help with dusting, bed-making, table-setting. True, the teaching at first involves more work for Mom than doing the tasks herself, but the primary object is not the completion of a job, but the education of the child.

No girl should reach the age of 18 without being able to prepare a good meal and have some knowledge of every form of domestic work. The mother who has failed to achieve this measure of teaching has failed in one of the primary purposes of her job as a parent.

Few girls today can expect to marry so well that they will have a staff of servants at their command. A wife well-trained in domestic tasks has already hurdled one of the obstacles that beset many a marriage. A man who has been accustomed to a pleasant home life wants to continue the same sort of living. A bride's tought biscuits may be a joke, but endangering a husband's digestion can easily sour marriage. Naturally, a young wife isn't expected to be an expert in culinary matters, but she should at least know her way around a kitchen and be able to run a vacuum cleaner efficiently.

If you can't make your mother see [illegible] I suggest a domestic science course at a local high school, or college offering evening sessions.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 26 and am getting married to a man 28 in the near future. We are being married in my church and by my pastor, but I don't know who is to ask the pastor, or what to say.

MIMI

ANSWER: Both parties usually approach the minister together. See him at his home, simply state that you plan to be married, and he will handle the affair from then on. You should be sufficiently acquainted with your pastor so that the interview does not loom as an ordeal.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a 16-year-old girl and have been going steady with a man of 25 for several months. Much to my dismay I discovered he was divorced and the father of two children. Recently his wife asked if they couldn't try things again. My mother thinks I should give him up. I don't know if I should follow her advice or try to keep him.

TROUBLED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Follow your mother's advice by all means. You have everything against you in this triangle, and absolutely nothing for you. You are much too young to be involved in such a serious problem; you would be making a grave mistake to interfere in the possible re-establishment of a home that involves small children; and the man's deceitful conduct in withholding from you the fact of his marriage proves him to be an untrustworthy person.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Few Tips On The Cooking More Unusual Cuts Of Meat

By the evidence of your letters you like the little meat lessons I have been dishing up. These were requested by Newlywed G. L.

This week I thought I might catch your interest with a few tips on cooking the more unusual—and often economical—cuts of meat such as liver, kidney, heart and tongue.

Need I say to regular readers of this column that these unpretentious cuts are indispensable to a balanced diet? Most of us know that we must consume liver once per week. But do you know that heart and kidney and tongue contain vitamins and minerals that add nutritive qualities to the diet that can be gained from few other food sources?

I repeat for the umpteenth time that the most economical way to keep well is to obey the food rules.

Stuffed Liver Rolls

Make a stuffing by combining 2 cups, well-packed, breadcrumbs, 2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 2 tablespoon chopped parslev, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, pinch thyme or crumbled sage. Ask the butcher to slice pork liver very thinly. Spread each slice of liver with the stuffing and roll up. This amount of stuffing will do for 1 lb. liver. Tie or skewer. Dredge with flour in melted fat or cooking oil. Transfer to baking dish. Add 1 cup water, cover and bake 25 to 30 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr.

Sliced Tongue (definitely a company dish)

Wash a fresh or cured tongue then put in kettle with cold water to cover, add 1 teaspoon mixed pickling spices and 2 bay leaves, cover and bring to boil, reduce heat to simmer and cook 3 hours. Remove from cooking broth and peel off the skin and trim off fat and tag ends from base of tongue. Place on baking dish.

Racial Prejudice Exists Nationally, Internationally Presbyterian YPS Finds

Delegates from throughout Ontario and Montreal, attended the provincial convention of the Presbyterian Young People's Society held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church here Thanksgiving weekend.

More than 500 attended the society's 19th and final convention. The provincial organization has become so large it has been broken down regionally into three synodicial societies in order to operate more efficiently.

The guest speaker, the Rev. M. di Gangi of St. Enoch's Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, delivered a series of three addresses on the convention theme, "In all things, Christ pre-eminent."

"Do other nationals in Canada experience any degree of prejudice?" was the subject of a discussion Sunday evening.

RACIAL PREJUDICE EXISTS

After hearing comments of young people of several nationalities including Chinese, Formosan, and Japanese attending the convention. This consensus emerged.

"Racial prejudice definitely exists, nationally and internationally, but not in the Christian community of Canada."

During the question period which followed the rally service in the church auditorium Sunday evening, Mr di Gangi emphasized that the creative power of God does not distinguish between races and the commandments of Christ make brothers of all men.

At a banquet at Club Aragon Saturday evening, the Niagara presbytery won the Elsie Thomson trophy for the second year in a row. Points are awarded for the number attending the annual convention and attendance and participation at the various sessions and discussion forums.

ABOARD MAGNIFICENT

One P.Y.P.S. group were unable to attend and wired greetings to the convention to provincial president George Malcolm of Hamilton.

Members of this society are serving aboard the Canadian aircraft carrier, H.M.C.S. Magnificent.

Saturday afternoon the convention was broken up into five discussion groups and exchanged ideas on "Young People in the Church; Racial and Religious Prejudice; Sharing Faith with Others; Christian Use of Time, Talent and Treasury and Christians Working Around the World."

At a missionary rally in the church auditorium Sunday afternoon the Rev. J. Alan Munro, secretary of the Presbyterian board of missions, Toronto, interviewed young missionaries of the church representing several nationalities.

Among those interviewed were: David Tan of Formosa son of a Formosan minister and now studying at Knox Presbyterian College, Toronto; Henry Kojima of Jajan; Lucy Serex of Switzerland now in Montreal working with the French Presbyterian mission there; Miss Ruth Ma, Toronto, who spoke on her experiences as a Christian in China; James Lee of Toronto; Miss Ann Miklossy and Helen Fodo of Welland, Dorothy Jacenty of Oshawa; and Margaret Lin and Carol Chiam, both of Formosa now studying in Canada.

Provincial P.Y.P.S. president George Malcolm said the most outstanding feature of the convention was "the atmosphere and enthusiasm created by the perfect attendance at all sessions, in spite of the excellent autumn weather."

The final sessions were held Monday morning. "What it Means to be a Christian" was the question discussed under various headings by the different groups and the convention ended with the final theme address by Mr. di Gangi.

Customs Officer Pleads Guilty

DETROIT (CP)—A Canadian customs officer, Stanley Carley of Windsor, pleaded guilty yesterday to two charges of smuggling aliens into the United States in the trunk of his automobile.

Carley, 40, was arrested Friday charged with smuggling seven persons who paid him $100 each into the U.S. via the Ambassador Bridge where he had been employed as inspector since 1945.

Judge Thomas Thornton placed Carley under $5,000 bond and referred him to the court probation officer for a report before sentence. Each count of smuggling an alien carries a maximum term of five years.

Frank Hornyak, chief of the U.S. border patrol, said Carley admitted smuggling two Chinese and five others of Greek or Italian nationality into Detroit.

Tariff Changes Not Popular

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain may find Canada reluctant to back any demands for major changes to the multi-country General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, government economic sources said yesterday.

They were commenting on a Scarborough, England, dispatch Saturday quoting British Conservative party informants as saying Britain may demand changes to the international tariff pact early next year.

The issue is to be brought up before the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference in London next month.

Britain's main criticism of the pact is that it blocks intensification of Imperial tariff preferences, and is against granting more favorite tariff treatment within the Commonwealth than to non-Commonwealth countries.

Soldier Falls To Death

BOSTON BAR, B.C. (CP)—A young soldier stumbled in the darkness Saturday night on the highway through the Fraser Canyon and fell 300 feet to his death on the rocks below. The soldier was identified as gunner Frederick Leonard Dillon, 18, of Lillooet, B.C.

THE BEST FAIR that Norwood ever had drew a record crowd Monday as prize lists and the number who attended reached new heights. Square dancing livened up the program before the grandstand during the afternoon. Louada Barnone, Shorthorn bull, won the shorthorn championship at the fair. Owned by M. H. Pimmett and Sons, of Indian River, the animal has won the Grand Championship at the 1951 C.N.E. among other awards.—(W. W. Reid Photos).

Record Crowd At Norwood Fair

NORWOOD —(ENS)— G. A. Brethen, president of the Norwood Fair Board was all smiles on Monday as he hurried about the grounds keeping things running smoothly at the biggest fair Norwood has ever had.

"It is the best fair ever—by far, entries are up over 50 percent in all classes and there are twice as many people on the grounds as I have ever seen," he said.

8,000 PAID

Last year the paid admissions were in the neighborhood of 2,700 but this year there were over 8,000 paid to enter the grounds. To get a picture of the actual 8,000 who paid to enter grounds, the 8,000 paid admissions can be just about doubled, because children were allowed in free, and members of the agricultural society had passes.

The women's work in the armories drew a great deal of attention. Mrs. Clarence Copp, president of the women's division of the fair was quite happy with this year's show. The fair started fresh after being closed during the war, and this year, over $7,000 in prize money was paid out. The fair next year graduates from a class C fair to a Class B show.

To qualify for Class B a fair must pay out $3,000 or over for three years, and with the $7,000 paid out this year by the fair board, the show is now assured of a Class B rating. Next year, for every twenty-five cents paid out by the Norwood fair board, the Provincial and Dominion governments each pay out one dollar in prize money.

Mrs. Copp said that in order to make the judging as fair as possible, the board goes outside the district to pick qualified judges. She praised the way in which the women of her committee worked to make the fair a success. The exhibits in the women's building were attractively laid out, and the flower display was particularly pleasing, with a white picket fence as a background, setting off the flowers. The fence was also the idea of Mrs. Copp, who had seen such a display at the C.N.E.

The roadster and carriage classes in the horse section drew a great deal of attention and the

Two Suitcases Stolen From Car, Holiday Marred

Having their suitcases stolen Friday night marred the Thanksgiving weekend for three visitors from Granby, Quebec, who spent the night in Peterborough.

City police are hoping someone will be able to furnish a tip that will help them track down the theif who broke into a car owned by William Smith, of Granby.

BROKE REAR WINDOW

After breaking the glass in a rear window of the car which was parked on the parking lot of a downtown hotel, two suitcases containing clothing and other articles, valued at $460, was taken.

Constable John Conlin noticed the broken window while patrolling his beat early Saturday morning and notified the night clerk of the hotel.

The clothing and suitcase belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their guest, Miss Doris Dozios, all of Granby, who were staying at the hotel.

They were able to give police an itemized list of the missing contents and a description of the suitcases and various articles of clothing.

U.S. Servicemen Prefer Home-Type Girl

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Servicemen in the Second World War may have gone for the glamor girl pin-up, but today they prefer the home-type girl.

That's the contention of Rebel Randall, favorite disk jockey of United States soldiers and sailors all over the world. Her show is carried over Armed Forces Radio Service to wherever American men are serving. Naturally, she gets a flood of letters from lonesome boys.

"Of course, they have their pin-ups," said Rebel, who is plenty all right in the cheesecacke department herself. "But they seem more concerned with the girls they left back home. The letters I get are a perfect example."

Rebel admitted that some of her letters get pretty serious. She has had many offers of marriage.

How does she handle them? By a very simple method. She changes the subject. But she always continues writing. For two years, she spent eight hours a day answering the letters in her own hand. Now she has been forced to open an office and hire two secretaries to help her with the mail.

She also dates many of the soldier who return from overseas and want to take her out. Considering all these activities, I asked how she found time for her own private life.

"I don't have any," she replied. "My boys keep me too busy."

R.C.A.F. Planes Praised For Interception

LONDON (CP) — Canadian-built Sabre jets from the R. C. A. F. fighter wing at North Luffenham, Rutlandshire, are credited with the most successful record of interception in exercise "Ardent" largest and most realistic test of Britain's air defences since the Second World War.

Officers of R.A.F. Fighter Command admitted that raider craft had pierced the defensive screen in some vulnerable areas during the nine-day exercise just concluded.

The Canadian-manned Sabre jets came in for special mention by Air Chief Marshal Sir Ralph Cochrane, vice-chief of the air staff.

In a simulated raid Sunday night on Glasgow, Britain's latest and fastest jet bombers, the Canberras, "were most effectively challenged" by the Canadian Sabres, Sir Ralph said.

Canadian pilots of No. 1 fighter wing remained on an operational alert throughout the exercise. Until the test ended they never left their crew rooms at North Luffenham or the cockpits of their aircraft. Food was taken to them.

Miners Endorse Adlai Stevenson

CINCINNATI (AP)—The United Mine Workers yesterday followed the lead of union President John L. Lewis in endorsing Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson for election as president of the United States.

Lewis thus cast his lot with the Democratic party, joining the A.F.L. and the C.I.O. in endorsing Stevenson. Lewis has not been a Democratic supporter since he broke with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940.

Deny Russian Charge Bomber Fired Guns

TOKYO (AP)—Far East Air Forces headquarters yesterday denied Russian charges that a U.S. B-29 bomber fired at Soviet fighters before it disappeared with an eight-man crew last Tuesday off northern Japan.

A spokesman said the missing Superfort "carried no guns and no gunners."

A Soviet note to the United States, protesting an alleged violation of Russian territory in the Far East, said Soviet pilots fired back at an American bomber before it "disappeared in the direction of the sea."

Flagpole Sitter Drops Dead On Sidewalk

NEW YORK (AP)—Alvin (Shipwreck) Kelly, self-styled inventor of flagpole sitting and "the luckiest fool on earth," dropped dead on a midtown sidewalk Saturday night.

The man who caused tens of thousands to crane their necks skyward to watch him perform drew a final crowd by his death.

He fell to the sidewalk as he walked along 51st Street.

Under Kelly's arm was a scrapbook of his exploits. The title: "The Luckiest Fool on Earth."

Clippings gave his age as 59, but police who inspected his papers said he was 67.

The next year he was riding an airplane—clinging to a 10-foot pole mounted on the fuselage.

In 1930 he mounted the lofty spire of a Broadway hotel and stayed there 13 days, 13 hours and 13 minutes.

Teachers Meet In Marmora

MARMORA (TNS-. — Central Hastings Teachers' Convention was held in St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, Friday. Miss Loreen Connor of Madoc presided at morning and afternoon sessions. The morning session opened with a devotional period taken by Rev. K. J. Crawford. Tribute was paid to the memory of the late A. W. McGuire, Inspector of Public Schools, one minute's silence being observed.

Reeve V. M. Lynch welcomed the delegation after which Miss Connor gave an address.

Leonard Begley, B.A., principal of Marmora High School, addressed the meeting, mentioning that there was no substitute for the three R's. He discussed teacher-pupil relationship and the advantages of a central school. In a demonstration of primary work, Mrs. E. Manchester of the Marmora Public School staff, taught pupils. Encouraging remarks were heard from G. W. Nelson, inspector for the district.

During the noon hour, lunch was served in St. Andrew's Hall by the W.A. of the church. During [illegible] conducted a choir of Madoc children in the rendition of several numbers.

The reports of committees marked the opening of the afternoon session. A discussion of writing was led by Mr. W. Rothwell, principal of Madoc Public School. The day's proceedings wound up with an excursion to the Bethlehem Steel properties.

NICKEL PRODUCER—First ore since the Second World War to roll out of East Rim Mine, 20 miles northeast of Sudbury, is loaded aboard a truck for treating at a nearby smelter. The reopened mine will ship between 75 and 150 tons of ore a day under contract to the United States government. The Sudbury district produces 90 per cent of the world's nickel.

RCAF Jet Fighter Units Arrive At French Base

GROS-TENQUIN, France (CP)—Jet fighter units of the R. C. A. F. have officially taken over their operational role in the air defence of Western Europe under N.A.T.O.

The aircraft, 56 Canadian-built Sabre jets, landed on Gros-Tenquin's 1½-mile concrete airstrip Saturday, after a mass flight of more than 3,000 miles in easy stages across the North Atlantic. Known as operation "Leap Frog Two," it was the first large-scale movement of its kind attempted by the R.C.A.F.

Arrival of the Canadian airmen at Gros-Tenquin, about 50 miles from Germany's southwestern border, marked the first time a wing has operated on the continent under Canadian command. In the Second World War the largest Canadian formation was a squadron.

The Canadian airmen were greeted by George P. Vanier, Canada's ambassador to France, distinguished representatives of the French government as well as top-level officers of the Canadian and Allied higher commands.

GETS FIRST GREETING

First to be greeted [illegible] Cmdr. J. F. Edwards of [illegible]ford, Sask., in charge of No. 430 squadron, which had its Canadian training bases at North Bay.

Three other airfields are being constructed on the continent by Canada to accommodate additional reinforcements from the Dominion. The Canadian units will form part of the Fourth Allied Tactical Air Force, which also embraces the 12th United States Air Force and the 1st French Air Division.

Much remains to be done before the program of construction and installation at Gros-Tenquin is completed. When the fighter squadrons arrived Saturday the airfield had the appearance of a giant construction camp, with a labor force of several hundred Frenchmen and Algerians rushing work on metal pre-fabricated staff buildings, administrative units, hangars an a network of roads and runways.

Court Will Rule On Union Demands

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Supreme Court yesterday agreed to rule whether printers' union demands to be paid for setting "bogus" type violate the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The ruling was asked in an appeal file by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

"Bogus" type usually is not used nor intended to be used. The practice occurs when an advertiser submits his ads to a publisher in the form of a matrix which bypasses the typesetters.

Under the "bogus" practice, the ad also is set by printers who get paid for the work even though the type is destroyed without being used.

RAYMOND ARTHUR DAVIES, 44-year-old Montreal writer and a former member of the Canadian Communist party, was formally committed for trial on a passport fraud charge. The Crown claims that Davies, alias Rudolph Shohan, made false declarations when applying for a passport in 1936. Magistrate Glenn Strike decided on the committal after a two-hour preliminary hearing in Ottawa Police Station courtroom after the Crown built a web of fingerprints and other evidence around the one-time executive officer of the Labor Progressive (Communist) party.

Important Mills Placed East Of Urals—Russia

LONDON (Reuters)—Giant steel mills situated east of the formidable Ural Mountain barrier are forging the weapons Russia would use in another war, the Soviet minister of ferrous metals indicated in a Moscow speech reported yesterday.

Ivan F. Tevosyan told delegates to the Communist party congress that 63 per cent of the national output of pig iron and 59 per cent of the steel is made behind the Ural wall.

Tevosyan, who ranks as a deputy premier, disclosed that the main weight of Soviet industry now has shifted to east of the Urals, which stretch 2,500 miles from north to south and divide European Russia from Siberia and Soviet Asia.

The bulk of strategic raw materials, in which Russia is exceptionally rich, lie in Siberia and Asiatic Russia.

Tevosyan's statement appears to indicate that there has been a substantial build-up in Soviet heavy industry since the Second World War.

"COOL CONTROL"

BLAKE WILKINS
THE FOOTBALL

2 On catch, ball is immediately placed in vertical position under fingers of left hand; right hand turns laces of ball away from kicker if possible. Left fingers are not removed until ball is kicked from under them. For kick, kicker lines up with kicking toe on imaginary line through ball and centre of posts.

3 [illegible] ankle and knee lock at moment of impact; leg follows through for control after punching ball in the middle of its width and slightly below the centre of its length. Ball is held straight up for long kick; slightly tilted back for close-in kick.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

EMBLEMATIC OF CANADIAN SENIOR LACROSSE SUPREMACY

Timbermen Brought To City First Canadian Title

By CEC. PERDUE

Lacrosse holds the distinction of being the only sport to bring to Peterborough a Canadian championship. Teams from this city have won many provincial crowns down through the years in baseball, hockey, rugby, soccer and basketball, and a few have captured Eastern Canadian honors. But only the Timbermen of 1951—a great lacrosse club—won a Dominion title up to this year for Peterborough. It was not an easy task assembling a Mann Cup championship squad, the best senior "A" lacrosse team in the country. President Bob Peirson, Manager Bob Curtin and the other executive members had to do a lot of digging to round up the champs back in the winter and early spring of '51.

ANOTHER PETERBOROUGH HONOR—Jim Heffernan, former Peterborough junior lacrosse player, brought the city extra honors this year when he won the best rookie award in the British Columbia League. This year he led the Nanaimo Native Sons in scoring as he played his first season in senior "A" ranks. He starred in previous season with Lou Vitarelli's junior Petes. If Vancouver had picked up extra players for the Mann Cup series, Heffernan would have played. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

NEEDED PLAYERS

Until their own large minor organization started producing, they were without material of the calibre to capture crowns. Yet they knew lacrosse was the big sport in Peterborough and its thousands of followers, city and district, deserved a winning club or at least a top contender. The fans were getting a bit "browned off" at seeing their favorites finish sixth or seventh in the strong O.L.A. senior group. It was time to build a powerful team. Other clubs kicked at losing good players to this city, but the O.L.A. annual meeting of 1951 passed a motion permitting any club to import up to a certain date. And the Petes got busy.

Owen Sound Crescents folded up after winning the Mann Cup in 1950, many of the players being dissatisfied with their treatment as the season finished. Goalie Lloyd (Moon) Wootton and forwards Curly Mason and Russ Slater signed up for the Timbermen—three senior starts. Wootton was and is considered Canada's best lacrosse goaltender, twice being voted tops in O.L.A. and Mann Cup circles.

ADDED STARS

Other stars were added from various places, aces like Harry Wipper, Jerry Fitzgerald, Nip O'Hearn, Ike Hildebrand, Don Ashbee, Ross Powless. These and others, along with the pick of the home talent, made the Petes preseason favorites. Nor did they disappoint home crowds ranging up to the 4,000 mark in Miller Bowl. They finished on top of the heap, beating Fergus Thistles out in Eastern Canada playdowns, and taking a bye into the finals to knock out Mimico Mounties. Three players, Harry Wipper, Jerry Fitzegerald and Moon Wootton, were named to the first O. L. A. All-Star [illegible]

Early last October [illegible] men flew west [illegible] O.L.A. to meet Vancouver Combines on the west coast in Mann Cup finals. After a hectic seven-game series, they emerged champions—winning the final two games handily to impress the large hostile crowd with their championship form. Moon Wootton was voted the star of this series. The club also downed Victoria in an exhibition game there after the big series. They received a fine civic welcome home.

COULDN'T MAKE IT

Hockey commitments kept Don Ashbee and Ike Hildebrand from making the trip west with the champs last year. Jerry Fitzgerald didn't go at first, either, because of football at Western. He did fly out towards the end of the series but got into only one game before being stricken with appendicitis. However, the Timbermen were allowed two replacements at first, Denny Peterson of Mimico and Merv McKenzie of Hamilton. Later, Don McPhail of Mimico saw some action for them.

Three of the Timbermen dropped out of action last year, Mick Magee, Emmett Creighton and Joe Whitnell. Arn Dugan left later. In their place the club brought up several former star juniors from the local Filter Queens. Lou Nickle and Gary Robinson and Grant Burns all saw a lot of service for them, and later Roger Smith (still a junior) shone for them in playoffs. A few other juniors helped at times, too. They also added Al Garbutt when Fergus Thistles were out of the running. They again had a potent pack.

THE EXECUTIVE

The Timbermen's 1952 executive consisted of: President, Bob Peirson; vice - president, Paul Irwin; secretary, Mick Magee; treasurer, Howard McLean; committee, Dr. Herb Young, Jack Gainey, Ken Kingston, Bob Curtin, Red Creighton, Bev Goulding, Ernie Braund, Gord Dobbin, and Barney Dundas. Missing from the previous year's list of officers were Ald. Doug Miller, Pete King and Harry Yudin. And Bob Thorpe replaced Don Crowe in '52 as playing coach, Bob having starred the previous year for the Petes. The club was again sponsored by Timber Structures.

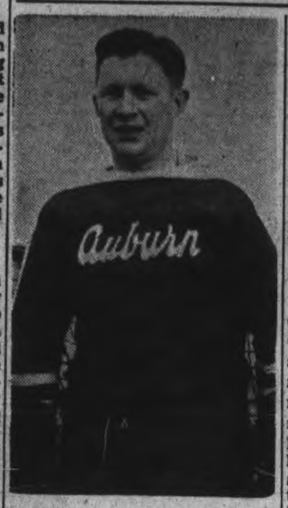
Though trailing Mimico Mounties over a good part of the schedule in the seven-club group (Brampton had dropped out but Owen Sound was back), the Petes put on a 13-game winning streak late in the season to finish on top once more and win the O.L.A. 1952 crown. They again won Eastern Canada playdown over St. Catharines in a rugged series and elected to take the bye into eastern finals. They ousted Toronto Yorks in a hard seven-game series for the eastern title.

A TOUGH JOB

As mentioned before, it is not easy to assemble a Canadian championship club in any line of sport, including lacrosse. It takes real digging to come up with the right talent, it requires a lot of money, and it takes some handling to keep a bunch of stars happy and playing properly together. A few leave, there are the odd arguments, too frequent injuries, rained-out games to ruin big gates, and many other headaches along the championship trail. But the Petes' Timbermen have shown they are the stuff champions are made of.

Box lacrosse was started in Peterborough back in 1931 and it has flourished ever since, apart from the war years when the game was not played. It was staged first in the Brock St. rink with an intermediate club here. The team played for a time in Riverside Park in an outside box. Eventually a good box was built on the present site, and the game prospered in intermediate and senior "B" competition. During the war the box was torn down and a new one had to be built when hostilities were over. The present arena was the answer and it was called Miller Bowl, owing to the strenuous efforts put into the project by Doug Miller.

Crowds of 2,000 and more are common for senior "A" scheduled games, and they have put in as many as 4,000 on special occasions.



POPULAR SPORT

This truly Canadian game has a big draw in the district, besides attracting many summer tourists from miles around. The Petes play a rugged crowd-pleasing style of lacrosse against strong opposition during the long season. They look forward to more good years at the game, since there is a healthy minor association training new talent, and a good junior club to provide senior stars in the future.

No other sport in the city is as popular with the public, and no other sport to date has brought to Peterborough a Canadian championship.

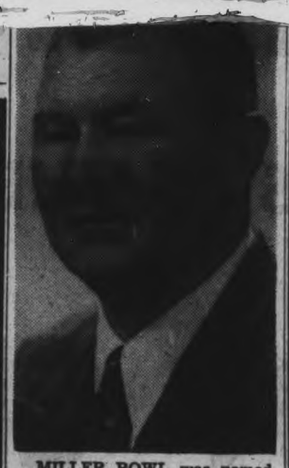
WHEN DOUG PLAYED — This picture of Doug Miller was taken in the midle 30's a few years before Doug performed [illegible] consecutive senior "B" championships for Peterborough in the old bowl on George St., the site of the present spot which is called Miller Bowl because Doug had much to do with putting that project over. He was not only a star player of many years but served in every executive capacity and later managed the club. He played right up until 1947.

Learns Ex-Wife Worth $600



LONDON (AP)—Sculptor Robert Davies has learned his ex-wife is worth exactly £600 more to him than he thought she was. Or she is in the eyes of a divorce court.

Davies divorced his Pamela on the grounds of misconduct and claimed £200 damages from the co-respondent, Fritz Naumann.

But the judge decided £800 was what Davies should get for the loss of Pamela. The wife, the judge explained, "was earning money for them both."

PRESIDENT BOB—There's a lot of work in winning a senior "A" Dominion championship besides playing, and the executive of the Timbermen will agree heartily to that. Heading this body this season was Bob Peirson, who [illegible] tures to providing a winning team.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

MILLER BOWL was named for Alderman T. D. (Doug) Miller, sparkplug of the organization that backed the building of the George St. lacrosse box. From this bowl have come several O.L.A. Senior B champions, as well as one Mann Cup team. This year may see the Timbermen win their second Mann Cup in succession.

Peterborough Fans Show Loyalty Throughout Season

Whenever fans and teams from other lacrosse centres in Ontario come to Peterborough's Miller Bowl for games with the Timbermen, they're amazed to see the number of fans patiently waiting for the game to begin. Without a doubt Peterborough is the best drawing centre for lacrosse in Ontario.

During the past season only Mimico could match crowds with the Timbermen's; in fact in Mimico the fans turned out only for the really important games. All other games had only small crowds, rarely more than 1,000.

Winning first senior "A" championship twice, then the Eastern Canada and the Mann Cup, has helped to make lacrosse the summer sport in Peterborough. It's a rare occurrence when less than 1,000 fans watch a game in the bowl.

NO MATCH

Hamilton, Toronto, Fergus and the other centres, with the exception of Mimico, drew poor crowds throughout the summer months. They picked up slightly during the playoffs but none could match Peterborough's 2,500 to 4,000 per game.

The Peterborough crowd's definitely a home team crowd. They whoop it up every time the home team scores or even comes close to scoring. When the opposition sinks the ball, you can hear a pin drop; they seldom cheer out-of-towners. It's home team support that brings out the best lacrosse in a team.

When the playoffs begin, the fans begin to get lacrosse fever; practically everyone is talking lacrosse. This year was typical and especially that rained-out final game with Toronto West Yorks.

Baseball fans suffered from nerves; football fans suffered from football-itis; lacrosse fans in Peterborough contacted some disease which even the rain couldn't wash away. The disease was first noticed during that seventh game of the Eastern Canada series, seemingly more mental than physical with some slight paralysis.

You remember that night. The Yorks previously had tied the series in Toronto and the seventh and final game was slated for Wednesday in Miller Bowl. All day there were intermittent showers, a few thunder storms, and bright sunny skies.

An hour and a half before game time several small thunderstorms lit the sky with lightning flashes and rocked the air with thunder claps. Finally drops of rain began to fall, at first slowly, then gradually faster.

4,000 TURN OUT

Throughout the lightning, thunder and rain, lacrosee fans, talking and laughing, began to pour, as fast as the rain fell, into the Miller Bowl. By 7.45, the crowd was estimated at 1,200 and more were still lining up at ticket booths.

Then the rain stopped. From out of nowhere fans by the hundreds passed by ticket takers and within the hour more than 4,000 fans were sitting on the wet, muddy stands, still yelling and laughing.

A few brought blankets and newspapers to sit on. Others were delegating one of their party to search the Bowl for cardboard, magazines or newspapers to sit on. But the majority hardly noticed the wet planks, sat down and excitedly waited for the game to begin.

The officials, Lou Vipond and Piper Bain, with Chuck Brown, secretary of the O.L.A., and several members of the Toronto Yorks, inspected the slippery field and were roundly joshed by fans for thinking that the playing field might be unfit for the game.

Just before the game started and the teams were taking practice shots, Toronto's Les Digby slipped in front of the Toronto net and went down into the mud. This drew laughter from the crowd which could be heard at Lansdowne Street, not one person realized that where he was sitting was probably as wet and muddy as where they were sitting.

The game began. The Timbermen went ahead, cheers, cheers and cheers. No one felt the few drops of rain that fell during the first quarter while the Timbermen went ahead 6-3.

YORKS GO AHEAD

The second quarter began. The Toronto Yorks surged back, edging up one goal at a time. The crowd was tense; the rain began to fall faster; the Yorks tied the score; the rain was heavier; the fans yelled louder; the Yorks went ahead; then further ahead; the rain was steady; the period ended.

Then suddenly they realized it was raining. Umbrellas went up, probably about 300. Others with extra bits of newspaper covered their heads while people, with blankets underneath, quickly reversed the position for an overhead shelter.

At this stage the first signs of the paralysis was noticed. Hardly anyone moved from under blankets, newspapers and umbrellas. Usually at half time fans stand up or move down to the booth, but they stayed rooted to their seats even though it rained heavier.

Not until the loud speaker roared out that the game was called off was there much movement. Dazed that the Timbermen were behind and annoyed with officials for calling the game, the spectators staggered out.

But they were back the next night, the whole town more, to cheer, cheer and cheer the Timbermen and the boys didn't let them down. The Timbermen, with a terrific fourth-quarter rally, downed Yorks 12-8 for the Eastern Canada title.

"LET'S ALL YELL—WE'RE CHAMPS!!!"—The Timbermen whoop it up in the dressing room after the final game of the Eastern Canada championship series. They had just breezed past Toronto West Yorks for the title and felt mighty happy about the whole affair. The dressing room was a mad house; everyone congratulating and kissing one another. Fans broke in to add their greetings. And not for a half hour was the rumpus over; then the picture was taken. Winning the title marked the first time that the Timbermen had won a title while at home; last year both the Eastern Canada and Mann Cup were won out of town.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Dundas A Star On Title Teams

No Peterborough lacrosse edition would be complete without a mention of Ira Dundas. This fine athlete—one of the best all-around athletes to perform in this city—shone at the gutted-stick game, both in field and box lacrosse—for more than two decades. He hung them up at the outbreak of the last war after helping the Petes to several intermediate and senior "B" championships.

Ira was a good scorer up front and later a stalwart defenceman, a rugged but clean player, and always in the pink of condition. He starred at more than half a dozen sports, lacrosse, hockey, ball, rugby, boxing, running, basketball, etc., and also did his stuff in Oshawa and Toronto.

The likeable Ira looks to be in as good shape right today as when in his competitive prime. He did yeoman service in helping to build the two boxes to keep the gutted-stick going in Peterborough.

FIRST MANN CUP COACH for Peterborough was Don Crowe. Big Don coached the Timbermen to the Dominion championship last season, defeating Vancouver Combines. Crowe is noted in sports for his achievements not only in lacrosse, but in football and hockey.

WASTE GASOLINE

Spark plugs that are badly worn or dirty may waste as much as one gallon of gasoline in 10.

Mrs. John Post City's Keenest Fan

Generally considered as Peterborough's keenest lacrosse fan is Mrs. John Post. The silver-haired lady never misses a game at home and sometimes travels out of town to follow the Timbermen in playoffs. She was honored by the club a year ago and called "our best lacrosse fan."

Mrs. Post has followed the club at home games for years and long ago started a habit of presenting blue and pink baby blankets to members of the team who had a baby boy or girl. Nip O'Hearn cashed in on twin blankets a year ago. She also regularly treats the players and those in the timers' and press box to soft drinks during games. Mrs. Post is just as keen on hockey and sees all the senior "B" tilts in Civic Arena. She impartially sent cases of pop at games to both the Eagles' and Petes dressing rooms when there were two senior clubs here.

HERE'S THE COACH — Bob Thorpe, Timbermen's coach, took over from Don Crowe who led the Petes to the Mann Cup last year. Bobby played starry lacrosse for the 1951 champions, but this year starred both in coaching and playing. The opposition finds Thorpe a troublesome player whenever they try to beat him on defence. He also is quite a play-maker, scoring a number of goals with his hot shot. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Have Long History Of Popularity In City Lacrosse

There was a time in Peterborough when lacrosse was so popular with young and old that clothing stores were giving away a lacrosse stick with every suit sold.

That offer was made in the early years of lacrosse in Peterborough when fans were stirred by the town's team, then in the race for the Northeastern championship.

Brockville, Kingston, Ottawa and Peterborough, each team packed with colorful stars, battled for the honors. But, backed by nearly every one in town, Peterborough crashed its way through the tough opposition to the championship in 1888.

The same lacrosse fever that swept the small town in those days was back as Peterborough Timbermen were playing Vancouver Pilseners in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens for the Mann Cup.

Last year, the Timbermen won the Mann Cup for the first time from substantially the same team, then known as the Combines.

Since those early days, lacrosse titles have come to Peterborough often in 68 years.

Players like Michael Halpin, George Joyle and Ab Rose, members on the 1888 team, started lacrosse on its winding path through the years in Peterborough.

TOP PLAYERS

By 1897 the players that developed carried the game along with the same form and class as their predecessors. Just before the turn of the century outstanding players like Jack Mein, E. S. Clarry, Dr. A. W. McPherson, Rollie Glover, Fred Lynch and others made Peterborough known as the "best lacrosse centre in eastern Ontario" by winning the Ontario intermediate championship.

Tempers often flew high, wide and handsome both at home and away; often not all the action was on the playing field. In towns such as Orillia and Port Hope where feeling was high in lacrosse matches, the Petes had a rough time dodging not only their opponents but the fans as well.

The home town fans retaliated with a home stand against out of town teams to make up for any discomforts the Petes suffered on away games.

On more than one occasion, visiting teams were escorted to railway stations by angry fans loaded with rotten eggs and over-ripe tomatoes.

Although not at the same high pitch as before the turn of the century, lacrosse flourished for two decades after. Players like Dillon, Meagher, Hurtubise, McPherson and McCoy kept the lacrosse fan's blood boiling.

But life began to change as radios and cars became more plentiful and field lacrosse faded slowly, finally flickering out.

CHANGED GAME

Everyday life quickened throughout the twenties and during that time lacrosse was altered to met the fans' desires.

To make the game faster, the field was shortened and fewer players were used; to meet the convenience of the fans the games were played under lights at night.

Doug Miller and Pete King promoted the new game which was catching fire across the country. Johnny Sutherland, Jack Creighton, Bud Fisher and Ches Mowry helped support the sport in Peterborough, and another lacrosse era began.

Present lacrosse fans will recall and know some of the players: Red Creighton, Ira Dundas, Fred Goodfellow, Mick Magee, Fred Shaw, Red Dallin, Buster Whitton, and Shine Bovin. These men, some still active today, in the Brock Arena reached the provincial finals and the finals proved they were among Ontario's best.

Before the war, Peterborough lacrosse received another boost when the games were changed to the outdoors. The club built an outdoor box with lights opposite George St. wharf.

Lacrosse thrived for several years in that outdoor box. During the late thirties, the Creightons, Vitarellis, Magee, King and others again brought Peterborough to the fore in Ontario lacrosse circles winning the senior B crown in 1938.

The war then called a halt to the rejuvenated offshoot of the sport, started hundreds of years ago by the Indians. The box was torn down and lacrosse forgotten

No sooner had peace been declared than the lacrosse players were rebuilding again.

BUILT BOWL

After a dismal year of using Omemee as home base, the Petes moved back to Peterborough. Financed by interested lacrosse fans, a new box was built opposite George St. wharf and lacrosse in Peterborough was off to the races.

During the spring of 1947 the club devised a five-year plan which included building minor league players into seniors and bringing in star players from other centres. At the end of 1951, they had the Mann Cup for the first time in Peterborough's history.

Sports - hungry Peterborough snapped at the chance to see a game filled with body-contacts, a game full of hot-tempered fights and a strong competitive spirit.

So, in 1947, crowds packed the small wooden stand, called Miller Bowl after Ald. Doug Miller. The team was against all opposition and found a crowd-pleasing rival in Fergus. Finally the Thistles and the Petes ended in the Ontario senior B championship series and before 4,000 fans the Petes brought the title to Peterborough once more.

The Creightons, Ozzie Tott, the Breakspeares and Vitarellis were city-wide heroes and the same squad returned in 1948 for the same fans and won the same title, although against weaker opposition.

Thus, in the first two years of the five-year plan, the Petes brought the Ontario senior B championship to the city twice.

JUMPED TO A

Realizing another year in the weak senior B league might ruin the rise of lacrosse in the city, the club decided to make the big jump into the A league, the finest lacrosse in the world today.

Changed little from the 1948 team, the Petes went into A play for the first time in 1949. The fans backed the team throughout the year, although they were only a second-last place team.

The Petes squeezed into the last playoff position in the second last game of the schedule, dropping Weston by only one point. But the Hamilton Tigers sank further playoff hopes in only four games.

Without any major changes, the Petes returned in 1950 in the senior A league, begininng with a burst of wins, then staying fairly high in the league standing for most of the year. But again the Petes met the first place team, Owen Sound, and went down in the first round.

SIGNED UP STARS

Faced by the final year of the five-year plan the club last year signed players such as Ike Hildebrand, Moon Wootton, Curly Mason, Russ Slater, Harry Wipper, Bob Thorpe, Don Ashbee, Gerry Fitzgerald, and home-town brews Dootch Vitarelli, Arn Dugan and Mick Magee.

Before the season ever began, other clubs realized the Timbermen would be the team to beat. They swept through the Ontario championship and then Eastern Canada honors easily.

Then they went to Vancouver where they took the Combines, but only after seven games. This year, the city's fans followed them again as they fought it out in Mople Leaf Gardens, winning the second Mann Cup in a row, by taking four straight games.

JOINT GOVERNMENT

READY FOR THE FIRST STEP—Coach Bob Thorpe prepares Lou Nickle (left), Grant Burns (second from right) and Gary Robinson (right) for their first taste of senior "A" lacrosse. All former juniors with Lou Vitarelli's squad, the boys made quite an impression this year in the Ontario League, Eastern Canada finals and the Mann Cup series. Thorpe's coaching has also brought the boys along; the veteran lacrosser and coach has passed down the tricks of the trade to the younger members who improved with each game.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

RED-TOP—Creighton was a magic name for years in Peterborough lacrosses and hockey circles. Probably best known to fans today is Bob "Red" Creighton who coached the Petes to senior "B" championships several years ago. In lacrosse he was a standout goalie, thrilling fans with his daring escapades.

A SIP FOR THE LOYAL FAN—Mrs. John Post, probably the most ardent Timbermen fan, has followed the team closely since lacrosse has been revived in Peterborough. At games she presents refreshments to the officials, sits directly behind her team and was one of the first on hand when the team won its championships. Whenever one of the players was married or became a father, she gave appropriate presents. Last year the boys gave her a sip out of the coveted Mann Cup which was won by the Timbermen for the first time. Helping her are Joe Whitnell, Mick Magee and Gunner Lynch.—(Roy Studio Photo).

ANXIOUS TO PLAY, starry Doug Powell, a member of Lou Vitarelli's juniors, has his hand checked by manager Al Lockington before the junior playoffs with St. Catharines. Powell was a stalwart with the team last year and again this year until his hand was broken in a game with Mimico in mid-season. Powell is also a heads-up hockey player, this season travelling the hockey lanes with Springfield Indians. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

A stellar player in Canada's roughest sports, lacrosse and football, for the past 25 years, Clinton (Mick) Magee, captain in 1951 of the Timbermen, has never lost a tooth. Very few of the Mick's co-stars in both games can make this claim.

He has preserved his teeth, but Magee's nose has taken the beating. It has been broken five times, three times in football and twice in lacrosse. Among his other broken bones during the years have been a broken leg and shoulder. He has been stitched up many times, but nearly always on his head. During one lacrosse season he received 22 stitches to his face and head.

Old stitches and mended broken bones are soon forgotten by Mick when he views his collections of mementos. These include three scrapbooks dating back to his first days in collegiate football in 1925 and more than 15 windbreakers of all colors and types.

Two of his most prized possessions, a sweater-coat and a football, bring back his playing days with the Hamilton Tigers and Wildcats. The black and yellow sweater and crest can be worn only by players of the club, past and present. Even the executive members of the club cannot wear them.

The football, bearing the names of all the players of the Hamilton Wildcats and the Ottawa Roughriders who played in 1941, was awarded to Magee at the Eastern Canada final game. He was the last player to have the ball.

ALL SPORTS

Besides starring in lacrosse and football, Magee has performed in basketball, swimming, jumping, hockey and wrestling. In every sport he has accomplished some feat which has placed him among the best.

His football career started under C. S. Browne, now principal at the collegiate. On the halfline he will be remembered for his daring leaps for yards which took the P.C.V.S. team to district championships.

Without pads, wearing running shoes, Magee with other football enthusiasts formed the intermediate football team in 1935 with the help of Lou Brooks. They went through to the finals, only to be beaten by St. Thomas.

Under Jim Palmer, Peterborough's product jumped to the Hamilton Tigers' backfield. In 1940 he was quarterback with the team. As an outside he played with the Hamilton Wildcats in 1941-42, once reaching the Eastern Canada finals.

During the war he played with the R.C.A.F. club at Hagersville, which lost out to Annis Stukus' navy squad in 1944. In the fall of 1945 he returned to the Hamilton Tigers as an outside for the last four games. His football career ended in 1948 when he was quarterback with the Peterborough Panthers.

Magee's early lacrosse was played in city and intercounty leagues from 1932 to 1937. Then the senior B team was formed, playing their games in the box on George St. The team went to the finals that year, but lost. In 1938 they were senior B champions.

PLAYED IN HAMILTON

Hamilton Tigers boxla team picked up Magee in 1939 to play with the famous Bill Isaacs as a forward for three years. His games with Isaacs are tops in Magee's memories. With the R.C.A.F. Hagersville squad, Magee shared the honors when it won the Command championship.

After the war Magee signed with Brampton Excelsiors in the senior A bracket, which lost that year to St. Catharines in the finals. He returned to Peterborough in 1946 to help bolster the sport once again in his home town.

With other top lacrosse players, the Petes won the senior B Ontario championship two years in a row, first defeating Fergus in 1947 then Huntsville in 1948. Magee was captain both years. Once again in 1949 he returned to senior A battles but this time for the local team

In hockey, Magee played with the Miami Clippers in the four-team Florida league in 1938. Both he and Jim Ellis won places on the all-star team. He returned to Canada to play hockey for Hamilton and the R.C.A.F. When the Legion team was organized in the fall of 1946, Magee was with the team. He played until 1949 when he became manager of the championship squad.

His outstanding feat in the other sports is a 73-foot dive from the Cobourg lighthouse tower. With Jack Gardiner and Carlos Routley, Magee dove twice from that height. The tower is 10 feet higher than Hunter St. bridge.

Such feats as at Cobourg combined with his amazing play in football and lacrosse across Ontario have placed Mick Magee among the top all-round athletes during the past 25 years a position he can be expected to hold for several years to come, even if he has had a quarter-century on the big tough games' fields

OMEMEE (ENS).—The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Corneil, wife of the late Hiram Corneil, was held today [illegible] Trinity United Church, Omemee, at 2.30 p.m. following a private service at the Mackey Funeral Home in Lindsay. Rev. E. W. Roland of Peterborough conducted the service. Burial was in Emily cemetery.

Mrs. Corneil, who was in her 90th year, was born in Courtright, Lambton county, a daughter of the late Arnold Evans and Eliza Porter. She has lived in Ops township since her marriage 60 years ago. Mr. Corneil died eight years ago.

She was a member of Omemee United Church and in her younger days was an enthusiastic worker in the Women's Institute.

She leaves four son and two daughters. They are: Fred of Montreal, Ernest of Niagara Falls, Evelyn of Omemee, Robert of Kingston, Mrs. R. C. Wansborough, (Joy), of Lindsay, and Mrs. E. J. Anderson (Ruth), of Kirkfield. There are also 20 living grandchildren.

The pallbearers were her four sons, Fred, Ernest, Evelyn and Robert, and her two sons-in-law, Dr. R. C. Wansborough and Dr. E. J. Anderson.

STURDY ROPES

Manila and sisal are used for most marine ropes, having great strength and resistance to salt water.

Lacrosse, The Sport Of Canada

The following poem by Fred Jacob is called: "Lacrosse, the Sport of Canada":

I'm one of the old lacrosse boys,
a friend of the gutted stick;
I tell you the old game's got me, at times I think I'm sick—
Of the days that it takes for training, of the games that are earned and lost—
"I'm through," I say when we put away our sticks with the autumn frost.
But when May comes down on the west wind, 'tis then that I feel the pang
At the thought of the fun I'd be missing, and you find me back with the gang.

I've done my stunts in the scorching heat, a heat that no one knows
Who has not lived for a summer in "Our Lady of the Snows?"
I've felt the grass a-frizzle, and I've felt my tongue hang out,
While the sweat on my neck and forehead streamed down like a water-spout;
I've seen the field a-whirling, and never really knew
How I nerved myself for another sprint and stayed till the whistle blew.

There are jolts, and you bet you feel them, when you get the body fair—
Some bumps you get and some bumps you give—in the end you call it square;
Maybe you shed a tooth or two; your skin is not always whole;
But it's worth it all when you grab the ball, and bang in the winning goal,
You know that the crowd is with you; you can hear the loud-mouthed fan:
"Go down on the home, for the love of Mike" or "Everyone cover a man."

And oh how your blood goes leaping when the boys in the bleachers roar,
"Bore in on the nets and break the tie—just two minutes to score."
You have pulled out a game by a hair's breadth, or you've cracked beneath the strain,
But they still have a thrill in after years when you play them all over again.

So, measures the creases ready, put the nets in place;
The teams are padded and steady, and the ball is there to face;
"I'll be out to do my darndest, if I'm only an 'also ran'—
For this is the sport of Canada, a game that takes a man.

ANOTHER MINOR BOOSTER—A former senior "B" lacrosse player, Barney Dundas, has turned his lacrosse talents in favor of the minor league as coach, manager and executive of the P.M.L.A. His satisfaction is in Ontario minor lacrosse championships.

Congratulations to the MANN CUP CHAMPS

A MOST HEARTY WELCOME

you home with the cherished Mann Cup. In bringing this highest honour to our city, you have written a chapter in our sporting history that will be recounted again and again whenever Lacrosse and the truly great lacrosse teams are discussed.

THE PETERBOROUGH HOTEL ASSOCIATION

Bob Peirson Sparks Lacrosse Team

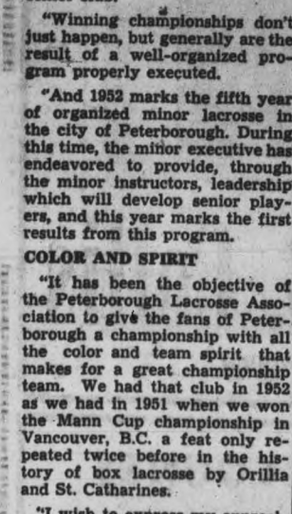
No one in Peterborough was happier when the Timbermen came through against Vancouver in Toronto to capture the Mann Cup for the second straight year than the team's popular president, Bob Peirson.

He became keenly interested in senior lacrosse in the '40s when manager here of Co-op, and served on the club's executive before being elected two years ago to the presidency. Bob was born in Port Elgin and was a good senior ball pitcher in various centres in his younger days. He is now general manager of Peterborough's rapidly growing new industry, Timber Structures, with offices across Canada. This is his message as the lacrosse season ends:

"The executive and management take pleasure in presenting this city with another Canadian championship.

THREE TROPHIES

"In the regular season, our team again won the Ontario Senior A championship, Eastern Canada honors, and the Mann Cup for the second straight year. We are very pleased with the contribution made to this year's team by the minor organization, as five players from our junior clubs of 1951-1952 are included in our 1952 senior club.



"Winning championships don't just happen, but generally are the result of a well-organized program properly executed.

"And 1952 marks the fifth year of organized minor lacrosse in the city of Peterborough. During this time, the minor executive has endeavored to provide, through the minor instructors, leadership which will develop senior players, and this year marks the first results from this program.

COLOR AND SPIRIT

"It has been the objective of the Peterborough Lacrosse Association to give the fans of Peterborough a championship with all the color and team spirit that makes for a great championship team. We had that club in 1952 as we had in 1951 when we won the Mann Cup championship in Vancouver, B.C. a feat only repeated twice before in the history of box lacrosse by Orillia and St. Catharines.

"I wish to express my appreciation to the fans, our advertisers, the press and radio, to my fellow officers, to the champion players, and to all who have helped make this a grand [illegible] resulting in [illegible] winning the Canadian senior lacrosse crown."

BREAKSPEARE OR SHAKESPEARE, it didn't mean much different to lacrosse fans when they yelled at Bob Breakspeare during senior "B" championship years. He was a popular forward with the seniors, helping win Peterborough its first Ontario lacrosse championships in years.

MOON MOVES IN FOR CHECK—Moon Wootton, considered Canada's best lacrosse goalie, is quite a husky chap and likes to thump the opposition whenever given a chance. The Moon (centre, above) crashes Vancouver's Harry Buchanan into the boards while Curly Mason comes in for an added blow. This action was during the first game, won by the Timbermen 9-1.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Rated Highly As Player In Early 30s

Pete King is rated one of the best lacrosse players ever to represent Peterborough in O.L.A. intermediate "A" and senior "B" competition. The veteran retired in the late 30s after a lengthy career, which included holding down various offices with the Petes, president, secretary, treasurer, executive member, and club manager.

Pete started as a 13-year-old gaffer out in Manitoba, where his folks lived a short time, though he was born in Norwood. He returned a year or so later and played for Norwood as a junior until moving to Peterborough in 1920. He shone in field lacrosse then till the game folded, and he returned to be a leading scorer for years in the boxla game which started in 1931.

PLAYED AROUND

Not all of his intermediate and senior stuff was strutted for local teams, King going senior with Wallaceburg in '24 after a year with Toronto senior Shamrocks, and he later did a turn for a summer with the senior Oshawa entry in O.L.A. competition. He has been on a number of winning clubs from junior up to and including senior "A", and he helped the Petes amass several crowns, always being one of the top snipers. He generally played rover.

The genial hotelman, along with Doug Miller, had a great deal to do with putting box lacrosse on the local map. He toiled trielessly in 1931 and '32 and had the satisfaction of seeing his beloved game become a major Peterborough sport. Pete also was one of the five men who backed bank notes in order to have the box built which is now known as Miller Bowl.

Doctors Discover Wonder Drug That May Beat Stubborn Germs

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—More and more germs are just laughing at man's wonder drugs. These germs have become resistant to the antibiotics. It's their counter-attack in the never-ending germ warfare.

But there's good news on our side—a new antibiotic, erythromycin, which seems to hit some of the germs resistant to the older drugs.

The picture of new developments on both sides was described to the American College of Surgeons by U.S. Army scientists and doctors.

They studied Staphlococcus Aureus germs, the most prevalent kind of disease bugs. The Staph germs cause boils, blood poisoning, the bone disease Osteomyelitis and infections in burns and wounds.

FIRST WAS SULPHA

The first good weapon against them was the Sulfa drugs. Then came Penicillin, the first antibiotic. At first, it slaughtered the Staph germs.

But then many strains of Staph germs became resistant to penicillin. Perhaps the germs changed to be able to get along despite [illegible]. Or perhaps a few germs were, by accident, genetically different and could take Penicillin, and all their offspring also could resist it.

The germs were pushed back when newer antibiotics came along Aureomycin, Terramycin and Chlormycetin. Doctors could give one of them to patients not helped by Penicillin.

But now there's a serious new worry. Many of the Staph germs that resist Penicillin have become able to laugh at the other antibiotics also.

NEW DRUG BETTER

About half of all the Staph germ strains resist Penicillin, it was reported.

Of these same strains, about two-thirds resist the broad-action antibiotics too. The doctor no longer can give one of them to knock out infection by Staph germs that resist Penicillin.

The new antibiotic, Erythromycin, seems to kill an overwhelming majority of the Staph germs that fight off the other antibiotics. The new drug, not yet on the market, is being produced by three drug manufacturers.

THE JUGGLER—Vancouver goalie Jack Green had to step lively when dealing with the Timbermen. During the first two games he didn't have too much protection and often was left alone with his visitors. Curly Mason (above) slipped around the Vancouver defence for a shot at Green. He juggled the ball but managed to hold on. Curly came in for the rebound, but the Green cupboard was bare. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

Develop Minor City Lacrosse From Makeshift to Real Loop

Seven years ago minor lacrosse in Peterborough consisted of two makeshift teams; this year the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association registered 300 boys from four years to 18 years, some of the older boys of a calibre equal to senior "A" competition. During that seven year period the P.M.L.A. has built a reputation as builder of contending teams for Ontario championships.

Shortly after the war boys in the north and south districts were clamoring to learn Canada's national sport. These boys could only faintly remember seeing games prior to the war, but recalled it as thrilling and rough.

Two teams were formed, just called North and South, their games being played at King Edward park in the old field lacrosse style. For goals a steel tube rectangle was constructed with a steel backpiece holding it up. Potato-bags were slung over the bar for netting.

HARD TO LEARN

The game was at first hard to learn; in fact the lads had trouble picking up the ball. Seldom was there any passing for the ball was either batted along the ground or carried until dropped. Gradually they learned the skills.

Not until the senior squad had built the Miller Bowl did the minor league begin to operate more efficiently.

In 1947 a small minor league struggled through the season. Whenever senior players weren't practising or playing, they would help the younger players. But the seniors were destined to become senior "B" champions; they had to practise to maintain their fighting name, never losing without a batt'e.

The seniors won their league title and the provincial championship. This helped build enthusiasm among the boys for the sport and hundreds of boys wanted to learn. In 1948 the Peterborough Lacrosse Club decided the time had come to teach lacrosse to the youth of Early in June of 1948 the Peterborough Minor lacross began in earnest. Four juvenile teams, four midget teams, and five bantam teams began to practise. Under senior lacrosse players such as Dootch Vitarelli and Ira Dundas the boys had the rough edges in the game quickly smoothed. Finally the league got under way.

Through the hot summer months the teams stuck together, playing every game; not a game was defaulted. In the juvenile division the Queen's Hotel boys won out in the playoofs in August while the Kiwanis midgets won that division and the American Hotelers the bantam crown.

These championship lads were feted and prized by lacrossers and sponsors alike. The juveniles were treated by Pete King to a National League hockey game. The midgets were given crests and banqueted by the Kiwanians. For winning the bantam division those boys were entertanied at a show and dinner.

ALL STARS CHOSEN

But that wasn't all to the first official year of minor lacrosse. Besides these city groupings all star teams were chosen to represent Peterborough in the Ontario Lacrosse Association playdowns.

The juveniles, coached by Dootch Vitarelli and managed by Walter Murphy, defeated Orillia in the first round, but fell to the bigger and more experienced St. John's Training School squad. The midgets coached by two senior players, Mick Magee and Rowan Chute, both well-known in sporting circles in Ontario, and managed by Ben Keller were successful against Orillia also but fell to St. John's Training School.

The bantams, under coach Red Creighton and manager John Legrow, soundly defeated Orillia in the first round of their Ontario playoffs. But in the second round, a sudden-death game in St. Catharines lost out. The Garden City lads had too much experience.

But the minor league was well the prospects for the next season.

LOOKING AHEAD

But the lacross club that summer had looked even further ahead; they realized that perhaps in 10 years a Peterborough team completely composed of players from the city could win the Mann Cup. To do this lacrosse had to be brought to the attention of boys from eight years and up.

To do this the Peterborough club became the first lacrosse club in Ontario to hire a full-time minor lacrosse coach. They employed a former senior "A" lacrosse player, Jack Foote, who played this year with Owen Sound. His job was to teach the hows and whys to the younger lads.

For the first few days close attention was paid to the number of boys taking advantage of the opportunity offered them. It became apparent that organized lacrosse could not be carried on during the day due to summer employment.

However, tadpole teams, under 10 years, were organized in the first week. For boys over 10 and under 12 peewee teams were formed next. Then the two leagues began play, generally during the day after formal instruction periods.

In the afternoon Foote concentrated on the instructional periods when he tried to teach the youngsters stick handling, passing, checking and ball carrying. Usually in the mornings there were two games played. This meant that about 60 players used the lacrosse box. For the three older leagues, juvenile, midgets and bantams, the league games were in the evenings..

Fergus' Don Smith, then with the Petes, undertook to select and coach an all-star peewee team, also to enter Ontario playdowns. They easily outplayed Fergus in the first round, then lost a toughie to St. Catharines in the second.

The pattern since then for the minor setups has been almost identical. Foote stayed for another year, then gave way to Jerry Fitzgerald who took over the minors during his first summer playing with the Timbermen.

WIPPER TAKES OVER

Last season and this year the boys have been under the guidance of Harry (the Whip) Wipper. A popular coach with the youngsters and a favorite with senior "A" lacrosse fans, Wipper has brought the boys further along.

This year the five years of toil began to pay off. The Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association has strengthened so much in its calibre of lacrosse players that even the juveniles have been considered as possible replacements for the seniors in Mann Cup play. The association couldn't provide lacrosse players of that calibre five years ago.

Besides these juveniles there's lots of talent coming up into juvenile and junior ranks as the early tadpoles and peewees grow up and are appearing in bantam, midget and juvenile teams.

The Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association is considered one of the strongest lacrosse projects in Ontario and its teams have developed the reputation as strong contenders for all Ontario titles.

TWO TITLES

In fact the boys have brought two Ontario titles to Peterborough, one last year, the bantam crown and this year, the juvenile "B" championship. That's not bad for now but they'll be more in the future.

The Whip had his hands full this season at Miller Bowl. During the day the McGill University student was busy with the tadpoles and peewees who numbered about 200. He taught boys as young as four years old how to handle the lacrosse stick well enough to play games. In many cases the sticks were larger than the boys.

Besides these lads there were another 100 in the bantam, midget and juvenile lacrosse teams which he was directly responsible for. The Whip coached the peewee team in Ontario playoffs but they lost out to Windsor, considered Ontario's best.

In the peewee section the Peterborough lads in the past seasons have grouped against the province's strongest teams. This indicates that the Petes are considered contenders and also shows that they're being taught the sport properly this year.

Last year's bantam champions, this year coached by senior Gary Robinson and managed by Ed Woodcock, lost out in the Ontario semi-finals to St. Catharines who eventually won the championship.

PICK IT UP, ROGER — Fleet young junior for Lou Vitarelli's Filter Queens this year, Roger Smith helped the Timbermen's offensive play during the Mann Cup. He was surprised during the third game when presented with the best player award for the junior team by Frank Patterson, the sponsor. More Players, Larger Area Used In Field Lacrosse

Lacrosse around Peterborough back in 1893 was quite a bit different to the abbreviated boxla sport of today. It was, of course, field lacrosse then with everything on a larger scale, except perhaps the crowds. More players were in the starting lineup and the playing pitch covered a considerably larger area than the present one does.

In those days there was no goal netting, just two thin upright posts or flags and a ball shot through had to be chased a long distance to retrieve it and start play again. A picture on this page shows many of the local gutted stick stalwarts of that period in the [illegible] days the [illegible] of saloon [illegible] dusty streets, when Peterborough was a small city and Ashburnham a village across the river.

A STURDY FELLOW

Jack McDonough is seen there, a sturdy boy who later became quite a boxer and wrestler. Jack Mein was the original "Shockey", brother of the late George Mein, who played up to the days of Fred Goodfellow ,and who was an uncle of Keith (Shockey) Mein, local businessman today. There was a Jack Adams, too, who worked in the C.G.E. and later became head of the Canada Cycle and Motor Co. in Toronto.

Rollie Glover was one of the best around the turn of the century both in lacrosse and hockey. He and Jack McCabe travelled far afield to play starry lacrosse, being invited to perform around Ontario and in the States. George Lipsett was another fine stickhandler in this long-ball game.

There was Joe Phelan, also, a fine, husky young lacrosser who later became the Rev. C. J. Phelan, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral before transferring years later to Campbellford.

ONE OF OFFICIALS

Oldtimers will recall W. A. Sanderson as an official of the game then. He had a jewellery store where Ostrander's are now. He also was a keen cyclist when that was a highly popular sport and pastime in those quieter and happy years.

Frank Packenham was another active supporter of lacrosse. He was in the shipping and customs department of the C.G.E. for many years. Fred Dobbin of the old Review starred for years as a senior goaltender. Ernie Wasson was another good player as well as being an ace hockey goalie.

George Lipsett's father kept a hotel on the north side of Hunter St. in Ashburnham, abutting on the P.A.A.A. field where many a game was played. He held down one of the hot spots on the home field, inside the enemy's defence. This P.A.A.A. field was often called Cricket Field, and is now a residential street known as Cricket Place.

SOME OTHERS

Fred Heaps was an Examiner printer and Billy Borland was another fine player but he retired earlier than many of his mates of the time. Walter Phelan usually played about third home near centre field, and he moved later to Winnipeg. Wm. E. Lech was a strong follower of the game. He was uncle of Keith and Cyril Lech, local furriers.

Jim McCabe, for years with the Trent Canal, was not only an excellent playmaker at centre but a rugged checker, too. Joe Ba[illegible] was field captain at that time and played with the game a long time.

There were many others of an earlier era and many stars who came along afterward, but group pictures of these old lacrosse teams were few and far between. The McCoys, Creightons and many more shone in the old field game down through the years, each one a hero in his day to many followers of this rugged Canadian sport, which finally was supplanted by box lacrosse in 1931 as the modern tempo in sports as in many other things stepped up.

Shipyard Workers Told Strike Not Over

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor officials last night told striking shipyard workers of Canadian Vickers Limited the strike which began eight weeks ago was "definitely not over."

About 1,000 of the 1,500 workers who left their jobs Aug. 19 seeking higher wages attended the meeting to discuss progress of negotiations. A union official said the strike had cost the C.C.C.L. an estimated $200,000.

Gerard Picard, president of the C.C.C.L., said some progress was made yesterday but it was "not too definite."

Ted Payne, an organizer, said one important point gained in latest talks was that the company was willing to discuss the position of all workers "whatever their standing."

A meeting will be held later today to discuss further developments.

Minor Lacrosse Real Good Loop

But Doug Miller Jr. coached the juveniles to the Ontario "B" championship. They soundly trounced Orillia, Brampton and St. Catharines in their quest for the crown. This team included Art Batley, Lloyd Mongraw, Bob Delahaye, Jack Ferren, Al Foote, Jim Holbrook, Doug Hunt, Jim Sutherland, Leo Braniff, Gary Orde, Jack Chapman, Bob Allen, Lionel Bloom, Bob Curtis, Carl Simmons; these boys will be tomorrow's seniors.

The expenses each season for the minor leagues are increasing. The money for the kids come from the senior club's gate receipts, a grant from the Peterborough Recreation Commission and from the annual sale of lifesavers. Some of the teams are sponsored by private firms to help the association out.

Heading the association during the five-year period is Ken Kingston whose first lacrosse thoughts are always for the kids. Backing him is the executive which includes Walt Murphy as secretary, Keith Sedgwick as treasurer and Barney Dundas as vice-president.

Scots Have Best Feet Of European Peoples

LONDON (CP)—Andre Filson, a French chiropodist, said at a London conference of chiropodists, boot and stocking manufacturers: "Scots have the best feet of any European nation that wears shoes consistently."

Filson added that on the continent there are still too many distorted feet. When looking for a mannequin to show sandals in France, he found that all had crooked toes. He ended up with a Scots girl from Glasgow, in France to learn fashion designing.

Conference reports also disclosed that Scots buy 25 per cent more shoes annually than other Britons.

REMEMBER THAT RAINY NIGHT?—More than 4,000 jammed the benches at Miller Bowl that miserable Wednesday night to watch Toronto West Yorks and the Timbermen in the final game of the Eastern Canada series. Half-way through, the rains came, but the fans were prepared. Out came the newspapers, blankets and umbrellas and there the fans waited for the game to continue. But it was called off and replayed the next night, the Timbermen winning 12-8. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Captured Mann Cup In 1951 To Make History For City

On Saturday, Oct. 6, 1951, Peterborough Timbermen made local sports history by capturing the Mann Cup, emblematic of the Canadian senior "A" lacrosse championship. As there is no pro lacrosse, they were rated the best gutted-stick players in the world. However, the game is not played extensively outside of Canada and the Petes were quite happy to be known as Canadian champs.

They won it in Vancouver after seven games, the Timbermen flying out and back by T.C.A. and also flying over to Victoria for one playoff game and later an exhibition tilt. They arrived home the following week to receive a civic welcome with all the trimmings. Dinners and gifts followed.

SERIES OF WRANGLES

This '51 set was a series of wrangles and games staged in three different arenas. The C.L.A. tried to please everyone in British Columbia, so arranged to have the series played off in four different emporiums—including Victoria on Vancouver Island. However, one rink wasn't available, so the Petes only had to get to know three floors in the sawoffs. One game was played on a wooden floor which sweated over a sheet of ice, the ice being in for hockey. The wrangles were mainly started by the Vancouver Combines over Petes' player replacements, the type of faceoff used, the site of the next game, etc.

Vancouver fans left after the first game saying the Timbermen should take it in four straight, as they won the first handily. But they hit a slump then and dropped the second and the fourth—their win in the third kept them going but they were still far below form. That made it 2-2, and the Combines gained confidence and went on to trim the Timbermen handily in the fifth game for a 3-2 lead on the series.

GRIM OUTLOOK

Things looked grim for the Petes as they needed to win both of the remaining games, and they didn't look like they could take even one on their sub-standard showing since the first contest. Prexy Bob Peirson called a players' meeting and raised Cain with Coach Don Crowe and all the players. He told them they were doing too much holidaying on the west coast and letting down thousands of fans back in Peterborough. He ordered them to get in there and play up to form, or else . . .

The confident Combines got the surprise of their lives in the last two games. Suddenly the Timbermen returned to form and waltzed through to capture both tilts easily. While the B.C. champions turned in a desperation drive in the deciding contest, it wound up 13-7 for Peterborough, newly-crowned Canadian champions. The losing coach mournfully shook hands with Don Crowe after the final in congratulation and asked: "What were you guys doing in the first five games, just fooling around?" That was how convincing the Mann Cup winners looked when the chips were down and they needed those last two games. They suddenly came to life and played like the champions they are.

Predicts Stagnation Likely For Industry

LOS ANELES (AP) — Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (A.F.L.) says he looks forward to a period of "awful stagnation in industry" when the Korean conflict ends.

He told 2,000 delegates at the union's 16th convention yesterday that the Korean War is "a war nobody understands."

The aging teamster chief said he was placing no blame for the war, but described it as one of the most regrettable incidents in U.S. history.

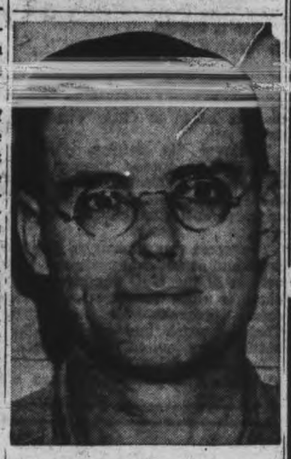
Canadian Heads Radio Chain



LONDON (CP) — Roy Graham Dunlop, a Canadian, has been appointed program director of Overseas Rediffusion, Limited, which operates radio stations in more than 10 countries.

Dunlop, a 44-year-old native of Indian Head, Sask., will have charge of program management for stations in countries as remote as Malta, Singapore, British Guiana, Nigeria, Trinidad, Kuala Lumpur and Ceylon. His headquarters will be at Hamilton, Bermuda.

Dunlop was educated at the University of Saskatchewan, worked for the Moose Jaw Times-Herald and then went into radio with the CBC in Vancouver. In 1946 he was invited by the Chinese government to take charge of broadcasting there, later receiving a decoration from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Driver Handicapped

By LUIS TEIVES

LISBON (Reuters)—Tiny Portugal, neutral "listening post" for Europe during the Second World War, now is taking steps to meet the danger of attack in a third world war.

She is urgently taking measures to intensify the training and expansion of her air force, and has embarked on a vast civilian defence training program to teach her citizens methods of protecting themselves and their country against air attack.

Training pilots is to be speeded up and the time taken by trainees reduced from 18 months to one year.

MUST TRAIN HARD

Lt.-Col. Fernando Santos Costa, defence minister, has ordered all air force personnel on leave to return to base in order to make up delays in this year's training program.

A first fighter aircraft group is being formed at the air base at Ota, out 32 miles from Lisbon. Intensive training of this group has begun.

It was announced that the fighter group is being "organized with the most recent improvements in military aviation technique."

Reservists who show good moral, professional and military qualities during their year of service may now be admitted to the complement of permanent air force officers, which is to be greatly increased.

CIVIL DEFENCE COURSE

As a first step toward developing an adequate civil defence set-up, a series of 10-day courses for regional civil defence chiefs is to be given.

A series of air raid exercises is to be staged in various towns in November and plans are underway for a wide-spread publicity campaign to make the population civil defence conscious.

The problem of building air raid shelters also is under consideration. This is particularly important in a capital such as Lisbon where there are no underground subway stations which could be used in an emergency.

1952 Winners Of The Mann Cup

These then are your champions—those are the Peterborough Timbermen, winners again of the Mann Cup, emblematic of the Canadian senior "A" lacrosse championship. These are the players who started the long grind in O.L.A. competition in the middle of May, and battled their way through five gruelling months of rugged competition to once more bring this coveted crown to Peterborough. These are your champions:

LOU NICKLE

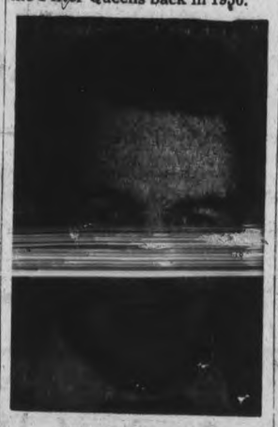
Another up-and-coming junior player who performed brilliantly with the Filter Queens last year. The husky 195-pound defenceman knows his way around a lacrosse field and has been a regular member of the team for the past four months. Lou was selected by Mimico to play for them in the Canadian junior lacrosse championships last fall against Manitoba. He's heady and he's fast and as eager as a young pup. Many consider Lou to be the prize rookie of the year in senior lacrosse ranks.

MOON WOOTTON

Rated the best lacrosse goaler in the world, Moon Wootton has aptly demonstrated his goaltending skill during the past two years as a regular performer at Miller Bowl. His "goals-scored-against" average has been the best in the league for the past four years, two of them with the Timbermen. Moon comes from Owen Sound where he first donned goaling pads as a wee gaffer. He was with the Sounders in 1950 when they won the Mann Cup at Maple Leaf Gardens.

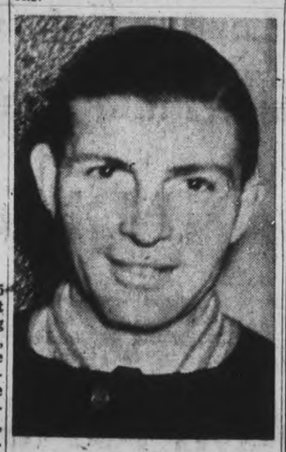
HARRY WIPPER

Tall, solidly built (weighs 185 lbs.), Harry Wipper is the perfect example of the promising young athlete. Only 22 years of age, Harry made his debut in lacrosse seven years ago with the St. Catharines East-End club. When the juniors won the Minto Cup (Dominion championship) in 1947, Harry was a member of the team. Before coming to Peterborough two years ago the dentist student [illegible] Harry is a former football player and a present-day basketball player of more than average ability.



NIP O'HEARN

One of the league's ablest defencemen who has played no less than 81 consecutive senior "A" lacrosse games without interruption. Truly a remarkable record for the rough and tumble gutted-stick sport. Although born in Halifax, the Irish lad with the ready smile and wit has lived in St. Catharines practically all his life. Nip joined the Athletics in 1946. That was his first year as a senior player and one in which he helped St. Kitt's to win the Mann Cup. Nip's interests in sports veers towards hockey in the winter. He spent the regular season in Halifax last winter but says he will stay in Peterborough this winter. If he gets his amateur card he may guard the uprights for the Petes' Hockey Club during the forthcoming season.



BILL KILLINGBECK

Strictly a local boy who has been playing senior lacrosse for two years, Bill Killingbeck started his senior career with Fergus Thistles in 1951. Bill decided to stay in Peterborough this summer so turned out with the Timbermen and has been on their roster ever since. Bill has improved his game considerably during the past month and scores goals regularly along with other local sharpshooters. Bill was a junior with the Filter Queens back in 1950.

IKE HILDEBRAND

One of the smoothest operating lacrosse players in Canada today, Ike Hildebrand is literally a ball of fire on the field despite his small size. A former westerner from New Westminster, Ike started lacrosse as a mere youngster and wound up with the New Westminster Salmonbellies when they won the Mann Cup in 1949. A member of the local club for the past two years, Ike is a crowd-pleasing performer as he often tackles opponents almost twice his size. A star hockey player as well, the dimunitive lad from British Columbia went to Cleveland at the end of this season for puck duty with the Barons.

AL GARBUTT

[illegible] in this city only a month ago to help bolster the Timbermen in their stretch drive. A former member of the Fergus Thistles, Al is a veteran stick handler. It took him a few games to get accustomed to Petes' style of play but he fitted in rapdily. In the last game with St. Catharines, Mister Garbutt scored no less than 5 goals. But the C.L.A. refused to permit him to play in the Mann Cup series.

No Waste

BEVERLEY, England (CP)—When fire broke out in a 600-ton coal dump a fleet of trucks scooped up the smouldering coal and rushed it more than a mile to a leather factory, where it was shovelled into the furnaces.

Fighting Fans

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP)—Police were called to break up a disturbance in front of a movie theatre. Hundreds of children started fighting after six youngsters forced their way to the head of the waiting line.

FAVORITE WITH YOUNG AND OLD, minor lacrosse league coach Harry Wipper, from St. Catharines, also doubles as one of the Timbermen's best defencemen. The Whip took over the minor coaching duties from former Timberman Jerry Fitzgerald, and has brought the boys along well. The lads playing are from four to 18 years, many are like the lad in the photo; even the lacrosse stick is taller than they are. These boys may some day be Mann Cup champions, too. Gradually the league is developing more and more players who are advancing into junior and senior ranks. Perhaps the Timbermen in several years will be composed entirely of Peterborough players.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

North London Lad Of 12 Conker King Of Britain

LONDON (Reuters) — Twelve-year-old Ian Lyons of North London is the Conker King of Britain—champion of the greatest mass-participation [illegible] since the [illegible] marbles was invented.

Ian climbed to his dizzy pinnacle in a televised contest between four finalists. His battered, 15-year-old Conker—a horse chestnut—smashed his foes' Conkers to pulpy bits.

The sport, played by every British youngster from since Victorian days, is a simple match between two contestants. Each has a horse chestnut swinging at the end of about two feet of string. The boys take turns smashing at the Conker dangling at the end of his foe's string. The game ends when one Conker is broken.

UNKNOWN ORIGIN

Nobody knows just when or [illegible] the sport originated. A recent editorial in The London Times said the art began in early Victorian days.

Whatever its origins, Conker fighting has spread through the land in the 20th Century as perhaps the leading juvenile participation sport from September to Christmas.

The sport was unsung in public print and no national contests were held until the BBC announced its championships for televised children's program. All boys with Conkers which had survived 100 battles were invited to participate.

Ian claimed his Conker, named "William The Conqueror," had a score of 7,351 victories. Of the total, he said, 2,385 were straight "smashes" of other Conkers. The remaining triumphs represented the total victories of [illegible] smashed. According to unwritten rules, the winning Conker annexes the losing Conker's score.

"DIP IN VINEGAR"

After his triumph, the "Conking Hero" gave this advice to future challengers:

"Dip your Conker in vinegar. Then store it for several years in a dark cupboard. Do not bake it."

The favorite Conker is a "chesser," one of two horse chestnuts found in a single shell. The smallest chestnuts often prove the hardiest.

In many cases, such as that of Ian's prize weapon, the Conker is handed down in the family from brother to brother or even father to son.

Robert Pierson Heads Executive

Much time and often money has been spent by the executive of the Peterborough Timbermen in bringing the Mann Cup here again in 1952. These officers are frequently out of considerable pocket expenses in travelling, and many donate their cars and their driving services freely and frequently throughout the long season. The capable executive this years consists of:

President, Bob Pierson (who is also sponsor); vice-president, Paul Irwin secretary, Mick Magee; treasurer, Howard McLean; executive committee, Dr. Herb Young, Barney Dundas, Jack Gainey, Gord Dobbin, Ernie Braund, Bev Goulding, Red Creighton, Ken Kingston (who also heads the P.M.L.A.), and hard-working manager, Bob Curtin.

Sir Donald Mann Presented $2,50 SO lid Gold Cup

The Mann Cup was presented by the late Sir Donald Mann, builder of the Canadian Northern Railway. It is a solid gold cup valued at $2500, and is one of the most valuable trophies in sport. The Mann Cup originally was a challenge trophy.

When the C.L.A. was formed in 1925 with uniform rules adopted throughout the country, the Mann Cup was turned over to the C.L.A. by the New Westminster Club, holders of the trophy then. It was put into annual competition with the series one year in the east and the next in the west, etc.

Following are the winners to this year since the cup was first put up for competition: 1910, Young Toronto, Toronto; 1911-12-13-14, V.A.C. of Vancouver; 1915-16-17, New Westminster; 1918, Coughlans of Vancouver; 1919, Foundation Club of Victoria, B.C.; 1920 to 1925, New Westminster; 1926, Weston, Ont.; 1927, New Westminster; 1928, Emmets of Ottawa; 1929, Oshawa; 1930, Brampton; 1931, Brampton; 1932, Mimico; 1933, Hamilton; 1934-35-36, Orillia; 1937, Salmonbellies of New Westminster; 1938, St. Catharines; 1939, Adanacs of New Westminster; 1940-41, St. Catharines; 1942, Mimico-Brampton Combines; 1943, New Westminster Salmonbellies; 1944, St. Catharines; 1945, Burrards of Vancouver; 1946 St. Catharines; 1947, Adanacs of New Westminster; 1948, Hamilton Tigers; 1949, Burrards of Vancouver; 1950 Owen Sound; 1951, Peterborough.

Field Lacrosse Is Popular In Britain, Australia

Other countries than Canada play lacrosse, there being organized associations in England, Australia and the United States. A few years ago, G. H. Bark of the English Lacrosse Union visited the States and Canada and discussed organization of an international lacrosse association. However, they play more field lacrosse in those countries than box lacrosse.

The game started in the south of England back in 1882 with Canadian rules used. Some rough-and-ready sort of lacrosse actually was played there five years earlier. Apart from war years, the game has been played continuously in certain parts of England, though not on a large scale. Recent years have seen crowds ranging from 500 to 2,500 at games, and it was demonstrated in 1949 before 30,000 soccer fans at a game.

L. L. Mount, a Canadian, is credited with introducing lacrosse to Victoria, Australia, in 1874. The sport became quite popular and the championship of the country is decided every three years when the Australian Lacrosse Carnival is staged in the capital cities of various states.

Just before the last war, there were 163 teams in Australia, taking in 2,614 players, so it is not one of the lesser sports in this country.

PLAYED IN STATES

Lacrosse was played in the States back in the 80s, and it now has a number of college teams playing every summer. Syracuse University played Oshawa, Canadian champions, in 1930 at Maple Leaf Gardens, and the Canucks barely won the exhibition.

Lacrosse in the States is pretty much a spring field game, played mostly by colleges and universities, though some border teams have used Canadian players and some have tangled with Canadian teams. A few years ago there were more than 70 college teams in the sport. Rochester and Geneva have gone in for return visits with Ontario teams in recent years. Back in the 30s, several border teams were seriously considered by the O.L.A. as possible entries. And there is an international league operating around Windsor, Sarnia and Detroit, playing a brand of intermediate lacrosse.

In Canada, the game is mainly popular in British Columbia and Ontario, with a fair amount of interest in the game in Quebec and in recent years in Manitoba.

Family Tradition

EIGHT FOOT BOWS

Japanese warriors of the 16th century used bows more than eight feet long to shoot arrows.

GARY ROBINSON

Another former junior player who also stepped up into senior this year. Gary was one of Lou Vitarelli's ablest stick-handlers last summer. He was captain of the Filter Queens and more than helped the junior squad to win the Ontario Junior Championship in 1951. He plays for Norwood in the T.V.L. hockey season.

MEASURING EACH OTHER—Toronto West Yorks' Joe McNulty, a brother of former Petes' player Jim McNulty, and Moon Wooton measure each other up as Joe moves in for a goal. But the Moon shone and outguessed McNulty. West Yorks extended the Timbermen to the limit before Timbermen knocked them off in the final game. The "ghost" in the foreground is referee Piper Bain, the target of fans' complaints throughout the series; but many complaints were made in a joking manner.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

1952 Mann Cup Champion Players

GRANT BURNS

A former junior ball chaser with the Filter Queens, Grant only started to play senior lacrosse this summer with the Timbermen. A fast, hard-working type of player, the young local boy has fitted in with his older teammates exceptionally well. A regular contributor to the scoring department, Grant's performance with the Petes was watched with wide interest during the Eastern Canadian lacrosse finals.

COACH BOB THORPE

Born in Port Dalhousie, Bob Thorpe made his first big step into senior "A" lacrosse in 1943 with St. Catharines Athletics. He was with St. Kitts in 1944 when they won the coveted Mann Cup. Also a hockey player of note, Bob was under contract to the Buffalo Bisons up until two years ago. He has played hockey in such American cities as Dallas, San Diego, Cincinnati, Louisville and Seattle. Now retired from the puck game, Timbermen's popular coach resides permanently in Peterborough. He played a bit of [illegible] in the Trent Valley League writer. This is Bob's third year with the Timbermen. picked up his contract in 1949 and he scored the third highest number of goals that season. Don came here in 1950. A hockey player of note, the "Ash" finished out the lacrosse season with the Petes before reporting for pro hockey.

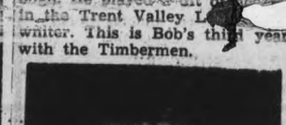
is popular Ross Powless. The husky Indian lad was out of action for over three weeks with a shoulder separation but got back into uniform for Eastern Canadian final series against Toronto. Ross came to Peterborough in 1951 and before that was with Huntsville for two seasons. Exceptionally fast and nimble and a fighter every inch of the way, Ross is particularly adept when under cross-fire.



DOOTCH VITARELLI

Only Peterborough boy who has stuck with the lacrosse club down through the years, Dootch Vitarelli is the oldest player on the team. He's been a regular member of the club since 1945. Dootch is also a hockey player and golfer of note. He was 1951 club champion at the Kawartha Golf Club. Dootch has played senior hockey for over five years but says he is going to retire this winter, maybe??

MANAGER BOB CURTIN

Timbermen's popular manager, Pup Curtin, is an old hand at the game of lacrosse. A Peterborough boy who has lived here most of his life, Pup has played many games with the old senior "B" team. He was one of the star performers for the club when they won the Ontario senior "B" championship back in 1946. He also played senior "A" lacrosse right up until 1950.

ROGER SMITH

A young Indian boy from the Six Nations Reserve at Brampton, Roger Smith was highly recommended to the Filter Queen Juniors by Ross Powless. Coach Vitarelli signed him up early this summer and ever since then the light, speedy young athlete has been going great guns. In fact he proved to be so good the Timbermen used him repeatedly as a fill-in when senior players were sidelined with injuries. Roger played a whale of a game in St. Catharines and in eastern finals and the Mann Cup series.

DON ASHBEE

Probably the most rugged player on the team who receives just as much punishment as he hands out, Don Ashbee is one of the most feared stick-handlers in the league today. His aggressiveness, however, has borne him many bruises and scars. The 22-year-old athlete never saw a lacrosse game until he started playing for Weston Juniors in 1945. Owen Sound

CURLY MASON

An all-round athlete with a particular flair for lacrosse and hockey. Curly has been a member of the team since 1951. The young athlete who originally hails from Fergus, played lacrosse for the Mann Cup winners (Owen Sound) in 1950. Back in 1949, Curly played senior "A" hockey. He led the Timbermen in scoring this year.

RUSS SLATER

Member of the 1950 Owen Sound team, Russ Slater was a star performer in the Mann Cup playoffs along with his teammates Curly Mason and Moon Wootton. Rusty learned all his lacrosse tricks right in Owen Sound. He played for the Crescents for four years before coming [illegible] 1951. A late [illegible] the goal-scoring department, Rusty began hitting the target like a Bren machine gun. He is slow-moving until he gets into range, then he's a streak o' lightning in the scoring zone.

ROSS POWLESS

One of the hardest wo[illegible]s on the team and certainly one of the best in the Peterborough line-up

Remembered Meals

WEYBURN, Sask. (CP)—Chan Kai, local cafe proprietor, received a letter with $5 from Cleelum, Wash. The writer said he received a meal ticket from Chan Kai in 1911 and had not paid for it, but the cafe man said he could not remember the incident.

Liquor In Car, Man Fined $17

Arrested after an accident on George St., Saturday night, Ray Maloney, 22, 654 Park St. north, was later released and pleaded guilty in police court today to a liquor charge.

He was fined $15 and $2.50 costs for having liquor in the car.

The accident occurred at Dublin St., when a car Maloney was driving was in collision with the rear of a city bus.

Damage to the car which was travelling north on George St., amounted to $120 to the front end, police reported.

The owner of the car, Bill Green, 731 Dongeal St., was a passenger.

City bus driver Ivan Cunningham, 668 Lundy's Lane, told Constable Sherman Keliele who investigated that he was just pulling away from the south side of Dublin St., where he had stopped to let off passengers.

The rear of the bus received an estimated $90 damage.

Mann Cup Series This Year Free From Arguments Experienced In 1951 Games

Unlike the 1951 Mann Cup series, the 1952 edition of the Canadian senior lacrosse championship sawoffs opened on a peaceable note. There were no arguments over sites for the games, referees, faceoffs, or any of the things which caused so much wrangling out west last year. The Petes were disappointed when the C.L.A. ruled they could have no replacement for Ike Hildebrand and that Al Garbutt was not eligible to play for them in the finals.

However, the Timbermen accepted these rulings philosophically, realizing that Vancouver had no replacements this year, and that Garbutt has played a large part of the season for Fergus. It was an omission on the part of the O.L.A.—which okayed Garbutt's transfer to Peterborough—in not advising that he could not go into C.L.A. playoffs this year after such a transfer.

QUITE A CROWD

About 2,000 Petes' followers motored up to Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto on Sunday, October 5, to see the opener of the best-of-seven Mann Cup finals. They made up a little more than half of the crowd. And they had lots to cheer about as the Timbermen rolled to a soft 9-1 victory, the B.C. champions looking below form after their T.C.A. trip east and a night on the town in the Ontario metropolis. Play was clean and no injuries resulted.

The whole team shone in this light workout from Goalie Moon Wootton out. Nip O'Hearn, Harry Wipper, Bobby Thorpe, Curly Mason, and others were prominent on the attack, and Toronto fans predicted the easterners would take it in four straight. However, the Vancouver crew showed signs of stiffer opposition to come.

The second game there on Tuesday saw a real dogfight with the Petes winning 8-7, but hanging on grimly in the last few minutes as the westerners did everything but tie it up. They were back in form and the Timbermen were a little off in their shooting. It was a fast, tight game, generally clean enough, and no one suffered injuries to any extent. Some bruises and bumps, of course, but nothing serious. The refereeing was good again, with neither team complaining.

RUSTY STARRED

This time Rusty Slater carried the scoring punch for the Peterborough pack. He scored four of their eight goals and helped on another. Nip O'Hearn, suffering from the flu, still played a bangup game going both ways. Roger Smith, the kid of the club, scored the prettiest goal of the night, a sizzling backhander on O'Hearn's pass as he was being checked hard on an angle from the B.C. goal. Moon Wootton had to be his best to hold off the driving Pilseners, especially in the last half.

A special train was run to Toronto from Peterborough for the third game Friday, a raft of P.M.L.A. boys going along as guests.

The crowd of 2,850 in the Gardens saw a rousing struggle before the Timbermen made it three in a row with a 9-8 decision over the battling British Columbia crew. Leading 9-4 going into the fourth, the Petes ran into some costly penalties and saw their lead whittled down rapidly. They were fighting furiously and getting some great goaltending by Moon Wootton when the gong gave them the close victory.

This was a bruising battle all the way, with both sides laying on the wood hard, and the Thorpe team drawing most of the penalties. Don Ashbee was a driving force for the winners in the third playoff, while Bob Thorpe, Russ Slater, Ross Powless and of course Wootton, all starred. But the whole team shone. Rog Smtih was presented with the Jerry Patterson Memorial Award for fine junior playing in 19252 at this game.

Surprisingly enough, the fourth —and what proved to be the final game of the big series—was a one-sided affair with the Timbermen spotting Vancouver an early lead and then rolling it up to win going away with a 15-6 margin. They finished like the champions they were and made the Pilseners from the West Coast look very ordinary before some 1,600 fans.

It was a clean and pretty speedy tilt, with the losers shooting their bolt early and fading gradually from the second quarter on. They were outscored 4-0 in the fourth.

Dootch Vitarelli came up with a brilliant display on the attack to lead his side with four goals. Don Ashbee—a solid citizen for the Petes all through the series—scored a pair and aided on four in a grand showing. Ross Powless notched three. They all turned in a grand showing, including the great Moon Wootton, who was never better in the nets. Lou Nickle also starred and he was voted the best player in the series to win the Mike Kelley Memorial Award, the trophy won last year out west by Wootton. The latter, Russ Slater and Curly Mason won three straight Mann Cup titles, once with Owen Sound and twice with Peterborough.

And so the Peterborough Timbermen returned in triumph once more, and there will be celebrations and dinners to pay tribute to the Canadian senior lacrosse champions.

LIFE-SAVERS FOR MINOR LACROSSE—Annually the Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association holds its life-saver day when the boys sell candies to provide equipment and travelling expenses for the year. Mayor Hugh Waddell backed the project this year and bought the first package. Besides these receipts, minor lacrosse also receives funds from the senior "A" games and the Peterborough Recreation Commission.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Junior Lacrosse Reborn In Fall Of 1949,

Junior lacrosse in Peterborough under its present setup was born in the minor lacrosse dressing room one fall night in 1949. The juvenile team which had just been defeated by Toronto Maitlands were filing out of the room, their season over.

As team captain Gary Robinson filed past Coach Lou Vitarelli at the door, the coach said: "See you next year, Gary." And the latter replied: "Not me, Lou, I'll be too old." And so the idea was conceived of keeping over-age players in action. A junior team was the answer.

Walt Murphy and Lou Vitarelli began work on the plan in the spring of 1950, but there were many problems, such as grouping, equipment, expenses, transportation, sponsor, etc. Frank Patterson solved much of the worry by taking over sponsorship of the junior Filter Queens squad. The team was entered in O.L.A. competition with Mimico, St. Catharines, Brampton, Owen Sound, Weston, Toronto and Fergus.

WON JUNIOR "B"

The local juniors' record that year was five wins and 13 losses to finish fifth, which gave them top spot in junior "B" playoffs—being out of the "A" race. They went on to defeat Toronto Maitlands in three straight games to win the provincial junior "B" title, the first such crown for the P.M.L.A. Three players graduated, Bill Killingbeck to Fergus, Joe Whitnall to the senior Petes, and Al Beavis to Port Hope intermediates.

Next year saw the team bring in Lou Nickle from Toronto and with the rest of the 1950 team and some juvenile graduates, they led the league all through. However, they lost out in a tough playoff series to Mimico, the club which went on to win the Minto Cup. Mimico used Nickle, Rock Batley and Bill Nicholls, the all-star goalie, in ousting Manitoba for the Canadian crown. Jimmy Heffernan and Grant Burns were awarded jointly the trophy for most sportsmanlike players—the Jerry Patterson Memorial Trophy given by Ostrander's. It was a most successful second year, the team winning 14, tying one and losing but three.

WENT SENIOR

From this good team, Lou Nickle, Gary Robinson and Grant Burns stepped up to the senior Petes. Jim Heffernan played with Nanaimo seniors to win the rookie award and lead his club in scoring in '52. Bill Killingbeck returned to Peterborough to turn out with the seniors as a regular. Other juniors at times also helped out the Timbermen during the season.

In 1952, it was decided to bring in some gool players, but only Roger Smith was kept. Two juveniles stepped up, Junior Daniels and Bob McIlmoyle. Also Roy Mullins after a year's absence. Doug Powell was injured during the second game and lost for the season. Bill Nicholls, the regular goalie, was injured and forced to quit. Frank Farley suffered torn ligaments in the ankle and the team finished the season with but 10 players. Red Robinson had decided to quit early in the year. The team lost to St. Catharines in Ontario semi-finals. Despite this tough luck, Rock Batley, Jerry O'Reilly, Joe Hickson, Bev Groves, and Carl Brioux all were used at times by the seniors, and Roger Smith saw a lot of service right through the Mann Cup series. Juveniles Bob Allen, Bobby Curtis and Bob Hunt were used at times by the juniors.

ON THEIR OWN

The junior Filter Queens are run independently of the seniors, though they get a financial gift each year from them. Frank Patterson supplies uniforms and equipment, with the boys responsible for sticks, running shoes and some essentials. The team built its own dressing room this year. A draw is held each year to help provide funds, Mr. Patterson donating a Filter Queen for the draw.

Acting on the junior executive are: Dr. J. R. Epping, Oral Browne, Frank Behan, Jack Moore, Stan Davis, Mac Powell, Walt Murphy, Al Lockington, Frank Patterson and Lou Vitarelli.

In three years in junior competition, this club has provided the local seniors with Nickle, Smith, Burns, Robinson and Killingbeck, with Jim Heffernan playing senior in British Columbia. The team won a junior "B" provincial title, was runner-up to Mimico in 1951 for the Canadian crown and will supply from the 1952 team several more players for the senior Petes.

ONLY A LOVE TAP — Action during the Mimico games with Peterborough was fast and rugged; the Timbermen came out on top by healthy margins in each, though. The final game of the schedule with Mimico in Drummond Bowl saw the Timbermen breeze through for an easy win and the Ontario championship. Freddy Sandford taps Don Ashbee on the head during a checking duel, but Ashbee kept on going for a goal. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Games of 60 and More Years Ago

Some Memorable Games Played By Great Teams

Ten years after the first lacrosse club was organized in Peterborough the local teams were taking on the best in the country and one of these games took place in 1882. It was a Monday early in October and the game was played in the P.A.A.A. grounds in Ashburnham. The opposition was none other than the Montreal Shamrocks, hailed as one of the great teams of that day.

Bill Rudkins scored the only Peterborough goal in the two games with the famous Irishmen. A game in those days ended when one team had scored three goals. Although the team that played here was the Shamrocks' Intermediates, that is the second of the club's four teams, they held the world championship for their class. Probably they were not the peers of the great senior team that included Paddy Green. Mike Creegan and the Lally boys, but they were fleet and rugged and expert exponents of the game.

LOST IN MONTREAL

Peterborough had made a trip to Montreal and lost by 3-0. Such was the preliminary to the Shamrock's visit to Peterborough, and for the occasion the town shut up shop. For lacrosse then was the public's favorite game, although cricket had a large following, and baseball, too, was quite generally played.

The Shamrocks were welcomed with every hospitality, and at 3 p.m. the two teams paraded from the City Hotel, with the Fire Brigade band in the lead, across the Hunter Street bridge to the old cricket ground. Ahead of the Shamrocks went their brilliant banner, symbolic of the world lacrosse championship and a perpetual challenge to all comers.

PETERBOROUGH TIED SCORE

The game began at 3:30 o'clock, and from the outset the Shamrocks displayed the smartness that was their reputation. They scored the first goal at the end of 33 minutes. The visitors' defence was like a stonewall, so Rudkins tried a shot from outside, the ball bounding between the flags, tieing the score. Shamrocks went ahead again in nine minutes, and it was after 5 o'clock when the teams faced off for the fourth game, as the goals were then called.

George Giroux dropped back into goal, and Peterborough played the foe on even terms for another 30 minutes, when the match was declared a draw, because neither team had scored three goals. Besides, it had been decided beforehand to cease hostilities at 5:30.

For Peterborough the result was a moral victory, with only a score of 2-1 against them. After supper as guests of the Peterborough Club, the Shamrocks left for home at 7:40 p.m., and so delighted were they with the reception and entertainment that they sent a letter of appreciation a few days later, acknowledging the cordial hospitality of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and the citizens generally.

On November 10 of that year the club gave a farewell dinner in the Choate House to its secretary, William Baillie. The president, A. D. Braitwaite, was chairdent, A. D. Braithwaite, was chairman. J. R. Straton was one of the speakers as were also Henderson, Robertson, McEntee and John Corkery.

TIED THE METROPOLITANS

Another memorable engagement was with the Metropolitans of Ottawa on September 8, 1884. Peterborough had gone to Brockville in July on an excursion with the I.O.O.F. and were completely routed. It was one of those poor games which the best of teams sometimes get "out of their systems." Ottawa's goals came quickly in three minutes, seven minutes, and three minutes, hardly a workout, and play over in 13 minutes. On their way home Peterborough drubbed the Okas of Belleville in three straight goals. Their team was composed of Joe Giroux, Percy Myles, Mike Tierney, Jack Howden, W. J. Scott, Dr. A. Yelland, Jim Sheehy, Dick Kelly, "Dod" Fortye, Kit Rutherford, W. Rudkins and George Giroux.

Scored On Own Goal

Well, the Mets came to Peterborough on September 8 and won a most inconclusive game by 3-2. All the custo mary formalities, of band, procession crowds, including many women, were observed, and Ottawa went out and scored two goals, the first in four minutes, and the second in five. It seemed a repetition of the Brockville disaster. However, a Peterborough attack produced a goal in 17 mins., the ball finally going to Yelland who shot as Rudkins momentarily held the goal tender's stick.

That goal was a tonic to Peterborough and they battled away for an hour and eight minutes, finally tieing the score. And then as the town's supper hour was overdue, the Petes scored on their own goal from a scrimmage near the flags, and of course Ottawa was declared the winner. Rudkins suffered a broken collar bone, and many of the players showed red and blue souvenirs of the long struggle.

WON IN OTTAWA

And after that setback Peterborough went right down to Ottawa on Sept. 25, 1885 and trimmed the Mets on their own field. They rolled away from Russell House in a big omnibus singing "Goodbye My Lover, Goodbye," the big song hit of that time, "Jersey City", "Star of the Evening" and other favorites that invited basses and tenors to do their worst.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, Governor-General, had faced the ball at 10.45 a.m., and Ottawa scored first in three minutes. Kit Rutherford evened it up in four minutes. The "Mets" went ahead again in seven minutes, and Peterborough with a full share of the play again tied the score, Rutherford getting his second goal. The fifth and deciding goal was scored by Billy Scott, and Peterborough had wiped out the disgrace of Brockville. It was a great day. The team saw all the Capital had to offer and arrived home at 6:45 o'clock the next morning.

At that early hour they were greeted at the station by a crowd of supporters who with the city band blaring in triumph marched up to the Windsor Hotel, and sometime afterward the players went to their homes, and so to work.

On August 11, 1885, the Shamrocks of Montreal defeated the Ontarios of Toronto here by 3-0. It was a feature of the Civic Holiday celebration. On August 20 of that year the Excelsiors of Brampton, champions of the Northern District, came to town and trounced the Petes in three straight "games." But the second team that day beat Perth by 3-0. The Juniors were: Joe Phelan, J. Hall, P. Arrands, J. Caninng, A. Rose, Frank Larone, F. Traynor, Wm. McAvelia, T. Giroux, Joe and Bob Begley and Harry Neil.

BEAT U. S. CHAMPIONS

On August 26, 1885, the senior Peterboroughs won from the St. Paul team, champions of the United States, by 3-0. Ruf Stevenson was in goal, and Joe Henderson scored all three for Peterborough. In September they beat the Checkers of Beaverton 3-0, Henderson getting two goals and Dick Kelly one. This victory wiped out the thrashing by Beaverton in June of that year, when the supporters of the team were recalling the splendid period of 1882-4 when they had first won the Midland championship from Orillia and thereafter ran out a great string of victories until the Checkers demonstrated one early summed day that even the mighty can be tumbled from their high places.

However, the September score in Beaverton restored the team to Peterborough's confidence, and they were welcomed home that night with a great parade, with fireworks and band, and George Giroux presented a bouquet of roses to Harry LeBrun on behalf of the girls who worked in the LeBrun tailor shop.

TIE WITH CANNINGTON

Peterborough had received a challenge from Cannington, the home of many fine lacrosse players in those days and Peterborough faced them here on September 22. The visitors scored the first goal in 22 minutes; Kit Rutherford put the locals on even terms in eight minutes, but Cannington forged ahead with another goal in six minutes. Dick Kelly tied it up in 12 minutes, and the game ended 2-2, but according to the rules was awarded to Peterborough. Incidentally one of the Cannington goals was disputed, but it was allowed, and the goal umpire was displaced.

And in the final game of the season, On October 7, 1885, at the Driving Park, now Exhibition Park, which had been opened in 1884, Richmond Hill brought down a strong team for an Ontario championship game, and went home with a 3-0 victory.

A JUNIOR TEAM

In one match they defeated Norwood 3-2, the goals being scored in 18 minutes; 20 seconds, 36 minutes; 23 minutes and 51 minutes. Another day they beat Millbrook by three straight goals in just six minutes of actual play. The teams were on the field only 12 minutes.

Two local junior teams played on August 18, 1884 for the W. A. Sanderson Cup, the Independents winning by 3-0, from the Cretes, a northend team. The Independents were: Joe Phelan, J. McDonald, C. Robinson, T. Mehar, F. Goyette, W. Holdaway, J. Allen, A. Mitchell, W. Kelly, Joe Begley, F. Traynor and O. Watson. And the Cretes lineup was: K. Kincaid, R. Parnell, F. Metheral, Jim Connal, R. Duncan, A. Robinson, H. Foote, H. Dixon, F. Larone, T. Duncan, J. Harvey and F. Sherwood.

The calibre of the Peterborough seniors may be indicated by the fact that Dick Kelly afterwards went to Montreal and became one of the stars on the senior Shamrocks.

City Developed Hot Team 70 Years Ago

Seventy years ago Peterborough first became known as one of the "hot" lacrosse towns in the province and ever since then Peterborough teams have been greatly feared wherever they played. The teams have been noted for their gameness, and, yes, fight. Year after year they paraded through heavy opposition to championships and near championships, the highest crowns of the lacrosse world.

In 1888 Peterborough won the Northeastern championship after a season of hectic struggle. Included in the league were: Brockville, Kingston, Ottawa and Peterborough.

The men of that team were: Michael Halpin, afterwards a grocer at George and Perry Streets; Joe Joyal; Dr. Brennan, who enlisted with the Canadian force that went to South Africa in the Boer War at the turn of the century; Tom Meagher, an older brother of William Meagher; Abe Rose, father of Lornie and Abbie, one of the fastest men on that team; Joe Phelan, afterwards Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral; Michael Coughlin in the monumental business with his brother John, here and later in Toronto; Frank Larone, John Donoghue, Tom Duncan and Joseph Begley.

The only member of that team still living is believed to be Mr. Duncan of Peterborough.

The popularity of lacrosse was maintained through the decades of that time, continuously until the outbreak of the First World War.

NEW TEAM

That was one of the cleverest teams Peterborough ever produced, and of their company only Jack McCabe, Eddie Hickey, Billie Borland and Jack Mein are survivors of the years since their games in the late 1890's.

Dot Brown went to Seattle, Fred Lynch to New Westminster, B.C., and played on two world championship team; Rollie Glover and Jack McCabe had a lively career at home, and abroad they played in Chicago and New York.

In those days nearly every small town in Ontario had a lacrosse team, and not the least of them was the village of Madoc, and also neighboring Millbrook.

The files would probably show that even Keene was prominently in the game.

SMALL RIOT

Orillia, Beaverton and Port Hope were three of Peterborough's tough contenders in that period around 1898. After a rough game in Orillia, the team of which Mickey Curran was outstanding played a return game here at P.A.A.A. grounds (the houses on Cricket Place occupy that athletic field). It ended in something less than a riot, and rather than face the hostile local fans at the C.N.R. station, the Orillia crew caught the 5:15 p.m. train up at Brock St.

Peterborough developed its players from teenage, but in 1879 the club brought in Don Hogarth who became a Brigadier-General in the First War, and Conservative M.P.P. for Port Arthur, and Jack Mooney also from that town.

Officers of the Club included Mayor A. L. Davis, Dr. Edward McGrath who lived in the house now the Kaye funeral home, and Fred Sullivan. Lionel King, afterwards a Doctor in Prince Alberta, Sask., was outstanding among the Eastern Team Holders Of Minto Cup

The Minto Cup is emblematic of the junior "A" lacrosse championship of Canada and was won this year by Brampton after series in Winnipeg and Vancouver. Peterborough played against Brampton in junior competition during the O.L.A. season.

It is a beautiful silver trophy donated by Lord Minto in 1901 for lacrosse competition in the Dominion. Lord Minto was then the Governor-General of Canada. It was amateur competition until 1904. The cup was placed under trustees. The present Lord Minto of England, whose father donated the cup, was advised of it when the donor died, and he officially transferred the cup to the care of the Canadian Lacrosse Association. It was then placed into competition for the junior championship of Canada.

The Duke and Duchess of York —later King George V and Queen Mary—were present at the first game played for the Minto Cup, between Capitals of Ottawa and Cornwall in Ottawa in 1901.

For a time the Minto Cup was put into competition for all-star teams selected from each province. Now it is a case of the best eastern team playing the winners in the west for this prized junior lacrosse trophy, the final series being in the east one year and in the west the next. It was won by Brampton in British Columbia this autumn.

Lacrosse Originated By Indians

Frank G. Menke, noted sports historian, and author of Encyclopedia of Sports—as well as numerous sports record books—deals with lacrosse as follows:

"Lacrosse was originated by the Canadian Indians many centuries ago under the name of baggataway. The French-Canadians renamed it lacrosse because the webbed stick used in play reminded them of a bishop's crozier, or cross.

Indians inhabiting what is now the northeastern section of the United States adopted the game, but never played it with the enthusiasm of their copper-hued brethren in Canada, and its popularity in the States was short-lived.

As the Canadian Indians passed into comparative obscurity, the Canadian settlers—both French and English—took up the sport and soon lacrosse became Canada's national outdoor summer game.

SOME DIFFERENCE

Modern lacrosse differs in many ways from the ancient Indian way. Teams are limited and so is the size of the field. The lads of today can go onto fields of conflict with a reasonable assurance that they won't end up in an embalming shop. It wasn't so when baggataway was in vogue.

Those combats were not decided so much by the skill of the performers as by their ability to carry on despite terrific belaboring with lacrosse sticks. In the original Indian game, strategy called for crippling as many of the enemy as possible before settling down to the blase thing of scoring points.

The baggataway galoots always were terribly inaccurate in the beginning of a game in their swipes at the ball but were super-marksmen when it came to smacking a rival on any smackable spot. It always was open season for beating any part of an enemy's anatomy. The banging around the head, torso and legs continued until such times as one side was so depleted by crippling that the other could do some goal scoring almost without opposition.

A BIG FEAST

The stellar lacrosse games among the Indians always called for considerable ceremony. Each was preceded by a big pow-wow, a feast and wild dancing. Women folk, who were the rooters, ran up and down the sidelines, beating men of their tribes with stout switches to urge them on to more furious and inspired action.

Baggataway did not limit the size of the team nor that of the field. As many could get into the frolic as had the desire. But the rival chieftains always were careful that the aggregations were comparatively even as to numbers. Teams ranged from 75 to 2,000 men on a side!

Medicine men were the referees and also the goal lines. In the beginning, the spots where the rival medicine men stood served as goal line. If either chose to wander, or became absent-minded and went for a long hike, the line moved right along with him. Often the line shifted from five to 10 miles in the course of play.

THE MASSACRE

A game of lacrosse was used as the medium to perpetrate the worst massacre in Canadian history on June 4, 1763. Stories differ as to who inspired it. One authority states that Pontiac, the famous Ottawa chief, who was friendly with the French and hated the English, who then controlled Canada, was the evil genius, and that the game was between the visiting Ojibway and Sac Indians.

J. B. Patterson in 'Black Hawk's Biography' (Black Hawk was the outstanding Sac Indian in all history) has a somewhat different version—and perhaps the correct one. Patterson states that the Chippewas were the Indians dwelling then in the district where the forst — Fort Michili Mackinac (now Mackinac)—was located, and that the Sacs had sent a rather [illegible] delegation [illegible] Chippewas, the [illegible] before the birthday of King George of England (June 4), a date that always was marked by celebrations among the English.

CAREFULLY PLANNED

Word was sent by the Chippewas to Captain Etherington, in charge of the fort, that a lacrosse game would be played in honor of the King's birthday, between the Chippewas and the Sacs. The soldiers and transients who were staying at the fort were invited to attend, but Etherington was suspicious and replied that his men could not leave the fort.

The Indians then stated that the game would be played near the fort so that the dwellers need not leave it to witness the contest. Play started in the vicinity of the fort and roved up and down for perhaps an hour. Many of the soldiers, trappers and traders who were in the fort finally walked outside and stood or sat around and watched the progress of the contest, leaving the gate to the fort wide open.

SWAPPED WEAPONS

Squaws were seated on the sidelines. All were heavily blanketed although the day was extremely warm. No significance was attached to this by the soldiers, it being regarded merely as a peculiarity of the Indian women. Suddenly as the play was within a short distance of the fort, a signal was called by one of the chiefs. The Indians dropped their sticks, rushed to the squaws, who had taken tomahawks out from under their blankets, grabbed the tomahawks and dashed todward the fort.

Patterson's story has it that only three whites who were inside or outside the fort lived. All the others were killed. Captain Etherington and Lieut. Leslie were siezed and carried away, but released a short time later. Alexander Henry escaped and while in New York in 1824 he turned author and told the story of the massacre in his 'Travels and Adventures in Canada and the Indian Territories'.

STANDARD RULES

Lacrosse gained in popularity during the 19th century, although there were no really standardized rules. French, British, Canadians and Indians played the game according to their own ideas. However, in 1867, when Canada had become a Dominion, G. W. Beers, a lawyer and a lacrosse enthusiast, formed the National Lacrosse Association of Canada, and advocated that lacrosse become Canada's national game.

Eventually, lacrosse spread in popularity to all parts of the world and play became standardized. Twelve players made up a field team. The minimum distance between goals was 100 yards; the maximum 150. The goal posts were fixed at six feet in height and six in width. The ball was of India rubber to be no less than 4½ ounces and no more than 4¾ in weight. And the cross at the end of the stick was limited to 12 inches in width.

Lacrosse was introduced in the U.S.A. in the early 80s on Boston Common, Boston, when a game was contested by two teams, one the Caughnawaga Indians, and the other the celebrated Shamrocks of Montreal. The sponsor of that game was the late John R. Flannery, a famous university player of Montreal,, who today is known as the 'Father of American Lacrosse'."

(Ed. Note: Frank Menke does not deal with the modern game of box lacrosse, which came into being within the last 25 years.)

Refugee Problem Crippling [illegible] Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—Western Germany faces a serious problem with refugees there now reaching the fantastic total of 10,000,000—more than 1-5 of the total population.

United States and German officials see these millions of stranded people as a potential tinderbox for a social explosion.

The West German government is so alarmed over the flood of refugees that officials recently made a heart-breaking decision: to tell the East Germans to stay put under Soviet oppression.

In a special broadcast beamed to the East, the government said all East Germans except those whose lives are in danger must "hold on to the garth of the Fatherland" and keep up a core of resistance against Communism.

SPEND IMMENSE SUMS

The government stressed the exhausting financial burden of caring for millions of refugees with no work, no homes and few possessions.

Government officials say Western Germany has spent the equivalent of $6,000,000,000 since 1945 on the care of refugees.

The bulk of the refugees—8,200,000—consists of Germans herded out of areas east of the Oder-Neisse line or from such countries as Poland, Hungary, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

In addition, there are some 1,700,000 who have bolted to the West from Soviet-occupied East Germany or East Berlin.

One of the chief causes of the misery of these new citizens is their uneven distribution American officials say the refugee population is mainly concentrated in agricultural states. In Schleswig-Holstein, 37 per cent of the population are refugees.

While the agricultural states are overcrowded, many industrial regions are short of labor. In the industrial Ruhr, the shortage of miners long has plagued the coal industry.

TO TRANSPLANT MANY

The obvious solution is to transplant the unused refugee manpower to the available job opportunities. But this has proved difficult to carry out.

During 1951 only 95,000 refugees were shifted from agricultural to industrial states. A shortage of funds and housing is holding up large-scale resettlement.

During the war more than 2,000,000 houses or apartments were destroyed. Due to the influx of refugees, Western Germany is still short some 3,750,000 dwelling units.

Lacrosse Fails To Win Wide Approval

The following editorial by Albert A. Brisotti appeared in the Official Lacrosse Guide of the United States Intercollegiate Association in 1949:

The fastest team game on two feet is the claim of the lacrosse enthusiast. Spectators characterize the game as stimulating and fascinating. No adverse criticism is heard as to the appeal of the game to casual observers or old members of the lacrosse fraternity.

Then what is wrong? The claim cannot be made that the game is universally accepted by the public. Crowds are not clamoring for tickets. Sellouts and ticket scalping are both unheard of in reference to lacrosse. Newspaper publicity is restricted to a few areas.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Is it not time to re-evaluate our position as regards this matter of spectators interest? There has been much talk, much rehashing of the old arguments. But conversation has done little or nothing. What has been done to place our sport in its proper position of public acceptance? Is this fault inherent in the game? Is it the coaching? The officiating? The timing? The equipment? Complete analysis must be made without regard for the feelings of anyone. Compliments, sentiments and friendships must not be allowed to prevent a thorough search for facts.

One basic fact is accepted: The virile game of lacrosse, the high standards of fellowship of its adherents, warrants a more vociferous reception and acknowledgement by the general public."

Art Taught In Hospitals

VANCOUVER (CP) — Curative magic is being found in a paint brush in several Vancouver hospitals.

Dr. Eric Loewe, artist graduate in psychology who received his Ph.D. at Munich University, is in charge—a full time art therapist.

"It has been a recognized branch of healing in Europe for many years," he said, "and I thought [illegible] it should not [illegible] here."

It took five years to sell the idea, but now there are "art schools" in four Vancouver hospitals. There he shows patients how to overcome boredom and in some instances to paint themselves back to health.

Herb Webb, 33, has been lying flat in bed for 10 months. "You can't imagine how boring it is reading books weeks on end," he said. "You get into a deplorable mental state. Dr. Loewe put me on to painting for the first time in my life and now the day isn't long enough."

Another patient, formerly in a strait-jacket and considered dangerous, now mixes freely with others.-

TEHRAN (AP)—Foreign correspondents received an official warning yesterday that their messages may be refused transmission if they contain anything considered false news which "may have undesirable reaction inside or outside" Iran.

Moon Wootton Twice Winner Of Kelly Medal

The Mike Kelly Memorial Medal, presented by Gene Dopp of the Canadian Lacrosse Association to commemorate the lacrosse work of Mike Kelly is given to the player selected by the sports writers as the most valuable player to his team during each Mann Cup series. Goalie Moon Wootton won it in the two years preceding this, being voted most valuable as goalie of Owen Sound Crescents then, they won the cup in Toronto in 1950, and judged best by the scribes when Peterborough won Mann Cup in Vancouver last year.

It was taken in the first year them edal was offered in 1941 by Blacky Black of Richmond, B.C. Other winners were: 1942, Bert Large of the Mimico-Brampton Combines; 1943, Bill Wilkes, of the B.C. Salmonbellies; 1944, Ike Hildebrand of the Salmonbellies —now with the Petes; 1945, Frank Lee of Burrards, B.C.; 1946, Doug Favelle, St. Catharines; 1947, Bob Lee of Adanacs, B.C.; 1948, Doug Favelle, Hamilton; 1949, Don Matheson, Burrards, B.C.; and in 1950 and 1951 by Lloyd (Moon) Wootton of Owen Sound and Peterborough.

Millbrook Pioneered Sport In District

Lacrosse Club 80 Years Ago

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club was first organized in 1872 in Johnston's tailor shop on Water St. This shop was located immediately north of where the Sun Life Building is now. The game was only slightly known in Peterborough but Millbrook had had for six years an All-Star team. One member on that Millbrook team was a youth by the name of Sam Hughes who later became member of parliament for Victoria and Minister of Militia in the First World War. Sir Sam Hughes' two brothers, John and James, were also on the team and other players were named McBain, Hetherington, and McCartney.

The game was actively introduced in Peterborough by Robert J. Lee who had come to the town from Cavan village where he had been one of the stars of that hamlet's team.

At the organization meeting Bob Lee was elected captain and Tom Quincy secretary. Quincy was a clerk in Robert Hamilton's hardware store, which was situated two or three doors south of the premises now occupied by Correll's store. Among those who attended were John Corkery and Billy Green, and it was from these two 56 years later that the Examiner is indebted for these reminiscences.

FIRST GAME IN 1872

The Peterborough team adopted the name "Red Stockings", possibly because that was the distinguishing item of their uniforms. As the club roster attracted quite a number of the young men of the town there was ample material for several teams and so it came about in the spring of 1872 that the Red Stockings and the "Blue Rosettes", a second team drawn from the club, staged the first game of lacrosse in this community.

The teams were as follows:

Red Stockings—T. S. Quincy, captain; T. Maloney. T. E Bradburn, John Corkery, W. A. Sanderson, Harry LeBrun, G. B. Sproule, W. C. Spence, and Alexander Elliott.

Blue Rosettes — Charles Malloy, captain; Patterson, C. McKercher, Duchesneau, W. Croft, Jim Dolan, Nap Lemay, Bob Lee, A. Robinson, and W. Shaw.

The Red Stockings won by three straight games and later in the season the first Peterborough lacrosse club appeared on a foreign field when those pioneering Petes went to Millbrook and were defeated by three games in a row. The local team was composed of [illegible] Bradburn, Croft, John Corkery, J. Dolan, Duchesneau, C. Malloy, Lee, W. Shaw, Spence and Sanderson.

PRACTISED IN DEWY MORN

The first lacrosse team turned out for practice in the morning from about 5 to 6 o'clock or later. All that was required of them industrially was that they report to their respective stores at 7 a.m.; for most of them were clerks and the hours of the clerk in the '70s were long and usually full of work. The clerks arrived before the "boss," took down the shutters, which were cumbersome slat affairs, cleaned the lamp glasses, filled the lamps woth oil, trimmed the wicks, swept up, and generally made themselves useful. And they had to work until 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening, leaving no time for athletic diversions.

LONG WORKING DAYS

Merchants believed then in keeping their stores open, and anyway there wasn't much else to do but work. Hence, 12 and 13 hour days were the established custom. Of course, the clerks could go out about 8 a.m. for breakfast, and were otherwise well treated, but there was no yielding in the first years to the requirements of lacrosse. Some years later the town used to close up its stores for the afternoons of big games.

And while the seniors were finding their feet and learning the technique of the game and the art of stick-handling, some of the boys were watching them, as for instance Jim Stratton, H. Uin, Harry Phelan, Henry Pengelly, W. Morgan, E. McCabe, J. McGregor, N. Caissie, Arthur Rowntree, Jewett, and others. So apt were they that they went down to Millbrook and partly redeemed the name of Peterborough by trouncing the village juniors and holding their own in several fights that broke out. Then they wound up the day with an evening trip to Lindsay, and another victory.

REORGANIZED IN 1880

The team carried on until the end of that decade, but interest wore thin because the game was not generally established in this district. Reorganization in 1880 was productive of new enthusiasm, and in 1881 Peterborough won the Gildersleeve Cup in Kingston. That team included Mick Halpin, Kit Rutherford, Dod Fortye, Billy Rudkins, and others. About that time Harry LeBrun was elected president of the Dominion Lacrosse Association, an appointment and stimulated interest throughout Central Ontario. Then began a long period of victories, battles up and down the Trent territory and often far beyond it.

John Corkery hung up his stick about 1880. "Eyvie" Bradburn was also through, and Billy Green was definitely included among the spectators. But they had done their bit for Peterborough athletics as promoters of the game which for several generations stirred the blood and usually the passions of the whole community, men and women alike.

And in turning over that page once more let us stop to wonder at the strange aspect George Street must have presented on a summer morning as the lacrosse team, fresh from practising on the Market Square, started off for the wooden-shuttered stores in which they worked. Two rows of stout wooden fronts, barred and bolted, symbols of their business age and its seeming stagnation.

WATCH THAT CREASE, DON!—Loose balls and draws at faceoffs usually control the game and whoever gets the most of both usually wins. During the first Mann Cup game, won by the Timbermen 9-1, the woodsmen roared after loose balls, getting most of them, while they also won most of the draws. Don Ashbee (above) came in for a rebound off Bob Thorpe's shot. Jack Green, Vancouver goalie, kneels after missing the rebound, hoping that the tricky Ashbee will be checked before he has a chance to turn that loose ball into a try for goal.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

West Yorks and Timbermen Provided Hot Final For Eastern Canadian Title

One of the hottest Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals in many years took place between Toronto West Yorks and the local Timbermen this year. The Petes had finished atop the schedule while Toronto wound up in third slot back of Mimico. Yet the Yorks went on to take the quarter-finals and semi-finals, and they almost took the eastern finals before being erased by Peterborough.

Led by scrappy Don (Scotty) McPhail, and playing "home" games in Mimico, the hustling Yorkers did something no other club could do all year, that is win a game here. They got the habit in playoffs and kept doing it. This was a peculiar series, the pattern being one not conducive to home fans' happiness. The Yorks would win here and the Petes would win over them in Mimico, always by close counts after real rugged and hot scraps.

SEVEN AND A HALF

It was a best-of-seven series but actually lasted seven and a half games. They came down to the seventh tied at three wins each, with the Yorkers finally favored to take it for the upset of the lacrosse year. They were leading by two goals here at halftime in the seventh game before close to 4,000 fans when rain halted the contest. It was a bitter blow to the Toronto team, but the referees ruled the rain too heavy and the field unplayable.

Next night they resumed it at Miller Bowl before another huge crowd. Once again the Yorkers looked to be home free as they had a three-goal lead going into the fourth quarter. Then the champs caught fire to blast home seven straight goals without a return in the last 15 minutes of play. They electrified the crowd with a 12-8 victory to capture the series and move into Mann Cup finals. It was a game that lacrosse fans will off recall during the cold wintry nights ahead.

Indians Make Best Sticks Methods As Old As Game

Where do lacrosse sticks come from? Most of them have been made by the Indians ever since the white man took over this truly Canadian game from the Indians. According to the C.L.A. year book, no one can make a lacrosse stick as well or as quickly as an Indian, since Indians are natural-born whittlers. Plenty of whittling is needed before a lacrosse stick is shaped properly.

Joe Lally, association with the game for more than 50 years long supplied his famous sticks to every country where the game was, played, and these sticks all were made by Indians in his shop. When Lally sold his factory to the Chisolm Lacrosse Manufacturing Co. on retirement it was still run by Indians, the plant being on the St. Regis Reserve near Cornwall. More than 97 per cent of the world's production of lacrosse sticks were manufactured by this company just a few years ago, exports going to England, Australia and the United States, as well as the home industry in Canada. There are a few home competitors in Canada but not in the export trade for lacrosse equipment.

OLD AS THE GAME

The book says: "Their methods of manufacture [illegible] are as old as the game itself, and little modern equipment can be found in this busy little factory where every workman is an Indian."

It is always a problem to secure the proper hickory. There is no big growth of hickory in any area of Canada and a great deal of territory must be covered to get enough for the year's buy. A tree has to be a certain age and size or the wood will not bend properly and this failure can result in much waste and breakage. Only the butt of the tree is suitable for use and six or eight frames can be secured from each butt.

With hickory becoming scarcer, the present factory owner is not too optimistic of the future of these Indian-made sticks.

Doug Miller and Pete King Introduced Boxla; Sparked Drive For Bowl

Box lacrosse in Peterborough owes a lot to Doug Miller—now on the city council. He and Pete King had more than anyone else to do with starting the game here in 1931, several years after the field game had folded up in this district. They were active players and also acted as officials in those early formative years of the boxla sport.

Doug also was the driving force twice in having a box or bowl built on the present site on George St., opposite Little Lake. He canvassed for funds, supervised the building work each time and swung a [illegible] hammer himself in each case. The first box was built in 1937 but was torn down by the city during the war when lacrosse—like most local sports—was dormant.

BUILT AGAIN

After playing a year for the local senior "B" club in Omemee after the second world war, Doug got busy again in an effort to rebuild the bowl. The city gave permission for use of the grounds but refused to aid financially. Doug then lined up four other chaps along with himself, Pete King, Verte Reynolds, Harry Tudhope and Ken Kingston, and each went good for a note of $1,000 at the bank to start the project. Later they found they needed as much again, so they stuck their necks out—as the saying is—once more. This, plus some donations received from friends, proved enough to build the fine modern lacrosse box now in use here.

In a gesture of recognition of efforts in getting the box built, the executive of the senior lacrosse club voted to call it Miller Bowl. With fine support from the fans and good local teams competing, the notes were paid off in a few years and even the friends reimbursed, so that not a cent was owing on the project.

STARTED YOUNG

Doug Miller is now 48 years old. He started playing when he was 12 and quit in 1947. Which means he played field and box lacrosse continuously—but for his stretch in the R.C.A.F. during the war—for more than 30 years. He broke in as a kid in Millbrook and his first stick cost him 50 cents, meaning many weeks of scrounging and saving before that sum was raised. He played here at the age of 14 in the minor circuit, coming up from bantam, midget, juvenile and junior to intermediate and senior ranks.

At one time, Miller played junior O.L.A. and was also with the champion Crescents in a large City Lacrosse League. He was good enough to be imported for senior play by Oshawa and later senior field lacrosser. He was in the latter place in 1924, returning the next year to field lacrosse here. The game folded up then, and returned in the abbreviated boxla form here in 1931.

PLAYED IN BROCK

Doug played at the Brock St. rink along with Fred Goodfellow, Bud Fisher, Ira Dundas, Meyette, Shine Bovin, Buster Whitton, Red Creighton, Fred Shaw, Mick Magee, Pete King, Red Dallin, and other aces of the early '30s. They later played outdoors at nights in Riverside until the box was built. Doug was a strong defenceman and good rusher when the Petes won three successive senior "B" titles just before the war—using Omemee for "home" games—when his son, Doug Jr. played along with him. Doug Sr. decided to hang up his gear after that.

He has served as president, vice-president, O.L.A. representative, treasurer, secretary, executive member, and manager of the Petes' lacrossers for many years. His cup of happiness was filled to overflowing last October when he sat in the stand in Vancouver and saw Peterborough win its first Mann Cup and become Canadian senior "A" lacrosse champions. He could ask for no more.

Ald. Doug decided then that he would resign from the club's executive and devote all of his time to his family, his own construction company and his duties on the city council. He has done that this year, but is always on hand at Miller Bowl cheering the present champions along. Lacrosse will always be Doug's game.

Miller Bowl Success Story

The story of Miller Bowl is the story of senior "B" and senior "A" lacrosse in Peterborough. The game was played as boxla in the early and middle 30s in intermediate company, games being staged for a time in the Brock St. rink and for a time outdoors at Riverside. It was even played a season in the Lindsay arena, and for a year after the war in the Omemee rink.

The bowl or box on George St. opposite Little Lake was built in the late 30s on city property, with players and other lacrosse enthusiasts helping in the work. Some good lacrosse—intermediate or senior "B" titles were won there, too—was seen. But the bowl was torn down when the game died out during the war. It was not until the spring of 1947 that the new bowl was completed and called Miller Bowl after Doug Miller, who was the driving force in the project.

THE SPONSORS

He, Ken Kingston, Pete King, Vert Reynolds and Harry Tudhope had signed bank notes to finance the building, and they also obtained some money from "friends," Bob Peirson writing many prominent people for loans. The cost of the whole thing came to something less than $12,000 because Miller, other officials, players and friends pitched in and did a lot of the work without charge. More than two years ago all this money was paid back, even the gifts from friends, and the place was a going concern. It is a fine bowl and can accommodate more than 4,000 fans comfortably.

In the years after the war, the Petes were in senior "B" competition and Red Creighton's club swept through to win handily until it was decided to step up to an "A" rating in 1949. The team finished last then, and second-last the next year. But officials kept boistering [illegible] way through to [illegible] this year. Yes, the story of Miller Bowl is also a lacrosse success story in Peterborough.

Won't Forget Scientist's Visit Soon

BELFAST (CP) [illegible] Ball, a Scottish scientist, will long be remembered for his appearance at the British Association meetings at Belfast in 1952.

His subject was: "Noises, old and new."

On a large platform, the professor produced a fearful conglomeration of noisemakers. There were pre-war and post-war gramophones, an assortment of whistles, motor horns, bird-callers, sirens and fog-horns, not to mention a live bugler and bos'un with whistle.

Then, as a finale, he invited 1,500 children to help themselves. The kiddies stormed to the platform and readily put everything to use, adding their own catcalls for luck.

Shortly after the association meetings dispersed for the week-end—in a hurry.

Pay £50,000 For Gay Time

LONDON (CP)—The National Stud, which bought Mrs. J.V. Rank's racehorse, Gay Time, paid £50,000 for the animal.

Gay Time cost £10,000 more than rumored originally, but racing men say it is worth it. The horse has been leased to the Queen for its racing career.

Experts say Gay Time is worth £50,000 on its performances. It was second to Tulyar in the Derby this year, made an excellent showing at Ascot and sports fine breeding.

Gay Time will be kept in training next year as a four-year-old and then retired to stud.

The record price for a thoroughbred to an individual buyer in Britain was the £60,000 paid for stars of those years in the 1890's. In athletics, he was a "natural" as they say in sports. He showed as much class in hockey as in rugby and perhaps baseball, and also played a fine tennis game. And he was an ace on the lacrosse field.

Toronto Civic Employees ran special trains to Peterborough July 1, 1897, one of the biggest events in the old town's sports history. The senior lacrosse team trounced Toronto Elms, but the second team lost to Toronto Maitlands 3-2.

The Examiner reporting that game said: "Peterborough ran in six goals before Elms counted one. The dazzling combination of Jim McCabe, George Lipsett, Percy Rubidge, Walter Phelan and Jack McCabe overwhelmed the Toronto team."

There wasn't a weak spot on that team. Its personnel was: Goal, [illegible] defense; George Mein; 2nd defense, Glover; 3rd defense, Lionel King; centre, Galley; 3rd home, Jim McCabe; 2nd home, Lipsett; inside home, Jack McCabe. Field captain, Joe Begley; umpires, R. F. McWilliams and Fred Might.

Something is jumbled in that line-up. It doesn't mention Rubidge and its leaves out 1st home and outside home. Both Rubidge and Phelan, previously mentioned, should be included, and probably completed the team.

Ted Reeve of the Toronto Telegram has rated field lacrosse the best and most exciting of Canadian games, and that Peterborough team of around 1900 was just about the smartest that ever wore the blue and white of the old lacrosse club.

The second team, defeated by Maitland, was composed of: Moncrief, Craig, Ruckey, Archambault, McDonagh, Kelly, Thompson, Lou Dobbin, Adams, Crossley, Wasson and Vic McWilliams, with Carise LeBrun, field captain.

Airport Post Office Wants Special Mark

LONDON (CP)—Eric Chaplin, officer in charge of a prefabricated post office at London Airport, says he could do much more business than he does.

STOCKHOLM (CP) — The national fund being collected as a gift to King Gustaf VI on his 70th birthday Nov. 11 now has passed the 2,000,000-kroner mark (about $360,000). It will be used for some cultural project to be designated by the monarch.

'52 Season Saw Timbermen Top O.L.A. For Second Year

By finishing on top of the regular schedule with a margin of three games over Mimico Mounties the Peterborough Timbermen not only automatically captured the O.L.A. 1952 title for the second straight year, but proceeded into Eastern Canada quarter-finals with the option of taking a bye into finals, provided they won the first round. They were drawn first against St. Catharines Athletics, the club which finished sixth.

It was generally figured that the Thorpe team would walk away with this series in three straight games, but the Athletics put up a stiff fight before bowing out in four hard-fought tilts. The Petes had advised the O.L.A. in advance that, if they ousted St. Kitts, they would take a bye into Eastern Canada finals—feeling that they would be well rested for the big series ahead.

NEEDED THE REST

They certainly needed that rest after their rugged series with the Garden City A's. The latter crowded the champs in every game—winning one of them—and wound up by shelving Russ Slater and Don Ashbee for a time with a fierce display in St. Catharines in the last game. While the rival players shook hands afterward, several of the Peterborough lacrossers remarked afterward that the Saints seemed to be out to cripple them, and they (the Petes) were glad that quarter-final series was over and done with for this year.

Al Garbutt, the late addition from Fergus, shone in this St. Catharines' set for the Timbermen, and some of the younger players like Lou Nickle, Grant Burns, Gary Robinson and Roger Smith were a big help, too, to the Liftlockers. This series gave them their chance of going on with the Mann Cup finalists, following a stiff series with Toronto Yorks a week or so later in Eastern Canada finals.

PETERBOROUGH CANADIAN LACROSSE CHAMPIONS Eat Honey For Energy

Lacrosse, Canada's national game, has long been recognized as requiring more stamina and endurance than almost any other sport. Peterborough Timbermen, newly crowned Mann Cup Winners, give a great deal of credit for their success to the fact that their players have been receiving regular quantities of honey — the ideal natural food for athletes.

Sports College, the nationally known organization for the promotion of Canadian sport, in a recent survey announced that honey was the best energy-producing sweet to give to athletes. The Detroit Red Wings, World Hockey Champions, regularly have honey on the training table.

If you are a member of an athletic team, ask your coach to serve honey regularly and see the difference in your performance. In fact everyone should eat plenty of honey, nature's own energy producing food. Make honey a regular part of your diet. It helped Peterborough win the Canadian Lacrosse Championship. It will give you more energy too.

EAT LOTS OF ONTARIO HONEY

It's good for you too!

Move Revived To Erect Marx Memorial

LONDON (CP)—A move has been revived to erect a memorial on the grave of Karl Marx in London's Highgate Cemetery. The latest proposal is being sponsored by an organization headed by Andrew Rothstein, former chief in London of Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

Two years ago a committee invited designs for a shrine to honor the memory of Marx, author of the Communist manifesto "Das Kapital." The plan, however, was suspended following the death last year of Marx's last surviving grandson, Dr. Edgar Longuet, a Paris doctor.

MADE OBJECTIONS

About 18 years ago authorities in Russia suggested the bones of the Communist leader should be transferred from Highgate to Moscow. But his descendents objected.

Alluding to reports that Russia is still interested in the relics, the Conservative London Evening Standard recalls that the Russian Government in 1933 charged Ramsay MacDonald's Socialist administration £100,000 for the fourth-century Greek manuscript of the Bible, known as the Codex Sinaiticus.

"No doubt the Russians would value the bones of Marx more highly than they valued the Codex," the paper says. "Why not let them have these bones—on the same terms as in 1933 deal?"

SHOOT IT, AL! — Whittaker, St. Catharines Athletes' goalie, crouches in the corner of the goal, waiting for Al Garbutt to work in. Garbutt, who played most of the season with Fergus Thistles, whipped about his check and went in on Whittaker to score. The Timbermen easily erased the Athletes from the playoffs, to advance into the Eastern Canada finals against Toronto. Garbutt, a former Brampton star, was ineligible for play in the Mann Cup series. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

Stevenson Says Republicans Dodging Big Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governor Adlai Stevenson today accused the Republicans of dodging major issues and campaigning with "slogans, emotion and confetti" as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower charged the truman administration with making a "power-hungry" grab at state rights.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, in a speech prepared for delivery at Casper, Wyo., said "old guard reactionaries" have "induced or forced the general to alter his own positive principles and to adopt. . .views that savor more of isolation and retreat than security and confidence."

Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, 62 years old today, moved his campaign into Texas from New [illegible] declared his [illegible] ownership of oil-rich submerged coastal lands, and jabbed at president Truman and his leadership.

ATTACKS STEVENSON

Senator Richard Nixon, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, delivered a major attack on Stevenson in New York last night, saying he was disqualified for the presidency because of his record on Communism. Nixon said the Democratic standard bearer "has failed to recognize the threat" the Reds present to the U.S. He campaigns in Michigan today.

Senator John J. Sparkman, the Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency, who speaks at Jamestown, N.Y., tonight, yesterday teed off against Eisenhower in Peoria, Ill., saying he doubts the American people will follow the general "blindly in future crusades." Sparkman said Eisenhower is a "captive candidate blanketed by demolitionists and hatchet men" leading a crusade "based on fear rather than on the faith of the future."

washington 1st add dl politics xx future."

Senator Robert A. Taft, "Mr. Republican" from Ohio, preceded Stevenson to Casper. Last night in Casper Taft attacked the administration for what he said was its attempt to force a totalitarian and socialistic form of government on the United States.

PLANS NEW DRIVE

President Truman is in Washington resting up briefly from his 15-day coast-to-coast tour and preparing for another intensive whistle-stop drive — this one a three-day foray into the northeast beginning Thursday.

Eisenhower touched off his Texas tour with a speech prepared for delivery in Houston calling the administration a "weak-kneed and soft-headed" regime trying to grab control of states' rights.

He used such words as "power-mongers" and "reckless drivers" and "discredited" the Truman leadership, and carried on with the attack so popular in coastal oil states: that the federal government is trying to take away control rights and revenue of submerged oil lands. Stevenson and Truman favor federal control.

It was an attack that drew a roaring response in New Orleans yesterday, when the general launched his fourth thrust into Dixie in an effort to win votes in the Democratic south.

EXPECT TO WIN

Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, obviously optimistic about the results of the election just three weeks away today, said "we confidently expect to win [illegible]."

Wants Audiences To Boo If Plays Really Bad

EDINBURGH (CP) — Norman Marshall, director of the play "The Player King," produced at the Edinburgh International Festival, says audiences should boo when they consider a performance bad, applaud when they feel it worthwhile and refrain from applause when the play is indifferent.

In a talk at the world-famed festival, Marshall blamed provincial audiences for the high incidence of failures in London theatres.

RUN FOR BUSINESS

Marshall said that to be successful today a play should be seen by 750,000 people—and this made it impossible for the playwright to judge his audience. In Shakespeare's day, play-goers were highly educated and writers could forecast the reaction of their audiences.

Marshall contends no London theatre today has a definite policy. This he attributes to the fact that theatres have come into the possession of business men instead of theatre people.

He believes plays sometimes are allowed to run too long. In some instances, artists pray for the vehicle to end, for a long run often dulls their talents and some players are "permanently maimed."

SMOKING ABHORRED

Touching on the problems of playwrights, Marshall said the writer who wrote for his own audience, no matter how small, stood a better chance of success than the commercial writer who used only "safe recipes." He claims this is the reason why so little of English play-writing has distinctive appeal.

Marshall said that smoking in theatres is abominable and a torture to actors to have "whiffs of smoke blown down their throats." The most successful theatres in London, he said, are those where smoking is not allowed.

First Woman Doctor In Northwest

REGINA (CP)—More than half a century ago, when a great part of Western Canada was called the Northwest Territories, Mrs. Elizabeth Matheson was the first woman doctor in that vast region.

Dr. Matheson also was the only doctor in a 100-mile area around the Onion Lake Mission when she went there in 1892 with her missionary husband, John Matheson. Onion Lake is about 40 miles north of the present town of Lloydminster, straddling the Alberta-Saskatchewan border.

She had taken only one year at medical school when she arrived at Onion Lake Mission. The Mathesons' chief project then was to conduct an Indian school. But after many requests for medical attention, John Matheson decided that his wife must return to medical school.

GRADUATED IN 1898

The only other white settlers there until the founding of the Barr colony at Lloydminster in 1903 were a detachment of five policemen, the Indian agent and his family, the Hudson's Bay Company clerk and a Roman Catholic missionary.

Visiting her daughter here this summer, Dr. Matheson, now 86, recalled how she travelled 75 miles in a buckboard with a three-month-old baby in her arms to set a broken leg, raced a bush fire to go to the aid of an aged Indian couple deserted by their tribe as the fire threatened, battled diphtheria and smallpox epidemics and examined bodies of murdered men after she later became the area's coroner.

"I liked the life very much," she said. "If I were a young woman today with the same people to work with I would go right back to it.

"The Indians didn't ask for instruction, but they did as they were asked and came regular to church. Their children were intelligent and easily taught."

In 1905 a three-storey hospital was built at Onion Lake. However, few people wanted to come to hospital. Except for the few white maternity cases, Dr. Matheson still attended people in their homes.

MOVED TO WINNIPEG

John Matheson, many years older than his wife, died in 1916. A year later Dr. Matheson moved to Winnipeg.

She became a medical inspector for the Winnipeg Public School Board and held the post until her retirement in 1941.

She speaks with pride of three of her daughters who are carrying on the Matheson tradition of working with the Indians. Two of them teach school on Indian reserves in Northern Ontario and the other assists.

Segregate Problem Children In England School System

REGINA (CP)—Some of the differences between Canadian and English elementary schools were noted by two Regina girls who have returned to this country after a year overseas as exchange teachers.

Margaret Stevenson taught in Leicester and Marie McDonald was assigned to a school in Stoke-on-Trent in the English Midlands.

Miss Stevenson said she spent the first two months observing teaching methods in different types of schools and chatting with teachers and children.

She said that in England it is the custom to segregate pupils with common defects such as deafness or short-sightedness. Problem children go into the rooms for the maladjusted. Miss Stevenson is still undecided whether the latter system is good.

"It seems to me," she said, "that this type of child needs some association with normal children rather than to be placed with his own kind."

In English state schools a day meal is served on the school premises.

"It was no small job seeing that 40 little pupils had their proper quota of a hot noon-day meal, minded their table manners and making sure there were no casualties involved."

Miss McDonald taught dancing, music, English, social studies, art, mathematics and P.T. to boys and girls 10 and 11 years old.

Miss Mcdonald taught two "streams" of classes. She said that in England the children are "streamed" into different classes according to their I.Q. with the bright children going into class A, the next into class B and so on.

"It was like going from one country into another," she commented. "There was a terrific difference in the attitude and mentality of the children."

Both teachers found the standard of education high in England. They felt the absence of a standard curriculum a little difficult to get used to. Each school principal sets the curricula.

In England at the age of 11 each child takes an examination which decides whether he or she will go on to university. The examinations are difficult and only about 25 per cent pass.

The teachers said it usually works out that only the brighter students get university training, just as it does in Canada, but the result is arrived at in a somewhat different manner.

Hope Greater Number Of Women In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women political leaders hope that the Nov. 4 U.S. elections may result in topping the record of 11 women seated in Congress.

Latest reports show that 55 women, including all 10 femine lawmakers now in the House of Representatives, are seeking election.

Across the country, 45 women are candidates for the House, four for the Senate, two for vice-president, one for president — and one apparently would settle for either the White House or the vice-presidency. Two others are seeking governorships.

In the House race, women are not only battling mn in a series of different contests, but in one Massachusetts district three women are fighting it out among themselves.

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Massachussets Republican, Dean of women in Congress, has two women opponents in her quest for a 15th term — Mrs. Helen M. Fitzgerald Cullen, Democrat, and Mrs. Miriam S. Hall, prohibitionist.

NINE PROHIBITIONISTS

Nine women are running on the Prohibitionist ticket for the house, largest list from the minor parties.

Among the major parties, nine women seeking House seats are Republicans, including the six incumbents and three hopefuls, and 16 are Democrats including four incumbents and 12 newcomers.

Mrs. Ellen Linca W. Jensen, a Seattle, Wash., grandmother, is nominee of the Washington Peace Party which aims to put a woman in the White House.

Mrs. Mary Kenny, a Lincoln, Neb., housewife, is listed as the American party's lone candidate on its president - vice - president ticket.

In about 10 states, the name of Mrs. Charlotta Bass, New York, a Negress, former publisher of the California Eagle, will be listed on the ballot for vice-president as a Progressive Party candidate.

The other vice-presidential candidate is Myra Tanner Weiss, also of New York, whose name will be on the Socialist Workers' ticket in New York and New Jersey and on that of the Militant Workers in Pennsylvania.

ONLY ONE NOW

At present, there is only one woman Senator — Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine — and her seat is not at stake this year. However, four other women are seeking to join her in the Senate in the coming 83rd Congress.

One is Vivien Kellems, scrappy industrialist, who heads her own cable-grip factory in Stonington, Conn. She is running as an Independent-Republican. The other three are: Genora Dollinger, Mich., socialist worker; Mrs. Katherine A. Van Orden, N.J., Progressive, and Anna Chester, Pa., Militant worker.

France Launches War On Drug Traffic

By HAROLD SIEVE

PARIS (Reuters)—French police and public health authorities have launched an all-out war on the international drug traffickers who have made France a key centre of a world-wide set-up for smuggling drugs into Canada, the United States and South America.

Spearheading the campaign is Paul Ribeyre, Public Health Minister, who has drafted a bill for presentation before the current session of the National Assembly, providing stiffer penalties for convicted drug peddlers and compulsory treatment of addicts.

So far this year, French police, working with the International Police Organization, have cracked down on five secret drug-making laboratories in France. In the last nine months they have seized more than 33 pounds of heroin and 26 pounds of morphine.

KEY DRUG PORTS

French drug consumption is not high, but her geographical position has made her an important centre in the world-wide drug trade. Paris and Marseilles have become vital junctions on the "white death" line, whose principal terminus is the North American continent.

Manufacturers operating in or near the two centres are believed to have produced more than 500 kilograms of heroin so far this year for the drug market price of $3,600 a kilogram (2.2 pounds).

The long, underground route from producer to consumer starts in the opium poppy fields of the Middle East and parts of the Balkans. Packed into tight blocks like plug tobacco, the opium is smuggled across frontiers in false coffins, toilets of international [illegible] spare tires, car seats, rubber tubes off the French coast where it is picked up by men in small boats.

Once in France, the "chemists" get to work on the raw opium in hidden laboratories, refining it first into morphine and then from morphine into heroin.

Some of the secret laboratories have been located in isolated parts of the country, because of the pungent smells given off. But others have been found in the suburbs of Paris and Marseilles.

The next leg of the journey is to one of the Atlantic ports, such as Le Havre or Cherbourg, to be smuggled aboard ships bound for the United States, Canada or South America.

American Hockey League Rescinds No-Recall Rule

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The American Hockey League Board of Governors last night rescinded the no-recall rule and allowed a limited exchange of players with other leagues.

The governors unanimously approved a rule allowing any club to exchange up to two players with a team in another league between now and Feb. 15, 1953.

From Feb. 15 until the league playoffs, the old rule will be in effect.

A source close to the governors said the new rule "split the difference" between the no-recall rule and a four-player exchange [illegible] of the A.H.L. and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

CAN FARM PLAYERS

In effect, the new rule will allow N.H.L. clubs to farm two players a season to A.H.L. clubs with which they have arrangements or working agreements, with the assurance they can be recalled if needed by the parent club.

Indianapolis dropped out of the A.H.L. last week, saying the Caps could not operate under the prevailing A.H.L.-N.H.L. disagreement over the recall rule.

A 64-game schedule was tentativey agreed on, with each of the [illegible] The league will operate as a single division. The season will open next week-end.

Decide Shift By Population Big Problem

SEATTLE (AP)—A great population shift to the west and south has created the major problem confronting the Lutheran Church in the United States, clerics and laymen of America's largest Lutheran group reported today.

They were in virtually complete agreement on this in a sampling made of delegates to the 18th biennial convention of the united Lutheran Church in America.

The eight-day convention comes to an end tomorrow.

MATTER OF SPEED

The reason the church has been confronted with a serious situation by the mass migration of the American people was described as mainly a matter of speed.

"We're finding it hard to keep up with them," said Rev. Charles G. Tusing, Pulaski, Va. "unless the church gets into an area at the same time the people do, those who were active in their home congregations do not normally take their place in the religious life of the new community into which they move."

Unusual Drama Proves Success

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP) — With metaphysical overtones which at times make it appear to be a drama in a dream world, Ugo Betti's "The Gambler" brought a poetic and eerie quality to Broadway last night when it had its premiere at the Lyceum Theatre with Alfred Drake as star and co-author.

Already acclaimed in European and South American theatres, "The Gambler" is a story of a group of widely-assorted people who try to explain why they do or do not do certain things not consistent with the accepted customs of their daily lives.

The play is a brilliant tour-de-force for Drake, not only for his performance in the lead, but also for the adaptation he made in collaboration with Edward Eager from Betti's original.

Europeans Rush To Buy Firearms

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — A panic rush for firearms has started among white settlers here because police believe the current wave of murder, rape, arson and cattle-maiming by the anti-white "Mau Mau" terrorists has yet to reach its peak.

A new feeling of fear and anger has gripped the British colony since Friday night's attack by the "Mau Mau" on an elderly couple in bed and nightmare revelations of the secret sect's mystical initiation ceremony.

Europeans lined up for a quarter of a mile outside the administrative offices Saturday applying for firearm permits.

Since Sept. 23 five Europeans have been attacked.

Drowned In Well

PEMBROKE (CP) — Two-year-old Robin Lee Robmell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Robmell, was drowned yesterday when she fell into a deep well in the back yard of her farm home near here. She was playing with her brother, Robert, and it is believed the children pulled a heavy cover from the top of the 30-foot-deep well.

Hunted From Car Two Men Fined

Hunting partridge by cruising along a country road with loaded shotguns sticking through open car windows may be a comfortable way to bag grouse but the law frowns on it.

Conservation officer Stan Windsor was patrolling a county sideroad September 27 when he nabbed two Norwood men, Jack Stackhouse and Glen Hubble. The pair had loaded shotguns in a car, aimed out the windows.

In police court today, they entered written guilty pleas on charges of having loaded firearms in an automobile and paid fines of $10 and $2.50 each.

Make a sauce boiling 1 cup raisins with 1 cup strained cooking broth until raisins are plump and tender. Add ½ or 1 cup red currant or black currant jelly and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Pour this over the tongue and bake 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr., basting 3 or 4 times.

Stewed Kidneys

Wash 4 pork kidneys and soak them in salt water 1 hour. Drain, remove outer thin skin, cut open and remove veinous portion and inner fat. Cover with cold water; heat gradually to boiling then cook below boiling point for 20 minutes. Drain. Cut into about 1 inch pieces, dredge or roll in salted and peppered flour. Heat margarine or drippings in frying pan. Saute in it about 2 sliced onions until they are limp, then add the floured kidneys and brown them on all sides. Partly cover with boiling water, cover and simmer 1 ½ hours or until kidneys are tender. Thicken gravy with a little flour and water paste just before serving time. Taste and add seasonings if necessary. Serve on toast points attractively garnished.

Baked Stuff Heart

Baby beef heart is best but if you have a pressure cooker mature beef hearts are just as good.

Wash heart with salted water and cut and remove veins and arteries and excess fat. Dry. Fill with stuffing as for Liver Rolls (above). Tie or skewer top. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Place about 3 tablespoons fat in baking dish and brown heart on all sides—do not use glass dish over open burners. Add boiling water to 1 inch depth, cover, and bake 2 hours a 275 deg. Fahr. very slow oven—or until heart is tender. Thicken stock in pan with flour paste and pour over heart. Heart baked this way is delicious sliced cold and served with Chutney.

Coldwell Hopes Canada Has 'Realistic' Attitude

WINNIPEG (CP) — M.J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said today he hopes that at the forthcoming conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London the Canadian government will be "realistic" and "consider concrete policies that go to the root of the sterling block's troubles."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Winnipeg branch of the Canadian Club, Mr. Coldwell said:

"It would be most unfortunate, if the Canadian government were to take the position at this conference, as some reports suggest that it will, that the internal economic policies of Britain and other sterling countries, are chiefly to blame for their economic plight.

"It has been suggested that our government is ready to criticize such domestic policies of Britain as subsidized housing, health services, and so on, in an attempt to show that Britain is living beyond its income.

LITTLE RELATIONSHIP

"If such an argument is advanced it could only be in an attempt to absolve Canada of any responsibility for the present crisis. fel, in reality, there is little relationship between such policies and Britain's inability to solve her dollar problem.

"Welfare policies involve a redistribution of a nation's income through the use of transfer payments, and in effect aid the less fortunate by taxing those in the upper income brackets. This is a domestic matter and thus is not a matter for international inquiry."

Mr. Coldwell said Canada alone cannot bring about a solution to the problems of the sterling area. It would take the combined efforts of the United States and Canada acting in concert with the non-dollar countries.

Love For Canadian Secretary Blamed At Murder Trial

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state today accused George Edward Grammer of killing his wife because he was in love with a 28-year-old Canadian secretary at the United Nations headquarters in New York.

State's attorney Anselm Sodaro in his opening statement identified the secretary as Miss Mathilda Mizibrocky. Her relatives live in Hamilton, Ont.

Grammer, 35, formerly of Baltimore but for the last two years office manager for a New York metals firm, is accused of killing his wife "with malice aforethought" last Aug. 20.

LISTED AS ACCIDENT

Mrs. Dorothy May Grammer, 33, mother of three, was found in her car at the foot of a hill near the outskirts of Baltimore. She was dead on arrival at a hospital. The case was first listed as an accident but later investigation brought a murder charge against her husband.

Sodaro told Judge Herman M. Moser, hearing the case without a jury, that Grammer met Miss Mizibrocky in November, 1951, in New York City.

Miss Mizibrocky had not been formally identified until today. When she appeared to testify before the Baltimore grand jury, she was labelled as the "woman in the red hat."

Sodaro said that Miss Mizibrocky would testify Grammer spent so much time with her "that it never occurred to her he could be a married man, nor did Grammer reveal that he was married."

Sodaro said that during the latter part of July Grammer learned he was to take a business trip to Denver, Colo. The lawyer added:

"Evidence will be produced to show that Grammer registered himself and Miss Mizibrocky as Mr. and Mrs. Grammer at the Edgewater Beach hotel on July 25, and they stayed together as man and wife until August, at which time Grammer proceeded by plane to his business in Denver and Miss Mizibrocky proceeded by plane to her home in Canada."

About 120 witnesses have been listed to testify in the case. Grammer was indicted by the grand jury two weeks after his wife's death.

Mayhew Appointed Canada's Envoy To Japan

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today appointed Fisheries Minister Mayhew, 72, as ambassador to Japan and named two British Columbia members to the cabinet. Mr. Mayhew is replaced in the cabinet by James Sinclair, 44, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott. Ralph Campney, parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton, becomes solicitor-general, a post now filled by Justice Minister Garson.

Mr. St. Laurent made the announcements at a press conference in his east-block office.

Mr. Mayhew's appointment takes effect Nov. 15. It was described by Mr. St. Laurent as one which has "delighted" the Japanese and which gives Canada an envoy who has great knowledge of the trade and other problems between the two countries.

With the two new cabinet appointments, the Prime Minister indicated he hopes he can stand pat on the present cabinet until the next general election.

M.P. SINCE 1937

Mr. Mayhew, a member of the cabinet since 1948, represents the British Columbia constituency of Victoria. A well-known business man on the coast, he has been in the Commons since 1937.

He will become Canada's first post-war ambassador to Japan. Arthur Menzies, a career diplomat, has been heading the Canadian mission in Japan.

Mr. Sinclair, member of the Commons for Coast Capilano, was first elected in 1940. He has been Mr. Abbott's assistant since 1949. He is an engineer by profession.

Mr. Campney, a lawyer, represents Vancouver Centre. He entered the Commons in a 1948 by-election and was appointed Mr. Claxton's assistant in 1951.

Mr. Mayhew's departure will leave one vacancy in the Commons.

The new standing:

Liberals 183; Progressive Conservatives 49; C.C.F. 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal 2; Independent 4; Vacant 1; total 262.

The cabinet changes were the first announced by Prime Minister that time Hon. Edouard Rinfret resigned as postmaster general to accept an appointment to the Quebec bench. He was succeeded by Alcide Cote, Liberal member for the Quebec constituency of St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville.

Heavy Pressure On Acheson To Ease Speech

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Allies of the United States today were reliably reported putting pressure on State Secretary Dean Acheson to avoid any ultimatum to the Chinese Communists and North Koreans.

Acheson had been scheduled to speak today in the general debate in the United Nations General Assembly. But late yesterday his speech was postponed indefinitely—raising speculation that he was awaiting the first move by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia.

It was reported today, however, that Acheson had been urged by allies of the U. S. to confine his initial call for action in Korea to an appeal to the Communists to accept a truce on the basis of the latest U.N. peace proposals at Panmunjom.

OPPOSE ACTION THREAT

The appeal, the allies believe, should not fix a particular time limit for an answer from the Communists and should not threaten further U. N. action if Communist China and North Korea do not comply. Such a move by Acheson, the allies feel, might be regarded as an ultimatum. This would not rally the support of many U.N. delegates, especially the Arab-Asian bloc which has indicated reluctance to approve U.S. conduct of the truce talks without a full accounting.

The allies were reported to believe that any tougher U. N. action should not be called for until the Communists have been given a reasonable time to reply to any appeal.

The scheduled opening today of the general debate has been postponed until tomorrow at the earliest because only two delegates are ready to speak. A meeting of the steering committee was set for this afternoon.

There has been no indication as yet of when Vishinsky will speak. But he is widely expected to introduce a Soviet proposal for breaking the Korean truce deadlock.

The steering committee began its consideration of the agenda this morning.

L.B. Pearson, Canada's Minister for External Affairs who was elected yesterday to the presidency of the Assembly, said at a press conference that he hoped the agenda could be drawn up quickly. Pearson also is chairman of the steering committee.

Brazilian Plane Missing With 18

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP).— The Meridional news agency reported today that a Brazilian DC-3 plane with 18 persons aboard is missing en route from Rio de Janeiro to Porto Alegre, in Southern Brazil.

The dispatch said the ship, owned by Aerovia Brasil Airlines last reported in at 3 p.m. yesterday, about 20 minutes before it was due to land at Porto Alegre's airport. Its eventual destination was Buelos Aires.

The plane is believed missing in a region of mountains and dense jungle near Rio Grande, about 720 miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro.

A Panair do Brasil Airline plane has searched the area without success and the Brazilian Air Force planned to send up 15 search planes today.

The missing plane carried 14 passengers and a crew of four.

Half-Cent Drop In Gas Price

TORONTO (CP) — A drop of one-half cent a gallon in the price of gasoline will be in effect in Ontario by Thursday or Friday, oil company officials said today. A drop of two-tenths of a cent in the price of fuel oil was also reported.

Imperial Oil today announced a half-cent drop in its wholesale price. Officials of the Retail Gasoline Dealers' Association said they expect other companies to follow suit "because of the competition."

Service station operators here said it "may be a day or two" before the decrease was passed on to the public.

Oil company officials said the price drop was a result of the [illegible] dollar in relation to the United States dollar. Crude oil imported from the U.S. costs less in Canadian currency.

The majority of operators of retail gasoline outlets interviewed here today said they would give the motorist the benefit of the cut.

Police Find Man Hiding In Hamilton

TORONTO (CP) — Roderick (Rocky) Morrisetti, 29, one of the most-wanted men on Toronto police lists was arrested last night in a north-end Hamilton house.

Morrisetti was wanted for jumping $3,000 bail last week on charge of possessing guns illegally. He had been arrested several months ago in Toronto when police found him and two girls with several machine guns and automatics in a west-end home.

Police said at the time that the machine-guns had been stolen from Camp Borden.

Morrisetti gave police no trouble when arrested. He was taken into custody half asleep after officers broke down the door to his bedroom.

Party Rule Intensified For Russians

Red Citizens Told New Crackdown Will Be Imposed

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—A leader of the Soviet Communist party's control commission warned yesterday that party representatives will be installed in republics, districts and counties, independently of local party authorities, to intensify party rule.

This warning came from the deputy chairman of the control commission, Matvei Shkiryatov, 69, a close associate of Prime Minister Stalin. In a speech to the 19th all-union Communist party congress, he said:

"This measure will assist in the prevention of violation of party by-laws and intensification of the struggle against defects and unhealthy phenomena which exist in the life and work of party organizations."

Shkiryatov's statement, which may be regarded as the most important report on party discipline in a long time, was one of the highlights of the closing sessions of this congress, the first called by the party in 13 years.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Shkiryatov promised severe punishment to "bureaucrats and stiflers of criticism, regardless of who is involved."

Some party officials, he said, actually impede "criticism and self-criticism" by reckless statements against other party members. They "concoct all manner of fables, ridiculous rumors and groundless accusations," and, from motives of self-interest, "try maliciously to defame and calumniate honest persons."

New Offensive In Indo-China

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — Troops of the Communist - led Vietminh launched their long-expected post-monsoon offensive at dawn today, striking toward northwestern Laos and the last French-held positions on the Chinese frontier there.

A French Army communique admitted the Vietminh was exerting "marked pressure" and had captured four or five advanced posts manned chiefly by pro-French mountain tribesmen.

Northwest Laos, bordering Red China, long has been a dormant front in the continuing warfare between the French and the Communist-led guerrillas. It is the only section of northern Indo-China — except Moncay in the extreme northeast — where the French or their native allies hold positions actually on the Chinese border.

The Chinese push came a day after the French announced conclusion of their own first drive after the rainy season, an attempted encirclement of Vietminh forces in the Ninh Binh sector 50 miles southeast of Hanoi. The French claimed to have killed 300 rebels and captured 350 but admitted

Kenya Governor Threatened By Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Mau Mau terrorists last night threatened the life of the colonial governor, Sir Evelyn Baring, as part of their campaign to drive the white man out of Kenya.

The threat was made in a letter sent him by the "Mau Mau High Court of Justice."

Baring was touring up-country when he received it. After reading it, he decided to make no change in his plans.

Identical letters also were sent to Attorney-General John Whyatt and the manager of a leading Nairobi hotel.

The threat against Baring's life was announced soon after police disclosed that two Kikuyu tribesmen had been arrested for the Mau Mau murder of their senior chief.

One of the accused is alleged to be the gunman who slew elderly Chief Waruhiu Wa Kunga with a burst of machine-gun fire as he sat in his car in front of a church last week.

Identify Body Of Nude Woman

TORONTO (CP) — The mutilated body of a 52-year-old woman taken from the Don River yesterday was identified as Irene Organ, a cripple, well known in the Dundas-Jarvis area of downtown Toronto.

Her body was seen floating in from ear to ear, almost decapitating her, and there were gashes in her chest and a wound in her lower abdomen. The killer also made an attempt to sever her left leg just below the knee. She was murdered Sunday or Monday.

Professor Josyn Rogers of the Provincial Medico-Legal Laboratory, said: "It is either the work of a maniac or a sadistic drunk."

Police are searching the Don River for the weapon, believed to be a large butcher knife.

Although the woman's name was Irene Organ, she was just as well known as Mary Morgan and sometimes gave the name of O'Shea. Police have discovered 11 different addresses for her, all of them false.

Last year she was jailed nine times on drunk charges and had 19 convictions for the same offence during the last 10 years. She was released from Mercer Reformatory September 27.

S. Koreans Take Mountain Again

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—U.S. 7th division soldiers stormed through mist, fog and Chinese fire to the top of Triangle Hill on the central Korean front today, then dug in on the north slope awaiting an expected Communist counter-attack. Seventeen miles to the west, South Korean 9th division troops blasted the Reds with high explosives from their last hold on bload-soaked White Horse Mountain. Just east of Triangle, other South Koreans jumped off in a renewed assault against Sniper Ridge.

FIGHTING HEAVY

Battle-hardened veterans of the 7th division stormed back to the top of Triangle just before noon.

Allied planes pounded the Reds with bombs, rockets and flaming gasoline.

Early-morning fog provided protection as the attacking U. S. infantry scrambled up the steep, sandy slopes of the Chinese outpost.

The fog cut down the usually-savage Chinese mortar fire.

Once atop the crest, U. S. mortar crews lobbed smoke shells into the valley just to the north. These cut down visibility of Chinese artillery spotters on towering Papa a san Mountain.

On White Horse Mountain, South Korean engineers tunnelled under the last three Chinese positions. They planted stacks of land mines then withdrew.

HILL BLOWN UP

The mines exploded and the whole mountain shuddered.

The South Korean regimental commander.

While the Chinese still were stunned, South Korean infantry charged with bayonets. They captured the first knob easily, the second after four hours, and the third and last after a two-hour fight.

Queen Follows Father's Beliefs

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen said today her father, King George VI, despite failing health, "never faltered in that service to his peoples to which he had dedicated himself."

"He had a simple and resolute faith in God and sought divine guidance and support in all his undertakings," the Queen added in a message read to a Church of England conference.

Of herself she said:

"I earnestly pray that in my endeavors for the spiritual, no less than the material, well-being of my peoples I may ever be sustained and defended by the most gracious and ready help of our heavenly father.

"My husband joins with me in thanking you warmly for your assurance of constant regard and affection towards our family."

Safe With $5,000 Stolen From P.O.

WELLAND (CP) — A large safe containing $5,000 in cash, postage stamps and $40,000 in unemployment insurance stamps and money order forms was stolen from the post office here last night. Police said the safe was carted away in a truck.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Announced U.S. battle casualties in Korea reached 121,154 today, an increase of 855 since last week. Of the 885, 158 were killed in action, 41 are missing and 686 are wounded.

Say Truck Stalled On Barrie Highway Report No Lights

TORONTO (CP)—Three Toronto residents were killed and 25 other persons injured, six severely, last night when a Toronto-bound bus smashed into a stalled 15-ton dump truck fully loaded with sand on the new four-lane Barrie highway just north of the city's outskirts. Dead are Dr. Ulrich Schacter, 53; Ruth Croutear, 35; and Mrs. Mary Falla, 66. The Gray Coach bus with 32 passengers aboard ripped into the truck, hurled it 52 feet along the road, then came to rest 50 feet beyond it.

FO. Keith Smith, 26, of Sherbrooke, Que., refused treatment for knee and leg bruises and took charge of rescue work. Pte. A. T. Sutton of Napanee and Paul Muir, 25. of Orillia, helped organize uninjured passengers and motorists who stopped into a rescue team to remove dead and injured from the tangled wreckage.

DRIVER UNHURT

Bus driver Douglas Boden escaped unhurt although the right side of the bus was torn open and the passengers in the seat behind him were killed. He told police the sand truck was parked without lights.

"There were no lights, definitely no lights," Boden said. "I didn't see the truck until I was on top of it. I wrenched the steering wheel. Just one foot of extra clearance and it wouldn't have happened."

Peter Schissler, the truck driver, said he had left the truck because he couldn't move it after the rear axle broke. He claimed he had left the front and rear lights on when he set out in another truck belonging to the same firm to get help at a service station. He said he had no flares to set out.

"There were six lights on the back of the truck," Schissler said.

MUST LIGHT FLARES

J.D. Millar, Ontario deputy minister of highways, said today the law requires that flares be lit 60 paces to the rear and the front of a stalled truck. All trucks are supposed to carry flares.

It was 40 minutes before the first of five ambulances reached the crash scene. Motorists drove five miles to the nearest place where they could report the accident to police. They telephoned from a farmhouse.

The Department of Highways announced last month that phones

Britain Rejects Iran's Demands As Unreasonable

LONDON — (Reuters) — Britain has rejected as "unreasonable" Iran's proposal for immediate negotiations to settle the long-standing oil dispute, the Foreign Office announced today.

Terms of the British note, delivered in Tehran yesterday, appear to put a settlement of the issue further away than ever. Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has called a meeting of the Majlis (lower house of Parliament) tomorrow to map his next step in the dispute.

HAVE TWO REASONS

Britain turned down Iran's plan for immediate negotiations on two main grounds:

1. Mossadegh's demand for £49,000,000 within the first three weeks of the proposed negotiations was out of the question.

2. Iran's proposal covered only compensation of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's "physical installations" in Iran. The company seeks wider compensation for the cancellation of its oil concession 40 years before the expiration date.

Chief stickler to re-opening of negotiations broken off Aug. 22, 1951, is Iran's demand for an in-talks open, the British note said.

Blast Destroys Plant Building

ASHLAND, Wis. (AP) — An explosion early today destroyed the nitro mixing building of the Dupont Company plant in Barksdale, about five miles northwest of here Company officials said eight employees are missing and believed dead.

Damage to the plant was estimated at $75,000. Additional thousands of dollars damage was done in Ashland, where hundreds of windows were broken. The main street was covered with glass from blown out store windows.

Police were ordered on special duty to prevent looting.

Quebec Earthquake Said Most Severe In Six Years

OTTAWA (CP) — An earthquake which shook Quebec City, northern Maine and various points along the St. Lawrence River late yesterday affected seismographs here so strongly the instruments did not make a proper recording.

Officials at the Dominion observatory said they had no way of assessing the size or location of the quake immediately, but indicated it may be the strongest earth shock in Eastern Canada since the Cornwall quake of 1946.

They said they will distribute a questionnaire in the quake area in an attempt to determine damage and peculiarities of the tremor and study reports from eastern United States stations to pin down the epicentre.

Normally the seismograph station here is able to determine accurately the size and distance of tremors all over the world. In this case only the time of the quake was fixed at 5:05 p.m. EST.

HITS WIDE AREA

Reports from Quebec said chairs shook in Quebec City and lights swung back and forth from the ceiling in a police station in Quebec's lower - town district. The quake also was felt at Ste. Anne de Beaupre, 20 miles northeast of Quebec City, at Riviere du Loup, 115 miles down the St. Lawrence River south shore from Quebec, in Three Rivers and in Montreal.

A Portland, Me., report said the earthquake rattled a wide area of northern Maine, but caused no damage. It was felt in Augusta, Auburn, the Fort Kent section, and in parts of Aroostook county, as well as in Tinker, N.B., just above the Maine border.

It was recorded at 5:06 p.m. EST by both the Boston College and and Columbia University seismograph stations. Boston College placed the quake at 351 miles north of Boston and said it was "quite strong for a local earthquake."

Won't Be Ignored

Allow Canada Peek At Atom Secrets

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's embarrassing ignorance of atomic weapons has come at least partly to an end.

Dr. O.M. Solandt, one of five Canadian scientist who took part in Britain's atomic explosion north of Australia this month, said yesterday Britain will continue to cut Canada in on her atomic weapons program as she did on Monte Bello Island.

Canada is out of the weapons field herself and is blocked off from information of what the United States is doing. She has been trying to keep informed on the growth of the world's No. 1 weapon largely by what her officials read in books and reports.

It has been what officials frankly call an embarrassing situation. The Monte Bello reports by Dr. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board, and four of his scientific staff represent the first direct information Canada has had in six years.

NOT FOR BOMBS

This sort of information will continue to come to Ottawa, Dr. Solandt told a press conference, because Canada now is getting from Britain all the information she needs and has her own scientists taking part in the British program.

She doesn't want information for the purpose of making bombs, he said. But she does want it for two other reasons — she must be prepared for atomic attacks on Canadian cities and for warfare in which Canadian troops would find themselves fighting with the support of atomic weapons wielded by allies.

Weighing most of his answers with extreme caution and occasionally declining to answer certain queries, Dr. Solandt made these comments:

1. It was an atomic bomb explosion set off by the British, not a hydrogen bomb. The explosive mechanism could conceivably be used in various forms, including a bomb or guided missile.

2. Canada was given complete information not only about the effects of the test, but about the bomb itself.

3. Canadian knowledge gleaned at Chalk River contributed "a great deal' to the design of Britain's atomic reactors—atom splitters — and weapons equipment.

SMALL-SIZED TEAM

4. He was impressed by the small size of the British scientific team. It was only a small fraction of the team used by the Americans at Bikini in 1946, yet it managed to make as many tests and probably more.

Dr. Solandt was asked how the British weapon compares with American bombs.

He said he doesn't know anything about U.S. bombs. But it would be unreasonable to expect the British to surpass a country which has spent so much more time and money in this field. All he knew was that the Monte Bello bomb showed the British have progressed "very well" since the Hiroshima-Nagasaki bombs of the Second World War.

Mayors Ask Frost Give $5 Grant For Welfare Work

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's mayors and reeves yesterday asked Premier Frost for an interim grant of $5 per capita toward social and welfare services until the provincial-municipal relations committee recommendations are brought down. During two closed meetings, one with Premier Frost, the other with the Provincial Municipal committee, municipalities asked relief of services making up 10.51 per cent of the municipal budget. They also asked aid in making four representations to the federal government: (1) asking Ottawa to pay for municipal services to federal property; (2) to give aid with education costs, (3) civilian defence costs and (4) subsidization of housing.

PROTEST PRACTICE

The association of mayors and reeves accused the federal government of making grants in lieu of taxation on certain defence plants. Listing two Scarboro plants as examples it requested aid in protesting against this growing practice.

The mayors and reeves went after a slice of the revenue from the recent tax-rental deal arranged with Ottawa and asked for larger shares of gasoline taxes and vehicular licences and permit fees.

Labor Income Hits New High

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian labor income hit an all-time high of more than $900,000,000 in July.

The Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday that the July total of $905,000,000—up $13,000,000 from June and $78,000,000 from July last year—was the first monthly total of labor income ever to top the $900,000,000 mark.

There have been substantial gains in each month so far this year compared with 1951. The cumulative total for the first seven months of the year climbed to a new peak of $6,058,000,000, compared with $5,411,000,000 a year ago.

Say Soviets Have 4,400 Planes In Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Secretary of the United States Air Force, Thomas K. Finletter, said yesterday the "direct Soviet contribution to the air war in Korea is in excess of 4,400 aircraft."

Finletter told a press conference the Communist concentration of heavy anti-aircraft artillery around some key areas in North Korea already approaches the heaviest concentrations of the Second World War.

He reported that these batteries contain almost 500 heavy guns in addition to between 1,000 and 1,500 smaller automatic weapons. The major anti-aircraft batteries, the Secretary stated, "appear to be operated by or under the control of Soviet technicians."

Child Relates Holdup Details

CHESTER, Calif. (AP)—Sandra Young falteringly told officers yesterday of two robbers who beat her father and three children to death Friday, and left her, too, for dead.

The 3½-year-old daughter of Guard Young, Chester grocer, related first from a hospital bed and later at the scene of the crime, details that led Bertrand Janes, Plumas county district attorney, to say he is confident that he can identify the killers if they are found.

Meanwhile, during the day Reno, Nev., officers, acting on word from Plumas county officers, picked up Louis Edmond Blair, 37, at a roadblock north of Reno.

Blair, owner of the Chester movie theatre, was a neighbor of the Youngs. He denied any knowledge of the slayings.

Sandra had been in a hospital at nearby Westwood for treatment of a skull fracture and other injuries suffered at the hands of the killers.

The slayers stuffed her into the trunk of her father's car, along with the bodies of her father and her sisters, Jean, 7, and Judy, 6, and her playmate, Michael Saile, 4.

Ask Floor Price Kept On Hogs

TORONTO (CP)—Continuation of the 26-cent floor price on hogs was asked by the Ontario Hog Producers' Association in their semi-annual meeting yesterday.

The association planned action to stabilize hog production and improve the quality of hogs sold on the market.

The association also approved plans to allow all sales to be handled by a central marketing board known as the Ontario Livestock Sales Ltd., made up of former commission men on stockyards.

The last Chinese to fight and die on White Horse were the battered remnants of five Red regiments (15,000 men), Lim said. In nine days of bitter fighting the Reds suffered more than 10,000 casualties.

RED ATTACK REPULSED

The Reds hurled eight light probing attacks at U. N. positions on Finger Ridge, west of the Pukhan River. All were repulsed.

Patrols and probing actions flared briefly at other scattered points.

B-26 bombers flew through heavy clouds last night in continued attacks on Communist supply lines. Pilots reported 35 trucks destroyed.

Nine B-29 Superforts dropped nearly 100 tons of high explosives last night at four troop and supply centres near Wonsan, on the northeast Korean coast.

The Far East Air Forces said Allied planes flew "well over 1,000" combat sorties yesterday — the third straight day U.N. planes have passed that mark.

Paquin had been charged with murder in connection with the Aug. [illegible] quin's home near Deux Rivieres.

Cherney Bros. Buy Out Yolles Branch

Cherney Brothers have purchased the existing stock and accounts of Yolles Furniture Co. Peterborough branch.

In making the announcement today, Harry Cherney said the transaction resulted from the decision of Yolles to close their branch store here due to the expiration of the lease on their Hunter Street store.

Yolles customers will be able to pay their accounts at the Cherney department store, rather than having to deal with the Yolles head office in Toronto.

Mr. Cherney said that his firm had been approached by Yolles to purchase the existing stock, to eliminate the necessity of the company having to ship it to their central warehouse.

PART OF SALES STAFF

The Yolles branch store opened here five years ago. Mr. Cherney said part of the sales staff of the Yolles store will be absorbed into the Cherney organization.

The Cherney Bros, Myer, Harry and Louis, opened their first furniture store on Hunter Street in 1935. They moved to their present location at King and George Streets in September, 1949, and opened their modern department store.

They recently celebrated their 17th anniversary, and in commenting on the purchase of Yolles stock and accounts, Mr. Harry Cherney said, "We hope their customers will become ours."

Two Charged After Accidents

LINDSAY — (ENS). — Two men, one from Lindsay, the other from the district, will appear in Lindsay police court today charged with careless driving, and one will face an additional charge of driving with his ability impaired.

Constable Percy Mark of the town police laid the charges after two accidents on Saturday. In one Morley Teal of Kirkfield, was making a U-turn on Kent Street East, when he clipped a parked car with his truck. Constable Mark witnessed the accident, and flagged the driver down. He is charged with being impaired, as well as careless driving. Damage to the truck was nil, and to the car about $10.

Saturday night, Gerald Statten 17, of Lindsay, was driving east on Kent Street when his car met in collision with a truck driven by Clarence Armstrong, also of Lindsay. The Armstrong truck was making a left turn off Kent Street into Albert Street South at the time of the accident.

Constable Mark again investigated and found that the Staten car had bushed the heavy truck around completely, and had suffered about $250 damage, although the truck was hardly damaged. A passenger in the Statten car, Kay Eckett of Lindsay, complained of minor injuries, and was given medical attention.

Bishop Protests "Brush-Off"

REGINA (CP) — Most Rev. Martin M. Johnson, Roman Catholic bishop of Nelson, B.C., said last night those who advocated separate schools or church-financed colleges are "brushed off" by provincial authorities.

Speaking at the annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, Bishop Johnson said separate schools are regarded as a religious issue.

"They are nothing of the sort," he said. "We are attacking neither Protestant, pagan nor Jew, nor the public school system. We are defending the rights of parents to educate their children."

If the cause is lost, he continued, "It is not Catholic parents alone who will lament, but all parents who do not want their children to become slaves of the state."

He said the provincially-directed systems of education might usurp the "God-given" right of parents to determine the education of their children. Bishop Johnson added that the primary purpose of government is to protect the rights of the individual, and those who forget it become slaves of the state.

Queen's Visit Pleases Anzacs

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Australia and New Zealand today welcomed the announcement last night that the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will visit the Dominions early in 1954.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia said they will "receive a magnificent welcome."

John MacDonald, Prime Minister of Victoria State, said the visit will help "immensely" strengthen the ties of empire, and the people's affection for the throne.

Officials in Canberra said: "Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will visit all Australia's states, but they will probably fly more than had been planned for King George VI, when the late King's health was a major factor in deciding that the bulk of travel should be by ship."

Prime Minister Sydney Holland of New Zealand said in Wellington today that all New Zealanders were "delighted" with the news.

Recreation Centre Kindergarten Jammed

LINDSAY — (ENS).— Congestion in Lindsay's recreation centre kindergarten is becoming so bad that suggestions are being made that the public schools hold kindergarten classes.

Such a suggestion was made at last night's meeting of the town council. Alderman Pierce brought the subject up by stating "we now have 74 attending the kindergarten at the recreation centre, and we had trouble getting a teacher. I can see a large item of expenditure facing the town ratepayers. It may even mean building two additional rooms to the public schools."

Council asked the School Board to make a survey and report to council.

Ike's Income $888,303 For 10 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower made public yesterday income for the last 10 years totalling $888,303, of which $635,000 came from his book, "Crusade in Europe."

He said he paid $217,082 in taxes, leaving him a net income of $643,-148. Without the book, Eisenhower's net was $166,898.

"I am now, in every sense of the word, a private citizen, and without income except from investments."

Eisenhower's revelation followed a similar financial statement by his Democratic opponent, Governor Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson last month listed his gross income for the last 10 years as $500,052 and his taxes as $211,-980. His net income for the period was $288,066.

The industrial losses showed strongly in papers, foods, utilities, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues as most groups weakened. Liquors turned mixed after a firm morning.

Lakeshore was outstanding in the gold section, losing $1.50 in the first three hours on a turnover of 8,400 shares. Prospects drew little support and Gunnar, Chimo and Violamac slipped.

Western oils losses ranged to 60 cents as Britalta, Central Leduc and Del Rio lost strength. A few issues added pennies.

Heaviest trader in the base metals list was Bellekeno, moving 100,-000 shares for a gain of six cents.

During the growing season, the Examiner newsroom becomes the repository for freak vegetables grown in the fertile (and unpredictable) garden soil of city and county. Early today Richard B. Betteley, a Smith Township resident, came in with a massive carrot, or 12 carrots joined into a single growth. Mr. Betteley said the seed was sown by the late Richard V. T. Betteley, an enthusiastic gardener. "I've never seen anything like it," volunteered Richard Betteley. That made it unanimous. Neither had any of the newsroom crew.

Heavy Water Used In New Technique

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Heavy" water, a possible key material in the development of the hydrogen bomb, has opened up a new technique in medical, industrial and weather research.

Scientists of the National Bureau of Standards reported today they are using the stuff in a new and quicker method of determining such things as the water content of the human body, the water absorption powers of certain chemical crystals and the moisture content of the atmosphere.

They said an analysis of any one of such things could be done in less than a half hour with the aid of "heavy" water — as contrasted with much longer periods by analytical methods previously employed.

The technique is based upon the fact that water can exist in two forms — the ordinary kind that comes out of a kitchen faucet and a "heavy" kind which is just the same chemically as ordinary water but actually weighs more This is because "heavy" water — while containing the same proportions of hydrogen and oxygen as regular water — has a "heavier" form of hydrogen.

HOW IT WORKS

The scientists take a mixture of both these kinds of water. They know at the start of the ratio of "heavy" hydrogen to light-weight hydrogen in it.

They add a sample of something to be tested for water content — perhaps human tissue, bacterial cells, a sample of air, or some kind of inorganic chemical.

Knowing that the things to be tested contain virtually no "heavy" hydrogen, the scientists figure that any change between the ratio of "heavy" and light-weight hydrogen in the final mixture will be due entirely to the water content of the sample under test.

They analyze for such a change by converting the water in the whole mixture into water vapor, exposing the vapor to light and then studying it with an instrument called a "spectroscope."

The instrument enables them to determine the ratio of "heavy" hydrogen to "light" hydrogen in the solution because each reveals its own characteristic pattern on the spectroscope under the influence of light.

Religious Healing Claims Criticized By Archbishop

YORK, England (Reuters)—Dr. Cyril Garbett, Archbishop of York and second highest prelate in the Church of England, today expressed disapproval of "sensational" claims for healing through religious rather than medical treatment.

"The Christian should claim that all that is best in the art of healing comes from God, not as if one type of healing comes from man and the other from God," he told the convocation of York, which is the ecclesiastical legislating assembly for north England.

Parallels for spiritual healing, he said, can be found in non-Christian religions but without proper preparation and approach such kinds of healing might come dangerously near magic.

LACK OF PROPORTION

"It shows a dangerous lack of proportion when a comparatively small number of cases due to spiritual healing are lauded and publicized as works of God, while it is forgotten that there are tens of thousands walking today in our streets and living usefully and happy who long ago would have been helpless invalids if God had not used the skill, science and care of doctors, surgeons and nurses to restore them to health," he said.

Dr. Garbett emphasized that his remarks were not directed at small missions for healing confined to a well-instructed congregation or to those who had been prepared by their parish priest.

SENSATIONAL MISSIONS

"I am speaking of the sensational and much advertised missions held sometimes by American evangelists but occasionally in our own church," he said. "I believe these do great harm by their hysterical and emotional atmosphere and by making unjustifiable claims of cures."

The archbishop recalled that he once was chairman of a committee of doctors and clergymen who investigated claims of cures by spiritual healing.

"After most careful inquiries we found no evidence to support these claims or to lead us to believe that there had been as the result of a mission by a well-known lay healer now dead, any cures of organic disease or any lasting cures of functional disorders," he said.

"There is nothing specifically Christian in the methods used in spiritual healing — suggestion, prayer, laying on of hands and anointing," he said.

POSSESS STRANGE GIFT

"Parallels both for methods and cures can be found in non-Christian religions and there are healers who apparently possess some strange gift of healing who are not Christians.

"Without prayer and preparation the laying of hands and anointing may come dangerously near magic.

"If careful preparation of the individual sick person is necessary for healing, it follows that this is a grave objection to public missions of healing, where preparation of individuals is impossible and where hands are laid indiscriminately upon all who come to them."

Stevenson Warns Peace Remains Long Way Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today held out a promise of peace based on sound leadership while Governor Adlai Stevenson, pledging to work for peace, said the United States faces "a long, tough, bitter struggle to preserve" world freedom.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said that as for Korea his Republican opponent knows full well "there is no trick that can end the Korean War." Pushing his campaign to the pacific northwest, he hit hard at Eisenhower's stand on Korea, foreign and domestic policies.

Eisenhower for the second straight day campaigned through his home state of Texas blasting the Truman administration for what he said was its failure to provide a leadership able to win respect at home and abroad. The respect of friends and foes, he said, is necessary if peace is to be won.

STEP-UP CAMPAIGN

Clear indication the campaign was entering the shoot-the-works stage with election less than three weeks away was today's stepped-up political schedule.

Stevenson speaks at Spokane, Wash., Pendleton, Ore., and San Francisco and then heads south. Eisenhower moves north through Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, West Virginia and on to New York.

Senator John J. Sparkman, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, speaks at Buffalo, N.Y., and Union Town, Pa., while Senator Richard Nixon, his Republican counterpart, campaigns in Michigan.

President Truman, the self-styled "key" to the presidential campaign takes off on another whistle-stop tour, this time through New York City and New England.

Stevenson in a speech prepared for delivery at Spokane, Wash., said the general has implied that American soldiers could be recalled from Korea soon if South Koreans were trained to take their places.

"I will not play politics with war and peace," Stevenson said.

"Our men are fighting in Korea so they will not have to fight in Alaska or Spokane or Omaha They will come home from Korea just as soon as our national safety permits.

TRICK CAN'T END WAR

"And, for my part, I deplore the suggestion that they come home any sooner. There is no trick that can end the Korean War —and I am sure the general knows this full well."

Texas - born Eisenhower swept through his home state receiving virtual "local-boy-makes-good" receptions everywhere he spoke. In San Antonio he criticized administration leadership for what he said was its failure to win the peace, and he outlined his own plans for achieving that goal.

He listed four points he said were essential cornerstones for world peace:

A military and spiritually strong America; a national leadership deserving respect of other countries; allies so "soundly forged" that aggressors dare not attack; and an active United Nations.

Mayors' Plowing Duel Helped Show: Judge

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Louis H. Winslow has returned from the international plowing match held in Carp. He reports that it was the most largely attended match of any in his memory. The match between the mayors of various centres of Ontario was responsible, he believed.

Mr. Winslow has been connected with the international plowing matches for more than 30 years, first as a competing plowman, then as a director and later as president of the International Plowman's Association. As soon as he retired from the board he was appointed judge. He has been judging for more than 20 years and has won a reputation for his very fair and accurate judging. This last year he was one of two judges handling the transatlantic horse class. Winners of this class go on an overseas trip with all expenses paid.

Mr. Winslow has still one more plowing match to judge this fall. It takes place on the Mohawk Indian reserve near Deseronto on Saturday. This match always proves an interesting one. Although it is held on the reserve contestants may come from outside.

One of the interesting things to be seen on the reserve is the silver Communion Plate given to the Mohawk Indians by Queen Anne. This is kept in the little Indian church.

Wrong Decision

WIGAN, England (Reuters) — If a jealous household cat leaps on a baby and starts clawing, what would a father do? Coal miner Harry Hindley thought the solution was to throw the nearest implement — a spade in this case — at the animal. The Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals disagreed. Hindley paid a 10-shilling fine in court yesterday. Both baby and cat are reported recovering.

Settle Out Of Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The brother and sister of the late Rudolph Valentino have settled out of court a $500,000 suit against Edward Small Productions and Columbia Pictures Corp. Counsel for the plaintiffs, Alberto G. Valentino and Mrs. Marie Estrada, announced the settlement yesterday but declined to disclose the amount. The suit charged that a film about the movie lover's life showed him as a dissolute and immoral person.

The Peculiar Position Of The Press

Discussing the law concerning contempt of court at its annual meeting in September, the Canadian Bar Association brought up several points which are necessarily of keen interest to newspapers. In particular we were struck by the assertion of a member of the Association that the press in Canada seemed to have "the idea that it had privileges different from and greater than those of individual persons"; the same speaker added that "if this misconception is prevalent among publishers and editors, it should be dispelled." Frankly we do not think that the attitude complained of is common among Canadian publishers and editors, who are well acquainted with the dictum of Lord Russell of Killowen that the liberty of expression permitted to the press is no greater than that of any other class of Her Majesty's subjects. But sometimes it occurs to us that this state of affairs might advantageously be altered, and a limited degree of privilege permitted to the press by law. And we hasten to add that although this would certainly be advantageous to the press it would in many instances be advantageous also to the public.

* * *

In practice, some degree of privilege is permitted to the press by judges who think it necessary. It was interesting that in a recent case in Montreal, when Mr. Justice Caron threatened to cite for contempt a woman reporter who was unwilling to name certain people whom she had interviewed in preparing a series of articles on gambling, the judge delayed his ruling in order to allow the reporter to think the matter over. He was, in fact, unwilling to act in the arbitrary manner which the law permitted, and later accepted a qualified statement from the reporter. In the case of the break from the Don jail, the Hon. James C. McRuer expressed special satisfaction with the part that the press had taken in spreading information which led to the capture of the Boyd gang. Judges of a progressive cast of mind are conscious of the part that the press plays in national life, and of its power to influence national life to the national advantage, and they do not like to use the press as arbitrarily as the law permits when the press offends them. It is not for nothing that the press has won the title of The Fourth Estate, and a few legislatures—that of the Province of Quebec for one—have special newspaper laws which somewhat qualify the laws of libel as applied to newspapers.

* * *

While at present the press enjoys no freedom greater than that of the individual citizen, the press is certainly held to a higher standard of responsibility than the individual citizen. This is because newspapers are often profitable businesses, which means that large damages can sometimes be extracted from them, and "shakedowns" on technical or frivolous charges have not been unknown as a form of legal racketeering. A newspaper error is on record, and may be verified by anyone; the libel of a private citizen can rarely be so readily checked. A newspaper is in a different position from a private citizen because of the simple fact that all its errors and libels are bigger and more readily verified than his; further, it is the normal function of a newspaper to publish a large amount of information every day, and the most careful checks cannot prevent a proportion of matter which may be offensive to courts and individuals from appearing in print; it is not the normal function of a private individual to issue several thousand words of innumerable sorts of people every day of his life.

* * *

Furthermore, a newspaper occupies a special position in that it is a private business with a public responsibility. It can keep out of trouble by making no comment whatever upon public affairs, but if it does this it abdicates one of its traditional functions and cuts its value to the public in two. Many people would like the newspapers to be gelded of their critical faculty. As the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph puts it: "Lawyers and politicians—a good many politicians are lawyers—have always sought to circumscribe the freedom of the press as closely as possible; this is in part from a genuine concern lest freedom may become license if left unregulated, but also in part because both lawyers and politicians are unwilling to see restrictions removed which have always been highly advantageous or profitable to themselves."

* * *

The press of Canada does not ask or want the degree of freedom which is exercised by the press of the U.S.A. Yet it must be pointed out that the American press has real freedom even when it is abused. But the press of Canada operates within a legal straitjacket, the cords of which may be drawn tight by jurists who will not give consideration to the peculiar position which the press occupies in matters relating to libel or contempt of court. The press of Canada seeks some revision and amendment of the laws relating to it, and is confident that its past record as one of the most careful and responsible presses in the world is not without weight in the appeal which it makes. It has not been made a good press by the laws which restrain it, but by the spirit which moves it, and it asks no more than that its special position in the community be recognized, and reasonable provision made in law for the peculiarities which that position involves.

Mr. Justice Dennistoun

Robert M. Dennistoun, C.B.E., V.D., Q.C., whose death at the age of eighty-seven was notified in these pages yesterday, was an honoured link with Peterborough's Victorian past. (He had resided in Winnipeg since 1907.) As a youth Robert M. Dennistoun lived in the family home 'Inverlea'—the house torn down after the area was secured by the city as a park. His father was James F. Dennistoun, who was prominent in Peterborough affairs, and he was named for his grandfather Robert Dennistoun, Q.C. who emigrated from Scotland at the age of nineteen, cleared land in Fenelon (working as a farmer for nine years), went to Cobourg to study law, in 1849 removed to Peterborough to practise law, and in 1868 he became the first Judge appointed to Peterborough County Court by the government of the new Dominion of Canada.

Robert M. Dennistoun followed in his grandfather's path, but took a Western circuit. Both were colonels, both had been Masonic lodge masters, and both became Queen's Counsels and judges—the late Robert M. Dennistoun having been a judge of the Court of Appeal for Manitoba.

Mr. Justice Dennistoun had a strong connection with Peterborough's story also through his maternal forebears, as well as through his widow, a daughter of the late Canon J. W. R. Beck, rector of St. John's church, Peterborough from 1856 to 1889.

Lacrosse Cup Is Full

The feats and luck of the Peterborough senior lacrosse team have been a passionate and exciting interest to several thousand Peterborough people for several years. Last year their cup was full when the team came home from Vancouver with the Mann Cup, emblematic of the championship of Canada. This year the Peterborough players have again gone from triumph to triumph and in their final series of Toronto games capped a career for which there has been no precedent in Canadian lacrosse by again winning the Canadian championship and the Mann Cup. How joyful a Thanksgiving the players and their supporters had Monday night, when the team won its fourth successive playoff game, and the Mann Cup was theirs without further ado! Their cup indeed overflows.

Now that the tumult and cheers are subsiding, must the team and its supporters be weeping, like Alexander the Great of old, because there are no other worlds to conquer? Is not the Canadian league the best, and top of that league the best of the best? So rarefied is the team's exalted position now that we can but compare it with that of the only man before them to conquer the known world.

Fast British Time-Tables

So excellent is the reputation of the British railways, that the grievous wreck at a north London suburb was especially shocking, in stark relief against the shining record.

British trains are both fast and safe. The schedule is so tight—no fifteen minute interval between trains but often the annihilation of railroad engineers and ordinary civilians all over the world. In Canada, a late-comer can run for a train and hop on (if the door is not closed) when it is already in motion. Not so in Britain; with the first turn of the wheels, a quiet, even movement, the train is gone. A passenger train between Winnipeg and Toronto can be as much as an hour and a half late when it gets to Lake Superior, and still make up the time on the last half of the journey, so leisurely is the schedule. The London-Edinburgh train, when late, has no such margin.

The accident near Harrow should not excite a demand for slower trains, looser schedules and wider spacing. These have not made Canadian trains safer than British. Rather the accident serves to show how splendid and safe the British system has been and still is, because it was an exception in a long period of safe travel over many hundreds of miles of British tracks and in one of the closest-knit and most intricate systems railway engineers have devised.

BIBLIOMANIA:

Novel About Hockey

SCRUBS ON SCATES, by Scott Young. (McClelland & Stewart).

THIS BOY'S BOOK is the first novel written about hockey. It is done by an expert Canadian story-teller who knows the game of hockey well. Therefore it is not surprising that the book is interesting and entertaining, to adults as well as juveniles for whom it was written.

Adult pleasure in a junior's book is not always sufficient recommendation for junior, but Scrubs On Skates, besides being well written, is full of action and well tuned emotionally and in imagery to juvenile comprehension.

Pete Gordon is already a championship high school hockey player when his Winnipeg school boundaries are changed; he must go this year to the new Northwestern high school. If he wants to play on a school team again, he must play for Northwestern with its new uniforms, its lack of traditions and no exerience in the league. It is a scrub outfit. How Pete adjusts himself to this situation, finds new friends and his hockey spirit again, and how scrubs from Northwestern rise in the league are the substance of the story.

WITH considerable art the author sets down a good story with strong emotional impact, avoiding psychological bypaths and philandering with side themes (both are a weariness to most reading youths and indeed often to adults). Technical terms and special plays are deftly explained, some illustrated diagramatically. School work is omitted, but this is a story about school hockey, not about school life.

Wholesomeness has become a word of undeserved disdain. I risk its use in saying this book is wholesome—in its humour, its clear presentation of character and in its sentiment. The author's teen-agers are real, and seen with affectionate understanding.

The novel has the rare quality of being pleasant. I find the star sports reporter's assiduous attention to the junior school team rather incredible, but juvenile readers will think it deserved.

The book has the unusual virtue of being cheaper in its Canadian edition than in the American. The writer, Mr. Scott Young, a former sportswriter, war correspondent and magazine editor, has an international reputation as a short story writer and is published in half a dozen languages. He now lives and writes in Omemee. T.J.A.

CRAZY-WHITE-MAN (Sha-ga-na-she Wadu-kee), by Richard Morenus. (Rand McNally & Co.)

WHEN HIS DOCTOR told him that he would have to seek a quieter life than that of a writer of radio scripts, and a home less stimulating than New York, Richard Morenus would have nothing to do with half measures; he went to live in the Canadian bush, a thousand miles north of Chicago. This is the story of his six years as a bushman.

To a Canadian the bush seems a curious place to go for a rest; the life of a bushman is an endless struggle against Nature. As a place to seek health, the bush is at least decisive; only a man whose health is essentially robust can survive there. Respect for Mr. Morenus' courage and hardihood grows with every page we read. It is with genuine satisfaction that we learn that he returned to New York greatly changed in health.

In health, yes; in spirit he does not appear to have changed at all. He brought to the bush the outlook of a writer of radio scripts, and the bush was ineffective against it. We may allow ourselves to regret this, for he seems to have imposed the factitious drama of his calling upon material which is genuinely dramtaic in itself. In several fine passages—his description of the first storm he met with, for one—he shows a power and perceptiveness which make us wish that he had at all times trusted to his talent, rather than to the tricks of his trade. Particularly in the second half of the book we wish that he would forego the easy work of telling us about wendigos, philosophical French-Canadians, remittance men, and similar stock characters of the fake bush, and give us more of the keen observation and sensitivity which he shows in his earlier descriptions of what happened when he encountered the real bush.

In these pages, Mr. Morenus, the artist, is at war with Mr. Morenus, the script writer who feels that he must impose script values upon his subject if his book is to be a success. The paradoxical result is that the book is a success because of what Mr. Morenus the artist has written, and is marred by what the script writer has foisted upon it. Fortunately, the quality of fresh observation and the ring of truth in the greater part of the book outweigh the falseness in the remainder, and it emerges as a valuable addition to the comparatively small number of books written about the Canadian bush. R.D.

THE BEST CARTOONS FROM PUNCH (The Musson Book Co.)

THE PURPOSE of this extremely funny book is to introduce Americans to English humour. If an American can be found who can work through its pages without once laughing, he should at once be stuffed and put on display, for he is a new species of human being. As for Canadians, we are sure that they will make [illegible] yourself, and give to somebody for Christmas (providing you keep the dust jacket clean).

Canadians ought to be a merrier people than they are, for they are in a position to enjoy both English and American jokes. For some reason we are not a very merry people, and we have no sort of humour which is recognizably our own. But we like jokes, and both Punch and the New Yorker—certainly the two funniest magazines now appearing in our language—are widely read here. Books of New Yorker cartoons have been popular in Canada, and this selection from Punch should surpass them, for it is the funniest book of cartoons this reviewer can recall in many years devoted to the pursuit of laughter. O.B.

COLLECTORS ARE often odd people but few have been so odd as the Rev. Mr. Hagemore, who is thus described in 'Kirby's Wonderful and Eccentric Museum', (1820):

At the time of his death he had thirty gowns and cassocks, fifty-eight dogs, one hundred pair of breeches, one hundred pair of boots, four hundred pair of shoes, eighty wigs, though he always wore his own hair, eighty waggons and carts, eighty ploughs, and used none, fifty saddles, and furniture for the menage, thirty wheelbarrows, and so many walking-sticks, that a toy man in Leicester Fields offered eight pounds for them. He had sixty horses and mares, three hundred pickaxes, two hundred spades and shovels, twenty-five ladders, and two hundred and forty razors.

WANT TO LAY A BET, MISS?

Soviet Germany's Police State

(BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT)

THE NEW Legislation on the administration of justice in Eastern Germany, which was passed last week by the East German puppet parliament, is a further step towards the sovietisation of Eastern Germany and its incorporation into the Eastern bloc. Significantly enough, similar legislation was passed in Czechoslovakia only a few days before.

The new step means also the eradication of the last vestiges of the rule of law, which, in the letter at least, had survived Nazism and, so far, Russian domination. The all-powerful police state has now been officially established.

The preamble of the new law is significant: "The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, the regional and district courts has as its purpose the building up of socialism." And, commenting on the law reform, one of the leading lights in the East German administration of justice said: "There is no objective justice; the new people's judges have to be partisan," The rights and interests of the individual are no longer guaranteed by the constitution.

The powers of the judge are severely curtailed in favour of the State, the Public Prosecutor and the Police. The independence of the judge is formally abolished. The judge's most important privilege, his right not to be dismissed or even to be transferred to another bench against his will, no longer exists. The Public Prosecutor can choose the court which he deems most suitable for his intentions. Even then, if the court does not comply with his requests he can appeal, whilst the accused's rights to appeal are very limited.

The rules of evidence are changed in a way which gives the police almost unlimited power to influence the course of the proceedings. The principle that evidence should be "direct" and not "hearsay" is abolished. The findings of the police, statements they have taken from the accused and witnesses, have full force of evidence. This not only means that a police officer can no longer be questioned in court about the methods by which he obtained a confessions or other deposition: it also rules out the rebuttal of such evidence by new witnesses or other proof put forward by the accused.

It may seem that these laws have no other effect than formally to abolish what in any case had become a dead lettering owing to the existence of a terror regime. But, according to some reports, that is not so. There were, indeed, some judges left in Eastern Germany who fearlessly applied the law as it stood and thus managed to dispense some true justice. Now that they have been deprived even of the letter of the law, even this will be impossible.

Need for Highways

(Brandon Sun)

In Canada there is now a motor vehicle for every five people: in 1939 it was one for eight. Nearly 75 per cent. of vehicles presently registered are passenger cars, including taxis. Average mileage per vehicle is higher than ten or twenty years ago. In the past ten years gasoline consumption, a gauge of the growth in traffic, has doubled. Growth of the trucking industry is evidenced by the registration of commercial vehicles—650,000 in 1950 as against 323,000 five years earlier. In addition, it must be remembered that road carriers are becoming larger, heavier and more capacious and need paved roads with good grades and easy curves not found on too many Canadian highways.

Worthwhile Service

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

A new type of forest products company is making its appearance in Ontario, according to an announcement of the minister of lands and forests, Hon. W. S. Gemmell. Neither producer nor processor, but rather a "broker" between the two, Thunder Bay Forest Products, Ltd., will deal in the raw stuff of all phases of the forest industry.

As an agency for channelling timber efficiently the new company should be able to provide a worthwhile service to both pulp and paper companies, to sawmill operators and, so far as it can reduce the wastage of time and material, to the public which owns the bulk of the forest in Ontario.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in truth. (Josh. 24-14.)

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven . . . And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. (Matt. 6: 1, 5, 6.)

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these saying, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7: 28, 29.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world. (James 1: 27.)

Boiled Porcupine Quills Sure Cure

(From the Brockville Recorder and Times)

Right now there are a number of hay fever sufferers in and around Brockville who are inclined to give Mr. Porcupine a high rating as a doctor. The truth of the matter is that here medical science, in many cases, has failed to bring relief to victims of that annual blight, hay fever, Mr. Porcupine has been eminently successful.

For proof we have the sworn testimony, personally given, of a number of local hay fever victims. These persons, for years, have fought hay fever with drugs, with nose drops, with eye drops and with every other known anti-hay fever prescriptions of modern medical science. And all too often to no avail. Now, this year with the "porcupine treatment" gaining in popularity there is once again joy in the camps of that army of hay feverers.

The treatment: A considerable number of porcupine quills are first secured by the hay fever victim. The victim then, between sneezes, boils nine quills three times a day (27 quills per day in all) in a cup of water and drinks the resulting "brew" (not the quills). The treatment is taken carefully for a period of nine days, and on the tenth day, according to our informants, bingo! no hay fever. And we might point out that a number of hay fever victims who were the first to scoff at the porcupine quill treatment are now numbered among its most ardent boosters.

The quill treatment is believed to be originally an old Indian remedy for various respiratory afflictions. And this information we pass on to our readers for what it is worth. Hail! to the porcupine.

OPERA DEFINED

In a Belfast, Northern Ireland, girls' school the pupils were asked, "What is an opera?"

The answer received from one of them ran: "It is a theatrical performance in which the hero is stabbed, but instead of bleeding to death he just sings."

ONE, TWO, THREE MANN CUP TEAMS, that's the record set by three Timbermen, Russ Slater, Moon Wootton and Curly Mason, Monday night, when they helped win the Mann Cup over Vancouver. It's their third straight Mann Cup, twice with the Timbermen and the year before with Owen Sound Crescents. The boys, while attending the buffet dinner in their honor Tuesday at the Empress Hotel, began to make plans for their fourth successive Canadian title next season. — (Examiner Staff Photo).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

More than 70 head of standard-breds will be sold Thursday this week at the Hilltop Farm, just out of Peterborough. Hugh Stewart is putting on the biggest such sale of horses prominent in harness racing circles ever attempted in Canada, according to the Toronto Star expert on such matters, Hal B. Inquiries have been reaching Hugh from all parts of the country and from the States. All equipment will go on the block, too. Many of the youngsters sired by the farm's head sire, Prince Direct, will be on sale and should see a big demand and some hefty offers. Stewart's Dream and Stewart's Empire already have been going great guns across the line, and, there are many more. It'll be quite a sale for those interested.

As for lacrosse here, the shouting and the tumult are dying down somewhat, though there'll be lots of celebrations and dinners yet for the 1952 Canadian senior champions. Some of the champs will break training and drop out of the public eye until the snows have come and gone. Some will soon don skates and go in for hockey again. All deserve at least a solid week of rest after five gruelling months of competition. It was especially tough during the heat wave and during the holiday period. Those were long trips home after hard games in the Sound and St. Kitts. Real late touches with work the next day. Many a cut and bruise to nurse, also. But they wound it up on top of the Canadian lacrosse world. Real champs.

Concerning "The Ash"

Certainly one of the stars of the Mann Cup series—one of the top two or three—was Don Ashbee of the Petes' Timbermen. A high scorer, good checker and terrific team player in the series, "the Ash" kept his temper in check and was a tower of strength in the four games against Vancouver. We didn't have him in B.C. last year as he and Ike Hildebrand had to return to pro hockey. But Don, who starred at Buffalo on the Canadien's list till injuries hit him, was sold to Ed Shore's Syracuse squad in the A.H.L. Suffering a wrist injury, Don has refused to report to Shore till the club fixes it up through an operation. This has been refused, so Don is taking work here and settling down as a Peterborough citizen—a welcome one. He can't play O.H.A. (without a pro release) but wouldn't he be a real asset in the independent T.V.L.?

* * * * * *

It was a nice reception the citizens and council tendered the champs last evening. Thousands lined the streets for the motor parade behind the C.G.E. Pipe Band and the Citizens' Band, and quite a number meandered down to Miller Bowl where Mayor Hugh Waddell publicly congratulated the Mann Cup victors, as well as the local O.L.A. juvenile "B" champions. Said this sport was doing a lot of good for Peterborough. George Ludgate introduced the Timbermen and each had a few words to say. Prexy Bob Peirson and Coach Bob Thorpe thanked the fans for their fine support all season. The players also dropped down to Civic Arena for a time and were introduced to the puck fans there.

Civic Lunch For Club

The large evening wound up at a pleasant civic luncheon with the Mayor and the Aldermen entertaining players, officials and their wives. The Mann Cup hasn't been returned yet to the Petes from Toronto, so that presentation—and civic gifts—will take place at a later club dinner, as mentioned before. Jim Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce made many of the arrangements for last night's "do", which went off so well. It was a fitting tribute and civic and public recognition of the Canadian championship brought here for the second straight year by this classy lacrosse club. The players and their executive appreciated it.

* * * * * *

Quite a crowd at Civic saw Syracuse Chiefs of the A.H.L. take a 9-1 exhibition puck win o'er the Petes. Ted Collins, aided by Don Floyd and Junior West, tallied the lone local marker, and young Gord Byers went well in goal, his defensive support not being too good. Some former juniors and several former Eagles appeared in the Petes' lineup. The Petes will be much stronger and in better condition by the time their senior "B" schedule opens, Coach Jim Ellis states. A lot of 'em aren't in hockey shape yet but will keep drilling regularly. The O.H.A. lineup hasn't been picked so far. The pro crew looked good. Eddie Shore was booed by the fans, many feeling that he is being stubborn in refusing to release Nip O'Hearn and Don Ashbee, so they could line up with the Petes. Eddie argues that if he did release them, some other pro club would refuse to waive them out of the A.H.L. Same way with Bob Thorpe, who isn't in the Shore organization.

Dese, Dem and Dose

Cobourg Ghosts, worrying about their big O.R.F.U. fray with Orfuns here Friday night, already have the alibis ready—claiming they've been hard hit with injuries....Lindsay and St. Peter's (both undefeated yet) clash at eight tonight in a junior grid fixture in Morrow Park; first place is at stake....Red Feather playoffs for P.C.V.S. are due to start here this weekend....A.P.: There were two teams in Montreal then, one in the Big Four and the other in senior O.R.F.U.....Sorry to learn that Pete Vitarelli is seriously ill in Toronto General Hospital; friends may like to drop him a line....P.M.H.A. re-organization meeting is at eight tonight in the Y.M.C.A.; open to officers, coaches and others interested....An organization meeting for Catholic entries in the P.M.H.A. is called for eight p.m. Thursday in the Sacred Heart club rooms....Walt Smillie plans to give a night a week to T.V.L. hockey at Civic Arena this winter....Watch it if Nip O'Hearn asks you: "Do you know Bob Loblaw?"; when you say: "Who's Bob Loblaw?" he'll retort: "Blah, blah, blah, to you!"

PETES' CHANCES for obtaining releases for Don Ashbee, Nip O'Hearn and Bob Thorpe from professional hockey clubs for this year are pretty slim. Eddie Shore, owner of the Syracuse and Springfield clubs and former Boston Bruins star, gave no indication Tuesday night that he would permit Ashbee and O'Hearn to play for the Petes. He insinuated that other professional clubs would probably pick up the three players even if they were released. Fred Scates, treasurer of the Peterborough Hockey Club, chatted with Shore (at right, above) during the Syracuse Warriors' exhibition game with the Petes Tuesday night at the Civic Arena. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Syracuse Chiefs Victors In Puck Exhibition Against The Petes, 9 To 1

Coach Jim Ellis gave Peterborough hockey fans their first glimpse of his T.P.T. senior team which will carry the home banner during the ensuing season, as they played host to the Syracuse Chiefs of the A.H.L. at Civic Arena Tuesday night, in a spirited pre-season exhibition. The team looked good. Despite defeat at the hands of the big fast pros, who have been training for weeks and are in top shape, the Ellis men (who now combine some former Oddfellows, Eagles and T.V.L. talent as well as Petes' originals) made it a hot spicy go from start to finish; this, notwithstanding the fact several had donned skates only once or twice thus far. The final score read 9-1 and oddly enough the locals scored the first tally of the game.

GOT FIRST ONE

Ted Collins combined with Don Floyd and Junior West early in the first frame, to blast a low scorcher past Gordie Bell after taking Floyd's pass 15 feet out front, to make no mistake. Sid McNabney, Chiefs' best point-getter with a goal and three assists, tied it at 7:25, the fleet winger working in solo. Chiefs added two more near the end of the first; but it was a fairly clean, even frame.

Chiefs added three in the second, but held Petes scoreless with a good defensive display and some fine work in the pipes by Bell. On several occasions, Peterborough sharpshooters came near the door but were unable to ring the bell. Gord Byers, former Oddfellow and T.V.L. star, guarding the home twine, meanwhile gave a splendid display for T.P.T.'s. Time and again the pros swarmed around; but somehow Byers kicked them out.

A FAST PERIOD

The third frame proved fastest of all both ways as both teams gave a thrilling show of early season speed and skill; and neither team tallied for 13 minutes of play. Then the condition of Chiefs began to tell once more and Kelly Burnett, Brook Horvath and Arn Lemieux tallied in the final stages, to rack up a convincing margin. The game was played under professional rules on the centre-line icing rule and was capably handled by Referee Bun Kingdon and Bill Leggett.

A highlight of the evening's entertainment was the introduction of the players, manager, coach and trainer of the Canadian champion Peterborough lacrosse team. The gallant band—earlier feted elsewhere—trotted on the ice between the second and final priods to receive further thunderous applause and the congratulations of all, including members of the Syracuse Hockey Club. The old storm centre, Eddie Shore, great defence star of 20 years back, made a brief appearance; but was roundly booed by the large crowd. Eddie smiled, bowed and retired.

Peterborough: Goal, Byers; defence, Dugan, Wade; centre, Hill; wings, Crowley, Steele; alts., West, Floyd, Collins, Fryia, Armstrong, Richlark, Legrow, Leonard, Montgomery.

Officials — Bun Kingdon, Bill Leggett.

Youville Has Won 49 Races; More Than Other Horses

WINNING VETERAN—Despite his advanced age, the Western-Canada bred Youville keeps winning races. At 13 Youville is believed the oldest racer in Canada. He campaigned on Eastern Canada tracks for the last 10 years, won 49 races and earned $50,000. Jockey Eric Barber, 42, of Toronto, has been his regular rider for the last four years. Youville's trainer, "Wee Willie" Russell, has had him seven years.

By JOHN PATERSON

TORONTO (CP)—Youville has cranked up his cannon-ball stretch run 270 times in his long racing career. For a horse that once couldn't be given away, he's earned a lot of his favorite peppermint candy.

At 13, the western-bred gelding probably is the oldest thoroughbred racing in Canada and one of the oldest in North America. He has won 49 races, more than any other active Canadian-bred. He is seventh on the list of top money-winners with some $50,000 earned.

A veteran combination sends old Youville ambling to the post. Trainer Wee Willie Russell has conditioned horses for 35 years. Jockey Eric Barber is 42. Exercise boy Arthur Coleman, once one of the continent's top riders and former contract jockey for the late Col. E. R. Bradley, has been with Russell 20 years.

Veterinarians say a 13-year-old race horse compares with an athlete in his 40s.

LIKES DISTANCE RACES

"Youville can run all day," Russell says. "He was third in a seven-furlong sprint one spring and won a 2 1-16-mile fall marathon, but he likes distance races best. He handles like a baby and loves peppermint candy. He eats a pound of mints a week.

"He's easy to get along with and doesn't care if the track is fast or slow, wet or dry."

Youville was bred by R.J. Speers of Winnipeg. He was sold for $500 as a two-year-old and raced in Western Canadian $500 claiming races. He was brought east 10 years ago and was claimed for $1,000 by Russell in 1945.

Speers said at one time, "you just couldn't give him away."

Youville made all his money in small purses. Since starting in 1941, he has won at least once a year.

TO RACE IN '53

He has been in the money 121 times. Russell says he will race next year.

Youville pokes along 15 or 20 lengths back of the field until the three-eighth pole. Then he mows down the opposition with a mighty stretch run.

Big Program By The Curlers

A tremendous program is coming up at the Curling Club for the 1952-53 season. From early in November till March 31, 1953, the curling rink will be a busy spot. There are close to 400 curlers (ladies and men) and about 200 members of the Skating Club, so it's going to be a big task to keep all happy and satisfied.

In the men's section there are the regular schedule games, and many open and local bonspiels. This year there will be a few extras coming along.

There's the district games for the Ontario Tankard; the British Consols; the Colts and the junior boys; all to be played here.

In the ladies' section they have their regular schedule games for the Gibson and Waddell Trophies, the big three-day open bonspiel for the Warne Trophy, vice-skips' bonspiel, leads' and seconds' bonspiel and many other local 'spiels; and furthermore the Ontario Ladies' Curling Tankard games are being held here early in 1953. Taking it all in all, it looks like a very active season. Many out-of-town bonspiels that local curlers take in every year will be on, too.

Skips are asked to remember the meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

How about your curling application? Have you sent it in to the committee yet?

Chicago Ties Detroit 1-1, Enjoying 3-Point Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

While it lasts, every game in Chicago Black Hawks' unbeaten string brings its own satisfaction to a few men on the Chicago roster. The Hawks, a motley collection of characters whose black uniforms hide the coal dust accumulated during years of residence in the National Hockey League cellar, currently enjoy a three-point bulge over their nearest rivals at the top of the league standings.

And since most of the Hawk personnel have been dealt off the arm at one time or another by more prosperous N.H.L. clubs, every game is somewhat of a grudge battle for a journeyman Hawk or two with the feeling that his previous employers haven't done right by him.

Everything went according to the script last night. The visitors to Chicago were Detroit Red Wings, league champions, Stanley Cup holders and previous owners of half-a-dozen men in the Hawk lineup.

POETIC JUSTICE

The resulting 1-1 tie didn't quite fulfil the hopes of the vengeful half-dozen, but there was an element of poetic justice in the way it happened.

The champions took a 1-0 lead in the first period when Metro Prystai finished off a passing play with Marcel Pronovost and Gordie Howe. Prystai, who graduated from the Hawks to the better life of a first-division club a few years back, was aided by the fact that Lee Fogolin, who used to draw his pay in Detroit, was serving a penalty at the time.

FINALLY REWARDED

The dauntless Hawks, who haven't beaten the Wings in front of their home-town customers in nearly two years, kept the pressure on Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit nets and were finally rewarded with the tying goal at 2:38 in the final period.

The marksman was Gerry Couture, who had a stint with the Red Wings before coming to Chicago by way of Montreal. The play was made by Jimmy McFadden, a one-time Detroit centre.

The two clubs take the show to Detroit Olympia Thursday night while the third-place Montreal Canadiens entertain the last-place New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs visit Boston in an effort to break their fourth-place tie with the Bruins.

Reynolds Takes Earned-Run Honors For '52

NEW YORK (AP)—Allie Reynolds of New York Yankees and Hyt Wilhelm, New York Giants' relief specialist, took major league earned-run honors for the 1952 season.

Final earned-run averages compiled by The Associated Press today showed that Reynolds, who posted a 20-8 record, paced American League pitchers with a 2.07 mark while Wilhelm, a rookie, topped National League moundsmen with a 2.43 slate.

Reynolds permitted 56 earned runs in 244 innings.

Wilhelm, who won 15 games and lopped three, becomes the first relief pitcher in National League history to head the E.R.A. Heretofore, 10 complete games was used as the basis for earned-run supremacy. But following the 1951 campaign the rule was revised to include hurlers who participate in at least 154 innings.

The 24-year-old knuckleballer appeared in 71 games, none as a starter. His record showed only 43 earned tallies in 159 frames.

Mexican Sure Of Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Lauro Salas, the only Mexican ever to hold an undisputed boxing title, is bursting with confidence that he will hang on to his lightweight crown tonight against Jimmy Carter.

"I read that Carter is favorite by 1 but that is crazy odds," said the little Monterrey mauler who works out of Los Angeles. "I'm sure I can beat Carter again. I punch too hard and have too much lasting strength for him."

The scheduled 15 rounder at Chicago Stadium will begin at 10 p.m. EST and will be televised and broadcast.

The International Boxing Club looks for a slim ringside gathering of 6,000 and a meagre gate of $35,000.

00 In Attendanc At Dunkley Dinner

CHICAGO (AP)—A special testimonial dinner honoring Charles Dunkley on his retirement as Associated Press midwest sports editor attracted more than 300 sports personalities in Chicago last night.

Those attending the $10-a-plate dinner numbered about 350, and the 65-year-old newspaper man received a purse amounting to more than $2,500.

He is retiring after more than 40 years with the AP.

Calgary Stamps Down Edmonton 2nd Time

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders scored their second victory in as many nights over Edmonton Flyers last night when they downed the visitors 4-1 in a Western Hockey League fixture at Calgary before 3,568 customers. Roy Kelly paced Stampeders with two markers.

At Vancouver, New Westminster Royals defeated Vancouver Canucks 5-3.

Ronnie Clayton Loses By T.K.C.

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's iron-fisted Tommy Collins stripped Ronnie Clayton of two of his proud boxing claims by pounding out a technical knockout decision over the British featherweight titlist in 2:58 of the fifth round of their scheduled 10-rounder last night at the Boston Gardeh.

Clayton had boasted that he had never been knocked off his feet or beaten by an Irishman in his 104 previous professional starts.

The cocky Bostonian dropped the 29-year-old fighter from Blackpool, England, three times before referee Jimmy McCarron intervened. Collins, at 128¼, had a half-pound weight advantage on his more experienced rival.

Need Running Tracks Duke Tells Britons

AYLESBURY, Eng. (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh said yesterday one reason Britain failed to win any gold medals for athletics at the Helsinki Olympic games was that the country lacks running tracks. Then he handed out a tip on ways of paying for new athletic fields:

"I understand—and here I stand to be corrected—that in Sweden they run their playing fields by turning over some of the proceeds of their football pools, which they run mainly on English football games."

He said Sweden has around 400 running tracks compared to 27 in Britain. He addressed a meeting of the Buckinghamshire Playing Fields Association.

Sugar Ray Considers Retiring From Ring

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, toying with the idea of retiring from the ring to take up a career as a night club entertainer, said yesterday he is "debating" a middleweight title fight with Kid Gavilan in February or March in Miami.

Robinson makes his debut Nov. 7 as a master of ceremonies—dancer-singer at the French Casino where he will get "about $15,000" a week for a two-week run. In his last fight, June 25 against Joey Maxim, he was unable to come out for the 14th due to heat exhaustion.

"I'm definitely in the twilight of my career," he said. "If I do fight again it can't be more than one or two more."

COCKELL STOPS SLAVIN

LONDON (AP) — Don Cockell, former British and European light-heavyweight champion, easily won his first fight as a heavyweight last night by stopping Paddy Slavin of Belfast, the Irish titleholder, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Cockell weighed 201½, Slavin 194.

BIG HORSE—Walter Jeffords' One Count further established himself as a big distance horse by winning the Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park. The three-year-old also bagged the Belmont Stakes. Sam Boulmetis is up here, but Dave Gorman rides the Count Fleet colt in the more important numbers.

Toronto Scribes Satisfied Series Finished

Toronto sportswriters sounded glad in writeups yesterday that the Mann Cup series was over. Because it was too one-sided, the Petes' Timbermen erasing Vancouver in four straight.

Gordon Campbell of the Star wrote: "The $64 question is how did Vancouver ever extend the Timbermen to seven games in the 1951 series. It's a good thing the O.L.A. champs polished off Vancouver Monday to wind up the national set because the crowds were getting smaller and smaller. Only 9,740 fans saw the series in the Gardens. Funny part of it all is that the boxla sport has many of the attractive features of hockey and its main prize, the Mann Cup, is solid gold and valued at $2,500, yet nobody cares.

"In their march to the title, the Petes played 45 games and lost 11. The Petes got good mileage out of 18-year-old Roger Smith, as well as young fellows like Lou Nickle, Bill Killingbeck and Grant Burns."

BRISK WORKOUT

Bunny Morganson of the Telegram said: "After their rugged seven-game struggle with Toronto Yorks to win the Eastern Canadian title, the four Mann Cup games against one of the weakest teams to come out of the west was little more than a brisk workout for the Timbermen. Vancouver took a three-goal lead in the last game but Peterborough opened the throttle to make it 4-all and went from there to win as they pleased. Dootch Vitarelli, native son and team captain of Peterborough, who says he's finished as a player, made a lasting impression in his swan song with four goals and one assist to lead the Timbermen."

The Globe scribe had no comments to make but simply phoned a running account of the final game to his paper from the press box, as the morning sheet hadn't time to recap on a night number.

INJURED MCKEEVER OUT

SARNIA (CP)—Eric McKeever, star halfback for Sarnia Imperials, underwent an operation yesterday for a shoulder separation suffered in Monday's senior O.R.F.U. contest in Toronto against Balmy Beach. McKeever will be out for the rest of the season.

VIRGIL WAGNER (78) has missed Alton Baldwin, pass-catching end of the Riders. This is a touchdown play that gave the Riders the lead in the Sunday game at Montreal. Baldwin had caught a pass from O'Malley in the end-zone. Ottawa won both ends of the home and home weekend doubleheader, leaving the Als still winless in 8 starts.

Tex McEwan Tops White Hope Boxing Tourney

TORONTO (CP)—Tex McEwan, 26-year-old department store clerk from Niagara Falls, Ont., last night won Jack Dempsey's heavyweight "White Hope" boxing tournament with a three-round main-bout decision over Bobby Hesson of Stratford.

Sixteen amateurs from various parts of Canada entered the tournament, sponsored by the former world heavyweight champion and Toronto promoter Frank Tunney in the hope that Canada can produce some prospects for the heavy division. They came in all sizes and shapes and the 6,000 crowd got its money's worth by their somewhat unorthodox fighting styles.

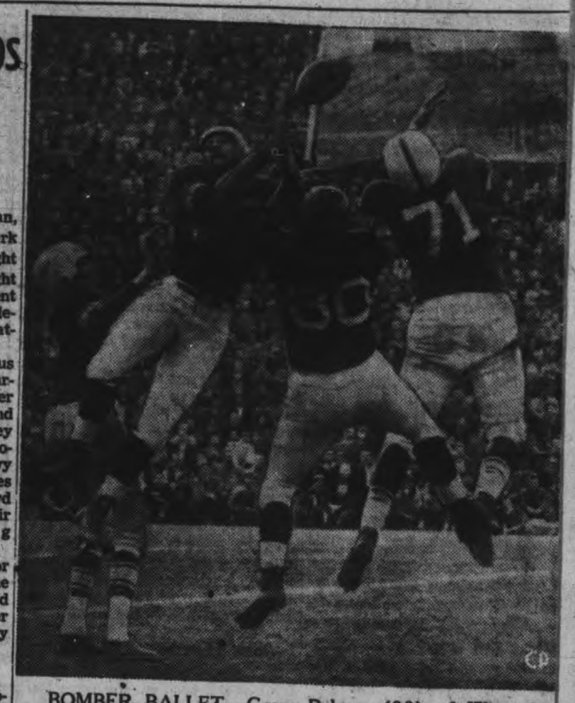
McEwan, who pocketed $500 for his night's work, was by far the best prospect and he's interested in making the fight game a career "but only if there is decent money in it."

O'REE WALKS OUT

The only sour note of the proceedings occurred in the preliminaries when Bob O'Ree of Fredericton, N.B., left the ring at the end of the second round in his bout with McEwan. The 195-pound lineman with Toronto Balmy Beach in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union startled the crowd by his action and he was roundly booed as he strode to his dressing-room.

No reason was given for his action.

McEwan, son of Tex, policeman in Niagara Falls and an old-time fighter in the 20s, started his victory march with what was announced as a second-round knockout over O'Ree. He followed with a technical knockout over Bernard Cadeau, 195, of Toronto at 2:50 of the second round and gained the final with a knockout over Andre Sauve, 208, of Montreal, at 1:35 of the third session.



Hesson, who fights out of London, Ont., won his preliminary bouts by decisions. He opened with a victory over Johnny Cot, 180, Windsor, Ont., and followed with triumphs over Art Marengere, 183¾, Ottawa, and John Hruska, 185½, Hamilton.

MCEWAN TOO GOOD

But the Negro was no match for McEwan. After a dull first round, McEwan opened up with hard lefts and rights to the head and body. He, continued the two-fisted attack in the last three minutes to gain the unanimous decision.

Real Chouinard, 170, of Quebec City, lost by a technical knockout to Joe Moltola, 170½, Niagara Falls, at 2:15 of the third round. Moltola was decisioned by Hruska in his next fight.

"A million dollars to the man who makes good" was the slogan adopted for the tournament by the promoters.

BOMBER BALLET—Gerry Palmer (93) of Winnipeg Blue Bombers tips an intercepted pass by Saskatchewan's Glenn Dobbs into the hands of teammate Joe Zaleski (80). End Harry Lampman was the intended receiver of the Dobber's pass. Bombers defeated the Riders 28-7 in the Western Interprovincial Football Conference game at Winnipeg.

Galt Edges Oshawa 5-4 As Greenshirts Move Up

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Black Hawks and Kitchener Greenshirts moved up the ladder in the Ontario-Quebec Junior A hockey race last night as they downed Oshawa Generals and Windsor Spitfires 5-4 and 3-1, respectively.

The victory of the Black Hawks over Oshawa gave them two wins to move them up into a first place tie with St. Michaels Majors and Barrie Flyers. Kitchener's win over Windsor gave them three points and the right to fourth with Marlboros.

In the Quebec section, Montreal Canadiens defeated Three Rivers 4-1 to take over sole possession of first place and Quebec Citadels defeated the winless Montreal Royals 3-1 to move into a second-place tie with Three Rivers.

McDONALD STARS

Neil McDonald was a one-man team for Galt as he scored three goals including the equalizer and the winner in the third period. Jim McBurney and Eddie Switzer tallied the other two for the Black Hawks.

Goals by Stan Parker, Bill Stewart and Bob Attersley gave Oshawa a 3-1 first period margin. Galt pulled up even by the end of the second, but Oshawa moved ahead 4-3 in the third when Les Binkley scored. Then McDonald went into his solo act.

In Windsor, Kitchener won their first game before about 1,500 fans. The Greenshirts were never behind but were pressed all the way by the winless Spits. Bill Harrington in the Kitchener net saved his team a number of times.

TESSIER IS BACK

Orv Tessier and Glen Cressman scored in the second and third periods for Kitchener on clean breakaways. Greg Hicks had already scored the visitors' first in the opening frame. The single Windsor tally came in the third period when Ed Louttit broke in on Harrington alone while Kitchener was a man short.

The high-flying Montreal Canadiens kept their record clean for the second game as they multiplied a 1-1 first period tie into a 4-1 victory over Three Rivers Reds.

Richard, Boucher, Rousseau and Chasles tallied for Montreal while St. Cyr saved Three Rivers from a shutout.

A scoreless first period marked the game between Quebec Citadels and Montreal Royals, but it was tied 1-1 after the second frame. From there, Quebec took over for their 3-1 win.

WAGGONER NUDGES CURTIS

TORONTO (CP)—Hal Waggoner, whose sensational running has sparked the Hamilton Tiger-Cat drive to first place in the Big Four Football Union, threatens to take over the No. 1 spot from Toronto Argonauts' Ulysses Curtis.

The Tulane University back who has been playing in Canada for two seasons scored two touchdowns during the Thanksgiving weekend home-and-home Tiger-Cat sweep over Argonauts while Curtis was held to one. His total now is 40 points, built on eight touchdowns, just 10 points off the pace.

Nudging the speedy back is team mate Tip Logan, native of Fort Erie, and former Queen's University kicking star. Tip has 39 points, manufactured on three touchdowns, a single and 23 converts. Next in line is Al Bruno, Argonaut import, formerly with Philadelphia Eagles, who has 35 points on seven majors.

Corky Duchene, Sarnia Imperial back, leads Ontario Rugby Football Union scorers with 65. Johnny Pont, cut loose from Green Bay Packers this season and with Toronto Balmy Beach, trails with 45.

Ray Truant of Western leads the Intercollegiate parade with 11 points after two games. Brian Timmis, Jr., of Queen's Golden Gaels, son of the one-time great Hamilton Tiger lineman, is three points off the pace.

RECORD PRICE FOR PLAYER

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Browns yesterday paid the largest cash-player purchase price in the club's history to get shortstop Bill Hunter from the Brooklyn Dodger farm system.

A Browns spokesman said the club gave up outfielder Ray Coleman and two minor league players plus cash to acquire the 24-year-old Hunter, tabbed by the Dodgers as "a great shortstop prospect."

Bill Veeck, owner of the Browns, said the over-all purchasing price was about $150,000.

Hunter batted .290 this season with Fort Worth and led the Texas League in fielding and stolen bases with 22.

"COOL CONTROL"

SNAPPING THE FOOTBALL

3 Arm [illegible] of chest [illegible] opponent. Snap wrists when releasing ball. Spin and control comes from hand motion across ball when snap is made; pull up and across with right hand, down and out with left hand.

Yes, it's control that counts in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

Higher Pay In Canada Now Luring Irish Bobbies

BELFAST, North Ireland (Reuters)—Sir Richard Pim, inspector-general of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, today expressed surprise that he had not been officially informed of the activities of R.A. McMullen, agent-general for Alberta, in recruiting members of the constabulary for the Edmonton Police force.

Twenty-five constables have been signed up by McMullen and will leave for Canada Nov. 13. Ten more will follow later in the month.

Sir Richard commented today: "I thought I should have received some word directly or indirectly about the Canadian offer to my men."

"The 21 resignations so far received will be felt, but we hope to be able to recruit more. Our terms are now more attractive," he said.

McMullen left Belfast Oct. 14 to return to Canada.

The R. U. C., already about 200 men under strength, is campaigning for new recruits. At present the Irish bobby may reach £505 a year after 25 years, compared with Alberta's scale of the equivalent of £1,200 after four years.

WHERE RUSSIANS ATTACKED WESTERN PLANES—Newsmap above shows where Russian military aircraft have shot down, fired upon or forced down planes of the United States, France and Sweden. The Reds, in each case, have claimed that the planes all violated Soviet frontiers. Most of the charges have been denied by the nations accused of the aerial trespassing. The latest incident involving planes believed to be Russian occurred on October 8, 1952, when an American B-29 crashed in the sea off Northern Japan. Radar screens showed an unidentified, non-allied plane speeding toward the bomber from the direction of the Soviet-held Kurile Islands. The radar images of the two planes "merged" just before the B-29 crashed.

Refrigeration Plant, Ships Canada's Gift To Ceylon

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will provide Ceylon with gifts of a $500,000 refrigeration plant and three fishing vessels as part of a $1,000,000 Canadian plan to rehabilitate Ceylon's fishing industry.

The money is coming out of Canada's $25,000,000 contribution this year to help boost the economic structure in south and southeast Asia under the six-year $5,000,000,000 Commonwealth Colombo Plan.

Negotiations are under way, the Trade Department announced yesterday, to buy one of the ships—a 145-foot deep-sea trawler costing $145,000—in the United Kingdom.

BUILT IN B.C.

The other two vessels, to cost about $45,000 each and equipped with diesel engine and radio, will be built on the west coast by Sterling Shipyards Limited of Vancouver, the department announced. They are expected to be ready for shipment by Christmas.

Still under consideration is awarding of a contract for the fish refrigeration plant which will be built in Canada of Canadian design. Officials said a decision likely will be reached soon.

Altogether, this fishing equipment and extended technical assistance on how to harvest the tropical seas around the island is expected to cost about $1,000,000. There likely will be other aid to Ceylon bringing Canada's total contribution to that country to about $3,000,000.

DISCOVERED IN 1484

The mouth of the Congo River, which flows 3,000 miles through Africa, was discovered by the Portuguese navigator Cao in 1484.

"THEY'RE GOOD ENOUGH FOR MY MONEY . . ."

"You bet I'm buying Canada Savings Bonds again. I'm more sold on them than ever before. The new issue pays nearly 3½% interest if held until maturity. That's the best rate on them yet.

"I've been buying Canada Savings Bonds ever since you could get them. Some I bought with cash I had sitting in the bank. Others I bought on the monthly savings plan. Over the years I've acquired quite a few of them and now they bring in quite a nice income every year. It's rather amazing how you build up savings and extra income when you go about buying Canada Savings Bonds like that.

"One good thing I like about them is that you can get every cent of your money back when you need it. The government guarantees that—and it's no more trouble to get the money than it is to cash a cheque. I'm all for Canada Savings Bonds."

• • • •

Yes, and Canada Savings Bonds are good for your money too. Buying Canada Savings Bonds is certainly the way to save and invest money. The 7th issue is now on sale. You can buy them in any amount to suit you—$50, $100, $500, $1,000 or $5,000. The most one person can buy is $5,000. Place your cash or monthly savings plan order with us today. Clift Insists Pictures Must Be Good

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The movie crowd has never been able to understand Montgomery Clift.

The young actor hit the films five years ago. He was a sensation, but made no effort to cash in on his fame.

He failed to feed his fans with enough pictures to keep his name in lights. Instead, he turned down scripts and acted in only five pictures. After being away from the cameras for almost three years, he is back for "I Confess."

WON'T CHEAT

"I don't want to appear overly choosey in the way I pick scripts," he said. "But I feel an obligation to those who want to see me on the screen. I want to be sure that they don't feel cheated when they see me in a picture. The only way to do that is to pick scripts as carefully as possible."

He admitted that by appearing in so few films he has neglected the clamorous young audience that greeted his film debut.

"I'm sorry about that," he said. "It's good to have those kids on our side. But to keep them I'd have to make two or three pictures every year. I don't want to make pictures just for the sake of making pictures. I want them to be good."

SATISFIED WITH CHOICE

Clift said he was pretty well satisfied with his choice of films so far. "The Search," was a critical success.

"Red River" was a big hit. "The Big Lift" was the only disappointment of Clift's career.

He admitted that "The Heiress" failed to show a profit "but that was because it cost too much."

Clift said he will continue his formula of picking and choosing.

Allied Forces Still Low Ridgway Says

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said last night his forces are "still far from the minimum" to smash an all-out surprise attack on the west.

"Our concept calls for an adequate though small covering force of land, sea and air, always on guard, capable of meeting any sudden onslaught, and of parrying any potentially disastrous or decisive thrusts," he said in a speech to the Pilgrim Society dinner. The Supreme Commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces added:

"Backing up this 'ever-ready' active component we must have rapidly-mobilizable, well - trained and well-equipped reserves. . . .

NEED SUPPORT

"Finally, and it is this element of our basic concept which gives me acute concern, both our active and reserve components must have essential supporting facilities and supplies in adequate quantity, ready in the proper areas by the time required."

Ridgway said it was essential to bring Western German forces into the defence plan.

Brantford Assessor Named Commissioner

SARNIA (CP)—City council last night accepted the recommendation of City Manager E. Royden Colter that Edward Reginald Charlton, chief assessor of the city of Brantford, be appointed to the position of Sarnia assessment commissioner effective Dec. 1.

Mr. Charlton will succeed Assessment Commissioner George Ahear, whose retirement is effective Dec. 31.

Regrets Exclusion From Pact

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill publicly expressed regret yesterday at Britain's exclusion from the newly-formed Australia-New Zealand-United States (Anzus) defence pact.

He assured the reassembled House of Commons that he intends to press for Britain's admission anyway in talks with Australian and New Zealand leaders at next month's British Commonwealth conference.

Churchill spoke in reply to questions as Parliament resumed work after a summer recess.

Churchill's Conservative forces meantime clung to their slim majority in the Commons, defeating the Labor party opposition on two minor motions by margins of 19 and 24 votes.

The expected big development—Churchill's announcement on Britain's first atom bomb explosion eleven days ago—was postponed. The Prime Minister told a Labor questioner he intends to make his statement "in the near future."

Pleads Innocent In Murder Case

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Richard Monette yesterday pleaded innocent at his re-trial for murder in connection with the fatal beating Nov. 16 of Harper Harris, elderly resident of Grantham township.

Last spring Monette was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. He won an appeal and was granted a re-trial.

Outlining the Crown's case, A.C. Hall said Monette, his brother and a third man named Balfour were associated in a house repair business.

Mr. Hall said they contracted repairs for Harris and were given a $45 down payment. On Nov. 17 when they went to do the job, Mr. Hall added, it was raining.

Crown counsel said it would be shown that when Balfour suggested they go in and tell Harris it was too wet to work, Monette said, "no, no, don't go in."

Later Balfour and Monette's brother entered the house and saw Harris's body at the foot of the cellar stairs.

Robot With Memory To Give Vote Results

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Univac, an electronic robot eight feet tall, will forecast election results for television viewers when returns start coming in on election night, Nov. 4.

The $600,000 electronic computer will be used by Columbia Broadcasting System television to see whether its capacity for making calculations and analyses will make it possible to indicate the final outcome with a fair degree of accuracy on the basis of incomplete returns.

Officials of Remington Rand, which built the machine, and CBS say it will make possible comparisons on a scale and at a speed impossible by conventional methods. It will be the first use of one of the giant electronic computers on election returns.

HAS MEMORY

Univac—short for Universal Automatic Computer—is a machine with a memory. Figures fed into the machine are recorded electronically on metallic tapes and mercury memory tanks.

From now until election night, the machine will be fed data on hour-by-hour election totals of 1944 and 1948 for each of the 48 states and more detailed data on eight key states.

On the night of Nov. 4 the machine then will be given, for instance, the 9 p.m. returns from Pennsylvania. Univac then will take the figure, compare it with the 9 p.m. totals of the 1944 and 1948 elections, and report on an electric typewriter its forecast of what the final 1952 totals will be from the state.

The Univac forecast will not be a mere projection of the 1952 9 p.m. figures on the same ratio, but will take into account the variations in Democratic-Republican ratios that usually occur in later returns from Pennsylvania.

Similar forecasts will be made on a national basis when returns from enough states are in to give a fair sampling.

U.S. Soldiers Stage Mock Amphibious Test

TOKYO (AP)—Thousands of U.S. soldiers staged a mock amphibious attack today on a vital and touchy portion of the Red-held North Korean east coast about 70 miles north of parallel 38.

The soldiers, supported by shelling warships and bombing planes, did everything except to go to the beach and land.

The Far East Command's announcement called it the climax of a "realistic training program." There was little doubt that the huge demonstration gave Red forces in the Wonsan area a nervous time.

Man's Condition Fair

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — William Gardner, 26, kicked by a horse in a spill at Strathroy races Thanksgiving Day, is in "fair" condition at Victoria Hospital, authorities said. He suffered a fractured right hip and ankle injuries.

Third Victim Dies Following Accident

SARNIA (CP)—Crushed in a truck accident that claimed the lives of two young children last Saturday, Charles Marshall, 60, of Point Edward, died in hospital here last night.

Funeral services were held yesterday for Margaret Lambert, 6, and her sister, Barbara, 3, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lambert; Sarnia, who were killed in the crash.

A light pickup truck driven by Mrs. Lambert, mother of the children, skidded and rolled over on the Brigden sideroad when it hit a patch of loose gravel.

Third World War Unlikely Terrors Too Great - Churchill

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill said last night he thinks a third world war is unlikely because both sides fear its terrors.

"Both sides know that it would begin with horrors of a kind and on a scale never dreamt of before by human beings," he said

"It would begin by both sides in Europe suffering in the very first stage exactly what they dread most. It would also be different from other wars because the main disasters would probably come in the first month or even in the first week."

Churchill spoke to an audience of leading Britons and Americans at a dinner given by the Pilgrims, an organization designed to foster friendship between Britain and the United States.

The Duke of Edinburgh and Defence Minister Earl Alexander were present and the guest of honor was Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe.

Describing what would happen in a third world war, Churchill said:

"The quarrel might continue for an indefinite period, but after the first month it would be a broken-backed war in which no great armies could be moved over long distances by land.

"The torments which would fall in increasing measure on the whole civilian population of the globe would be indescribable. And there is this fact also to be remembered, that governments depending upon long-distance communications by land may well find that they had quite soon lost their power to dominate events."

Churchill emphasized that he was giving only his personal opinion when he said war was unlikely. "It is only an opinion, not a prophecy," he said.

Jury Refuses Indict Rivera

CHICAGO (AP)—A Cook county grand jury yesterday refused to indict Manuel (Jim) Rivera, Chicago White Sox outfielder, accused of rape of a 21-year-old housewife.

Rivera did not appear before the grand jury. He is at liberty on $5,000 bond set Sept. 30, two days after he had been seized by police as he was leaving Comiskey Park following the last baseball game of the season.

Rivera was accused by Mrs. Janet Gather, wife of an army private. She said he offered to carry some of her packages to her apartment and there attacked her.

Rivera denied the charges. He admitted he was intimate with Mrs. Gather but said it was with her consent.

Paper Urges Queen Invite Windsors Back

LONDON (Reuters)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor should be invited to end their long "exile" from England by attending the coronation of the Queen next June, Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express said in an editorial.

"The people would welcome their presence," the newspaper said. "and they would acclaim, too, the generous impulse of their new Queen in inviting them."

Selwyn W.A. Hears Talk On Thanksgiving

SELWYN (ENS) —A Harvest Thanksgiving Service was held in the Selwyn United Church on Sunday morning.

The church was decorated with fruits, vegetables and flowers, as tokens of the bountiful harvest this year.

The Rev. D. P. Morris chose as the theme of his address, "It is a Good Thing to Give Thanks", when he stressed the fact that so often we forget to render thanks unto God for all that we are privileged to enjoy.

"We live in the best country in the world" said Mr. Morris, "and we should cultivate the habit of giving thanks to God for if we take God out of the picture we would not have a harvest.

PLOW CHAMPION — Algie Wallace of North Gower, Ont., near Ottawa, guided his horse-drawn plow to first place in his class at the International Plowing Matches at Carp. He won a trip to Europe where he probably will compete in plowing matches in England and Scotland next month.

YOU JUST GUIDE ...it does the work

The back-breaking job of polishing linoleum, hardwood and tile floors with a clumsy, weighted brush is a thing of the past. Now, a G-E Floor Polisher does all the work. You just guide it and, presto, you have gleaming floors. Two counter-rotating brushes, driven at 600 revolutions per minute do a thorough polishing job right up to baseboards, deep into corners and close to furniture. And the G-E Floor Polisher is easily carried from room to room . . . only 16 pounds. Your G-E Dealer will gladly demonstrate this labour-saving polisher.

Easy to use

Because the brushes rotate in opposite directions they counter balance each other . . . eliminating the tendency to "run away" common to other machines.

Light to carry

Weighing only 16 lbs., it is light enough to carry from room to room—yet heavy enough to do a lovely job.

Snap-on brushes and buffing pad

Polishing brushes have finger-pull attachments for easy removal . . . lamb's wool buffing pads that snap on brushes give that extra high-gloss finish.

Gets in corners

As the brushes rotate they flare out making it possible to polish deep into corners, close to baseboard, furniture and rugs.

Drew Sees Hope Of Avoiding Outbreak Of Third World War

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Opposition leader George Drew said here last night that "it may be possible to avoid a third world war."

Addressing some 200 members and guests of the Progressive Conservative Association, he said: "The Communist-dominated countries and their like will eventually be defeated by their lack of democracy."

The Progressive Conservative leader, on a Northern Ontario tour, said Germany is a "rising nation and the decency inherent in these people must be brought to the assistance of democracy and our allied nations.

NOT ENOUGH INTEREST

"Canadians, generally, haven't taken sufficient interest in their country and could possibly arrive at a condition where others might take over the Dominion."

Mr. Drew said Canada has no reason to fret over the inpouring of United States capital as more than 85 per cent of capital investments are controlled by Canadians.

Coming closer to subjects concerning this gold mining area, he said "there seems to be some shackles evident as far as the production of gold is concerned." It should not be necessary for the federal government to provide subsidies for Northern Ontario's greatest industry in order that the mines show a profit.

Mr. Drew deplored the cutting down of Canadian exports especially in foodstuffs to the United Kingdom. New efforts should be made to gain overseas trade.

At Virginiatown earlier in the day, Mr. Drew said he would like to see restoration of gold coins to the Canadian currency scene.

Mr. Drew said he believes there will be a tremendous market for gold coins, "It would be to the advantage of all if we were to take the shackles off gold and make it the servant of man and not his master."

SMUGGLED ALIENS—Stanley Carley, 40, of Windsor, Ont., a Canadian immigration officer, has pleaded guilty in Detroit court to two charges of smuggling aliens into the United States. U. S. immigration officials said Carley confessed, after several hours' questioning to smuggling seven aliens across the border in the trunk of his automobile.

Marseille Has Opened Most Modern Apartment Block

MARSEILLE, France (Reuters)—The most modern block of apartments in Europe—the "Cite Radieuse" (Radiant City)—was dedicated yesterday by Reconstruction Minister Eugene Claudius-Petit.

The slab-like, stilt-supported building is 17 stories high with 330 apartments. It was designed by Charles Edouard le Corbusier, one of the world's acknowledged leaders in modern architecture.

Every tenant of the "Cite Radieuse" is promised a sunny living room, ample daylight in all rooms and views of both the sea and the hills. It is an air-conditioned, self-contained city.

HAS EVERYTHING

The building contains a laundry, swimming pool, terraced cafe, solarium, movie theatre, small hospital, communal radio and television aerials and a recreation area on the roof. Eight acres of gardens surround the site.

Le Corbusier, 65, has described the reinforced concrete framework of his building as a gigantic "bottle rack," designed to hold prefabricated dwelling units instead of bottles.

The apartments have no doors and are built of glass brick—as opaque as but harder wearing than the usual stone employed in France.

Many of the first tenants will be civil servants. Their rents of 80,000 and 160,000 francs (about $235 to $470) a year—considered extremely high in France—will be paid partly by the state.

The "vertical community" is supported 23 feet clear of the ground on 36 concrete "stilts."

Guilty of Assault

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Anna Ruffiange yesterday was fined $100 and costs when found guilty of assault with intent to maim—by dumping boiling water on her sister, Mrs. Helen Brisebois, who was trying to settle a family argument.

Mrs. G. Watt Resigns Lakefield P.S. Board

signation of Mrs. G. Watt was received and accepted at the October meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board, and the secretary, Miss Grace Yonge was instructed to advertise for a teacher to replace her. The chairman, Albert Buchanan, presided and all members were present except Ralph Jackman.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported attendance for the month of September as 334 pupils or 95.72%. He asked that extra lighting be provided for the classroom in Memorial Hall which, since the opening of the fall term has had to be used, owing to crowded conditions in the school. He also stated that the school had held two fire drills during that month, and that the extra tuition being provided for Alda Webster, who is unable to attend school due to illness, was proving quite satisfactory.

The name of Mrs. John Lickley will be added to the list of supply teachers, on motion of trustees Wilford and Campbell.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $654.61.

BAND GREETED

Peterborough Citizens Band played well last night in the parade of the national lacrosse title winners. If the fans could turn some of their enthusiasm to the account of music we'd have even a better band. Some people are queer; they would rather have a music title than renown with the hickory.

FISHIN' ENDS

All fishing—bass and pickerel—ends tonight in the Kawarthas; 'lunge were through on Oct. 1st and Speckles, Browns, Rainbows and Kamloops were closed off on Sept. 15. Sportsmen are enjoying themselves shooting partridge, ducks and geese at the present time with deer hunting in the offing.

GRASSLAND WORK

James Dutton would approve the levelling and rolling of the lot at the southwest corner of Monaghan Road and Romaine St. Some kind of grass is breaking through the top soil. In the council Mr. Dutton was one of those who objected to a service station or other building on that lot. It was too near the C.P.R.

MEETING POSTPONED

To give civic accolade to the public's reception to the Timbermen, finally home from the lacrosse campaign, the finance committee of the council was postponed Tuesday until tonight. Mayor Hugh Waddell and Ald. Doug. Miller, chairman of the committee, were up in the front of the parade.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

The Peterborough Film Council had a total attendance of 27,000 in its film showings in Nicholls Oval during the summer. This figure, which is the highest for outdoor activities of any council in Ontario, was reported by Ronald Ward, regional supervisor of the National Film Board, at the joint meeting of the Peterborough Film Council and Peterborough Nature Club, held in the Public Library Tuesday night.

Lindsay Seeks New Police Chief

LINDSAY (ENS)—Town council last night empowered Clerk W. R. Allely to advertise in local and Toronto newspapers for a replacement for chief of police Art Webster.

Chief Webster's letter of resignation was presented to the town council Tuesday night by Reeve Richard Butler, chairman of the police committee. The resignation takes effect November ninth.

Reeve Butler and all members of council joined in expressing their regret at the chief's departure for Weston but also congratulated him on receiving such a lucrative promotion. Various members of the council praised the chief's efficiency, capability, and stated that he was a good officer who commanded respect and had his department well disciplined. Ald. Pierce suggested that Constable Percy Mark be made acting chief as he would probably not apply for the position but it was decided to commence advertising for a man at once.

Stewart Sells Entire Stock Of 76 Horses

All Race Equipment To Be Auctioned Forced By City Growth

Hilltop standard bred stud, established by Hugh Stewart, will be dispersed on the auction block at Hilltop Stock Farms Thursday Oct. 16 beginning at 1 a.m.

The catalogue lists 76 stallions, broodmares, yearlings and weanling foals of 1952, to be sold with the entire racing equipment including sulkies, harness, all the gear and tack down to hobbles and boots.

Two thousand or more catalogues have been distributed among harness race horse men in Canada and the United States, many of whom have written for local reservations. This is a specialty sale requiring the agency of men experienced in the selling of standardbred horses. Three auctioneers have been engaged from south of the border.

Stewart Direct, winner of $35,000, the pride of Hilltop, will be sold with all the others, including the sires Prince Direct and Big Gun the latter a comparatively recent acquisition. The mares are believed to be in foal to one or other.

Standardbred horses race in harness and sulky, and are either pacers or trotters.

CLOSING BOOKS

Mr. Stewart has been consigning yearlings to the big sale at Harrisburg, Pa., for the last two years. Probably he was chiefly influenced by circumstances affecting his property on the west side of Peterborough in his decision to dispose of everything connected with his racing barn, and to close his book of registrations and records for keeps.

In the foreword to the elaborate catalogue of nearly 90 pages, he mentions the encroaching residential area.

"We have tried hard to establish our breed, never having an animal that lacked a thing, no matter what category it should fall under. We feel that we have done a good job in the few short years that we have been in this skilful profession of raising standardbreds. Only now, when it could proceed to give us much enjoyment, the farm is sold for city development.

PUSHED BY CITY

"For some time we have known that soon we would have to vacate the farm, as every day the city, which is today right on our doorstep, has been pushing a little harder on us and on our location in the community. We can't blame them, as there is a hospital that cost many millions not over a block from the barn, but we have hated the thought of selling our multitude of standard bred aristocrats, as we have grown fond of every one of them.

"When the auctioneer's hammer is down for the last time, and the last horse is sold on Oct. 16, it is going to grieve us very much, but we will have our fond memories of many wonderful moments with the standardbred which we will remember and cherish for many years to come."

Most of the Stewart horses were bred in Canada, the majority at Hilltop, and there is a sprinkling of others imported from the United States. Two of them, Big Gun and Katherine Tipton, were bred at Walnut Hall Farms, Donerail, Kentucky. Big Gun is a son of Guy Abbey and Maytag.

KATHERINE TIPTON

The notation on Katherine Tipton is: "We secured K. T. when she had around $18,000 on her card, and we wished $20,000 on it before we retired her. She raced well for us all that spring, summer and fall, but because of small purses still lacked a few dollars of $20,000 in the fall, so we sent her up to Dufferin. She was starting to go strong there, taking on all comers, and defeating them. One day she slipped and broke her leg. She now walks with a limp, but is raising wonderful colts."

The catalogue is replete with breeding information through three and in some instances four generations. Its principal interest is to horsemen and quite a number of men who also follow the background of the standardbreds.

A final quotation: "I don't know what else I could say about [illegible] except that he has defeated every great performer and 2.00 star he raced against, with the exception of Grattan McKylo 1.59 3-5 and Jimmy Creed 1.59 4-5.

"He has won in the vicinity of $35,000 and has paced many miles around 2.00. One particular race I like to remember is the Nassau

Dept. Lauds School Board For Low Cost

The Department of Education have approved the $80,000 cost of building and equipping the four-room Cameron St. school.

At the same time the Department congratulated the Peterborough Board of Education for securing a bid of $1.30 less per square foot than the average cost of school construction in Ontario.

The $80,000 contract will now be signed with the general contractor Walter H. Mortlock. Already city council have been asked by the Board to issue debentures for this amount.

The general contract with Mortlock is for $62,250. Additional costs are $3,915 for architect's fees, $7,500 for equipment and furnishings, $750 for landscaping, $1,000 for fencing, and $1,585 for incidentals.

Originally the Board anticipated having to ask city council for $100,000. But on instructions from the accommodation committee the architects scaled down the extras and a saving of $20,000 was made.

THREE CLASSROOMS

The school will have three classrooms, a kindergarten and a teachers' room.

At the last meeting of the Board of Education G. Wilson Craw, accommodation chairman, said the building had no frills but was a "good primary school, substantial and compact."

"I'm confident that the $80,000 will put the school there, complete," said Mr. Craw. "There should be no extras."

The scaling down in construction costs (almost to the figure for Queen Mary School, built five years ago) drew this comment from the Department:

The Board is to be congratulated and of securing a bid of $11.20 a square foot when the average cost in the province is $12.50 a square foot."

Offer High Interest In Seventh Bond Issue

Seventh annual issue of Canada Savings Bonds is now being offered to the public. Most, it is expected, will be bought on the payroll deductions plan by the many workers in city industries and offices.

The bonds, which mature in August, 1963, bear interest at 3¾ per cent annually, yielding 10 annual coupons. It is the highest interest rate ever offered on savings bonds.

Bonds bought this year do not start to bear interest until August 1953, and therefore the average interest rate is 3.44, still the highest offered. Interest in other issues has been: 1948-49-50, 2.75 per cent; 1951, 3.21 per cent.

War savings bonds offered three per cent as their highest interest rate.

OUT TO MEET THE CHAMPIONS—Peterborough lacrosse fans turned out Tuesday night to greet the Timbermen during the team's parade from the armories to Miller Bowl. George St. was lined on both sides from Murray St. to the Bowl with cars loaded with people while others stood on street corners and waited at the Bowl. A portion of the crowd at the bowl is shown in centre photo. Later, all the team attended a buffet dinner at the Empress hotel in their honor. Club president, Bob Pierson, Mayor Hugh Waddell and Coach Bob Thorpe begin to leaf through the Examiner souvenir edition. Grant Burns, Nip O'Hearn and Lloyd Wootton, the Moon, (bottom photo) entered another league, the knife-and-fork league, Tuesday night to end the lacrosse season. — (Examiner Staff Photos)

City Welcomes Champs Home

Another chapter in Peterborough sporting history ended Tuesday night when the city welcomed the Timbermen, Canadian senior lacrosse champions for the second year in succession. Crowds lined George St., as the Mann Cup champions passed in a block-long parade, on their way to Miller Bowl. There, the champs were officially welcomed by Mayor Hugh Waddell and introduced to a crowd of about 2,500. Several of the stars, who helped bring Peterborough its second national sporting title in two years rode in a fire truck behind the C.G.E. Pipe Band.

A pair of Indians in war paint and full war dress on horseback lead the parade. Drum majorette Judy Welch dressed in a scarlet [illegible] Mayor Hugh Waddell, and Bob Peirson, president of the Peterborough Lacross Club and sponsor of the team rode.

Next came the C. G. E. pipe band, followed by the fire truck, a truck load of players, followed by another on which the club executive rode, then five car loads of players' wives and the Peterborough Citizens Band.

JUVENILE CHAMPS

The Ontario Juvenile Champion Lacrosse team who won the provincial title this year rode on the ear of a truck behind the band, and a flock of pee wee lacrosse players brought up the rear.

George Ludgate was master of ceremonies at Miller Bowl and introduced the players, coach Bob Thorpe and members of the club executive to the crowd.

Lou Nickle, one of the junior players brought up to the Timbermen this season who was awarded the Mike Kelley trophy, as the most valuable players in the Mann Cup finals against Vancouver Pilseners drew a big ovation from the crowd.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

"The benefits to be derived from having a dominion championship team in the city are many and varied," said Mayor Hugh Waddell. The youth of the city have the advantage of seeing first hand the type of competition and team play that make a championship team said Mr. Waddell.

In expressing the appreciation [illegible] Timbermen for winning top honors in Canada's national sport, Mr. Waddell said that the publicity the city receives in having its name flashed from coast to coast could be obtained in no other way.

"Tonight marks an occasion anxiously awaited by all of us," he said, "Although we were all a little worried but we had no doubt of the final outcome.

He said the honor members of the team and the club executive have brought to the city will always remain "a tribute to your energy, initiative and citizenship."

[illegible] without whose loyalty he said the achievement of winning the championship two years in a row could not have been accomplished.

From Miller Bowl, the players and executives of the club went to Civic Arena. There, between the first and second periods of a

Harrington, 65, of R.R. 3, Trenton, died at 9.25 a.m. She suffered severe head injuries and has been in critical condition since the crash. Others killed in the head-on collision Monday were her husband, aged 77, who died in hospital Monday night, his cousin Stephen Harrington, 75, who was killed instantly, and Mrs. Peter Enns, 28, of St. Catharines, who died on the way to hospital in an ambulance.

Mrs. Harrington, her husband and his cousin were the only occupants of a 1930 car that smashed head-on into a 1947 model, driving the older car's bumper into the grill of the other auto.

Dr. Herbert N. Young, coroner, said no inquest would be held.

CRITICAL CONDITION

Mrs. Enns' husband, driver of the newer car, suffered only minor injuries, while her mother, Mrs. Walter Saxton, 65, remains in critical condition in Civic Hospital. Mrs. Saxton suffered head injuries and a broken leg. Miss Joyce Saxton, 21, Mrs. Enns' sister, suffered slight cuts on her forehead.

Three ambulances, called to the scene by Provincial Police, were kept busy for more than an hour after the crash, carrying the dead and injured to Peterborough. An added hazard for the ambulances was the heavy traffic through which they threaded their way to the scene and back. Several separate west-bound lines of traffic, more than an hour after the accident, were more than a mile long.

Monday's accident was the worst fatal accident this year. Two women were killed July 18 in a two-car, head-on collision on the Springville hill, seven miles southwest of the city. They were 22-year-old Marion Clark of Port Perry, and Mrs. John A. McDonald, 21, of Toronto.

Critically injured in the same crash was 23-year-old Clare Keown of Woodville, who suffered serious head injuries and a broken leg. He was unconscious for many weeks after the accident and is now being treated at Toronto General Hospital.

Salvation Army Women Injured

Two Quebec women were injured before dawn today when their car skidded on the wet highway, south of Fraserville, and turned over in the ditch.

Miss Noella Vachon, 26, of Sherbrooke St., Montreal, is in Civic Hospital with scalp cuts and bruises.

Another of the five occupants, Mrs. Fred Monk, 73, of 10th Ave., Lachine, was given outpatient treatment after sustaining cuts on her face from flying glass.

All of the occupants are members of the Salvation Army. They were on their way to visit relatives in Fenelon Falls and then they intended to go to the annual Quebec-Ontario S. A. Congress beginning Thursday night in Toronto.

As their small English-model car started to descend a grade on Highway 28, a mile south of Fraserville, it skidded on the wet pavement and went out of control. It was being driven by Miss Elsie Jackett, a S. A. Lieutenant now living in Lachine.

The two other passengers were Miss Nora Brokenshire, a Major with the French Corps in Montreal; and Miss Lucy Leather, a Lieutenant who is assistant to Miss Jackett.

Miss Vachon is an assistant to Miss Brokenshire.

Both Miss Jackett and Miss Brokenshire were formerly residents of Fenelon Falls.

The injured were taken to hospital by a passing motorist.

Four Flee Home As Blaze Razes Building

COBOURG (ENS) — Three adults and an infant got out of a burning house with only a few minutes to spare Tuesday when flames destroyed the frame dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McMahon, of Hamilton township, northeast of Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon, their son Jack and his wife and six-weeks-old child had no time to don warmer clothing and escaped into the chill morning air with only their night clothes on them.

Mrs. McMahon, Jr., awakened Tuesday morning around three o'clock to the smell of smoke and the sound of crackling flames issuing from the kitchen. She snatched up the baby and woke up her husband who ran into another bedroom and aroused his parents. By that time the fire had raced through the house and spread so swiftly that they had no time to gather up any of their possessions.

In a brief time the house was ablaze from top to bottom and the glare brought neighbors to help. There was nothing that could be done except stand and watch the house go up in flames. Fortunately for the occupants of the dwelling, Mrs. Jack McMahon woke up in time to spread the alarm. They were given shelter by neighbors.

It was the third fire in this district in the past few days. On Saturday afternoon, fire broke out in a house near Grafton but was brought under control by a bucket brigade. Monday night, fire completely destroyed the house of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stewart in Hamilton township and, yesterday morning was the blaze at the McMahon home which by coincidence followed fast on the heels of Fire Prevention Week.

Lindsay To Draw Up Five-Year Plan

LINDSAY —(ENS)— Lindsay town council has approved a proposal that the corporation operate its finances on a five-year plan for capital expenditures. Alderman Lloyd Burrows, chairman of the finance committee, made the proposal at last night's meeting of town council. He asked that a plan be drawn up that will designate certain expenditures for roads, schools and other expenditures, and they would be proceeded with as present debentures expire, so that they would not be more than one major expenditure in one year. Reeve Butler and Aldermen Hick and Pearce were appointed a committee to bring in a plan for the guidance of council.

Defence Projects Crippling House Building

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's multi-million dollar defence projects are knocking the foundations from under a great part of home building in western provinces.

The federal government has become the cement industry's No. 1 customer.

Endless carloads of the vital bonding material are poured into giant new runways and similar buildings as armed forces bases and facilities are expanded. Hydro-electric developments and other heavy industries in the top priority category also take a king-size share.

Caught in between is the potential home owner. A Canadian Press survey shows a shortage of cement for new homes and apartment blocks in almost every major city in Western Canada.

COST IS HIGH

There's plenty of cement imported from the United States. But contractors, if possible, avoid it because of the cost—$1.25 a bag at Vancouver, $1.92 at Edmonton and $2 at Winnipeg.

This compares with $1.20, $1.23 and $1.25 a bag for Canadian cement when available at the respective cities.

The shortage of Canadian cement has temporarily set back private house building. In some cases workers in construction and allied trades have been threatened with lay-offs. Construction officials say winter employment is doubtful for at least 6,000 men in Greater Winnipeg and perhaps 4,000 at Edmonton.

The cement is needed in October and November. Otherwise cold weather interferes with pouring.

However, there is hope that shortage can be eased, with the end in sight before building starts booming again in the spring.

F.A. Mager, past president of the National House Builders' Association and a Winnipeg contractor, says the picture is beginning to "look brighter."

A letter he received from J.M. Breen of Montreal, president of the Canada Cement Company, said production at the company's plant at Exshaw, Alta., soon will be boosted to 11,000,000 bags a year from 6,000,000. Production at the end of 1953 may be greater than 17,500,000 bags.

IMPORTED CEMENT

Builders in Winnipeg, where the shortage is most acute, have been offered 35,000 bags of Swedish cement brought through the port of Churchill. The federaf government decided to pass it on to private building.

W.D. Hurst, Winnipeg city engineer, has estimated about 2,500 bags of Canadian cement a day will be released when civic construction projects are halted until spring. But the added supply will come with just a few days' good weather remaining and possibly be too late to be effective.

British Crew Blamed For Getting Lost

LONDON (Reuters) — A court of inquiry today blamed the crew of a British airliner for getting lost on a flight over Africa and straying 1,300 miles off course before crash landing in the Sahara desert.

The report gives eight causes for the accident, including "indecisive action" by the plane's captain and incorrect astral shots.

The four-engined British Overseas Airways Corporation Hermes bound from London to Lagos, Nigeria, came down in the desert in French West Africa in May with 18 aboard. One man, the co-pilot, died of injuries and sunstroke.

When they got back to Britain, Capt. Robert Langley and navigator Trevor de Nett were discharged.

Ridgway Commends Canadian Airmen

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian airmen yesterday were congratulated by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, for the way No. 2 fighter wing accomplished a trans-Atlantic flight to join his European defence forces.

In a telegram to Defence Minister Claxton, Gen. Ridgway said the arrival of the 60 Sabre jet fighters and their Canadian pilots near Metz, France, last week "represents a most valuable contribution to the defence of Europe."

TEACHES FLYING—Dawn Dawson, 20, in the last two years has taught more than 100 trainees—99 per cent of them men—to fly an airplane. Now an instructor with the Calgary Flying Club, the young miss from Osoyoos, B.C., has put in flying stints at Prince Rupert and Chilliwack, B.C., Vancouver and Lethbridge, Alta.

Flying Instructress Taught 100 Trainees How To Fly

CALGARY (CP)—Dawn Dawson is only 20, but in the last two years she has taught more than 100 trainees—99 per cent of them men—to fly an airplane.

"I love to fly and I don't know anything that will ever change my mind," says the young miss from Osoyoos, B.C., who now is an instructor with the Calgary Flying Club.

Dawn's first airplane ride came when she was in grade nine. She managed to save enough money to fly "in one of those barnstorming planes."

No other members of Dawn's family know how to fly, but hopes are held out for her 10-year-old brother, Lawrence. He's flown with his sister.

She started taking flying lessons in September, 1950, after graduating from school. She received her commercial flying licence the following May after completing the required 200 flying hours, 50 more than the present requirement.

In 1950 Dawn went to Prince Rupert, B.C., Aero Club as an instructor. After five months of flying mostly float aircraft, she went to Associated Airways at Vancouver.

She remained with that firm until June, 1951, then moved on to Chilliwack, B.C. "That was fun," she says, "but a lot of work. I handled the flying job and also the cooking for the gang."

TORONTO (CP)—An agreement has been reached between the Printing Pressmen's Union (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) and 45 of Toronto's major commercial printing-plants giving workers an across-the-board increase of nine cents hourly. Effective tomorrow the contract means a boost in basic journeymen's rates to $2 and assistants to $1.75.

Union Advises Women Not To Try Dieting

LONDON (Reuters)—A British labor union advised its women workers yesterday not to diet because it might harm efficiency at their machines. The advice came in a pamphlet produced by the Amalgamated Engineering Union.

It said most women require all the food they can obtain to withstand the strain of daily work at home and in the factory.

Opening New Laboratory For Naval Research Work

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will forge a new link in her national chain of defence research establishments tomorrow with the official opening of a new laboratory to house the Naval Research Establishment at Dartmouth, N.S.

Defence Minister Claxton will officially dedicate the new laboratory for the naval group whose research work has produced scientific findings valuable to the navy, merchant marine and shipyards.

With the Minister will be Dr. O.M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research board who has just returned from the British atomic tests in Australia, other members of the board and a distinguished group of Canadian, British and United States scientists.

TO SEE DISPLAYS

Visitors to the laboratory-opening ceremonies will see a number of displays of N.R.E.'s work. A table-top model of an asdic device will show how sound pulses produce echoes from a submarine and how the latter's range can be estimated from the "pings" heard by the asdic operator.

Other exhibits will demonstrate how salt water flows up-river through an estuary beneath the down-flowing fresh water, the meanderings of the Gulf Stream and other important studies carried on by scientists in the field of oceanography.

The N. R. E. stemmed from a request from the navy for scientific assistance in 1940. A group of scientists led by the late Dr. G.H. Henderson and Dr J.H.L. Johnstone, now head of the Department of Physics, Dalhousie University, united to apply to navy ships degaussing techniques against enemy magnetic mines.

The group assisted the navy in many other fields of science during and after the war years. In 1948 the establishment became a Defence Research Board unit.

DOCKING FACILITIES

Besides the new, two-storey, U-shaped laboratory building, the Dartmouth site includes docking facilities for various experimental vessels and navy ships on loan to the scientists.

The establishment has become internationally known for its successful work on the prevention of corrosion of ships' hulls. Other successful projects it has undertaken concern thermal insulation of ships' compartments for Arctic conditions and the testing of anti-fouling paints.

C.C.F. Plans To Launch Health Insurance Petition

OTTAWA (CP) — The C. C. F. soon will launch one of the largest signature - collecting campaigns ever undertaken in Canada.

The party plans to ask as many Canadians as can be reached to sign a petition urging the federal government to inaugurate a national health insurance program at the forthcoming session of Parliament.

Plans for the petition were announced last night by M. J. Coldwell, C. C. F. leader, in a broadcast over the CBC's Trans-Canada Network. He spoke from Winnipeg in the CBC series "The Nation's Business."

Lorne Ingle, national secretary of the C. C. F., said in an interview he expects to have the petition in its final form today. It will be circulated as soon as it is printed.

Provincial organizations of the C. C. F. will handle the petition in their own areas. The campaign may vary from province to province, but the general intention is to have a door-to-door canvass for signatures.

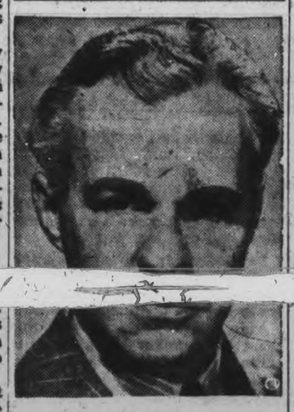
NON-CCF SUPPORT SEEN

Mr. Ingle said no [illegible] who are likely to sign the petition. Support is expected from persons and organizations who believe in national health insurance, but who do not support the C. C. F.

The next session of Parliament opens Nov. 20. Mr. Ingle said the party hopes to table its petition in the Commons early in the new year.

There will be no obligation on the government to act, no matter how many signatures are obtained.

In his broadcast, Mr. Coldwell said the Liberal Party has been "promising" national health insurance since 1919. For 33 years there have been "procrastination and delays."



FULL MEDICAL CARE

The petition, he said, will call for a program to provide all citizens, irrespective of income, full hospital, medical, dental and optical care.

He added:

"The petition will stress that while the finances for such a service must be provided on a national basis, its administration must be carried out through local health regions responsible to the health departments of the various provincial governments.

"It will call for an extension of training facilities for professional personnel and an accelerated program of hospital construction. It will also suggest the financing of the scheme through a social security contribution, graduated according to ability to pay, and supplemented from the general revenue."

PLANE BUILDER — Howard C. Cotterell, of Montreal, has been borrowed by the government from Trans-Canada Air Lines to help produce aircraft for the fighting forces. The T.C.A. general manager in charge of purchasing and stores joins the defence production department as aircraft production administrator. The government is pouring about $1,000,000,000 into aircraft production. Mr. Cotterell's job will be to watch over production after contracts are awarded and make sure schedules are met and production tangles unravelled.

THE PACK: The opening Grand Howl started another trek through the Jungle. During the inspection, Mr. Crump accepted the invitation to assist in this part of the program. Four new members were officially accepted into pack activities as Don Ross, Grant Menzies, Dennis Walton and Ian Young had the "White Neckerchief" placed around their shoulders.

Practice for First Star work held the attention of many of the boys whilst the un-invested boys heard the story of "Peter the Cub" from the Rev. John Purser, chairman of the group committee.

Mr. Trueman again held the spotlight in storytelling when he related a tale of the R.C.M.P. Leslie Crump, Bob Dawson, Ken Collins, Jamie Welsh and Jerry Sedgewick received their Seconders' Strip at a short ceremony as they promised to help Akela and their Six. The pack was brought up to full strength when Bobby Yudin was made welcome as a New Friend, being placed under Sixer David Gunn in the Green Six. The close of the evening showed the Brown and Red Sixes tied for top place with 40 points, Greys 3rd. with 39 with the Blues and Greens trailing with 36.

ALL CLEAR FOR APPLE DAY

Let us hope that the good weather we have been enjoying for the past several days will hold out for Saturday next, Apple Day, and that every man and boy in the Association will be out doing their best to make this annual event a success.

2ND PETERBOROUGH ST. LUKE

ANNUAL DINNER MEETING

We understand that every Scout officer in the district will receive a complimentary ticket to the Annual Meeting and Banquet being held in Trinity Sunday School Hall on Saturday evening, October 27. It would be very fitting if those officers would purchase another ticket and bring their wives or sweethearts along. This meeting is open to anybody interested in scouting and tickets are available from W. G. Shiner. This is for the annual election of officers for the association for 1953. Your full support appreciated and requested.

7TH PETERBOROUGH, ST. PAUL'S PACK

Owing to rather limited quarters there is very little to report this week. The main feature being the return visit of our new Scoutmaster, Mr. Archibald Ballentine who spoke briefly to the pack.

CUB AND SCOUT FIELD DAY

We would like to suggest that every effort be made to plan some part of the athelete badge in all Cub and Scout activities throughout the winter, make it a real part of your program. Also some marching, for a parade is slated with one or two bands.

16TH PETERBOROUGH, TRINITY TROOP

Last spring the troop took active part in the Ganaraska reforestration project, and last week those who attended received their crests for this work; also the new patrol leaders were presented with their button hole and hat badges. Ron Cooper, Jim Elliott, Ted Spearin and Jack Spearin and Jack Freeman received their First Class badges in a fitting ceremony with their fathers and the complete group committee in attendance. Jim Elliott and Lawrence Horton also received their Religion and Life badges. Following the ceremonies, Jim Pollock introduced a new game then spoke about Capetown, South Africa, his old home town. A St. John's first aid course was commenced under the joint leadership of Mr. Forsythe and Mr. Smith. This week we are pleased to report than Don Smith has consented to take the post of Assistant Scoutmaster. Hough Chown showed some very interesting pictures of the recent summer camp.

SCRAP METAL DRIVE

A very sound suggestion was put forward to try and suppliment the waste paper drive to raise funds for Scout camping etc., that being a scrap metal drive. It was felt that many homes have a certain amount of scrap metal laying around the cellar that they would like to get rid and the scouting needs the cash. This is the opportunity of doing a good turn to your home folks by getting rid of such odds and ends and a means of helping scouting at the same time.

THE REV. W. E. KIBBLEWHITE ROVER SCOUT CREW

Last Monday night the crew met in the home of Dave and Ron Hatton, because of the fact that there still is no heat in the Den.

At this meeting the Crew got down to some serious work, and finished up the boxes for Apple Day. They are all ready and waiting for the 18th.

This meeting was well attended. The only absentee was Darrel Lipsett, who was unable to attend because he was ill. We hope that Darrel is feeling much better now.

Due to the fact that Danny Barclay intends to go to Toronto for ten weeks to attend school there, he requested a leave of absence from the Crew. And due to the fact that Squire Rolly Brier will be attending night school on Monday nights, he also requested a leave of absence from the crew.

Both these leaves were granted after it was pointed out that it is a Rover's job to prepare himself to become a good citizen, and that by bettering themselves by attending special courses as these two Squires intend to do, they are preparing themselves to become better citizens.

There are two things that the Crew should keep in mind. The first is that next Sunday, October 19, is our monthly Communion Breakfast. The second reminder is about the Mission which Canon Brian Green is conducting in Brock Arena on Thursday, October 23. The Crew has been asked to turn out at the Arena at 6:00 p.m. in order to assist in the procuring, setting up, and the returning of the chairs needed for this event. These chairs are going to be obtained from the various funeral homes and the Salvation Army.

NORWOOD TROOP

The first Norwood Troop of Scouts under the leadership of the Rev. H. G. Peasgood, drove in several cars to L. W. Rye's residence near Westwood to view his rock and mineral collection. Mr. Rye was a mining engineer in Northern Ontario. He had a collection of over 100 rocks from many places on display. The Troop and drivers were served hot dogs and soft drinks by Mrs. Rye.

The Scouts present were David and Dan McMannus, Gary Hopkins, Ross Stewart, Murray and Willard Ranson, David Peasgood, Fred Morgan, Philip Hinds, Jerry Paxton, Delvin Rusaw, Bob Duncanson and John Ferguson. The drivers were Mr. Peasgood, G. Hinds, G. I. Martin and the Rev. R. D. Duncanson.

Sought Brother 20 Years, Found Dying

LINDSAY—Syd Elsden's 20-year search for his older brother Robert ended Thursday when he found him dying in a Toronto hospital.

Apparently wishing to remain free of family ties, Robert Elsden never visited his younger brother when he came to Canada from England.

Ever since he learned that Robert was in this country, however, Syd Elsden, who operated a cigar store in Lindsay, after coming here from Quebec, has been trying to find his brother.

Last Tuesday, he received word that his brother had had a stroke and was unconscious in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsden went to Toronto, but Robert remained unconscious and died Thursday without rallying.

Inquiries failed to reveal where he had spent the last 20 years, although it appears that he came to Toronto about a year ago.

WHITE HORSE TAKEN — A South Korean artillery unit loads a 75-mm recoilless rifle on White Horse Mountain in Korea. After a see-saw battle that raged for a week, the United Nations took the strategic position away from the Chinese Reds who lost an entire division in the savage combat.

Reverse Decision 30 To Share Magnate's Estate

TORONTO — More than 30 relatives of the late David Fasken, Toronto barrister, who left an estate of Texas oil fields now worth about $1,700,000, will share about $60,000 annually, the Ontario Appeal Court ruled Tuesday.

The justices, in a split decision, upset an earlier ruling by Mr. Justice Barlow that the money should go to Mr. Fasken's grandson David Jr., who is next-of-kin. The sum in dispute is the excess of $10,000 which the grandson gets annually.

Mr. Fasken died on December 2, 1929, and left his son Robert a yearly income of $30,000, with any sum in excess of this amount to be added to the capital fund of the estate. Robert died on September 24, 1934.

The grandson David Jr., is 36, and unmarried. The court was asked to determimne whether a section of the will vested in the next-of-kin all the income accruing after December 2, 1950, in excess of $10,000.

Mr. Justice Barlow decided that it should go to David Jr. This ruling was appealed by C. F. H. Carson on behalf of the relatives. Mr. Justice Henderson and Mr. Justice Gibson gave the majority verdict, with Mr. Justice Roach dissenting.

It is thought likely that the split decision will be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada.

EVER TRY A CHEW, GIRLS? — Academy Award winner Anne Baxter, left, may have Hollywood all agog over her liking for small cigars, but the girls back in Boston aren't too impressed. Anne learned to relish the ladylike stogies on location in Quebec, where she was introduced to the delights of the weed by film director Alfred Hitchcock. However, Mrs. Evelyn Frye, right, of Medford, Mass., has been smoking a pipe for some time, and Boston tobacconists say many Eastern girls enjoy a hearty smoke.

Say Steel Production Records Being Broken

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel mills are turning out finished steel so fast that there are not enough freight cars available to carry it away, the Iron Age, national metal working weekly, reports today.

All production records are being broken but steel consumers continue to press for early delivery.

Steelmakers are gearing up for even greater output as new capacity continues to be brought into production.

Both consumers and producers expect the steel market to start easing during the first quarter and to attain reasonable balance by the second quarter of next year. This belief is intensifying consumer pressure, rather than alleviating it, the Iron Age says.

Five Master Farm Families Honored By Alberta Government For Achievements

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta government today gave recognition to five farmers, their wives and children as "master farm families." Each receives $1,000, an engraved plaque and a name plate for the farm entrance.

In announcing the awards for a fourth successive year, Agriculture Minister David Ure said each family had given Alberta farmers "a practical demonstration of how a family can achieve success in farming and living with each other and their community."

The winners are E. R. Lewis of Stony Plain, 18 miles west of Edmonton; John Lambert of Manning, in the northern Peace River district; John Skryppitsky of Mundare, 54 miles east of Edmonton; J.H. Schmaltz of Beiseker, northeast of Calgary, and Jesse Cole of Clive, 70 miles south of Edmonton.

MANY NOMINATED

"Good farming, right living and clear thinking is the slogan of the master farm family program," said Mr. Ure. "It is intended to emphasize the advantages of the farming vocation and the dignity and satisfaction of farm life."

Thirty-two families were nominated for the awards. Candidates must be Canadian citizens who have operated a farm for 29 consecutive years. At least three neighbors must nominate a family, and the winners are selected on a regional basis by representative committees.

Here are some of the achievements of the winners:

John D. Lambert trekked north to the Peace River country in the winter of 1931, taking with him a shorthorn bull and a Yorkshire sow he had taken in wages while working as a farmhand.

With a friend, Lambert built a log barn for the stock and gouged a dugout dwelling in the side of a creek bank. During the first winter they killed moose for food. For his first crop he sowed nine acres, using his purebred bull to break the land and plow.

Today, the Lamberts—Mr. and Mrs. and six children—have 400 acres under cultivation and keep the soil productive by using sweet clover, grasses and fertilizers as conditioners. They have a herd of 38 good quality shorthorns.

BEAUTIFUL FARM

Joe Schmaltz in applying conservation to his Beiseker farm has placed the emphasis on trees. In 1923, he started by planting 2,425 trees around the farm and the next year 2,450 more. Additional spruce, poplar and green ash have been planted over the years, making his farm a beauty spot in an area not distinguished for its shelterbelts.

Jesse Cole bought a farm seven years ago that was badly run down due to many years of straight grain production. Extensive seeding to grass and legumes was his remedy and year by year his fields of wheat, oats and barley have steadily increased. He also has a herd of 61 Herefords.

E. R. Lewis is the largest producer of seed potatoes in the province. He also grows alfalfa hay, interchanging potatoes and hay on each piece of land to maintain the fertility and physical condition of the soil. Mr. Lewis, originally a Calgary man, averages 150 sacks of certified seed potatoes to the acre.

John and Mary Skryppitsky acquired their farm at Mundare in 1929 with a borrowed down payment of $1,000. They had three cows and a $6,000 debt. John and Mary, and their five children, worked as a team and today have a well-planned farmstead of handsome new buildings, a new home, a 1951 car and late-model farm equipment.

Big Estate, Brief Will

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A good newspaperman believes in "keeping it brief" and William D. Mansfield did just that when he wrote his will—three typewritten lines to dispose of an estate estimated at $3,000,000. Mansfield, publisher of the McKeesport (Pa.) Daily News, died Oct. 6 at the age of 74. His will, probated yesterday, left the entire estate to his son, William D. Mansfield Jr.

Stole Few Kisses In Dark Burglary Charge Laid

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP)— All he stole was a few kisses in the dark, they said, but police charged him with burglary.

And placing his hand over the girl's lips, with the warning "shhh!" represented third-degree assault, police said.

Police said Herbert R. Campbell, Jr., 23, of Clifton Park, told his story after his arrest Monday night on complaint of the mother of a 15-year-old girl:

He was attracted by the beautiful blonde hair of the girl as she sat in front of him in a theatre on Sunday night.

He followed her home, noted her bedroom light, and later returned. After removing the screen from a bathroom window, he crept in and awakened her by shaking her shoulders gently.

Yesterday, they made a date But mama heard about it before time for the date and Campbell was jailed pending a police court examination.

Tasty Salads For Every Day

HENRY'S DATE AND OLIVE SALAD

On very pale small inner iceberg lettuce leaves place fresh dates, or dried dates which have been plumped by steaming. Fill them with cottage cheese mixed with almonds. Serve four large ones to each individual salad. Garnish with a stick of inner celery, filled with four whole ripe olives, or ripe olives mashed with white cheese. Garnish with perfect sprigs of cress.

The colors of the above salad are most unusual and always start comment. I have served this as a salad course, when dessert consisted of crackers, cheeses assorted, and coffee.

EGGS PRESERVED IN WATERGLASS

Mix 1 pint of waterglass (to be purchased in large drug stores or in drug department of large department stores) with 5 quarts of boiled water that has been cooled to room temperature—in 4-gallon jar (for 9 to 12 dozen eggs). Use only clean eggs that you know are not fertile, and that you also know are new laid. Do not wash them. Put in eggs in layers; those on top should be 2 inches below surface of solution.

To make a cover for the jar pour melted paraffin over the top of the solution. While it is still soft insert a loop of wire into the paraffin for a handle. The "lid" will loosen enough around the edges so it may be lifted off easily when necessary. If the waterglass solution becomes jellied so that you cannot readily remove eggs as needed add a little boiled water to it and stir it carefully with the hand. Wash eggs as soon as they are taken from the solution, otherwise it hardens quickly on the shell when it is exposed to the air.

The jar of "water-glassed" eggs should be kept in a cool place but should not be allowed to freeze.

RECOMMENDABLE CHICKEN SALAD

To serve six people you must have two cups chicken carefully cut in ⅜-inch cubes. Do not rush through this cutting job, as the finesse of the salad depends on such little details. Add 1 cup carefully cut celery, using inner stalks and cutting pieces same size as the chicken cubes. (Any time you are making a similar type of salad remember to use 2 cups meat to each 1 cup celery. This holds for tuna, shrimp, lobster, salmon.) Now some of you may skip the next step. Marinate the chicken and celery in French dressing, in refrigerator, for 1 hour. Drain well.

Mix the salad ingredients with enough genuine mayonnaise to make it fairly moist. When ready to serve, fill lettuce cups with the salad, top with a little mayonnaise, garnish with some perfect slices of hard-cooked egg and a little shope of green pepper and sprig of parsley or cress. Green pepper or canned pimiento are effective if cut with vegetable cutter with scalloped edge.

If you would like to make this more substantial and different add a stick of canned pineapple or a crescent, and flank that with ripe olives. Colors are all effective together.

MAGGIE PEPPER

I tried this one because of its name, but now I think this must be the kind of thing that author-on health subjects meant when he said we should consume three green peppers per day. I like them but not that much. This salad was popular with all five people at our dinner table the other night— but I have to say they are all human rabbits.

On bed of shredded lettuce place a hollowed out half of a green pepper, cut lengthwise. Fill with equal quantities of celeryq, apples, cabbage cut very finely and mixed with half mayonnaise and half cottage cheese for a moistener. Garnish top with little crescent of sweet red pepper. Cottage cheese goes almost as well with green pepper as it goes with tomato, and reducers should remember that it takes the place of mayonnaise and only one-third as "fattening."

MASSACHUSETTS SALAD

(So called because so many cranberries are raised in that State). Fit together two well-cupped leaves of iceberg lettuce for each serving. Mix together equal quantities of finely chopped unpared apple, drained cranberries partially stewed in sugar syrup, halved grapes, and celery. Add blanched almonds or quartered walnuts or pecans for special occasions. Moisten with mayonnaise. Fill lettuce cups. Garnish with perfect cranberries.

SHRIMP SALAD

(To be put in lettuce cups).

1 small can shrimps, drained and trimmed, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, and if desired 1 tablespoon French dressing. Mix together just before serving time and serve in lettuce cups garnished with olives and fancy cut slice of unpeeled cucumber.

Red And Green Cabbage Slaw

Two and one-half cup each very finely shredded green cabbage and red cabbage, 1 cup finely shredded or diced green celery, 2 tablespoons finely chopped chives or green onions, or Spanish onions, 2 hard-cooked eggs sliced, about ½ to ¾ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. If desired eggs may be used in or as a garnish on the salad. Mix ingredients and just before serving moisten with Roquefort dressing or if desired, pass Roquefort dressing at table.

Note: Imported culture cheeses are best for this type of dressing, but many a good salad has been dressed with French dressing to which is added old Cheddar cheese, grated or crumbled.

Emem's Potato Salad Special

Six large new poptatoes, scrubbed but not peeled, and boiled until about three-quarters soft, ½ cup best quality mayonnaise, ½ cup sliced radishes, 1 cup finely chopped celery, ¼ cup chopped chives or green onion tops, 1 or 2 sliced hard-cooked eggs, salt. Peel potatoes when nearly cooked, and when cold put in ½-inch cubes. Mix all ingredients just before leaving on picnic, and taste to see if there is enough salt and mayonnaise.

Anderson-McGee Wedding In Campbellford Church

The wedding of Fae Iodel Lois McGee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. McGee of R.R. 2, Hastings, to Mr. William John Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Anderson of Ennismore, was an event of wide interest which took place Saturday afternoon in St. John's United Church, Campbellford.

Bronze gladioli and yellow 'mums with ivy made a charming background at the altar. The Rev. Dr. M. Smith performed the marriage. Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Anne Nichols and Miss Muriel Heagle sang solos. Before the bride entered she sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and during the signing of the register "Through The Years."

Embossed organdy over satin with a nylon yoke fashioned the bride's gown. It was made with a padded hipline emphasizing the full skirt and the tightly fitting bodice was finished with lily point sleeves, and a wide bertha collar. Her fingertip veil was of tulle illusion and was caught to a wreath of lily of the valley. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of Happiness roses and white 'mums.

Mr. McGee gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her sister Mrs. Carl Petherick as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Doreen Gilders of Peterborough and Miss Olive Petherick.

The attendants' frocks were styled with fitted bodices, having wing collars and abbreviated sleeves, atop bouffant skirts and their headdresses were pleated caps of matching material. The matron of honor wore deep blue and the bridesmaids wore deep rose. Their bouquets were also crescent shaped and were of deep rose and blue 'mums with trailing ivy.

The groom's attendant was his brother Mr. James Anderson. Ushers were Harold Sheppard of Port Hope, cousin of the groom, and Carl Petherick, brother-in-law of the bride.

The reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother was receiving, gowned in royal blue crepe and matching hat and wearing a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a black crepe dress, a grey hat and a corsage of Butterfly roses. Guests were there from Peterborough, Port Hope, Hamilton, Toronto, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Belleville, Keene, Ennismore, Brighton, Warkworth and Castleton.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and points west the bride changed to a navy dress and hat and a winter white coat. Her going-away corsage was of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will live at 551 Chamberlain St., Peterborough. Mr. Anderson is teacher of Lily Lake School in Jackson Park area.

Tully-Davies

In St. George's Anglican church the Rev. H. J. Scuse, rector, performed the marriage last Friday of Eleanor Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davies, and Gerald Douglas Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Tully, all of Peterborough.

The church was decorated for the occasion with pink 'mums and wedding music was played by Mrs. R. G. Shouldice.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a royal blue crepe dress with velvet trim, a matching hat and a corsage of white roses and carnations. She was attended by her sister Miss Irene Davies who wore a hyacinth blue two piece velvet dress, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Larry Payne.

A reception was held at the bride's home, 526 Monaghan Road, her mother receiving in a Cuban blue dress with navy velvet hat and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother was wearing a grey ensemble and corsage of pink roses.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the couple will live in Peterborough.

Scouts enjoyed a weiner roast on Tuesday night, at the cottage of Mrs. H. J. Morley on Lake Chemong. While games and activities were going on around the barbecue fire pit, Mrs. Jack Morton was secretly making a tape recording of the voices. Then, when the ladies were enjoying the food, she surprised them by playing it to them. This was of course the highlight of the entertainment. Before the outdoor fun began, a short business session was held by president Mrs. W. Beard.

Havelock Airwoman Peters Weds In Whitehorse, Yukon

HAVELOCK —(ENS) —A picturesque litte log church Whitehorse in the Yukon Territory, built in 1898 in the time of Robert Service and the "Gold Rush Days" and now known as Christ Church (Anglican) was the scene of a wedding of interest here recently.

Airwoman Frances Jean Peters, younger daughter of Mrs. Pearl Peters of Havelock became the bride of Donald Franklin Hall of Whitehorse Y. T., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall of Cloverdale, British Columbia.

Yellow and bronze 'mums on the altar made a beautiful setting for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Norman Tanner. A large boquet of pink and white clarkia placed on the organ produced a lovely floral contrast. The church organist, Morris Dean played soft music throughout the ceremony and "Liebestraum" during the signing of the register.

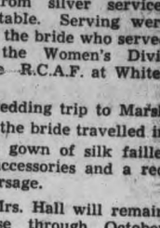
The bride, who was given in marriage by Squadron Leader R. B. Wallace, wore a lovely gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net over taffeta. Soft off-the-shoulder draping was finished with tulle which was also used to trim the bouffant skirt. Her headdress was of nylon net in tiara style, trimmed with small roses on either side and held her shoulder-length veil also of net. A white gardenia surrounded by red roses and caught with white ribbon streamers formed her bridal boquet and she carried a white prayer book.

Bridesmaid was Miss June A. Batter (A.W. 1) of Windthorst, Sask., who wore a gown of daffodil Chantilly lace and nylon net over taffeta. Her short net veil was caught to a headdres similar to that of the bride and she wore matching nylon gloves. Her boquet was of white carnations with streamers of wide satin ribbon in cinnamon brown.

Eric Small of White Rock, B.C. was groomsman and ushers were Richard Radcliffe of Vancouver, B.C. and Paul Fisher (A.C.1, R.C.A.F.) of St. John, N.B.

A reception was held at "The Guest House" where about 50 guests were received by the bridal party and where F/O I. R. S. Hutchins, R.C.A.F. station Whitehorse, was hostess. Miss Hutchins wore a gown of gold crepe with wine accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. C. L. Olsson, wife of the commanding officer and Mrs. R. B. Wallace wife of the Squadron Leader poured tea and coffee from silver services at the tea table. Serving were associates of the bride who served with her in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. at Whitehorse.

For the wedding trip to Marsh Lake Lodge the bride travelled in a light blue gown of silk faille, with navy accessories and a red rose as a corsage.



Mr. and Mrs. Hall will remain in Whitehorse through October where the former is the assistant manager of the Bank of Montreal. Then following a trip east they will live in British Columbia.

Prior to their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Hall were entertained at a party and steak dinner at Marsh Lake Lodge by the officer staff and presented with a pair of Hudson Bay blankets while a miscellaneous shower was held for the bride by the airwomen of the station.

DOROTHY DIX

Vacation Romances End As Summer Season Goes

DEAR MISS DIX: While vacationing a few months ago, I met a boy I liked very much. At the time, he seemed to like me, too. We enjoyed each other's company. When we said good bye, he didn't say anything about calling on me, even though he lives in the next town. About a month ago, I met him at a social affair. He spent the entire evening with me and seemed just as interested as he had been on our vacation. At the end of the evening, he took me home, but still didn't say anything about seeing me again. He is on my mind all the time, and I can't enjoy myself with other boys. Could you suggest anything I could do to have him get in touch with me?

GERRY F.

ANSWER: At this time of the year many a girl is in exactly the same position you are. They now begin to realize that the boy who was so devoted in July or August just isn't destined to be the devoted swain later. Summer skies sponsor many a romance that fades away with the falling of autumn leaves.

You must face the fact, Gerry that if the boy wanted to continu a friendship with you, it was up t him to make the first move. H flunked that test, then failed t take up a cue on a second chanc Isn't it reasonable to suppose tha there's another girl he prefers, o that, in spite of the fact that yo two did have enjoyable times to gether, you aren't his type? I you want to make one last as sault on his affections, have party at your house and invit him. If he refuses, or ignores th invitation, or accepts it and make no further attempt to resume the friendship, consider the incident closed.

Too many girls embark on vacations so determined to win a man that they overlook the primary object of the excursion — which is to have fun and store up energy for another year's work. True, many excellent marriages are made at resorts and on cruises, but they are more apt to be the exception than the rule. Perhaps next summer you will have better luck. In the meantime, don't neglect the opportunities of winter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: In a short time I am marrying a man who has been divorced. Many of my friends say the marriage won't work out. Do you think it will? Should I send out invitations for the wedding, or announcements when it is over?

V. M. Y.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are rather chary with details, so it's impossible to predict your chances of happiness. They depend largely on the reason for the man's divorce, and both your temperaments.

Surely, if you are planning a wedding, invitations should be sent out, sometime before the event.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Four months ago I went out a few times with a very nice boy. He moved to another town, and told me that, since he didn't write letters, he would telephone me when he got back to his hometown. He did come for a visit but, after calling me four times and not finding me home, failed to get in touch with me. Do you think I should get his address and write?

D. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A friendly letter saying you were sorry to have missed his calls would be a gracious gesture. A humorous reference to his fixed purpose of not writing letters might lead him to abandon this unsocial practice.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Special Chicken Dinner Of Crisp Southern Fried

Golly, business is looking up. Imagine opening a letter and having 35 cents drop out of it.

Jessie N. wants "Southern Fried Chicken . . . the kind that is dipped in batter and fried to CRISP golden color (deep fat preferable) . . . also if you have a recipe for good hot biscuits to go with the chicken . . ."

So, you see, today's recipes are very special, like the $60 question, these are 35-cent recipes and I hope Jessie N. feels she has her money's worth.

The question is I don't know in exactly which budget (as if I had even one) the 35 cents belongs. Jessie even enclosed a self-addressed envelope so I can't use it for mailing charges. Life is so complicated—it's just one big decision after another. (Jessie, there is no charge for recipes — but thank you for being so thoughtful.)

Candied Sweets

Velvet Cream with Sliced Peaches
Coffee.

FRIED CHICKEN IN BATTER

Use large frying chicken or small roasting chickens for this. After cleaning cut into serving-size pieces. Place in kettle and add about 1½ cups boiling water, and simmer for 20 minutes. Drain (reserve liquid for gravy or soup). Sprinkle each piece of chicken with salt and pepper and a little celery salt if desired. Dip in BATTER: (This is an all-purpose fritter batter, too.) Beat 2 eggs well and stir into them ½ cup milk. Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon each baking powder and salt and beat into egg-milk mix. Add 1 teaspoon melted butter or cooking oil. Now it is ready to dip the pre-cooked chicken in. Have ready hot deep fat (360 degrees Fahr. OR cube of bread browns in 60 seconds). Drop chicken in carefully and fry until rich golden brown and the chicken is cooked through—about 5 or 7 minutes — turning once. Serve at once.

HOT BISCUITS SUPREME

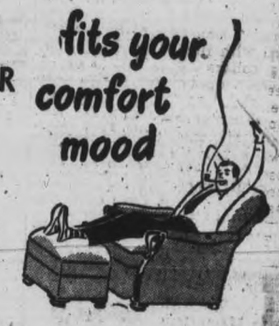
(Please cut this out and don't lose it—it's a honey as many of you know.) Two cups stirred but not sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon each cream of tartar and salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ cup of butter or margarine or best quality shortening (room temperature), 2-3 cup milk. Sift dry ingredients together and cut butter or shortening into them until fine. Add milk all at once and quickly stir. Pat and roll out to ½-inch thickness. Bake on unbuttered baking sheet at 450 degrees Fahr. for 10 minutes.

BAKED STUFFED TOMATOES

Select fairly large firm tomatoes, wash them, and cut a shallow core from stem end about 1 inch deep at centre. Make stuffing by mixing 1 cup breadcrumbs (an extravagance I approve of is readymade breadcrumbs—for one thing we don't eat white bread and never have white breadcrusts to dry out and grind—so readymade breadcrumbs are a number one convenience in this house.) After that little speech you can go on with the stuffing—to the breadcrumbs add 1 teaspoon grated onion s auteeidt2nslbaeopom ed onion sauteed in 2 tablespoons butter with ⅛ teaspoon celery seeds, and ½ teaspoon salt and shake of pepper. Fill cavities in tomatoes with this—and bake on pan with 2 or 3 tablespoons hot water in it until tender—about 40 minutes at 350 degrees Fahr. Do not peel tomatoes.

VELVET CREAM

(For Perfectionists)



Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in ¼ cup milk; in top of double boiler beat 4 egg yolks, and gradually beat in ½ cup sugar, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir in 2 cups scalded milk and cook over boiling water, stirring, until thick. Remove from heat. Stir in the soaked gelatin. Cool. When partially set beat for about ½ minute with the rotary beater, then fold in 1 cup heavy cream whipped and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into 1 large or 8 individual moulds to chill and set. Turn out to serve; add sliced fruit such as peaches, bananas, strawberries, etc.

P.S.—I paid the paper boy with the money. Thanks, Jessie.

H. & S. News

in the expansion of the board has been due to the speaker.

Miss Hucks is a graduate of MacDonald Hall in Guelph in home economics and of the University of Toronto. She did post graduate work in New York, and then returned to teach at her alma mater. Later Miss Hucks worked with Miss Helen Campbell at the Chatelaine Homemakers' Club before going to her present position. Her main interest is the promotion of the sale of milk, recognizing milk only as one of the important foods in a balanced diet.

Title of her speech was, "Educated Appetites," rather than the "scary" word nutrition. Her talk was based on a quotation by Dr. Thos. Parran, surgeon general of U.S. Public Health Department, "We are wasting money trying to educate children with half-starved bodies. They cannot absorb teaching, they hold back classes, require extra time of teachers and repeat grades. This is expensive stupidity."

Miss Hucks stressed that it is the quality of the food we eat which is more important than the quantity. Human beings are individuals with likes and dislikes, hence a knowledge of psychology is important. It is difficult to change adult food habits, but easier to establish good food habits in small children.

She outlined briefly the feeding of the infant and toddler, and said there are many factors in persuading children to eat. They may not eat because of over-activity, the mother's attitude to food, unattractive food service, texture of the food. The child may be uncomfortable when eating or distractions may enter into it. Mealtime should be a special event which a child will look back on with pleasant memories. The mother and father can set a good example.

Miss Hucks concluded her talk by showing the teaching aids which would be sent out by the Milk Foundation on request.

A vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. B. Holloway, and the meeting was concluded with refreshments. Mrs. G. Duncan announced that the next meeting will be held November 11, with Mr. R. J. Bolton as guest speaker, his topic to be "The Unit System."

An aunt asleep in the same room was rescued by the girl's father, Eleazar Haroutunian.

City Welcomes

More than 600 attended the first of the Travel and Adventure Club Series held at the P.C.V.S. auditorium Tuesday night.

Stanley Midgley was the first lecturer of the series and took his audience with him on a tour over the famous Banff-Jasper highway through the Canadian Rockies. Through his film lecture visits were made to Banff, Lake Louise, Jasper, the Columbian Icefield, Maligne Lake, Yoho Valley and many other points of beauty in this area.

All Mr. Midgley's trips of adventure are made on a bicycle and the humorous anecdotes he told of his experiences added to the evening's entertainment.

The lecturer was introduced by R. C. Bastable, vice-president of the Kiwanis Club.

This series of lectures is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. The next lecturer will be Nicol Smith, author of Golden Doorway to Tibet, Into Siam, and Burma Road who will present a film lecture entitled Argentina, on Dec. 9.

Stewart Sells

$50,000 two mile pace in which Stewart came from 14th place (18 in race), paced the last half mile on the outside and was a fast closing fifth. In this race he was timed better than the world's record for two miles. Another race I like to think of is one that took place in California. Stewart got away 3rd and was clocked to the quarter in :29 3-5; the half in :59 3-5; the three-quarters in 1.29. At that point Stewart was ... his toes in. Stewart was knocked completely out of contention, but he would surely have taken a record of better than 2.00, which he so rightly deserved, had this not happened."

The catalogue shows one exception from the Hilltop stable, Stewart Worthy Prince, consigned by Wilfred Lindsay of Campbellcroft. It is a two-year-old colt by Prince Direct and Brownie Axworthy. The comment is: "Stewart Worthy Prince is a nice two-year-old by the good sire Prince Direct, a brother to Winnipeg 1.57¾. I do not race horses, turning rather to show horses. I raised this colt with the thought of having a show horse, but all he will do is pace, and as you know pacers are no good in the show ring. This colt is well broken, and should make someone a very useful three-year-old in 1953."

One-Year Agreement

MADRID, Spain (Reuters)—Spain and Western Germany signed a one-year agreement yesterday that will increase the volume of trade between the two countries by 50 per cent. It is understood that trade will amount to $90,000,000 each way.

Can Buy Cartilage

CHICAGO (AP) — Cartilage for use in plastic surgery can now be bought by doctors, packed in glass jars. The material, used as the base on which to build new chins, noses and ears, is taken from the ends of the breastbones of freshly-slaughtered steers.

Fined For Drinking

Peter McNeely, North Monaghan township, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs today when he pleaded guilty to drinking while on the interdicted list.

Canadian Lauds Soviet Regime

LONDON (Reuters) — Tass, official Russian news agency, reported that Leslie Morris of Canada told the closing session of the all-Soviet Communist party congress last night in Moscow that "no one in the world shows suffering humanity the road to lasting peace and national freedom as Joseph Stalin."

Tass reported Morris' speech in a dispatch received in London today. It quoted Morris, a member of the executive committee of the Labor-progressive party of Canada, as saying:

"No lying propaganda can stifle the fervent desire of the Canadian peoples to learn how the Soviet people live. Our task is to prevent the Canadian people from being enmeshed in lying propaganda."

Tass also said Morris declared that the people of Canada wanted close trade relations with the Soviet Union.

Autopsy Fails Show Murder

WINDSOR (CP) — An autopsy on the body of Mrs. Mary M. Ryan wife of a Detroit doctor, found Monday in a ravine at Colchester, 18 miles east of here, failed to disclose anything to indicate she died as a result of "violence or foul play."

Mrs. Ryan has been reported missing since May 23 and the body was in an advanced stage of decomposition.

Dr. Mills stated it was impossible to indicate what actual cause of death was.

Provincial Police were told by Dr. Charles Ryan, that his wife had been despondent because of illness prior to her disappearance.

Reds Call Pearson Wall Street Servant

BERLIN (Reuters) — The East Berlin semi-official Berliner Zeitung today described L.B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister and newly elected president of the United Nations general assembly, as "an obedient servant of Wall Street."

The paper claimed that Pearson, a share-holder of many American corporations, had received valuable gifts from American business men for the conclusiion of favorable contracts.

"As a chairman of the permanent committee of the North Atlantic bloc, Pearson delivered even more aggressive speeches than the United States representatives," the Communist paper claimed.

Pull Out Stops On Stalin Ovation

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio pulled out all the stops today in describing the reception for Joseph Stalin when he spoke at the closing session of the 19th all-Soviet Communist party in Moscow last night.

The radio's home service commentator told its listeners:

"The great leader arises from his seat and directs his measured and steady steps toward the rostrum. All present rise to their feet and the walls of the Kremlin shake with the echo of hurray.

"The ovation, like an alpine avalanche, grows greater and greater."

Decides Retirement Just Waste Of Time

So Bishop, who was graduated from Michigan State Teachers College 52 years ago, has returned to school. He's studying for a master's degree at the University of Miami.

In retirement, Bishop says, "I found myself slipping mentally, so I decided to spend my time and money on something that would keep me in better shape, mentally, socially and educationally."

Film Shows How Nature Controls Insects

"Nature's Half Acre," a film depicting nature's cycle in controlling species of insects and caterpillars, was the highlight of a combined meeting of the Peterborough Film Council and Peterborough Nature Club held in the Public Library auditorium Tuesday night.

Approximately 70 attended the meeting.

This film, which is a Walt Disney production in the True Life Adventure series, is in great demand and will be brought back to Peterborough soon for distribution to various organizations through the film council. Approximately 400 students saw the film Tuesday afternoon at a special showing in Central Public School.

"The Age of the Beaver," a film dealing with the fur trade in Canada and its influence in settling the country was one of the four other films screened at the meeting. The other three films were, "Making Good Use of Your Time," "Squirrel in the Tree," and "Three in the Round." The latter two dealt with games for children.

The master of ceremonies for the joint meeting was Dr. J. J. Craig, president of the Peterborough Film Council.

FILM WORKSHOP

James Maloney, chairman of the workshop committee, reported that the council's annual film workshop will be held November 11, 12 and 13. One evening will be devoted to the general use of films, one to the use of films in business and industry and one to use of films as visual aids in schools.

Ronald Ward, regional supervisor of the National Film Board, announced that the Federation of Film Councils of Eastern Ontario will hold its annual meeting October 24 and 25.

The film "Land of the Long Day," which is expcted to win the 1952-53 special film award, will be shown at this meeting. One of the speakers will be Arthur Irwin, film commissioner of the National Film Board.

Mr. Ward also announced that the Federation of Film Councils of Eastern Ontario have now $6,000 worth of films in its co-operative purchase pool.

Leonard McNeil, chairman of the membership committee, announced that this year's campaign for members is now under way. In the past year the council's membership totalled 180.

Italian Reds Pledged Respect All Religions

ROME (AP) — The Italian communist party yesterday pledged itself to respect all religions.

An official party communique also claimed the Communists have sympathizers in the Catholic Action Movement.

Catholic sources ridiculed both statements, saying the Catholic Action Movement has been the spearhead of the anti-Communist movement in Italy.

The Communist party communique was generally believed here to be a new effort to woo Italians who have shied away from Communism for religious rather than other reasons.

Chaplin Film Puzzles British Critics

LONDON (AP)—London film critics appeared a little puzzled over Charlie Chaplin's new film "Limelight" which the press reviewed today. The picture gets its public premiere tomorrow night at a charity benefit, with Princess Margaret attending.

What got critics scratching their heads was the "new look" Chaplin—deadly serious through most of the film. The picture, a tale with a message, deals with a music hall comic who saves a pretty girl from suicide and lives to see her acclaimed a world famous ballerina.

Despite their bewilderment, however, most of the critics decided that the little cockney comic has hit the jackpot again.

TOO MANY TEARS

Leonard Mosley of the Daily Express called it "a study in self pity" and added: "In my opinion, too many tears and they go on far too long. A strange film—but a film only the great Chaplin could have made well worth waiting for."

Said Richard Winnington in the News Chronicle: "Banal? Of course. Tedious? Never. It is an unexpected film, slow to gather, diffuse and more wanton with words than any Chaplin film should be. But in 2½ hours you discover the purest Chaplin character he's created has stolen in and conquered you. . . If not the best of Chaplin's films, 'Limelight' is one he had to make because he wanted to."

Paul Holt in the Daily Herald: "An overlong, deeply self-conscious essay on life which wraps Charlie's philosophy in glycerine tears."

The Times: "True to Chaplin tradition in that it is a coherent, fascinating, wilful expression of individuality."

The critics were loud in their praise of Claire Bloom, young London actress Chaplin picked as his co-star.

Maritimes Said Hardest Hit In Post-Confederation Era

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's years of adjustment, from 1870 to 1900, are given an interesting study in the latest issue of the Monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Looking at this period of slow economic growth and profound change through the banking records, the Review notes that "the stresses and strains of these post-Confederation years were particularly serious in the Maritime provinces."

These provinces, suffering from the appearance of the iron steamship, "had to adjust not only to the larger economic unit" but to a new economy.

SERIOUS BLOWS

"The rapid decline of shipbuilding and its many subsidiary industries after the mid-'70s, the ousting from ocean-carrying trades of ships owned and operated by the Maritimes—these were serious blows to the whole economy of the area, and brought the decline of many a thriving small port.

"In addition, the period saw times of special difficulty for the basic industries of fishing and lumbering.

"There were frequent severe depressions in the world's timber markets and the rise of beet-sugar production in Europe resulted in low prices and low purchasing power in the cane-sugar producing West Indies, the very important market for dried cod."

But arraigned against the difficulties there were new opportunities. Maritime industries started to expand. Railways and steamships, together with tariffs, stimulated coal mining and the iron and steel industries.

NEW PROSPERITY

New manufacturing was attracted to the railway centres and car shops. Moncton, N.B., now the rail hub of the Maritimes, "in 10 years increased from. . . a squalid village of 7,000," according to an 1822 account.

By the 1870s some 20 banks were operating in the Maritimes, all but two being "native" banks. Of these natives, only two survive today, the greater number having lost their identity by amalgamation between 1900 and 1910.

Apple Crop Down

LONDON (CP) — This year's apple crop in southwestern Ontario is 40 per cent lighter than in 1951, J.J. Johnson, district fruit and vegetable inspector for the Federal Department of Agriculture, said yesterday. In his weekly report for the counties of Middlesex, Huron, Lambton, Elgin and Oxford, Mr. Johnson blamed the cut on unfavorable weather at blossom time.

United Nations Has President Known By Nickname "Mike"

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations for the first time has a General Assembly president whom most delegates know by nickname—L.B. (Mike) Pearson.

But Canada's Minister for External Affairs, who looks younger than his 55 years—and not unlike the intellectual-type football coach he used to be—is not only popular. His 22 years in diplomacy have won him a respected place among world statesmen.

Pearson's election yesterday to the Assembly presidency was forecast by delegates last winter in Paris when he declined to be a candidate for president of the last Assembly. At the time he was chairman of the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a one-year post he completed last month.

BOW TIE FAMILIAR

From now until Christmas—and perhaps beyond—he will be using his talents of chairmanship and negotiation in the Assembly's annual effort to ease world tensions through the U.N. forum.

Although this is the first time Pearson has been Assembly president, the U.N. is familiar with this quick-moving, stocky figure and his bow tie. In 1945 at the meeting in San Francisco when the U.N. was organized, he was a senior adviser to the Canadian delegation. He has led the Canadian delegation to U.N. Assemblies since 1948.

Russian delegates know him as a sharp foe whose telling points have evoked bitter replies through the years from Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky. Yesterday, Andrei Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, acting as head of the Soviet delegation in Vishinsky's temporary absence, tried to trip Pearson up on a point of procedure. But the Assembly upheld the President in the first East-West brush of the session.

Pearson, who called for all efforts at East-West conciliation in his acceptance speech, told reporters later that the tiff with Gromyko was merely a "difference of opinion."

SEEKS KOREAN TRUCE

To the big problem of the Assembly—Korea—the former history professor brings a personal connection with U.N. efforts to get a truce. During the 1950 Assembly he was a member of the three-man committee set up to attempt to negotiate a truce. That effort was turned back by the Communists.

The Toronto-born First World War flier may again be a central figure in new appeals to the Chinese Communists and North Koreans for an end to the fighting in Korea.

Quebec Area Feels Short Earthquake

QUEBEC (CP)—An earth tremor that lasted "two or three seconds" shortly after 5 p.m. was reported here yesterday.

The quake was felt in Ste. Anne de Beaupre, about 20 miles northeast of Quebec City, in Riviere du Loup and district, about 115 miles down the St. Lawrence River south shore from here, in Three Rivers and in Montreal.

No damage was reported.

TALKING ABOUT TWO FLAVOURS

Did you know that delicious, nourishing Ovaltine now comes in TWO flavours? Yes, the ORIGINAL PLAIN flavour and a sweet CHOCOLATE flavour, too. Both provide proteins and energy foods from the ripe barley malt, milk, and eggs used in their manufacture, and the vitamin and mineral content is augmented with additional vitamins A, B_1, C, D, Riboflavin (B_2), Niacin and Minerals—available Iron, Calcium, and Phosphorus.

CHOCOLATE FLAVOURED OVALTINE is ideal for that hot drink at breakfast that every child should have during the fall and winter months. It is so nourishing, and the children love the delightful chocolate flavour.

Route Undecided

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—J.D. Millar deputy-Minister of Highways, in a letter to London and Suburban Planning Board, has denied that the route has been decided for a super-highway from Windsor to Toronto. A news story three weeks ago quoted a Department of Highways spokesman to the effect that a clover leaf on the highway at Wellington Road would be within 2½ miles of the heart of London.

EMERGENCY STORAGE — Western farmers are using ingenuity to beat the problem of storing their bumper grain crop. Ted Erb, of Oak Bluff, Man., stands beside the 5,000 bushels of oats he stowed away in an implement shed until the country elevator can take it. A wire-lath snowfence, backed with paper, helps hold the grain.

Thanksgiving Service Sees Six Baptized

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The chancel of St. Andrew's United church was decorated with fall flowers, fruits and vegetables for the Thanksgiving service held Sunday morning. On the altar table two loaves of bread and grapes had been placed.

Six babies were presented by their parents for baptism, with the Rev. A. M. Butler, the pastor, administering the rights. They were Joan Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Might, Nancy Florence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rusell Reid, Terence Alfred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Peterson, Janice Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lang, John Robert Dunsmuir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Smillie, and Murray Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clendon Challice.

Lakefield Board Rescinds Order On Douro Pupils

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Members of the teaching staff and principal J. E. Stephens were present at the October meeting of the Lakefield District High School Board, and were introduced to members of the board by Chairman G. N. McIlmoyle who presided for the meeting at which all members were present except H. R. Allen of Lakehurst.

Present also was Inspector G. L. Gray, who was making his annual visit to the school. Mr. Gray addressed the meeting briefly, explaining that resident inspectors had been appointed to the different high school districts and this procedure would be developed more fully as time went on. He also gave a verbal report of his inspection, stating that a written report would follow later.

The question of the pupils of Douro attending the high school was discussed and on motion of trustees Rath and Pearson the motion of September 3, concerning curtailment of tuition to Douro pupils, will be rescinded, on the advice from Reeve R. Tedford of Douro, that it is the intentions of that township to enter the Lakefield District High School area on January 1, 1953.

The board will also accept the responsibility for the tuition fees of Eleanor Horsey at Peterborough this year.

James Craig, architect, discussed with the board once again certain items needing attention in connection with the new high school, and as a result the following construction change will be made: (1) Omit painting of walls in gymnasium; for a credit of $214.50; (2), Changes in baseboard in offices from wood to 6" rubber tile base if possible, or else 4" if not possible. (3) Change in baseboard in shop from flat 8" baseboard to a lower sloped but thicker baseboard. (4) Substitution of linoleum.

The secretary, Miss Yonge, was asked to notify the clerks of all municipalities in this high school district that the board will not be responsible in future for tuition fees of any pupil sent to schools outside this district, without having first consulted with the board and getting their consent, due to unusual circumstances that may exist.

Principal Stephens reported attendance for the month of September at 205 students in Lakefield and 37 at Apsley, with percentage of 96.91. He stated that the field day held September 26 had been most successful with an Apsley student winning the girls' senior championship. He also announced a regional meeting of agriculture teachers to be held at Napanee on October 25.

Accounts totalling $1,512.18 were authorized for payment.

Feet Getting Bigger

TORONTO (CP)—Canadians are getting bigger feet every year, shoe manufacturers in Toronto for the Shoe and Leather Fair say. The average Canadian woman wore a four or 4½ shoe 25 years ago, but today she takes a six.

Snow Fencing Used In West To Store Huge Grain Crop

WINNIPE (CP)—Western farmers, reputed to be able to make anything work with a piece of hay wire, are running true to form in making room for this year's record grain crop.

They have improvised granaries, ranging from spare bedrooms to an air force hangar, to house part of the 1,482,000,000 bushels of all grains expected to come from the year's harvest.

In at least one type, old reliable haywire is taking the strain. The granary consists of a circular fence of woven wire or snow fence material—laths bound together with haywire. It is lined with waterproof paper and will hold between 2,000 and 3,000 bushels.

The grain is heaped to a water-shedding cone on top. Losses on the bare-ground floor are said to be light. The cheap fence, besides holding in the grain, keeps animals out.

RESEMBLES ARAE

The standard granary resembles an under-sized wooden garage about 12 by 16 feet, mounted on skids. Material alone costs about $250 and it holds 1,200 bushels. Metal and quonset-style granaries also are on the market.

Most farmers have nowhere near enough such buildings for their crop. This year, an Alberta farmer with about 600 acres in wheat could expect a crop of 18,000 bushels. His initial quota allows him to deliver only 3,000 to the elevator.

All the country elevators on the prairie will hold only 280,000,000 bushels at once. Interior, Lakehead and coast terminals raise the maximum storage to 521,000,000.

LICENSES BUILDING

To supplement the bulging storage of western elevators, the Board of Grain Commissioners has licensed 41 buildings, mostly in Saskatchewan, which can house an estimated 1,250,000 bushels. This compares with 400,000 bushels of such storage authorized last year when an early winter halted harvest and forestalled an expected glut. But in 1941-42 when overseas markets were cut off by war, the board licensed storage for 10,000,000 bushels.

Included in this year's temporary storage are an old R.C.A.F. hangar at Mossbank, Sask., the curling rink at Verigin, Sask., temporary annexes erected near elevators and the odd garage.

At Hussar, Alta., thousands of bushels are being piled in the open due to lack of storage.

Agricultural officials here said this does not hurt the grain if the pile is in a proper cone shape. There is some discoloration on top and some is spoiled at the lower rim, but generally the loss is not more than one grade due to the weather.

On Sunday there was a reunion of the entire family—father and mother, seven children, 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Churches Mark Thanksgiving

ROSENEATH (ENS).—"Giving thanks always for all things to God" was the theme of a special Thanksgiving service held at Roseneath United Church Sunday school on Sunday morning with an attendance of 105 persons.

The chancel of the church was decorated with autumn foliage, ferns and African violets.

The order of the service was arranged by Mrs. Fred Lewis.

Mrs. Douglas Coyle presided with Mrs. Flex McMillan as pianist and Miss Blanche Arthur as recording secretary. Special scripture readings were given by Bill Coyle, Jim Woodruff, Nelda Brown, Doris Robins and Marie Robins.

The Rev. J. R. Wheeler gave an address "The first Thanksgiving." Misses Carole McMillan and Mary Halstead sang a duet.

Highlight of the service was the presentation of the Sunday school banner by Superintendent Andrew Brown to the intermediate girls' class for most perfect attendance. Mrs. Douglas Coyle is the teacher. Miss Carole McMillan, on behalf of the class, received the banner.

Two members of the Junior Bible Class, Bruce Davidson and Beverley Robins received the offering, that was later dedicated by Fred Lewis, who also led in prayer.

AT MARMORA

MARMORA — (ENS)—Bright Thanksgiving services were held at St. Andrew's United and St. Paul's Anglican churches. At the former church in the morning, the sermon

At St. Paul's at Evensong Canon J. M. Brownlie spoke of thanksgiving as that which the child acquires regarding God's gifts and retains throughout life. He also enlarged upon those things mentioned in the General Thanksgiving in the Prayer Book as coming to us from God's goodness and loving kindness.

Bank Gives Interesting Review Of Early Economic Growth

Canada's years of adjustment, from 1870 to 1900, are given an interesting study in the latest issue of the monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Looking at this period of slow economic growth and profound change through the banking records, the Review notes that "the stresses and strains of these post-confederation years were particularly serious in the Maritime provinces."

These provinces, suffering from the appearance of the iron steamship, "had to adjust not only to the larger economic unit" but to a new economy.

SHIPBUILDING DECLINE

"The rapid decline of shipbuilding and its many subsidiary industries after the mid-70s, the ousting from ocean-carrying trades of ships owned and operated by the Maritimes—these were serious blows to the whole economy of the and brought the decline of many a thriving small port.

"In addition, the period saw times of special difficulty for the basic industries of fishing and lumbering.

"There were frequent severe depressions in the world's timber markets, and the rise of beet-sugar production in Europe resulted in low prices and low purchasing power in the cane-sugar producing West Indies, the very important market for dried cod."

But arrayed against the difficulties were new opportunities. Maritime industries started to expand, industries which were to become important during the next century. Railways and steamships, together with tariffs, stimulated coal mining and the iron and steel industries.

New manufacturing was attracted to the railway centres and car shops. Moncton, N. B., now the rail hub of the Maritimes, "in 10 years increased from . . . a squalid village to 7,000," according to an 1822 account.

Iran Breaks Off Relations With Great Britain

TEHRAN (AP)—Iran broke off diplomatic relations with Britain today. It was a grave development in the bitter, 18-month dispute over nationalization of holdings in Iran of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and seemed to rule out any chance for a settlement. Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, the frail but stubborn advocate of nationalization, made the announcement in a broadcast. He had intended the message for the Majlis—lower house of Parliament—but it did not convene because it lacked a quorum.

By breaking off relations he made good a threat voiced several weeks ago. It was also his reply to a Foreign Office statement yesterday which lashed out personally at Mossadegh, saying he had overstepped the limits of international courtesy in his attacks upon Britain.

BRITAIN "WASTING TIME"

Mossadegh fired back today with a charge that Britain "by a continuation of useless correspondence" intends merely to waste time and "prevent us from taking another economic path which would bring salvation and freedom to the Iranian people."

Last January, Iran, closed Britain's nine consulates in the country.

Mossadegh's action today evoked little surprise at the Foreign Office in London. There was no official comment but informants said the statement yesterday and the rejection of Mossadegh's latest offer in the Anglo-Iranian negotiations had virtually dared him to make the diplomatic break.

KEEP FRIENDSHIP

Mossadegh told the people that breaking diplomatic relations would not mean breaking "the bonds of friendship" between the two countries. "The Iranian nation always has looked with respect to the British nation, and hopes that the authorities of that government will give more attention to the realities of the present world situation and the awakening of nations, and will forget the attitude it so far has shown, confirming its policies to the present world situation," he said.

Foreign Minister Hussein Fatemi said notice of the Iranian decision would be delivered to the British immediately after the broadcast.

Say Full-Scale Debate Likely On Korea Now

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A full-scale United Nations debate on Korea during the height of the U.S. election campaign seemed assured today.

A spot-check showed no strong opposition to Russia's demand that the question be taken up at once. Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko demanded yesterday that the 60-nation political committee take up Korea as soon as it begins work—probably early next week.

State Secretary Dean Acheson planned to outline the American position on Korea in a policy speech late today. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky may answer him tomorrow. These speeches will give the broad lines of opposing east-west thinking on Korea and lay the groundwork for the detailed debate.

FEAR REPERCUSSIONS

The French and British delegations have opposed detailed discussion of Korea before the Nov. 4 election, expressing fear of making statements which would have political repercussions in the U.S.

Acheson's speech was expected to be of a general nature instead of a tough demand for Red acceptance of a Korean armistice on U.N. terms.

Health Minister Paul Martin of Canada is expected to speak in general debate tomorrow or Monday.

The Korean question was 16th on the list of 72 items approved yesterday by the steering committee, which recommends the subjects to be discussed.

WOULD CONDEMN MSA

Czechoslovakia introduced a surprise proposal that the U.N. discuss condemning the United States Mutual Security Act. The Czechs charged that it aimed at interfering aggressively in the internal affairs of the Soviet Union and other Communist countries by financing "subversion, sabotage, espionage and terrorism" inside their territory.

The Assembly last year refused to vote such a condemnation, but Gromyko, coming to the aid of Czechoslovakia's Jiri Nosek, said the charge still has "not lost its urgency." He said U.S. agents "have been caught red-handed inside the Soviet Union." He gave no details.

Ernest A. Gross, the American delegate, said his country would not oppose inclusion of the item since the Americans "never feared exposing the false charges brought by the agents of the Soviet group."

Says Express Disobeyed Signal

LONDON (Reuters) — Signalman Alfred Armitage testified Wednesday that the Scottish Express involved in last week's triple train disaster did not obey his signals.

The signalman testified at the Transport Ministry's inquiry into the crash in which 111 persons were killed or have since died in hospital.

Armitage said he had been on Harrow Station, where the Scottish Express rammed into the rear of a standing commuter train and a third train piled into the wreckage.

Col. G. R. S. Wilson, chief inspecting officer: "When did you make up your mind he was not going to stop?"

Armitage: "I could tell by the sound of the train that he was going at speed and was not obeying my signals. He was making no attempt to pull up."

Transport Missing With 25 Aboard

TOKYO (AP) — An air force transport with 25 persons aboard is missing over South Korea, the Far East Air Forces announced today.

When the announcement was made, the two-engined plane, carrying 21 passengers and four crew members, had been unreported for more than 15 hours.

The C-46 courier aircraft left a base on the east coast of South Korea and was due at another base on the same coast 40 minutes later.

Troops Catch Red Leader

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Mohammed Bin Indera, Malay Communist leader, was captured by security forces yesterday.

He was cornered by Home Guards—part - time anti-Communist volunteers—after a battle in the Johore jungle. One of his bodyguards was killed and another surrendered.

Indera, who had a price of $24,500 on his head, faces trial for outrages committed at the head of a ruthless band which terrorized three Johore districts since the jungle war began nearly four years ago.

Fined Million Dollars In Smuggling Case

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — A French court sentenced Jean Destour to four months in jail and ordered him to pay a fine of 558,000,000 francs ($1,700,000) for trying to smuggle six tons of American cigarets into France from Tangier.

Destour was grabbed by customs men as he neared the French coast in a small craft. His cargo was seized.

Time Bomb In Mail Bag Almost Puts Over Big Coup

LONDON (AP)—A story of a time bomb in a mail bag that almost put over a £14,000 betting coup was told yesterday in Old Bailey police court.

Keith L. Young, 26, inventor of the new way to beat the horses, pleaded guilty to a charge of trying to gyp his bookmaker and was sentenced to 18 months in jail.

Crown Prosecutor James Burge said Young's "highly ingenious" scheme went like this:

Young wrote his own address on three paper flaps which he pasted lightly to the front of three envelopes. He posted the envelopes, which were shortly delivered back to him bearing a cancellation date a day previous to his planned big gamble.

At his home, Young removed the address flaps from the envelopes and re-addressed them to his bookie in Glasgow.

He waited until the day's racing results were in and wrote down a five-horse parlay which called for winnings of £14,000 for a £20 bet.

Young then put the letters and a specially-rigged alarm clock in a parcel addressed to Glasgow. The clock, set for 10 p.m., went off on schedule. A razor blade attached to the alarm winder whirled, cutting the rubber bands which held the parcel together. It flew apart, strewing the letters among the other mail.

The letters reached the bookmaker who called the police. Explained Burge:

"Obviously this accumulator bet of five successful long shots would arouse the suspicion of any bookmaker, and it did."

A police investigation followed and Young confessed.

Slow Down In Arms Production

Deputy Minister Blames Industry For Lower Output

QUEBEC (CP) — Canada's arms machine is losing momentum principally because a segment of industry is showing delay and indifference in fulfilling defence contracts, R. M. Brophy, Canada's deputy Production Minister, said today.

He appealed to industry to maintain its responsibilities and said complacency has become so wide-spread that "we are facing situations where it is hard to get firms to take on certain types of defence contracts.

In other cases, firms were "slowing down" on work in production and swinging priority to commercial instead of defence projects, Mr. Brophy added in a speech before the annual conference of the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association.

"The indifference towards defence work, he emphasized, does not apply to industry as a whole, but it is "true of certain firms."

Mr. Brophy, prominent electronics industrialist, said he realized the fault was not all with industry. The government had experienced delay in getting production plans from the United States and getting sufficient machine tools and this had an impact on the defence program.

FREEDOM WORTH PRICE

But industry had a stake in Canada's defence. The acceptance of defence contracts, even if not as lucrative as commercial business, was not "too high a price to pay for the maintenance of political and economic freedom."

Mr. Brophy noted that the association, made up of arms and other defence manufacturers, was uneasy about government defence spending after the current three-year $5,000,000,000 program ends in 1954.

Defence spending will continue, he assured the association. "There will be no abrupt cessation of activity. . ."

MUST BE KEPT

Defence spending would be required to support a "certain level of defence preparedness," main-

Burwash Man Dies After Drink

SUDBURY (CP) — One Burwash Industrial Farm inmate is dead and another is receiving treatment in hospital here as a result of drinking anti-freeze stolen from a drill compressor at the farm's quarry.

Burwash Superintendent Charles Sanderson today said names of the men were being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

One of the men, he said, was employed assisting the quarry foreman in repairing the drill compressor. When the radiator on the machine was drained he managed to get some of the anti-freeze and he and another inmate went on a spree.

They were first treated at the farm hospital and [illegible] bury General hospital, where one man died last night. The second is thought to be out of danger today.

French Farmer Jailed In Triple Slaying

Charged With Failing To Aid Drummond Family When In Danger

LURS, France (AP)—Police today jailed Gustave Dominici, 32-year-old farmer, in connection with the triple slaying last summer of British diet expert Sir Jack Drummond, his wife and daughter.

Dominici was arrested and charged with failing to aid a person in danger, which is an offence punishable by a jail term of from six months to three years, and a fine.

The Drummonds were slain August 5 as they camped by the roadside here in southern France. Sir Jack and his wife were killed by bullets. Their daughter Elizabeth, 11, was beaten to death.

Dominici, who lives in a farmhouse not far from the scene of the slaying, first told police he heard shots during the night, did not investigate, but the next morning discovered the bodies.

Yesterday he changed his story and told police that the Drummond's daughter, Elizabeth, was still alive when he visited the slaying scene at 5.30 in the morning.

Training Fields Built By R.C.A.F.

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada is building up its air force with a network of training fields in Western Canada, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of air staff, said today.

The fields, located away from main operational centres to avoid clogging protective radar screens, are the core of an expansion program aimed at turning out 3,000 trained aircrew personnel a year.

Just back from a four-day tour of Maritime air bases, he told a press conference that with emphasis now on jet fighters, the air force has a growing body of recruits without previous wartime experience.

Doctors Disappointed In New TB Drug

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. A. D. Temple, superintendent of the Veterans hospital at St. Hyacinthe, Que. said today results of the new drug isoniazid in the treatment of tuberculosis were "disappointing."

Dr. Temple, addressing the fall convention of the Montreal Medico-Chirurgical Society, said when isoniazid was announced early this year in the United States the results reported were so good "that it was not unnatural for a certain [illegible] experienced in the use of other chemical agents for treatment."

A partially-completed survey of TB patients at St. Hyacinthe and in the Queen Mary Veterans hospital here showed appetite improvement, but was not as great as had been experienced at other clinics. But, in general, there was some symtomatic improvement at first.

He said:

"At the end of three months it was decided the results so far experienced were not sufficiently good to justify continuing the same regime."

Accidental Deaths Verdict Of Jury

BLIND RIVER (CP)—Coroner's juries last night returned verdicts of accidental deaths in accidents that took the lives of three bush-workers.

Roger Bruyere, 22, of Ottawa, last month was crushed beneath the wheels of a lumber truck. Albert Poitras, 32, Gaspe, Que., and Herve Langlois, 19, Noelville, Ont., died Oct. 7 in a double drowning.

York County Wins Best Herd Award

The Roy Ormiston trophy for the best county herd of six animals was awarded to the York composite entry, concluding the East-Central Ontario Holstein championships show at Morrow Park Wednesday evening. Two of that group were chosen from the H. C. McCloskey herd, and the others were singly from the herds of Wm. Clarkson & Son, Stephen Roman, Wilbert Jennings, and the new Massey-Harris herd (M-H). Although Mr. Ormiston, former fieldman, is an Ontario county breeder, he said "I think we are all pleased to see this trophy go to York," in making the presentation to Joseph Darlington, representing the eight breeders from that county who competed in the show.

"It makes competition more interesting from year to year," Mr. Ormiston said. "Ontario county has won the county herd honors for the last three years. There is a grand lot of cattle in York, and I hope we'll see even more of them here next October. I want to congratulate them on winning the group award."

BEST FEMALE

The silver cup for the best uddered female, donated and presented by W. J. Murphy of Murco Farms, Lindsay, was won by Norman McConkey on Nellie Duchess Cruiser, repeating for her owner the prize she was awarded in 1951.

Mr. Murphy complimented Mr. McConkey on winning again, and paid a warm tribute to Jerry Nelson, fieldman, for the smooth arrangements which, he said, everybody noticed.

"I want to express my personal appreciation to all the breeders of our district of central Ontario who came here, and made this one of the best shows in the whole country," Mr. Murphy said. "Just briefly I'd like to suggest that it is a good time to breed better and more Holsteins. We all ought to realize that Canada can be an exporting country only if she produces surplus stock.

Fur Royalties Need Change

SUDBURY (CP) — Inequalities in royalties set for fur in Ontario need re-examination, J.L. Grew, of the Lands and Forests Department said today. He told a meeting of the Ontario Trappers Association that changes probably will be made next year.

Taylor Carmichael, manager of the association, said that in some cases, such as that of young beaver, royalties almost amount to the sale price of the pelt.

He added that the situation tends to encourage the illegal sale of the fur and that the government royalty should be based on a per-

Report Major Battle Near Nghia Lo

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — A major battle appeared to be shaping up today between French Union forces and Communist-led Vietminh troops around the town of Nghia Lo, 100 miles northwest of Hanoi.

By plane and overland, the French rushed reinforcements to meet what they called a major Communist push at Nghia Lo, their defence anchor just outside the rim of the vital Red River delta and the gateway to the last positions they hold on the Chinese border, to the northwest in the mountainous country of the autonomous Thai tribes.

The French also were holding 10,000 or more troops ready in Thai territory in the event of a Vietminh assault against Nghia Lo itself.

French headquarters admitted six small outposts in the Nghis Lo region had been lost to the rebels—two stormed and captured and four overrun after defending forces pulled out.

Crash In Brazil Kills 14 People

RIO DE JANEIRO (Reuters)—Fourteen persons died when a DC-3 airliner belonging to Aerovias Brasil crashed at Sao Francisco Paulo in the southern Brazil province of Rio de Grande de Sul Tuesday. Four were injured.

The plane, with 14 passengers and four-man crew, disappeared on a flight from Rio de Janeiro to Buenos Aires. It was sighted on a farm yesterday after an extensive air search.

Reporters Barred Protest To Clark

TOKYO (AP) — Canadian and British correspondents covering United Nations troops in Korea protested to Gen. Mark Clark that they were barred from accompanying the joint army-navy task force that skirted the east shores of Red-held North Korea yesterday.

Representatives of The Canadian Press, the London Express and the London Daily Telegraph felt so strongly about what they said was a navy order barring non-Americans from U.S. warships that they sent copies of their protest to their respective embassies here.

Bill Boss of The Canadian Press said in his protest the Communists' charge that this was an American war in Korea and not a United Nations war seemed to be agreed to by the United Nations Command in Tokyo.

RADIOS APOLOGY

Gen. Clark radioed an apology to Boss in Korea. He said the British Commonwealth correspondents were inadvertently overlooked when the press party for the mock invasion was made up.

Correspondents of Reuters News Agency and Agence France-Presse were invited and did go on the mock invasion.

Some British correspondents said an order barring foreigners from boarding American warships while under way was issued some months ago in Washington by Admiral William Fechtler, chief of U.S. naval operations.

Clark's headquarters said they were not aware of any such order if it had been issued. The U.S. navy in the Korean war is under the direct [illegible]

U.N. Gunners Mow Down Waves Of Chinese Troops

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—American machine-gunners today mowed down waves of Chinese Reds storming Triangle Hill on the central Korean front.

Savage fighting also swirled across nearby Sniper Ridge. Twice the Reds stormed to the top and wrested control in close-quarter fighting. Each time South Koreans recaptured the height.

Allied planes peeled off in trip-hammer blows against the Reds. U.N. artillery blasted Chinese approach routes and raked towering Papa-san Mountain, the Chinese jumpoff point just to the north.

READY FOR REDS

When U.S. 7th division troops captured Triangle Hill yesterday they ringed the crest with barbed wire. They were ready and waiting when a Chinese battalion — about 800 men — swarmed up the slopes just after dark last night.

The assaulting force was chopped to bits. By 8 p.m. the fight was ended.

At dawn today another Red battalion charged up the slope. Again the machine-guns chattered, again the Chinese broke.

The Americans consolidated their positions this afternoon when they won the last Red-held knob on Triangle after a 90-minute fight. AP correspondent Milo Farneti at the front said the U.S. troops hit the knob from three directions under cover of tank guns.

From their reservoir of reserves on Papa-san Mountain, the Reds also hurled savage attacks at the South Korean 2nd division on Sniper Ridge.

BEAT OFF BATTALION

The assault started at dark with one platoon. Gradually the Chinese committed more and more men until a full battalion hit the South Koreans.

An Allied officer said the South Koreans had restored all their positions at noon and were digging in against further expected Chinese onslaughts.

Brother, Parents Sentenced Too For Aiding Gang

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd, who robbed eight banks of $115,000 and escaped jail twice in a three-year criminal career, today was sentenced to prison for life. The 38-year-old mastermind of a notorious gang of bank robbers got the life term for the bank robberies, all in the Toronto area. He showed no emotion when Judge Robert Forsyth pronounced sentence on him and seven others accused of bank robbery or of helping Boyd after one of his two jail escapes.

Described by Crown counsel as "a man who attempted to create a record in Canadian bank robberies," Boyd also got these other sentences: five years for breaking out of Don jail in November, 1951; two-year terms on two charges of escaping from jail; four years on two counts of automobile theft and 10 years for robbery with assault.

WIFE SOBS

As he was being led from the court Boyd smiled faintly in the direction of his wife in the spectators' section. She sobbed openly when defence counsel referred to Boyd's home life.

William Russell Jackson was given 20 years concurrent on two charges of bank robbery. The sentence will be consecutive to an eight-year term he is already serving for assault and robbery and two years for escaping jail. He was also sentenced previously to 10 lashes but he has not yet been given them.

He also was sentenced today to two years for one jailbreak and two charges of escaping jail.

Edwin Boyd's younger brother, Norman, was sentenced to three years for bank robbery and an additional nine months for harboring his brother after the first jailbreak.

PARENTS SENTENCED

For being accessories after the fact in Boyd's November, 1951, escape from the Don jail, Joseph Lesso was sentenced to nine months, his wife Elizabeth Lesso got six months and Mrs. Mary Mitchell six months.

The Lessos are parents of Steve Suchan, convicted of murder in the shooting of a Toronto policeman. Mrs. Mitchell is a sister of Leonard Jackson, also convicted with Suchan of murder.

Joseph Jackson, brother of William Russell Jackson, received 10 years and his brother-in-law, Alis-

Top Red Commanders Send Allies Letter

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio said in a special broadcast today the top Communist commanders in Korea had sent the Allies a letter which proposes immediate resumption of the Korean talks.

Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters announced receipt of the letter but said it "offers no new constructive proposal for a solution of the outstanding problem preventing an armistice."

The message was signed by Gen. Kim Il Sung, the North Korean supreme commander, and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of Chinese forces in Korea.

The Peiping broadcast as heard here confirmed that the Communists still were insisting on the forced repatriation of all prisoners, the

Mock Invasion Tricks Reds, Many Strafed

OFF NORTHEAST KOREA — (CP)—A mock invasion of northeast Korea yesterday drew thousands of Red troops out into the open where they were strafed and bombed by Allied planes.

The United States army, navy and air force combined to stage the mock invasion. Almost 100 ships, including a battleship, six aircraft carriers and four cruisers — the greatest concentration of United Nations naval vessels since the Inchon landing in 1950—participated with American troops.

The troops took only a short ride. They clambered down cargo nets in full view of the Reds ashore. The troops dropped on to landing craft which took them around to the other sides of the mother ships where they climbed back aboard.

The landing ships, with only operating crews aboard, then dashed toward shore—but pulled up about 4,000 yards from the beach and returned to the fleet.

The mock forces gathered off Kojo, south of the Red port of Wonsan and 3 miles north of the battle line on the east coast.

Word of the "impending invasion" had purposely been allowed to leak out, and the Reds fell for the trap by moving troops to Kojo where they made good targets when the fleet hove in sight.

The mock invasion, dubbed "Operation Trojan Horse," was the culmination of months of planning and training. It was completely realistic in every other way.

Rains Plastic At Alvinston

ALVINSTON (CP) — It rained pieces of plastic in this area three nights ago, according to reports reaching civil defence officials and police here.

Farmers and hydro and telephone linesmen reported finding pieces of plastic, shaped like big tubes.

Flattened out they would make a pillow case about 2½ by 4½ feet. In some cases four of these were found joined together.

They were reported over a wide area about Alvinston and as far away as Glencoe.

Solution Efforts Ruined By Iran

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States officials said today Prewith Britain has "knocked sky high" the efforts to find a solution to the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

They said the Iranian Premier's decision was "most unfortunate."

British and U.S. hopes that the touchy oil issue might be worked out satisfactorily to all parties was revived two weeks ago by a series of note exchanges involving London, Tehran and Washington.

U.S. authorities said popular reaction probably will make it infinitely more difficult for either government to modify its positio

Forbid Aussie MP's To Toss Spitballs

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Spitballs must not be used to awaken sleeping Members of Parliament, the Speaker of the House of Representatives ruled today.

"I will not have paper balls thrown around," said Speaker Archie Cameron after a new flurry.

Last week he chastized an Opposition member for hurling several spitballs at a snoozing government member after a book slid off the man's relaxed chest.

Liberal Reverses Not Worrying Prime Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says he is not unduly concerned about Liberal party reverses in the provincial field.

"I don't think we should show any special concern about what people do in the provincial arena," Mr. St. Laurent said yesterday.

He made the statement after announcing that British Columbia's representation in the Cabinet is being increased to two from one. James Sinclair, 44, member for Coast-Capilano and Parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, was appointed Minister of Fisheries to succeed Hon Robert Mayhew, 72, who goes to Japan as Canadian ambassador. Mr. Mayhew represented Victoria in the Commons.

Ralph Campney, 58, Parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton and member for Vancouver Centre, was appointed Solicitor General, a portfolio now handled by Justice Minister Garson.

SAYS NO CONNECTION

Asked if there was any connection between the decision to increase British Columbia's representation and the defeat of the Liberal government of that province last June, Mr. St. Laurent said there was not.

There was no connection, he said, between the new appointments and anything that happened in the provincial field.

Besides British Columbia, the Liberals have suffered reverses in other provinces. The Liberal government of New Brunswick was defeated after 17 years in office; the party lost ground in Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan elections; in Quebec, the party increased membership but saw its leader, Georges Lapalme, defeated.

Regardless of how provinces voted, said Mr. St. Laurent, "we should arrange to have them represented as well as possible in the federal arena."

From that point, he went on to say that federal cabinet members "as ministers" should not attempt to influence a provincial election.

"SHOULD TAKE INTEREST"

That did not mean, he said, that federal cabinet ministers should not participate in provincial election campaigns. As electors of a province, it was right that they should take an interest in provincial politics.

Mr. St. Laurent said that in the Quebec election last July he had voted as a resident of Quebec.

Democrats Lead Voting By Alaskans

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Alaskans apparently returned their Democratic delegate to Congress, but the first day's counting of Tuesday's general election vote showed a tide toward a Republican Legislature.

Late returns from the Anchorage area last night boosted delegate E. L. Bartlett's lead to nearly 2,400 votes—apparently decisive but whittled down sharply from his 2-to-1 victory margin of 1950.

In the legislative races, the Republicans, who campaigned on the party's national "it's time for a change" slogan, had an edge for 26 of 33 seats in the Legislature.

NARROW MARGIN

Some of them were by hair-line margins. A heavy vote still outstanding in some of the big Anchorage precincts might change some of the alignments.

The election is viewed as a barometer to indicate what the national election trend may be because of the parallel between trends in Alaska elections and the subsequent national voting for many years.

The delegate-to-Congress vote from 115 of the territory's 249 precincts was:

Bartlett, the Democratic incumbent, 10,020; Robert C. Reeve, a well-known airline operator and the Republican nominee, 7,638.

15 Per Cent Tax Goes On Deodorizers

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans to place a 15-per-cent excise tax on chlorophyll deodorizers starting Jan. 1, 1953, a Revenue Department spokesman said today.

The decision follows protests by manufacturers of external body deodorizers that while they are subject to the tax, producers of internal deodorizers, using chlorophyll put up in tablet or lozenge form, are not.

The department agreed to shift the latter products into the toilet and cosmetic category making them subject to the tax.

Base metals opened at a low for the year but recovered slightly in later trading while industrials drifted downward. Western oils opened firm but slipped later while golds were weak.

Cobourg Council Plans Session On New Housing

COBOURG (ENS)—Due to the great amount of work involved in dealing with the matter, Town Council will hold a special meeting when it deals with the several housing subdivision applications, it was decided at the regular meeting of Council.

A request from the boy scouts of St. Michael's Church to have the use of a room on the top floor of the fire hall was turned over to the fire, water and light committee to investigate and report back. There are a number of details on which information should be obtained before a lease is signed, said the mayor.

A letter from the Cobourg Boy Scouts' Association reminded Council of the pending drive for funds, and asked for assistance. The finance committee was instructed to check on when the last grant was made and to report back.

The Collegiate board asked for permission to hard-surface the part of the grounds which lie between the west steps and the bus line parking area in order to avoid mud and slush in bad weather. Council granted permission subject to supervision of the job by the town engineer.

The inhalator which the Kinette Club donated to the town some years ago for use in reviving drowning cases and instances of electric shock or gas is perfectly satisfactory and quite adequate, the Kinettes told the Council. The Kinette Club pointed out that there had been some talk that the equipment was obsolete, and so they had it looked over by experts, who said it was in good shape and entirely efficient.

Other capital is to come from New Zealand, Britain, Australia, Sweden and Switzerland.

New Zealand hopes to produce enough newsprint to supply the local market and export some to Australia within 3½ years.

Blames Joking For Accident

KITCHENER (CP) — Ira Betzner of Ossining, N.Y., said in court here yesterday the reason he was involved in a fatal traffic accident near New Hamburg July 22 was that he was joking with a five-year-old youngster in his car.

Betzner is charged with manslaughter in the death of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kalbfleisch after a crash at the intersection of highways 7 and 8.

Betzner said his passenger was Terry Yeates, 5, of Waterloo. "I must have been paying too much attention to him," he said. As a result he had not seen the stop sign at the intersection.

Two witnesses said the driver hadn't slackened speed as he neared the intersection. They estimated the car was travelling 45 to 60 miles an hour.

Lindsay Councillors Bid For Land

LINDSAY—Mayor Charles Lamb threatened to try his hand at auctioneering Tuesday night when a $1,000 bid for a lot north of town prompted Alderman McQuarrie to claim it was worth $10,000.

Alderman McQuarrie's suggestion that the property, lying just south of the town dump should be set aside for a residential area caused Mayor Lamb to remark that Mr. Quarrie would be a magician if he could do it.

The mayor urged council to accept the $1,000 bid as the land had been idle for 30 years.

After tossing around various figures, ranging from $10,000 to $400 apiece for the 10 lots in the block, Mr. McQuarrie offered $1,500.

Reeve Butler promptly upped alderman McQuarrie's bid by $500, and Mayor Lamb said he would take over as auctioneer, commenting "I guess I better take the block."

Action was deferred, pending receipt of more information on what Ray Weldon who made the offer of $1,000 plans to do with the lot.

The Importance Of The Assembly

Its lack of achievement rather than the matters taken in hand and successfully dealt with have made U.N.'s reputation. The organization seems therefore to many people to have been a failure. Its Atomic Energy Commission has failed. The Security Council has failed. There is warring all over the world. Nations have not put their trust in U.N.; instead they have negotiated international treaties apart from U.N. —like the North Atlantic Treaty. Is U.N. now useless, only six years after the first Assembly was held? Does it move into its multi-million-dollar new New York headquarters only to chant its own requiem?

* * *

The United Nations is not an It; it is they and we. U.N.'s failures are the fault of the member nations, and due to flaws in international society. Fissures in the U.N. structure could not be avoided, for the mortar which holds it together is national self-interests; when these conflict cracks develop. An international hope like U.N. does not go from strength to strength, but from a series of prepared positions along many small passes, winding, back-tracking, testing; doing what is possible and not always what is direct and conclusive.

* * *

Some great matters have been successfully contained and even brought to an end. The partition of Palestine and the Kashmir war are examples. Remarkable accomplishment has resulted from the work of various U.N. agencies and committees, dealing with economic and social questions, international justice, health and law. These matters are less noisy than political issues, but are important to mankind.

* * *

U.N.'s most significant success has been in maintaining and even strengthening a General Assembly. No country of stature has abstained or withdrawn from it. The Assembly is still strong, and it provides the only permanent rostrum to which all nations, East or West, can and do resort.

* * *

U.N. has not moved this week into its great new buildings in New York to sing its own requiem. The importance of U.N. which important men and the countries they represent recognize, is shown by the quality of the delegations to the General Assembly which was convened Tuesday. If U.N. were a dying and worthless organization only second and third string representatives would attend, to get a New York holiday; as it is, thirty of the head delegates to the Assembly are foreign ministers.

* * *

The Canadian delegation is being led by Mr. L. B. Pearson. Andrei Vishinsky leads the Russian delegation, and has with him three deputy foreign ministers. Mr. Anthony Eden and M. Robert Schuman will head the British and French delegations, after November 4th. Their delayed attendance shows that they must attach much importance to what they say and do at U.N.—and to the sensitivity of the American people to foreign opinion given at U.N. They will not appear at the General Assembly until after the American elections.

* * *

Matters to be considered at the Assembly are vital, warranting important representation: the Korean war and truce talks, the South African racial issue, the colonial question involving Tunisia and Morocco. These are likely to provoke the chief debates. It is well to pay attention this and next month [illegible] for the first time in its permanent headquarters.

* * *

Canada officially views the General Assembly to be of major importance, otherwise it would not gladly accede to its Minister of External Affairs accepting the presidency of the Assembly. That delegates of other nations should elect Mr. Pearson to the position is not only an honour to Canada and Mr. Pearson, but also a recognition of the weight and importance of the organization, for Mr. Pearson is widely considered to be one of the ablest diplomats in the western world.

Confusion Through Road Signs

Ontario's highways are very well marked. In spacing, clarity and direction this Province's road signs need little improvement, and it is not with the intention of condemning them that we print on this page a table of signs devised by experts for U.N. acceptance. Ontario's road signs can be criticized only because every other state and country does not have them. They are not sufficiently universal. Our motorists cross over the border and are faced by other kinds of markings (generally not as good, clear or full) which have to be studied before they are understood. What the highways of the world need are uniform markings depending only on sign language which an American, a Hindu, a Russian, an Englishman and a Canadian will comprehend at once, wherever the road, whatever the country. Therein is the value of the U.N. road symbols pictured on this page.

'The Nation'—Damnation

The Toronto Stock Exchange has a prestige worthy of the nation and the people it serves. The railways serve the nation from coast to coast. The nation is agog over Alberta oil, which will fuel the nation. Speaking to the nation the Prime Minister said . . . Nation, nation, nation: we are getting an earful and to tell the truth, a belly-full of 'nation' these days in the press, over the radio and in books about Canada.

It is perfectly true that Canada is now a nation but why this insistence on the word, which used to be almost a proprietary right of the United States (which get a speech every year from their President on the State of the Nation)? The generalized use of the word is American, not Canadian. The British and even the English, never talk about their 'nation'. They speak of 'the country'—as we in Canada can also speak. The French do not talk of their nation; it is their pays—their country.

Perhaps now that some people have become sensitive about the word 'Dominion', writers, journalists and politicians think that 'nation' is a good euphemism. It may be, when its use is restricted; it is pompous and loud-mouthed when used all the time, where 'Dominion', 'the country', 'the people', 'Canadians' or quite simply 'Canada' would be as fitting and more precise. Perhaps the writers, journalists and politicians are hoping thus to speed the welding of Canadians into one homogenous race—or to delude themselves and others that Canadians are a race of people. One of the meanings of the word which the Shorter Oxford English Dictionary gives is:

> A distinct race or people, characterized by common descent, language, or history, usu. organized as a separate political state and occupying a definite territory.

Canada and Canadians hardly qualify under that definition—not yet. And when we do, let us not be puffy about it and refer to the country, the people or anything else Canadian as 'The Nation'. It is clap-trap, natter and unworthy pilfering from the United States' vocabulary.

Among the several definitions the Shorter Oxford gives for the word is this:

> "Nation, adv., a., int. dial. and U.S.—Euphemistic abbrev. of DAMNATION."

Some Good Movies

We welcome the opportunity again to see a series of selected good movies being given at a local movie house one night a week under the general title of 'Tonight At Eight-Thirty'. The first film of the current series, shown last Thursday, was a fine example of the destrained and artistic way camera, able directors and actors can present a controversial, difficult theme lucidly, powerfully, yet fairly.

The picture 'Cry, The Beloved Country' dealt with the racial mixtures and problems arising therefrom in the Union of South Africa. The film was a statement of social facts, not a political bludgeon, and a sensitive, beautiful and poignant evocation of atmosphere.

Not all films of this series are as serious in theme and documentary in treatment; and we can look forward to hilarity and sheer amusement, as well as to heart-stirring and mind-searching films like 'Cry, The Beloved Country'.

We are glad to have such a series and to see from time to time in other movie houses special films like 'Pagliacci' and as part of their regular programs, some notable films of British, American, Canadian and continental origin, which please as they amuse or expound. Movies at their best are high art and

NOTES AND COMMENT

A built-in aerial for television sets has now been devised, and the moans of the license-collectors are loud in the land.

After the election it will be interesting to hear how much General Eisenhower liked abandoning the comparatively decent weapons of the soldier for the sticky armoury of a presidential candidate.

It is predicted that within 25 years men will reach the moon, explore it, and return to earth. And immediately begin quarreling about a new type of colonial expansion, probably cutting off the moonlight to hostile nations.

Somebody identified simply as "an expert" has said that in twenty years Canada will need 15 cities the size of Toronto to take care of its urban population. Just as long as he says "the size of", and not simply "like".

Butler Gets The Cheers

By PHILIP VERNON

THE CHAIRMAN of the Conservative Party conference which has been meeting at Scarborough (in the North of England) was quick to remind the delegates that they are not a policy-making body.

This, of course, has always been true, but there are signs that the annual Conservative conference is beginning to try to assert itself.

✧ ✧ ✧

TWO YEARS AGO it was a resolution from the floor of the conference—accepted on the spot by Lord Woolton (Chairman of the Conservative Party and now Lord President of the Council)—which wrote the promise of 300,000 new houses a year into the Party's election programme. This year—when the Party is in power and its leaders have therefore an even greater right than usual to carry out the policies which they think are necessary without consulting the rank and file —the delegates from the constituencies have not hesitated to press their points against the leaders. They do it, of course, in a different way from that in which the Labour Party does it; but they do it.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SURPRISING thing about the conference is that the delegates seem to be in such good heart. The first year of Conservament Government has been disillusioning for many of them: they have found that not all the ills against which they railed in opposition were caused by the Labour Government. They have seen the popularity of the Government decline rapidly in the country; it will be a long time, for example, before they forget the results of the local elections held earlier this year. They expect to lose the by-election which is soon to be held at Wycombe, where the Conservative majority at the last general election was only 1,700.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN SPITE OF ALL THIS—and in spite of all their bouts of depression—the Conservative Party has clearly not resigned itself to defeat at the next general election. And the reason for this has emerged at Scarborough. The main credit must go to Mr. R. A. Butler, the Chancellor of the Exchequer. His progress report on the state of the nation was received so well that he had to rise from his seat to acknowledge the cheers of the delegates. They clearly looked to him to save the nation from bankruptcy, and with it the Party from annihilation. There is no doubt that the economic policy of the Government is thought of by them as Mr. Butler's own policy, and that as long as this policy (whatever its inadequacies) meets with any success at all, Mr. Butler will remain powerful, both in the Cabinet and in the Party councils.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THIS REASON it is worth paying close attention to what Mr. Butler said. The most significant passage in his speech was his reply to the delegates who called for further and drastic cuts in Government expenditure. That Government spending in any circumstances can be reduced is almost an article of faith with some Conservatives, but not with Mr. Butler. "If you are going to have big economies," he said, "you can only get them by big changes in policy, and I am not going to be responsible for any big changes of policy which are radically unsound, cruel or unnecessary."

✧ ✧ ✧

ANYONE WHO KNOWS anything of Mr. Butler knows that this was a statement from his heart. He believes passionately in the "new Conservatism" which accepts the principles of the "welfare state" and which he himself did so much to make articulate during the years of opposition. During the early days of the Government, when some Conservatives—including some Ministers—were urging cuts in education, Mr. Butler from the start took the firm stand that if money could be saved by cutting out the frills he would assent, but if it could be saved only by impairing the structure of the education system, he would not give his support. At a very early stage he recognized and openly acknowledged that no substantial saving could be made which did not damage the education service.

✧ ✧ ✧

PROBABLY VERY FEW of the delegates applauding Mr. Butler realised that they were applauding also a conception of Conservatism which is almost revolutionary. There may be differences on details, but Mr. Butler, as much as Mr. Hugh Gaitskell, (Chancellor of the Exchequer in the last Labour Government) is trying to make viable an economy which is guided from the centre by the Government, which accepts the criterion of "fair shares" and which gives the maintenance of the social services an unchallengeable priority.

✧ ✧ ✧

MR. BUTLER has not, of course, been the only Minister to be applauded by the delegates. Both Mr. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, and Lord Alexander, Minister of Defence, were given an enthusiastic reception. Rightly or wrongly, the delegates recognize in these three men the main hope of the present Government. The Conservatives have always put much more store by the character than by the policies of their Ministers.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS ENOUGH for them that Anthony Eden [illegible] stood on the platform the delegates temporarily forgot their troubles in the belief that these men could not let either the country or the Party down.

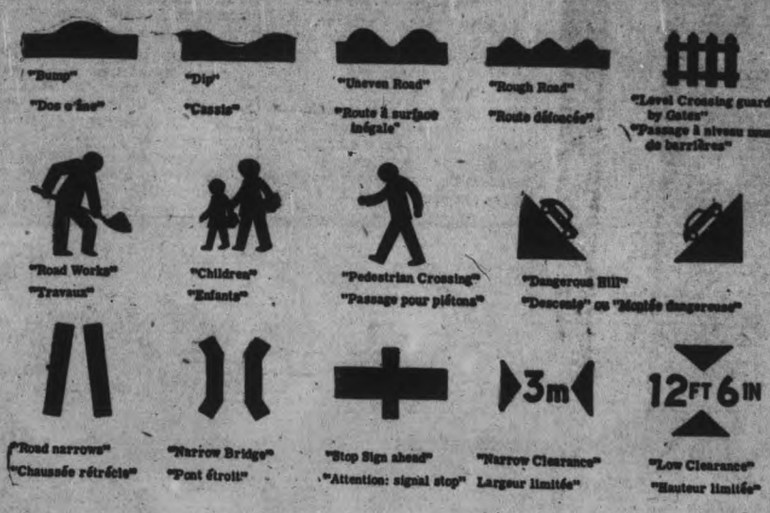
Unconsidered Trifles

Lodger: "I'd like some soup."
Landlady: "What kind, sir; windmill soup?"
"Windmill soup?"
"Yes. If it goes round you get some."

✧ ✧ ✧

"I want some arsenic for my mother-in-law."
"Have you a doctor's prescription?"
"No—but here's a photograph of her."



✧ ✧ ✧

"I bet you think twice before you leave that wife of yours for an evening."
"Yep. First I think up an excuse for going out. Then I think up a reason why she can't come along."

✧ ✧ ✧

A farmer and his wife walked from their farm to a fair, the wife laden with a heavy lunch basket. On arrival the farmer turned considerately to his wife and said: "You'd better let me carry the basket now, Jill; we might get separated in the crowd."

U.N. Highway Signs Would Eliminate Language Problems

These highway signs represent the recommendations of a group of U.N. experts for adoption throughout the world, which would enable highway users everywhere to understand road signs. Lack of understanding of any given language would not impair comprehension of the signs. The reproduced signs are the result of 20 months of work on the part of six experts appointed by the U.N. Secretary-General in 1950. The recommendations now go to the U.N. Transport and Communications Commission and the Economic and Social Council for further action.

Girl Drops $100,000 From Plane

By RAWLE KNOX in Kuala Lumpur

THE REMOTE, jungle-bound rubber estates and tin mines of Malaya have a wages problem of an uncommon kind. The problem is how to get pay packets from the city banks to the workers without having the money and the messengers ambushed on the way by Communist terrorists.

For four years now a thirty-three-year-old New Zealand girl has been helping to solve the difficulty by dropping moneybags on lonely plantations from Austers and Tiger Moths belonging to Selangor Flying Club. She is Marjorie Stapleton, born in Palmerston, North Island, and now married to a Government officer in the Federation of Malaya's Mines Department.

As club secretary she has flown more sorties than she can remember as a dropper (planes take a crew of two: the pilot and the dropper) and has personally unloaded some twelve million pounds into the welcoming arms of miners and planters.

Next month she takes her two children off to school in New Zealand and hands over her job to a successor; she leaves with hundreds of letters of thanks for her work from grateful estate managers who have never seen more of her than the wave of an arm.

There are ten of twelve pilots in the Flying Club, including a Sikh and a southern Indian, who regularly carry out this work, flying sorties every day of the week; sometimes they go three hundred miles out and back over the weekend, refuelling en route. All go on the job entirely voluntarily, the club merely charging a charter fare of six pounds an hour, with an extra four pounds for each drop.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE TASK of dropper is not a sinecure; success depends on sure co-operation with the pilot and the knack of shooting out the moneybag so that it does not catch in the plane's rudder. A few weeks ago an Army officer new to the job, mistaking his pilot's signal, dumped into the virgin jungle five thousand pounds, for which more than one thousand troops have since searched painstakingly but without result.

That has been the Club's sole disaster in four years, during which its members have delivered—without any receipt other than a wave of a handkerchief—more than thirty-two million pounds. "The planters like the system so much," said Mrs. Stapleton, "that even when the emergency is over this will probably remain the routine way of delivering their wage money."

The drops are made from about one hundred feet. They are fairly easy over the wide wastes of the tin mines, where the dropping zone is usually a workers' football ground; but they are no joke in some rubber areas, where small clearings have been made in the jungle, and the plane may have to come in hundreds of feet below the surrounding tree-clad hills. Then there is the question of making absolutely certain that the money is being delivered at the right address.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN YOU ARE NURSING thirty-five thousand pounds ($100,000) on your knees —about the maximum amount planes take on one trip—you don't let go of it unless you are pretty sure where it's going.

"The worst of it is," says Mrs. Stapleton, "that you can't be absolutely sure that the ground signals are one hundred per cent. right until you're right in close—and by then you are within range of small arms fire if the party turns out to be a gang of bandits."

So far, only one pilot has reported being fired on, and he got away undamaged. Often planes return with their money still on board, because the ground signals have been dubious; whereupon, on landing at Kuala Lumpur, they find that there has been an angry telephone call from a planter who has seen his money fly away just when he wanted it.

Marjorie Stapleton, fair, handsome and supremely nonchalant about it all, has just been granted her certificate as a pilot. She would be perfectly happy to go on dropping moneybags all over Malaya, but she feels she has done her bit—and, after all, the children come first. Her worst moment, she says, was making three runs very low in a tiny valley in notoriously bad terrorist country, with no European in sight, but only a group of armed men in unidentifiable uniforms. She was so worked up when the European manager finally appeared that she tried to throw the moneybag right at him.

Malaya's army and police naturally have nothing but praise for the work done by the Flying Club, which saves them wasting hundreds of men on escort duties. Marjorie Stapleton may be going; but the work she has pioneered will continue. And every week lonely planters up and down Malaya will satisfy their workers with pay packets from the skies.

Every Child's Birthright

(Brandon Sun)

In the customary platform manner of his comrades the C.C.F. member for Saskatoon, told a school trustee association what everybody knows about federal responsibility in educational matters thus:

"The birthright of every child is a minimum standard based not upon the wealth of the parent, of the local school district, or even of the province, but on the wealth and resources of the whole country."

While state education, like most public operations and welfare movements, are open to objection and criticism there is substance in saying that the federal government should assist public school finances in the same way as it makes grants to privileged universities, some vocational schools for health education, social work and technical schools. Whatever objection to federal control may be, it seems most unfair to insist still that it is the duty of real estate property-owners to finance million dollar school operations. For the investment in the schooling of every child is federal in scope.

Where's Kilroy?

(Victoria Times)

One of the pleasant developments of the last year or two has been the disappearance of Kilroy. Mr. Kilroy has either passed on or become sedentary. It is possible now to go to many almost inaccessible places and find no sign that "Kilroy was here". It is even normal now to enjoy his absence and lack of evidence of his visit to public places of interest.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! For he satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.

Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron; because they rebelled against the words of God, and condemned the counsel of the most High: therefore he brought down their heart with labour; they fell down, and there was none to help.

Then they cried unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saved them out of their distresses. He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and brake their bands in sunder. (Ps. 107:8-14.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children. . . . And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. . . . But all things that are reproved are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light.

Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. (Eph. 5:1, 11, 13, 14.)

Nasty Business For A Province

(Ottawa Journal)

No doubt the Government of Quebec could do a thriving business in lottery tickets and could take a lusty rake-off for education and public health. There would be a big market, even if illegal, in the United States, and agents of Quebec could peddle the tickets far and wide. Even so we think it a nasty trade for a province of Canada, to raise public revenues through an appeal to our lowest mercenary instinct—that it is a nice thing to be able to get something for nothing—and to accept the ethical standards of the few countries which still have official lotteries.

All Canadian governments need more money, or at least could use more money, but not that badly.

Curious Scientists Prying Into Sex Life Of Homing Pigeons To Find Answer

By ROBERT MARX

CAMBRIDGE, England (Reuters)—Curious scientists are prying into the sex life of the homing pigeon to find out why it sometimes takes the long way home.

Can a bird of the opposite sex lure the messenger from the instinctive beeline for the home loft? Peeping Toms at Cambridge University's Zoology Department hope to see the answer through the eyes of tiny microfilm cameras strapped under test pigeons' wings.

LOG BIRDS' FLIGHT

Each day they log the flights of birds released many miles away. They want to know why some of the homing pigeons take three times as long as others to fly the same distance.

The scientists are also trying other tests—such as "jamming the pigeons' radar."

Midget magnets are mounted on the birds. If it is a magnetic force which causes them to return home, the scientists believe the real magnets will neutralize that instinctive force and the birds won't know which way to turn.

Non-magnetic trickery has already failed. Pigeons accustomed to flying south toward their homes were suddenly released at a spot from which they would have to fly westward. The scientists figured they would continue to fly south and become lost. But all the birds returned home.

WHO WAS HUNGRY?

Homing pigeons have been used as messengers since Biblical times. King Solomon used them. The Roman historian Pliny tells of homing pigeons flying messages during the siege of Modena in 42 B.C.

These days the homing birds are mostly a sporting breed. Pigeon racers pit their birds in long-distance flights in which the speedsters often cover more than 500 miles between dawn and dusk.

Just after the war some 600 pigeons took off from France and winged across the Channel toward the finish in England. Britain was hungry and the meat ration small. About 500 pigeons did not finish the race.

Free World's Export Controls Slow Russian Arms Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mutual defence chief W. Averell Harriman reported yesterday that the free world's export controls have slowed the rate of arms production in Russia and her satellites.

Harriman told Congress that Russian agents are offering up to 10 times the normal price for strategic items now barred by the west. Further, he said:

"Persons who have escaped from behind the Iron Curtain have testified to certain bottlenecks in the war industries of the Communist countries, caused in part at least, by an inability to obtain strategic items from outside the bloc."

Harriman summed up the first six months' results of the administration's new export-control program in a report which said:

"There is substantial evidence that the Soviet military build-up has been slowed by the operation of these controls."

Harriman, as foreign aid director, is responsible for administering the law in which Congress barred 285 categories of strategic items from the Communist bloc and ordered President Truman to cut off aid to any country which violates the legislation.

Bevan Making Bid For Peace

LONDON (Reuters)—Aneurin Bevan, leader of the left wing of Britain's Labor party, today made what appeared to be a bid for peace with the moderate followers of Clement Attlee.

Writing in the left-wing Journal Tribune, Bevan invited all 296 Labor Members of Parliament to attend meetings of his rebel group of of 30. The meetings of Bevan followers have hitherto been held in secret.

While not suggesting that he will dissolve his rebel group, Bevan indicated he wants unity in Labor party ranks.

Carter Batters Lauro Salas To Retake Lightweight Crown

CHICAGO (AP) — Gritty Lauro Salas, who left a job as signalman on the Mexican National Railway to take up boxing, left a switch open last night and Jimmy Carter expressed through to regain the world's lightweight championship.

The 24-year-old youth from Monterrey and Los Angeles showed an instinctive gameness in standing up to Carter's sharp shots. But that was about all.

The peppery little New York Negro, displaying a terrific left hook as his main weapon, made it look easy.

After 15 rounds, blood flowed from gashes on both of Salas' eyebrows, a split lower lip and a battered nose.

HORT REIGN ENDS

His five-month reign as his country's only undisputed champion in ring history ended as abruptly as it began last May when he lifted Carter's crown in Los Angeles.

The nationally televised and broadcast scrap at Chicago Stadium attracted only 5,283 fans at ringside, one of the smallest championship crowds on record. Carter and Salas each received $6,428 as a share in a net gate of $21,429. But each also picked up nearly $10,000 from television receipts.

Carter's decision was overwhelming as he became the first lightweight to recapture the title since Lou Ambers did it against Henry Armstrong in 1939.

The official point-scoring showed Referee Frank Gilmer favoring Carter 81-69, Judge James McManus 82-68 and Judge Frank McAdamas, Jr., 84-66.

They awarded Salas the 11th and 12th rounds when the little Mexican rallied desperately to force Carter into the ropes several times.

CARTER NEVER HURT

But Carter was never hurt and not even severely jolted.

Salas' manager, James Fitten, said Salas "just ate himself out of the lightweight championship and $100,000."

"He insisted on eating heartily and he weighed in at 132 pounds," said Fitten. "He didn't care about his weight, only about being at full strength. I wanted him to carry about 129 or 130 pounds at the most but he wouldn't listen and I didn't want to upset him arguing about it. So he just lost his zip. Maybe he's learned his lesson now."

Central Triumphs

Central defeated Queen Alex 2-0 yesterday in a senior school soccer contest at the Oval. A shot by Lustic on goal late in the first half went in off a defending player with Macklin making a desperate but vain effort to keep the ball out. With just seconds to go in the second half, Grills drove it up and the ball rolled to Ross, who passed neatly to McNaughton. The latter made no mistake on the kick for goal. Grey, Sorrie and Armstrong also went well for Central; with Johnston, Hamilton, and Druce good for Queen Alex. Teams:

Q. A. — Mecklin, B. Druce, Seifried, Sanderson, Stewart, Magee, Kilborn, Moore, Johnston, Hamilton, Lech, Downer, K. Druce, Ingrim, Madigan.

Central—Lamers, Barclay, Aulbrook, Sorrie, Armstrong, Downer, Mac, Hum, Simpson, Tunnicliffe, McNaughton, Grey, Dinsdale, Lustic, Ross, Grills, Robbins, Mills.

Referees — O. Anderson and Currie.

CHALLENGER — Archie Moore, above, finally hopes to get a shot at the light-heavyweight championship, currently held by Joey Maxim. The St. Louis veteran has been the ranking challenger for several years.

Cleaning up a few shavings after the Timbermen's triumphal march to the Mann Cup, we note where Don Ashbee, Curly Mason, Nip O'Hearn and Harry Wipper were tied atop with 32 points each in the club's 15 playoff games. Rusty Slater was just one point behind, and he was followed by Bob Thorpe and Ike Hildebrand. Latter, of course, didn't get into all of the eastern finals and in none of the Canadian finals. In the O.L.A. schedule, Mason showed the way with 95 points and Slater was next with 84. Of Curly's 95, 52 were goals while Russ lit the lamp 51 times. In playoffs, Slater's whistling shot got by the goalies 22 times as Wipper scored 20.

Leading in assists during those playoffs with St. Kitts, Toronto Yorks and Vancouver, was none other than Nip O'Hearn with a nice total of 24. It speaks well for the scoring punch of the Petes' defencemen when Wipper and O'Hearn were tied with the other two forwards for scoring honors, eh? While the younger fellows fitted in fine and were a big help in the championship drive, it was the more experienced seniors who carried the main load. Which is natural enough. On paper the club wasn't as strong as the 1951 team since they were minus McPhail, McKenzie and Peterson of the '51 Mann Cup series, as well as Dugan, Fitzgerald, Magee and Creighton. But they came through again.

"No Chance," Says Shore

According to Eddie Shore here the other night, Thorpe, O'Hearn and Ashbee haven't a chance of getting out of pro hockey for a return to O.H.A. ranks at least this year. He said: "Even if I released Ashbee and O'Hearn, they'd have to be waived out by all the other pro clubs. Same way with Thorpe. And what club owner is going to invest money in players and then turn them loose while they're stil good enough to play in professional ranks?" The C.A.H.A. and O.H.A. have a tie-up with the pro associations, so it simply means that a player must perform where told or hang up his skates. Of course, he can always play for some independent circuit like the T.V.L. It's quite a slave setup once you sign pro—well-paid slaves, of course, but nonetheless tied up completely in puck circles.

Tony Kotowski and his classy Orfuns aren't viewing with alarm the big grid game here Friday when Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts meet 'em at Morrow Park under the arcs. First time they met in Cobourg early in the season, the Ghosts yanked out a close win. Next meeting was here and Orfuns pulled out a close one. This is their third tangle and it should be a dandy. But the Ghosts are plenty worried as Orfuns roll on after six straight wins. Orfuns feel they can lay the Wraiths to take over the O.R.F.U. group leadership and Friday is as good a time as any. It shapes up as a swell scrap.

Saints Win In The Fog

Some ghostly grid figures were seen dimly through the fog in Morrow Park last night as St. Peter's juniors rolled to a 17-3 triumph o'er Lindsay in group play. You could cut it with a knife and fans had to crowd around the gridiron to see what transpired. Consequently passing plays were pretty much souped out, and the strong Saints did their stuff on the ground. Had a better backfield than Lindsay, with Frank Gooley and Ray Allen starring in particular; and backfielders like Johnny Hickey, Bob O'Rourke, Gary Kearns and Don Chambers ran for hefty gains. Johnny Lynch's lads haven't been defeated in more than two years, but they have a stern test this Saturday against the undefeated Oshawa Central juniors.

* * * * * *

We note this puck item from up Cobourg way: "Cobourg will play in the Lakeshore League again this winter and, with the installation of artificial ice in Bowmanville this fall, the loop will be ready regardless of the weather, since Lindsay, Port Hope and Cobourg have pants." Well, we're glad they have pants for the cold weather coming, and also glad they all have artificial ice plants. Jim Munro, starry defenceman with our senior "B" Eagles last winter, has signed with Cobourg as playing coach for the coming lakeshore campaign. Lakefield will stick to the Trent Valley Loop this season.

Maple Leafs Plan To Use Bentley On Ganging Plays

According to Gord Walker of the Globe and Mail, Max Bentley will be used mainly in ganging attacks with the Leafs for the time being. Walker writes:

With three skating sessions under his belt, the exact date, place and time of Max Bentley's return to active duty with the Maple Leafs was set yesterday afternoon.

The date will be this evening, the place will be in Boston, and the time will be imedmiately after a rambunctious Bruin draws a penalty to give the Leafs a one-man advantage.

Bentley will replace Bob Solinger as the extra forward hand for this game, "point" position when the Leafs go into ganging formation at the first drop of a Boston player into the penalty box.

It was the appeal of Maxie's whip-like shots at Harry Lumley in yesterday's workout that caused Conn Smythe to wonder why it couldn't be used to Toronto's advantage imediately, even if the slender centre isn't ready for full-time work.

THE BEST SHOT

"Pound-for-pound," commented Smythe, "that's the best shot in hockey." It was an observance Charley Conacher had put into words last semester, and one which is unlikely to be disputed seriously.

George Armstrong, the team's other hospital case, still carries an arm in a sling to ease the strain of a shoulder separation. He will likely be able to start skating next week and work his way back into condition.

Smythe was in an optimistic mood yesterday. It may have been brought an by the realization that when Bentley and Armstrong are added to a lineup that could stake the Red Wings' two goals and come up with a tie in Detroit, things can't be too gloomy.

"I wasn't too worried about our fellows in that Saturday game. I thought the young fellows like Hannigan and Hassard and Horton and Boivin looked as if they belonged. And that Morrison—well, all his coaches have told me the same thing about him now. Hap Emms said he was great at Barrie, Clancy told me he was at Pittsburgh and Joe Primeau is telling me the same thing.

"You know what Clancy said about him. After we played Pittsburgh at St. Catharines, King said: 'Give me one man for the next game.' He wanted Morrison and we gave him to Clancy for young fellows were as good as they are. They said Hannigan was slow, but he can skate in the National League. The others aren't out of their depth at all. I still think it's a mystery team, but I feel now that we're on the way."

Ends Season With 6 Weighing 25 Pounds

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — George Wannamaker, Trent River, wound up the fishing season in style over the weekend, catching six pickerel which weighed a total of 25 pounds.

The largest, believed to be the best taken from the Trent River area this year, weighed seven pounds. Four others weighed four pounds each and smallest scaled two pounds.

He caught them all on live minnows near Vern Howard's summer resort.

St. Peter's Grid Juniors Defeat Lindsay 17-3 To Continue Win Record

St. Peter's High junior Saints' undefeated record which is now in its third year is becoming rather monotonous to the opposition. Coach Johnny Lynch's Saints kept rolling along in high gear Wednesday night to keep their record intact by defeating Lindsay Collegiate 17-3 and knocked Lindsay out of the Lakeshore running for this season. Meanwhile the win stretch extends back to the first game three years ago, that was their only defeat in the three seasons, a 6-5 game for Cobourg. Since then the opposition has yet to pull the wool over the Saints' eyes for a victory. But the first real test of the Saints' strength will be against Oshawa Central Saturday afternoon. A great deal will ride on that game for the Saints; they must win to keep their record intact and to climb into a first-place tie with undefeated Central. It'll likely be the best junior game this season.

HEAVY FOG

The Saints and Lindsay had to battle more than each other under the lights Wednesday night. Late in the first quarter a thick soupy fog moved in. Plays were limited to running, passing plays were dangerous when thrown more than five yards. Even the fans sitting in the stands had to move to the field's edge to see the game, and then they couldn't see the action when play was at centre field or beyond.

But the Saints had a better all-round team than Lindsay, even though that entry is the strongest it has been in some years. The Saints' line blocking and tackling paved the way for plungers and that was the game.

Star of the fray was a lineman, inside Frank Gooley. He was spectacular on the defence especially charging through time and time again to nip Lindsay plays practically before they started; he also was in on blocked kicks and caused several hurried Lindsay punts which went for few yards. Ray Allen was another standout along the line which held a definite edge on the Lindsay boys.

BACKFIELD GOOD

As usual the backfield turned in a good game, this time in the running department. Behind the excellent line blocking John Hickey, Bob O'Rourke, Gary Kearns and Don Chambers tore through the Lindsay line. Five times these lads made nearly field-length marches twice to score and three times held within the Lindsay five.

Another Lindsay Teel, this time Ron Teel, was Lindsay's best, running a good game. Another Lindsay backfield standout was Art Truax. But the Lindsay passers and plunges didn't have the line protection which bogged down in pay dirt.

In the opening minutes, Lindsay went ahead in the game. Several long plunges by Teel, combined with a penalty to the Saints placed Lindsay on the Saints' 18. There on the third down Art Truax faded back to the 23-yard line and kicked a field goal for three points. This scoring play was disputed by Saints' fans and players who claimed the ball didn't go through the uprights.

But Lindsay didn't stay ahead for long. The Saints steam-rolled up the field with plunges by O'Rourke and Hickey, finally ending in a long pass to Dave Quinlan who went about 10 yards more to score standing up. This put the Saints up 5-3.

COST A MAJOR

Once during the second quarter Lindsay plowed down to the Saints' one-yard line. There an offside cost them a touchdown and on the next play, their third, the Lindsay boys were stopped on the line.

Twice during the third quarter the Saints worked to the Lindsay one-yard line but twice they were held there.

With the fog very thick, quarter John Hickey kept the ball on the ground in the fourth. He worked alternately with O'Rourke, Kearns and Chambers on running plays, marching up the field twice. Both parades ended in scoring by Hickey on lengthy dashes. Chambers' toe neatly kicked both converts for a 17-3 final score.

Duck Population Greatest In 20 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—The greatest duck population in 20 years is headed south from the Canadian prairies.

Bert Cartwright, Ducks Unlimited naturalist and botanist, now in Canada, estimates that the duck population in Canada is twice that of last year and predicts United States hunters will have the most targets they have had in 20 years.

But he was quick to add that the factors which produced this big duck crop may not be repeated for another 20 years and "our conservation efforts must be continued."

Cartwright said the fair weather in May and June on the Canadian breeding grounds was one of the main reasons for the huge supply. Another was the abnormally large brood count. In some cases, he said, duck experts saw families with as many as eight young.

The fair weather in early summer was a handicap, however, in southern Manitoba. The lack of rain there dried up many of the breeding grounds but man-made lakes, established through D.U., helped the birds through.

Hawks Expect Playoff Berth

DETROIT (CP)—Sid Abel, new coach of Chicago Black Hawks, said last night the Hawks aim at grabbing off fourth place in National Hockey League standings "since that would mean a playoff berth at last."

He said of the Black Hawks, leaders of the N.H.L. after four straight games: "We're really not that good."

Abel checked in at a Detroit hotel a day ahead of the Hawks who play Detroit Red Wings tonight.

Chicago has finished out of N.H.L. playoffs during five of the last six years. Abel, a long-time Detroit star, is the team's fifth mentor in eight years.

Barrie Flyers Stem Rally Edge Biltmores In 5-4 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Single-goal margins were the rule in the Ontario-Quebec Junior A hockey series last night. Barrie Flyers stemmed a Guelph Biltmore third-period rally to win 5-4 and Three Rivers Reds scored one in overtime to defeat Montreal Canadiens 4-3.

The Barrie win vaulted them into first place in the Ontario Hockey Association junior series with a two-point edge over St. Michaels and Galt Black Hawks.

In handing the Canadiens their first loss the Reds pulled into a first-place tie with Canadiens in the Quebec junior race. Quebec Citadelles are second with two points with Montreal Royals in the cellar.

Barrie spotted the Bilts the first goal of the game as Chuck Henderson opened scoring but roared back to take a 2-1 lead at the end of the period on goals by Bob White and Don McKenny.

CAME BACK STRONG

The Flyers added two fast ones in the second by Larry Thibeault and Skip Teal. The Bilts came back strong in the third led by Andy Bathgate. Harry Howell scored the second Guelph goal of the game in the third then Bathgate scored two within 13 seconds.

One minute later Johnny Martan scored on a pass from Shorty Menard to clinch the Flyers victory. Fourteen penalties were handed out, eight of them to Guelph.

Ontario Junior A teams now are idle until tomorrow night when Toronto Marlboros tangle with the Biltmores in Guelph, Oshawa travels to Barrie and Windsor take on the Greenshirts in Kitchener. Montreal Royals meet Quebec Citadelles in Quebec tonight for the only game in the Quebec league.

Won't Defend Title Until Well Into '53

BALTIMORE (AP)—Rocky Marciano's manager says it will be well into next year before the new world's heavyweight boxing champion defends his title and then it will be against Jersey Joe Walcott.

Al Weill, the champion's manager, said in an interview:

"Talk of a fight between Marciano and any other heavyweight at this time is bunk. Marciano will positively fight Walcott the next time he steps into the ring."

She Was Laid Up With RHEUMATIC PAIN

"I had been afflicted with rheumatic attacks ever since I was a girl," writes Mrs. F. Rose, Selkirk, Man. "Four years ago I was in bed tormented by rheumatic pain and unable to work. Then I heard about Templeton's T-R-C's. Soon after I started taking T-R-C's I was able to get out of bed, and walk about and do my work. I only wish I had learned about T-R-C's years ago, for I feel they would have saved me a great deal of suffering."

This welcome relief from nagging pain can be yours. Don't suffer another day from Rheumatic, Arthritic, Sciatic or Neuritic pain. Get Templeton's T-R-C's —Canada's LARGEST-SELLING proprietary medicine for quick relief from such pain. Only 65c, $1.35 at druggists. T-849

Simple Assault Court Case For The Rocket

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP). — Maurice Richard, Montreal Canadiens' hockey star, will face a charge of simple assault Tuesday next, growing out of a disturbance during an exhibition game here last month between Canadiens and Valleyfield Braves.

The city charges Richard assaulted a policeman. The charge, originally grievous assault, was reduced yesterday in magistrate's court when the case was first called. Richard, who did not appear, was represented by Gontran St. Onge, Valleyfield lawyer. The city was represented by Georges Andre Meloche.

The rumpus broke out between periods. Richard had left the game and, in street clothes, was standing near the boards watching the play. At the time he said he was the object of vituperative comment by a fan. As he left to make his way elsewhere, there was a tussle and Canadiens' players climbed over the boards and waded in to Richard's assistance.

Sedgman, McGregor Head Tennis Squad

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Frank Sedgman, Wimbledon and United States titleholder, and Australian champion Ken McGregor head a squad of eight named today for the defence of the Davis Cup at Adelaide late in December.

In addition to Sedgman and McGregor the squad consists of Mervyn Rose, Ken Rosewall, Lewis Hoad, Ian Ayre, Don Candy and Rex Hartwig.

Sir Norman Brooks, president of the Australian Lawn Tennis Association, said the association has the power to add any other player and also to remove any selected.

ON BLOCK?—Ralph Kiner is reported to be have been put on the block by the Pittsburgh club. The big outfielder tied Hank Sauer of the Cubs for the major-league home run leadership with 37, but batted only .244.

Louis Supports Adlai Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion, called on Democratic national chairman Stephen A. Mitchell yesterday and told him he is going to vote for Governor Adlai E Stevenson for president.

Louis, a Negro, said "I've been a Republican all my life" but gave two reasons to reporters why he could not support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate.

First, he said, "I worked under Gen. Eisenhower in Europe in 1945 when I was in the army and for the American Negro soldier over there, it wasn't so good."

Secondly, Louis accused the Republican presidential nominee of putting on a "doubletalk" campaign, emphasizing one thing in the south and another in the north.

Asked by reporters what he meant in regard to his first point about conditions for Negro soldiers in Europe during the Second World War, Louis said he had found Negroes frequently were given inferior treatment there.

Comets Start Workouts Next Wednesday

COBOURG — Ice will be put in the modern recreational centre next week, it was disclosed Wednesday with the announcement from Cobourg Comet Hockey Club President Stan Williams that the Comets will hold their first workout next Wednesday night.

This is believed to be the earliest a Cobourg hockey club has assembled. Presence of Jim Munro as playing coach of the Cobourg club has resulted in the team deciding to get the jump on the rest of the Lakeshore League teams if possible.

There will be many new players on the Cobourg roster this season, with Clarke Sommerville, brilliant young goalie, who played in the U.S.A. and the Toronto Mercantile League last year, being the brightest prospect.

Others who are expected to turn out with the team for the first workouts are former Port Hope stars, Bun Flesch, Coon Medhurst, and possibly Darch Campbell. Whether the trio can play with Cobourg is not clear, since they qualified in Port Hope last season and might have to secure releases to return to Cobourg.

CAUSED STORM

The departure of the three to Port Hope last season caused a storm that nearly pulled the Cobourg club out of the O.H.A. All three are members of this year's Galloping Ghosts football team, and their presence on the Comet team this winter would be welcomed, according to the executive of the 1952-1953 squad. The trio have not yet made any statement about their hockey home this winter.

Holdovers from last winter include Doug and Jon Fisher, Jack Greer, Clarke Harnden, Cliff Maundrell, Bus Cane, Jerry Lawless, George Campbell, Ken Wilcox and others.

Cobourg will play in the Lakeshore loop again this winter, and with the installation of artificial ice in Bowmanville this fall, the loop will be ready regardless of the weather, since Lindsay, Port Hope and Cobourg have plants.

Stengel Named Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, 61-year-old pilot of the world champion Yankees, yesterday was named Manager of the Year for the second time by baseball writers in an Associated Press poll.

While it was not exactly a landslide, Stengel had a much easier time of it in the voting than his Yankees did in winning their fourth consecutive World Series under his direction.

He was named on 37 ballots of the 72 voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America. He netted more votes than the combined total of the 15 other managers.

Stengel first won the poll in 1949.

Eddie Stanky, a success in his freshman year as manager of St. Louis Cardinals, was second with 10 votes, giving scrappy Eddie the title of National League Manager of the Year. His total doubled that of Leo Durocher, his former boss who did a commendable job in bringing the patched-up Giants into second place after being voted Manager of the Year last year. The Cards wound up a strong third under Stanky.

Have New Stamp

LONDON (AP) — The Queen's portrait will appear on the first new stamps of her reign within the next three months, the Commons was told yesterday.

HIGH SCORER—Bob Shaw, import with the Calgary Stampeders, is running away with Western Interprovincial Football Conference scoring honors. The 28-year-old end and placement kicker, who came to the Stampeders last year after playing with three United States professional football teams, now has an unofficial point total of 107 in 15 games. He has scored nine touchdowns, 35 converts, three singles and eight field goals. In the first 14 games this season, the same number as the entire schedule last year, Shaw scored a record 103 points, bettering his own previous record of 61, set in 1951 while winning he conference scoring title.

Remember When —

Connie Mack, shrewd manager of Philadelphia Athletics, bought ace pitcher Bob (Lefty) Grove from Baltimore Orioles for $100,000, 25 years ago today. The great southpaw was with the Athletics until the end of the 1933 season, when he was traded to Boston Red Sox.

Musial, Doby 1952 Slugging Champions

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan Musial of St. Louis Cards and Cleveland's Larry Doby are the 1952 major league slugging champions.

Final figures calculated by The Associated Press show that Musial accumulated 311 total bases in 578 at bats to pace the National League sluggers with a .538 average. Doby, with 281 total bases in 519 trips to the plate, topped the American League with a .541 slugging percentage.

Musial's collection of 194 hits included 42 doubles, six triples and 21 home runs. Doby connected for 26 doubles, eight triples and 32 homers among his total of 143 safeties.

Both leaders finished second in last season's slugging derby. Musial posted a .614 mark in 1951 and trailed Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner, who hit at a .627 clip. Doby, flailing away at a .512 pace, was runner-up to Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox. Williams, who was recalled to active duty in the Marines in early season, recorded a .556 slugging figure.

For Musial, who owns the highest lifetime slugging percentage in National League history, .579, this was his fifth slugging championship. The slender outfielder-first baseman captured the title in 1943, 1946, 1948 and 1950.

The 31-year-old swinger also won his sixth batting crown with a .336 average and led in total bases for the fourth time in his career.

Hank Sauer of Chicago Cubs finished right behind Musial with a mark of .529. The husky outfielder, who set the pace for most of the season, amassed 300 total bases in 567 at bats.

Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati ranked third in the slugging parade with .510, followed by Kiner and Gil Hodges of the Dodgers, both tied for fourth at .500.

MANTLE SECOND

Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees gained runner-up honors in the American League slugging standings with a .528 percentage, achieved on 290 total bases in 549 trips.

Al Rosen of the Indians was third with .522, trailed by teammate Luke Easter in fourth at .513. Vic Wertz, who saw service with both Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns, rounded out the first five with .506.

Testifies Fall Not Cause Of All Dead Man's Injuries

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Dr. Lorne Whittaker, pathologist at St. Catharines General Hospital, testified yesterday that the injuries on the body of Harper Harris of Grantham township could not all have been caused by a fall downstairs.

Dr. Whittaker testified during the re-trial of Richard Monette, charged with the murder of Harris Nov. 16. Monette won an appeal after his original conviction.

James Balfour, partner with Monette and his brother in a roofing business, told of finding Harris' body at the foot of his cellar steps when he went to the house the day after arranging to do some work for Harris.

On the previous day when Harris made a down payment on the work with money brought up from the cellar Monette was reported as saying: "I'll bet the old boy's got a lot of money in that cellar."

Lewis Orders Miners Strike Nov. 18

CINCINNATI (AP) — John L. Lewis yesterday told members of the United Mine Workers to refuse to go to work Nov. 18 unless mine operators have made their increased royalty payments to the union welfare fund by that date.

A recent contract between the union and U.S. operators calls for an increase in the royalty payments to 40 cents from 30 cents a ton. The contract, also calling for a wage increase of $1.90 a day, now is before the Wage Stabilization Board.

The union's 41st convention ended in an apparent determination to stage a coal industry strike unless the government approves the wage boost already agreed upon by the industry.

The Wage Board is debating whether the new pay increase as negotiated with mine owners—a boost amounting to 24 cents an hour—can be approved under wage stabilization policies. Employers have said they can't pay the added wages until they have government's approval.

Nurseries Director Named By Goodfellow

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow yesterday announced the appointment of Elsie Stapleford of Toronto as director of the new provincial division of day nurseries. This branch formerly had been part of the child welfare division.

Close to 8,000 children attend the 250 day nurseries throughout the province. The new division will be in charge of inspection, licensing and general supervision of these children's care.

Her husband, Hector, 56, died the day following the accident. Gerard Bernard, 41, of Stamford township, driver of the car, was killed.

Mrs. Graham was transferred from Welland to Toronto suffering from multiple injuries and underwent an operation here.

Prisoner Tries To Suicide

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP) — Albert Fairweather, 25, scheduled to leave his prison cell today for retrial on a charge of murder, tried to take his life last night.

Prison officials said he succeeded only in delaying the court appearance. He was taken to hospital here after he stabbed himself in the stomach with a broken spoon.

Fairweather, reported to be in fairly good condition, is charged with murder in the death two years ago of Logger Raymond Boyce following a fight near Duncan, B.C. Boyce died in hospital of stab wounds.

When Fairweather first stood trial, he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The B. C. Court of Appeals later granted his application for retrial.

Too Many Trucks Lay Off 1,893 Men

WINDSOR — (CP) — Ford of Canada officials announced yesterday that 1,893 men will be laid off indefinitely Oct. 20 because of an over-supply of trucks on the automobile market.

Officials said there will be a further layoff—involving an as yet undetermined number of employees in passenger car production—about the middle of November. This would be of a week's duration.

A third layoff is slated for the end of December. It will be of short duration and it is not known how many men will be involved.

U.N. 19 Senate Vacancies No Worry To P.M.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent intimated Wednesday he's not worrying over the fact that the Senate has a record number of vacancies — 19.

There are 75 Liberals and eight Progressive Conservatives in the 102-member Chamber.

Senator Douglas Returns Any Gifts Over $2.50 Value

WASHINGTON — (AP). — If a present costs more than $2.50, Senator Paul H. Douglas won't keep it.

The Illinois Democrat discloses his arbitrary rule in a book Ethics in Government, published Wednesday by the Harvard University Press.

"If a gift is worth more than that, I sent it back with a courteous note. If the present is worth less, I accept it and then either give it to my stafff or send it to one of the hospitals in the area. If the gift is from a long-time friend, either I or my family will use it.

"With all its border-line difficulties, the rule has helped to keep me free from major involvements and it has done so with a minimum of spiritual wear and tear."

The senator's book is based on a series of three lectures he delivered at Harvard last January dealing with ethical problems faced by government administrators and lawmakers. Douglas headed a Senate committee which studied the matter.

MOSCOW (AP) — Leading Communists of 40 countries headed home today from the 19th all-Soviet Communist party congress assured by Joseph Stalin himself they have the Soviet party's support in their "fight for liberation and preservation of peace."

Chief interest now shifted to the party's new central committee, elected as the congress' final act. It must name a presidium replacing the present Politburo and a secretariat to direct the party's day-to-day work.

The new committee of 125 members with 110 alternates is the biggest in history. The last committee totalled only 71 members and 69 alternates.

The roster of members reads like a Who's Who of the Soviet Union. It includes Stalin and a glittering array of all Politburo members, top diplomats and military leaders.

MAY NAME NEW CHIEF

(The Moscow announcement made no mention of whether Stalin is continuing as secretary-general of the Central Committee, the most important post in the Communist world, or whether he is stepping aside for the man he may have designated as his heir to power. Western observers thus awaited this still-to-come announcement as the most important probably to come out of the congress.)

There has been no suggestion as to what members of the Central Committee will make up the new presidium, nor how many members it will have.

The Politburo now has 12 members and alternates, including Stalin. However, the great enlargement of the Central Committee underlined the fact that this is the first party congress in 13 years and the party has grown greatly since 1939. It was considered possible the presidium similarly would have more than 12 members.

Stalin's speech last night was his first address before a large, major gathering since Feb. 9, 1946, when he spoke on Russia's war achievements and post-war policy. The Moscow radio, which broadcast the speech said the 1,200 delegates repeatedly cheered the Soviet Prime Minister.

Th 72-year-old leader assured fellow Communists abroad that the Soviet party, which now numbers more than [illegible] AID FOR REDS ABROAD

Stalin declared that "special attention" should be paid to the lot of "all Communist democratic, or workers and peasants' parties which have not yet come to power and which continue to work under the heel of bourgeois draconic laws."

"For them," he said, "it is more difficult to work — but not so difficult as it was for us Russian Communists during the Czarist period."

The Russian Communists, he declared, emerged victorious "and it will be the same for these parties."

The foreign parties can learn from the "mistakes and successes" of the party in Russia. And the "bourgeois itself — chief enemy of the liberation movement — has changed, become more reactionary, has lost ties with the people and thus weakened itself."

Stalin also appealed for support from Communist parties in other lands.

"The (Soviet) party and our country always needed and will need the trust, sympathy and support of fraternal peoples abroad," he said.

"It stands to reason that our party cannot be in debt to the fraternal parties, and must in turn give them support and also support their peoples in the fight for liberation and for preservation of peace."

SHOCK BRIGADE

Stalin said that after the 1917 revolution Communists through the world termed the Russian party "the shock brigade of the world revolutionary and workers' movement."

". . .Naturally it was very difficult to fulfil this honorable role while the shock brigade was only one, and while it had to fulfill this advance role practically single-handed.

"Now, however, matters are very different.

"From China and Korea to Czechoslovakia and Hungary, new shock brigades appeared in the form of popular democracies. It has become easier for the party to struggle and work has become more joyful."

LAND, SEA, AIR — Canada's defence forces on land, sea and air are gradually being brought to the peak desired by Canadian leaders. More than $5,000,000,000 is being spent on rearmament between 1951-1954. Key factors are: the CF-100 Canuck jet fighter (upper left), the British Centurion tank coming into general army use (upper right), and the 18,000-ton kingpin of the navy's anti-submarine preparations, the aircraft carrier Magnificent. The Maggie will remain in service until a new carrier is ready in 1955.

Canada's 3-Year Program Of Rearmament Cost Six Billion Dollars

What is the story of Canadian defence? More than 18 months ago the country started a $5,000,000,000 rearmament drive. Is it on schedule? Were the cost estimates accurate? To find out, The Canadian Press assigned Douglas How, military specialist on its Ottawa staff, to a series of stories on the defence effort. Here is his first article, a survey of the broad defence picture as Canada prepares to meet her international commitments in the western world's race to overcome the threat posed by world communism.

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Partial mobilization for Canada has proved a tougher business than its architects originally thought.

The $5,000,000,000 three-year rearmament program launched in 1951 has passed its half-way mark. Political and military leaders now know it will cost more than was intended and that parts of it will not be carried out on time.

The figure Ottawa now talks about privately or unofficially is $6,000,000,000. The plan may not be completed until late 1954.

Reasons given for these revisions are rising costs, enlarged commitments and faulty estimating in the first plans.

CHANGES AND DELAYS

Official heads have rolled. The management of one of the country's two big aircraft factories has been shaken up. Delays have occurred on one production line after another, including those making such key equipment as the CF-100 jet fighter and the navy's anti-submarine vessels. There has been a shortage of skilled men to run the vast technical apparatus of modern war.

Delays in delivery of United States components; over-optimism; official failure to realize how difficult the production of modern arms can be; the forces' desire to make just one more change—all these things have affected the assembly lines.

But Canada has made major strides in rearmament. Senior defence officials say she is better prepared now than through much of wartime 1940.

All three forces have combat units overseas, either fighting or ready to fight. The services have nearly 100,000 men in uniform, or more than 80 per cent of the 1954 goal of 120,000. The foundation has been laid for wartime mobilization.

CREST IN 1953

Planes, guns, ships, radar and other equipment are moving toward a production crest in 1953. Stores of clothing and other kit mainly for personal use have been established to meet the needs of the first months of a major war.

Still it will be at least a year before the picture looks the way officials want it to look.

The three-year program announced Feb. 5, 1951, set 1954—presumably March 31, the end of three fiscal years—as the time when Canada should be adequately protected and have substantial forces on duty in Europe as part of joint western preparedness.

The original objectives were a 40-squadron air force equipped with 3,000 new planes; a 100-ship navy and a total of 115,000 in uniform in all three services. Aid to Europe was to include an army brigade, an 11-squadron air division, air training and arms shipments. Changes since have raised the total manpower goal to 120,000, the air target to 41 squadrons including 12 for Europe.

EXPECT CONTROVERSY

There will be controversy in 1954 over whether targets have been met. The air force, for instance, has formed squadrons fairly well below maximum strength, on the theory that it is better to get them going and strengthen them later. The navy may have 100 ships in 1954 but not the most important ships of all, the seven anti-submarine vessels.

The main aim of the expansion—defence spending this year is five times what it was in the fiscal year before hostilities began in Korea—is not an enlarged home defence but the fulfilment of international commitments in line with the thinking that Canada can best defend herself abroad.

The forces now planned for the direct defence of Canada consequently are not markedly bigger than those contemplated in 1949.

The prevailing official concept of the dangers faced by this country has not altered significantly. These are catalogued as air raids, diversionary airborne landings on a small scale, and attacks on coastal harbors and shipping by submarines. The enemy's main aim, it is held, would be to panic the people and keep in North America forces which should be elsewhere.

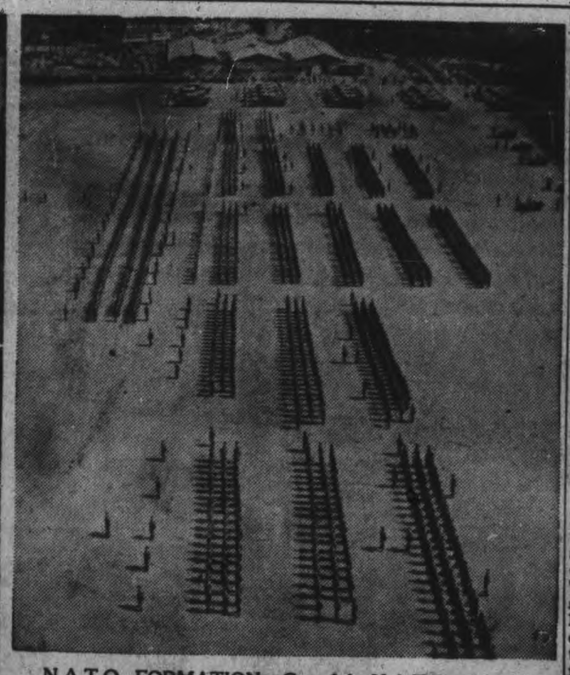
STRONG FORCES

To meet these dangers, Canada has or is building an air force network of radar stations, fighter squadrons, anti-aircraft units, volunteer ground observers and communications; an army mobile striking force of airborne units; and a navy geared to protect both coasts and tackle submarines in the northwest Atlantic.

The key factor, the air force chain, should be in fair shape by late 1953, officials say. It has been delayed for various reasons.

Behind these regular forces are the reserve or part-time units. They are probably the weakest segment in the defence chain, particularly the reserve army. The R.C.A.F. is counting on its reserve fighter squadrons to reinforce regular units quickly in emergency and its senior officers say they will be able to do it.

By and large, Canada has been doing better in meeting her foreign goals than in home defence. She has a brigade in Germany. Half the air division is abroad and three-quarters of it should be there by next June. The air training scheme is absorbing its quota of roughly 3,000 Canadian and European fliers a year. Arms shipments continue.



At the same time, Canada is keeping a brigade in the line in Korea, three destroyers off Korea, and an air transport squadron in part-time service on an airlift across the Pacific.

Tomorrow: Character of the forces.

TOTAL ALL SERVICES $2,125,000,000
(NAVY $269,000,000; ARMY $532,000,000; AIR $760,000,000; DEFENCE PRODUCTION $108,000,000; OTHER DEFENCE EXPENSES $460,000,000)

TAX DOLLAR—More than half of Canada's tax dollar is being spent on national defence. Of the total budget of $4,200,000,000, 50.6 per cent, or $2,125,000,000 is divided among the navy (6.4); army (12.6); air force (18.1); defence production (2.6); and other defence expenses.

Old Clipper Will Serve As Memorial To Seamen

LONDON (Reuters)—The Cutty Sark, ocean greyhound of the last century, will spend the rest of her days in dry dock here as a memorial to seamen who served before the mast.

A world-wide appeal for funds will be launched next spring to pay for the dock and to keep the 83-year-old sailing ship in repair. It is being organized by a group of London men who have formed a preservation society to save the tea-clipper from rotting.

They plan to obtain a site at Greenwich, hive of shipping on London's busy River Thames. The dock is part of a riverside park being planned by the county council here.

The adventure-studded story of the 970-ton ship, which became the most renowned of the tea-clippers plying between England and the China seas in the late 19th century, will be told in a museum of sailing relics below decks.

The Cutty Sark, built in 1869, was sold for £4,000 in 1922, and then presented to the Thames Nautical Training College.

Now that the college has bought another training ship the Cutty Sark has become a ship without a job.

Branch Of Year To Be Given Legion Trophy

TORONTO — Creation of the vanSomeren Memorial Trophy, to be awarded to the "Branch of the Year" in the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion in annual competition, was announced today by Provincial Secretary Pat Biggs, on behalf of the Ontario Command. The trophy is being dedicated as a memorial to the late Lt.-Col. Alfred P. vanSomeren, who, for a period of over 20 years, was the honorary treasurer of the Ontario Command and served for that period on the Ontario executive.

Regulations which will be followed in making the award of the trophy have been drafted by a special committee under the chairmanship of S. C. Peacock, of Tobermory. They provide for a schedule of points on which each Legion branch submitting an entry form will be judged, under the headings of membership, participation in Provincial Command Legion projects, the record of branch projects carried out each year, and the activities of the branches in community co-operation and outside projects. Each branch will be given a rating on its record as shown by the completed entry form, and the branch in the Ontario Command scoring the highest percentage in each year will be adjudged the winner of the trophy for that year. The calendar year will be used as the basis for adjudication.

The trophy will consist of a handsome shield with a silver scroll on a mahogany base bearing small shields on which will be engraved the name of the winning branch each year. It has also been decided that a miniature of the shield will also be presented to the "Branch of the Year" each year as its permanent possession.

Greek-Turkish Forces Impress Kimball

ATHENS (AP) — U.S. Navy Secretary Dan Kimball said today combined Greek-Turkish strength could not be over-run in the event of an attack by a neighboring country.

After an inspection of the two North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations' defences, he said he was impressed by the great increase in military power they have achieved in the last 12 months.

Kimball acknowledged that the use of Suda Bay, in Crete, by the U.S. Sixth Fleet as a naval base had been the subject of talks here with Greek officials. He added that it was up to the appropriate Greek authorities to make a statement on the matter.

Reckless Driving Charge Now Laid

KINGSTON (CP) — Eric Sullivan of Kingston and Arnprior yesterday was charged with reckless driving in connection with an accident last week that took the life of a young nurse.

Cleo McCrea, 21, of Arnprior, a passenger in Sullivan's car, died after the accident about five miles east of here.

All Canadians Told Unite On Conservation

TORONTO (CP)—Urban dwellers can no longer think independently of rural people on the subject of conservation, Professor N.R. Richards of the Ontario Agricultural College said yesterday.

In the first of a series of lectures on conservation at the University of Toronto, Professor Richards said:

"Conservation is of vital interest to all Canadians if Canada is to guard its resources and avoid the mistakes of many older countries who have lost what they had."

He said that in a given period when the world population increased four per cent, the world food supply decreased by the same percentage.

"Canada must learn conservation," he said. "There is less than two acres of land for food for each person in the world today, less than enough for a bare subsistence, while Canada has over five acres a person available for food."

Relieved Of Headaches, Backache, Dizzy Spells, Feels Like New Woman

Wonderful How Much Better I Am Since Taking Syntona Says This Woman. Sleep Better, Digestion Is Improved, Have More Energy

"I have had so much relief since I started taking Syntona that I am like a different woman," said Mrs. J. O'Connor, 23 Wood Street, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent letter telling of her experience with this well-known Herbal Medicine.

"It's certainly different from the way I was only a few weeks ago. Then I was suffering from awful headaches, nagging backache and dizzy spells. I had stomach disorders so bad that I could scarcely eat a meal without having terrible gas, indigestion and belching up of hot, sour liquids afterwards. My nerves were all on edge, I couldn't get to sleep at night, and I would awaken mornings feeling as tired as I did the night before.

"But, it is wonderful how much better I am now and I owe it all to Syntona. I am rid of headaches, backache and dizzy spells, able to eat all my meals and my food digests well. My nerves are calmed down, so I am getting better sleep and I am not always tired out as I was."

Has Helped Thousands!

Syntona has helped thousands of men and women who were suffering from troubles similar to those described by Mrs. O'Connor. Many people have used it time and again when not feeling well and say it is a medicine they can always rely on when in need of a tonic, or as an aid to relieve common disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Syntona contains no harmful drugs, is pleasant to take, and results are quickly felt. Accept no substitute.

Why not let this Pure Herbal Medicine help you as it has so many others? Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

THREE KILLED—Three Toronto residents were killed and 25 other persons injured, six severely, when a Toronto-bound bus smashed into a stalled 15-ton dump truck loaded with sand on the new four-lane Barrie highway just north of the city's outskirts. Bus driver Leslie Boden, holding blankets and clothes, stares into the gaping interior of the bus. He was uninjured while three passengers seated a yard from him were crushed to death.

Election Causes College Strife

NEW YORK (CP)—Columbia University's political strife—watched with interest because the university president is Gen. Dwight Eisenhower—took a new turn today with a full-page newspaper advertisement backing Governor Adlai Stevenson in the U.S. election.

Columbia has been embroiled in political debate ever since the university newspaper came out for Stevenson several weeks ago.

Today an advertisement in the New York Times, signed by 300 faculty and staff members, declares that "the high level of his (Stevenson's) campaign is a landmark in the history of American politics."

Earlier in the day 30 Columbia faculty members announced their support of Eisenhower, the Republican candidate for president.

Eisenhower is on leave without pay from his position as president of the university.

Irrigation Magic Word To Southern Alberta Folk

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Irrigation is just another word connected with the agriculture industry as far as most persons are concerned. But to many residents of southern Alberta it is the magic which has turned arid sections of land into fertile acres.

Farming under irrigation supports 10 times as many people as does dry-land farming on a comparable area.

A general program of expansion follows the irrigation ditches. The rural population is increased about ten-fold, requiring schools, churches, community centres, roads and other services. Thriving towns have developed in the irrigated districts because they become centres of distribution for prosperous rural areas.

An Alberta government publication says that without irrigation the city of Lethbridge would be a small town. But today it has a population of about 23,000 and its retail trade last year was $1,730 per capita, higher than the cities of Edmonton and Calgary and the Dominion and Provincial averages.

Dry-land pasture in southern Alberta required 40 acres to support one cow. With irrigation, one acre of improved mixed pasture will carry up to two cows an acre.

Biggest feature of irrigation in southern Alberta is the St. Mary-Milk River development scheme, which will ultimately supply water to 450,000 acres of thirsty dry land.

Focal point of the development is the 202-foot St. Mary Dam, largest earthen dam ever built in Canada.

All told, Alberta's 13 existing irrigation districts have created an irrigable area of 812,000 acres.

BEET CROP GOOD

Out of irrigation has grown southern Alberta's sugar beet industry. This year workers harvested 460,000 tons of beets whose sugar extraction amounted to about 130,000,000 pounds. Biggest sugar beet crop ever harvested by a Canadian province, it will return to growers an estimated $7,000,000.

Another industry which has become big business because of irrigation is vegetable canning. Plants canning such products as peas, corn, pumpkin, carrots, beets, squash, spinach and cauliflower are located at four southern Alberta centres.

Sixty per cent of all frozen vegetables produced in Canada are processed at Lethbridge along with 95 per cent of all frozen peas produced in the Dominion.

Won't Contest Nov. By-Election

KEREMEOS, B.C. (CP) — District Liberals and Progressive Conservatives announced last night after separate meetings that they will not contest the Nov. 24 provincial by-election in Similkameen.

Only C.C.F. standard-bearer H.S. Kenyon will oppose Finance Minister Einar Gunderson in his bid to win a seat as a member of Premier W.A.C. Bennett's Social Credit cabinet.

Premier Bennett had requested that Mr. Gunderson and Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who also lacks a seat in the Legislature, be given acclamations in Similkameen and Columbia constituencies, respectively.

But the Liberals nominated George Keenleyside of Golden to contest Columbia against Mr. Bonner.

THROWN OPEN

Similkameen and Columbia were captured by Social Credit in the provincial election but thrown open in a gamble to seat the two non-member cabinet ministers.

Social Credit formed a government with 19 members and had to look outside the Legislature for two cabinet ministers because none of their elected members had the necessary qualifications.

The C.C.F. has 18 members, the Liberals six, Progressive Conservatives four and Labor one.

Spend 93 Million In Two Weeks

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government poured $93,000,000 worth of defence contracts into Canadian industry in the last two weeks of September, the Defence Production Department announced yesterday.

Biggest commitment in recent months, it was built up mainly by a $66,600,000 order for hundreds of new Orenda jet engines to be manufactured by A. V. Roe Limited at Malton for Sabres under construction at the expanding Canadair Ltd., plant at Montreal.

Included among other big defence contracts during the latter half of September were three orders for flexible cantilever hangars for the R.C.A.F., totalling $10,500,000; a $2,000,000 aircraft repair order; and a $1,500,000 contract to produce an aircraft training device.

Thompson Products Limited of St. Catharines will manufacture $693,000 worth of 60-mm. mortar shells.

Monaghan Announces Court Of Revision

Road Superintendent Oscar Dunsford was instructed by the North Monaghan Council at its meeting in the Court House on Tuesday to secure a sign to deter trucks and other vehicles from using Alexander Ave. to the Civic Hospital. Mr. Dunsford also reported that Rothesay Ave. required more gravel. It was decided to hold the Court of Revision for the assessments made in 1952 for taxation purposes in 1953 at the Court House on Thursday Oct. 30 at 2.00 p.m.

The clerk was instructed to notify certain persons on Webber Ave. to remove their fences from the road allowance.

The following accounts were passed for payment: relief and welfare, $46.23; road and streets, $168.91; School Area No. 2, $1,500, and expenses in collecting dog taxes $8.40.

Flees Communists Buried In Coal

ARZBERG, Germany (AP)—Workers unloading coal shipped from Czechoslovakia yesterday found a half-starved Czech buried alive in a black metal box.

Bavarian border police said the man was a 21-year-old laborer who had chosen that way to flee his Communist-ruled country.

The refugee told police he smuggled the box and some food into the freight car and hid himself in the box before the car was loaded at night. Holes bored into the floor of the car supplied him with air but he lost consciousness after four days.

Want Change Name To Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials of the New York Curb Exchange yesterday proposed changing its name to American Stock Exchange, effective next Jan. 5.

Edward T. McCormick, president, announced after a meeting of the governing board:

"Our governors have taken this action because of a belief that the name Curb Exchange, although revered because of its traditional grass-roots tie to our market's outdoor origin, is no longer indicative of our true status in national and international economic affairs."

The Curb Exchange is an outgrowth of the old "outdoor market" in which traders functioned in the streets of the financial district.

Since the first Canada Savings Bond was sold—interest payments totalling about ninety three and a half million dollars have been paid out to about one million owners. This represents an average return of approximately $100. Some owners have earned more interest than this — some less — but all would agree that they have had a handsome return for an investment that is cashable at full face value at an instant's notice. It is the easiest, most carefree way to earn money that one can imagine. And now the new Seventh Series of Canada Savings Bonds offer a better return than ever! They pay an average of 3.44% per year if held for their full term of 10 years and 9 months. The Seventh Series bonds—like earlier issues — are cashable at full face value plus interest at any time at any bank in Canada.

Canada Savings Bonds—Seventh Series—mature in 10 years and 9 months. They pay an average of 3.44% per year if held for this full term. The bonds are cashable at full face value plus interest at any time at any bank in Canada. Each bond bears ten 3¾% coupons—the first of these being payable on August 1st, 1954 (1 year and 9 months). Interest is payable yearly thereafter until maturity. If the bond is cashed before the first coupon becomes payable simple interest is paid at 2.14% per year calculated monthly. The average return per year gradually improves the longer the bond is held until it reaches 3.44% at maturity. The Seventh Series is available in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1000 and $5000 and the limit for holdings in any one name is $5000. The bonds are registered in the owner's name. They are non-assignable and non-transferable. They may be purchased from investment dealers, banks and other savings institutions or through the Payroll Savings Plan.

University Students Vote On Russian Exchange Visit

QUEBEC (CP)—Delegates to the 16th convention of the National Federation of Canadian University students vote today on the promotion of exchange visits with Russian students.

A threat by Laval University's delegation to withdraw from the student organization should the proposal be adopted brought about quiet campaigning to swing its rejection.

Delegations from 20 universities were reported almost evenly divided following polls taken during sessions of the Federation's Commission on International Affairs which prepared the resolution urging the exchange visits.

START VOTE CAMPAIGN

The polling, by a show of hands, is not binding on the convention itself. It showed Canadian visits by Russian students: 11 for; four against; five abstentions.

Russian visits by Canadian students: 10 for; four against; six abstentions.

Universities abstaining from the polling were reported to be the targets of campaigning to swing rejection of the proposal.

The Laval delegation awaited further instructions from the university's student body executive which held an emergency meeting to discuss the proposal.

The project followed a wire from the anti-Fascist Committee of Soviet Youth saying it "favored" exchange of student visits on a reciprocal basis.

LAVAL WOULD PULL OUT

Laval delegates said their withdrawal threat was not a "blackmailing trick to kill the project."

Informed sources, who declined to be named, said "further conditions" concerning the project may be set.

The commission's resolution, in effect, called for N.F.C.U.S. to extend an invitation to Russian students as soon as funds to pay for a three-week cross-country bus tour were in the hands of the organization's national office.

Money could be raised by public subscriptions with donors "cleared by the R.C.M.P." as non-Communists, the resolution said.

The commission estimated cost of a visit by 12 to 15 students would run to a top of $8,000.

Soothsayer Predicts Eisenhower Victory

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese soothsayer who predicted President Truman's election in 1948 picks Dwight D. Eisenhower to win this year's U.S. presidential race by a small margin.

Prof. Donsho Kodama, a journeyman soothsayer for 38 years, said yesterday he based his prediction on an ancient book of oracles. He said he saw Eisenhower and Governor Adlai Stevenson as "two horses galloping neck to neck. Promised Hearing By Army, Sgt. Young's Appeal Claims

TORONTO— Court of Appeal was told Wednesday that Staff Sgt. Jean Young, charged of conspiring to steal scrap metal from Petawawa military camp, was promised by army officals that he would not be tried in a civilian court.

Arthur Maloney, his lawyer, told the five-judge court that the verbal and written statements made by Young after this inducement was held out should never have been admitted as evidence at his trial in Pembroke last June.

Young was sentenced to two years in jail.

The trials of five others in the wholesale thefts have been held up until Young's appeal is decided. A seventh man, an army captain pleaded guilty and is now serving a jail sentence.

Mr. Maloney, addressing the court for more than three hours, contended that Young was told the worst he could expect from a military court martial— if he agreed to make a statement —was demoted to the rank of sergeant and a possible transfer to another camp.

He said Young, once a captain in the army, was concerned about keeping his case out of civilian courts because he feared that the resultant notoriety might prevent the adoption of a second child by himself and his wife. The child has since died.

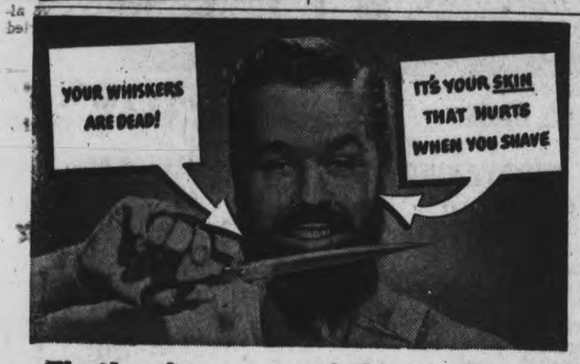
Maloney said the inducement should never have been made and that it was never removed before Young made a clean breast of things in the office of the army's provost marshal in Ottawa.

He said Young had been told by investigating RCMP officers, and later by army officals, that they had a strong case against him but that they were more interested in getting the higher-ups involved in the thefts and would see that his case was quietly dealt with by a military court, as a mere case of negligence.

He said that one of the men who induced Young to make a statement had admitted under cross-examination that at the time the officials did not have a strong case against Young and that he had lied to Young in a deliberate attempt to further the investigation.

T. N. Phelan, appearing for the Crown, spoke only briefly before the court adjourned until this morning. He claimed that the court could not throw out Young's statements merely because there had been some inducement for him to make them. The man himself, the statement and the circumstances would have to be considered. The most important point he argued, was whether or not the statement made by Young was true.

Commented Mr. Justice Henderson, acting as chief justice in the hearing: "At this stage of the thing I'm prepared to think it was a matter of (the other army men involved) getting out from under, of getting Young to take the rap."



The Chief Crown counsel in Young's case was J. W. Pickup, who has since become chief justice of Ontario.

Audience Enjoys Pagliacci Success On Film

A small, but enthusiastic audience attended the film version of Leoncavallo's one-act opera, Pagliacci, at the Centre Theatre Wednesday.

This film version with the title, Love of a Clown, was an excellent production both technically and artistically. And many of those attending Wednesday's production are hoping that Harry Youdin will continue this opera series during the 1952-53 season.

The story of this opera is effective and touching and the music has all the lyrical flow of the Italian School.

The famous Prologue tells that the story is not fiction, but is based on life. The setting is Montalto, a village in Callabria and the story concerns a troupe of strolling players. Canio, the head of the troupe, is being betrayed by his wife, Nedda, who is in love with Silvio, a young man from the village.

The highlights of the opera are the charming Bell Chorus, Nedda's aria, Qual fiama avea quardo (Bird Song), the Harlequin's Serenade, and of course Canio's song of despair, Ridi, Pagliaccio, which is one of the most famous of all operatic arias.

FINE CAST

The fine cast included Tito Gobbi, who starred both as Silvio, and Tonio, the clown; Gina Lollobrigida as Nida, and Afrio Poli in the role of Canio. The chorus and orchestra were both from the Dell Opera of Rome.

The second film presented, entitled Dance Magic, was also outstanding. Members of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, starred in Spanish Fiesta, with music by Rimsky-Korsakov, and The Gay Parisian, with music by Offenbach. Leonide Massine, one of contemporary ballet's greatest dancers, was the highlight in his dancing role of the Peruvian in The Gay Parisian.

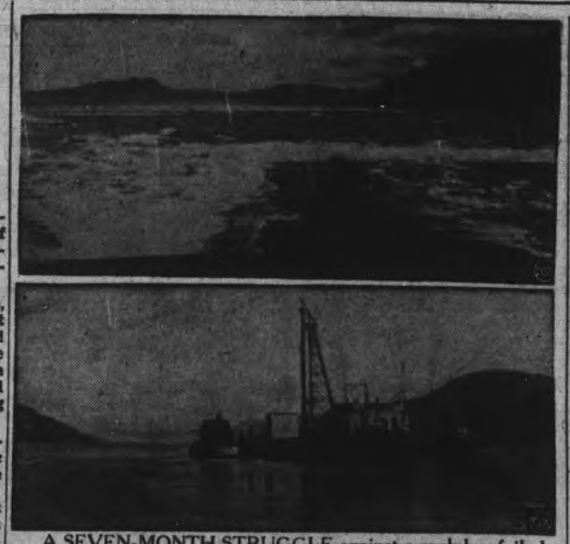
Also featured in this film was Katherine Dunham, who travels all over the world to find interpretative dancing roles for presentation. The title of her film was, Carnival in Rhythm.

Mr. Yudin is planning to continue this opera film series for the third season. Announcement of future presentations will be made later.

House Building Unwise In Twp.

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Board ruled yesterday that further house-building in suburban Toronto township would be inadvisable until the township improves its financial position.

The township had appealed to the board to enforce demands requiring a building firm to pay $750 a building lot to the township as a donation toward school construction.



However, the board ruled that the firm need not pay the amount.

Pending payment by the company, the township held up plans for the constructors to build 125 houses.

The board decided to allow construction to begin on the homes.

40 Killed In Wreck

LAGOS, Nigeria (Reuters) — Forty persons were killed and several were injured yesterday when a train travelling from Lagos to Offa collided with a travelling crane 105 miles from here.

A SEVEN-MONTH STRUGGLE against a rock has failed. Ripple Rock in Seymour Narrows between Vancouver Island and Quadra Islands has defeated the Canadian government. This rock in the shipping lane to the Pacific Ocean yearly takes a heavy toll of ships and men. The rock is 100 feet in diameter and is nine feet below the surface at low tide, as shown in top photo, while in lower photo deceptively calm waters look like this only for short periods between tides. Drilling scow at work here gave up after finding no way to remove the menace.

Board Rules That Builder May Not Pay School Levy

The Ontario Municipal Board Wednesday ruled that G. S. Shipp & Son Ltd., building contractors was not required to pay Toronto Township $750 per building lot as a donation toward school construction.

The township had held up plans of the contractors to build 125 houses as a construction of the Applewood Acres subdivision north of the Queen Elizabeth Highway west of the new Dixie Road cloverleaf.

Any further residential development in Toronto Township would be considered inadvisable in view of the municipality's present financial condition, the board's judgment said.

Since the negotiations with the Shipp firm had progressed to such an advanced stage, it was advisable to let the construction begin, the board felt.

However, a week ago the firm started construction on 25 of the houses and yesterday workmen had finished roofing three of them.

PAY HYDRO SERVICES.

Harold Shipp, vice-president of the company said that the township had also wanted his company to pay for hydro services.

Until the municipality some weeks ago placed a han on further residenital construction, builders were obliged to pay the cost of watermains, gravel roads through the subdivision and storm sewers.

Toronto Township should have time to consolidate its financial position before more home building is undertaken in the municipality, the board said.

As a result of the protest from residents over 1952 tax bill, the assessment on Applewood Acres homes will be reduced and the 1952 tax bill reduced by as much as $40, said Mr. Shipp.

Shipp has built 250 houses in the $14,000 to $17,500 price range on three residential subdivisions in Toronto Township since 1951.

On being informed that it must pay $750 per lot toward education, the company objected and the municipality took the matter to the Ontario Municipal Board to enforce its demands.

Reassessment of the township last year increased its total assessment from $11,562,000 to $24,858,000.

This is divided into 52 per cent residenital, 21 per cent commercial and industrial and the balance farm land.

Not allowing for children moving into the municipality, Toronto Township will require $1,150,000 in 1953 and 1954 for school construction, said A. A. Martin, inspector of public schools.

India Opposes Blaming Peiping

NEW DELHI (AP) — India will oppose any United Nations move seeking to blame Red China for the deadlocked Korean truce negotiations, sources close to the government said today.

". . .Our criterion in the event the United States or any other nation introduces a resolution in the current United Nations session will be 'does it improve the situation of the truce talks, or will it make matters worse,' " one official commented.

Nehru is believed to have decided already that the reported U.S. plan to seek a vote of confidence on its handling of the Korean hostilities and peace negotiations would not receive Indian backing.

His attitude is viewed as consistent with the previous Korean policy of his government, designed to steer clear of offending either the United States or the Peiping regime, in the hope that India might be able to play a peace-making mediator's role at an opportune moment.

Ask No Questions Until Conference

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Prime Minister Sidney Holland today urged members of parliament not to ask about Britain's representation on the Pacific Security Council until after the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London next month.

Holland was replying to a question by an opposition member who had referred to a London newspaper story which said "New Zealand says this is none of Britain's business."

Holland said the welfare of New Zealanad's relations with the other two countries on the council—Australia and the United States—and the United Kingdom were of "overwhelming importance." He asked members to exercise "considerable caution and restraint" when discussing the matter.

Britain's request to send an observer to a previous meeting of the "Anzus" council was turned down.

Miss Hazel Greer, 49, 190 Cartier St., Ottawa, came to Peterborough Tuesday night for a short visit with her cousins, Mrs. Ivan K. Loveless, 1023 Brand Place. She complained of feeling ill, but refused a doctor. Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Loveless found her dead.

A post mortem was held by Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton and he reported that she died of bronchopneumonia.

Miss Greer was born in Colborne, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Greer. She was employed as a civil servant in Ottawa.

She leaves one sister, Mrs. J. Purcell (Reta), Ottawa, and one brother, Charles Greer, Detroit, Mich.

The body has been forwarded to the Hulse-Playfair funeral home, Ottawa. The funeral is expected to be held Saturday.

Nazi Accused Of 71 Murders

BERLIN (Reuters) — Heinrich Schwindt, 62, a career soldier in the Hitler regime, was accused before a German court today of 71 murders, three attempted murders and one rape during the wartime occupation of Poland.

The short, stocky German denied all charges.

Schwindt served on the German staff of a ghetto prison at Lodz, Poland. The prosecution charged he ordered Jewish children to be hurled out of third-floor windows to their death. He was accused of a series of other killings through beatings, shootings and hangings.

Schwindt fled to the west as a political refugee from East Germany two years ago. Later, a former ghetto inmate recognized him and had him arrested.

Houle Will Coach Toronto Marlboros

TORONTO (CP) — Allan (Buck) Houle will coach Toronto Marlboros in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series this season, Stafford Smythe, general manager of the Marlboro Hockey organization, announced yesterday.

Houle, who coached the Weston Dukes Junior B club last season, replaces Reg Hamilton, who played defence for Toronto and Chicago in the National Hockey League before turning to coaching. Hamilton will take over the Dukes, a Marlboro-sponsored club. The switch was made because of demands on Hamilton's time in a new private business venture.

Agreement Reached On Salmon Price

VANCOUVER (CP) — Company representatives and fishermen's union negotiators reached agreement last night on prices to be paid for fall salmon in British Columbia.

The 4,000 salmon fishermen, on strike 38 days because of the dispute, are expected to approve the price proposal when it is put before them Friday with a policy committee recommendation for acceptance.

The fishermen are represented by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (T.L.C.)

Woman With Sick Baby Held For Kidnapping Child

NEW YORK (AP) — A stolen week-old girl was found yesterday with a woman whose own newborn baby lies sick in hospital.

The baby, Gloria Hernandez, was taken from Bellevue hospital Sunday by a woman who asked for it by name. The attendant, presuming she was its mother, Mrs. Rafael Hernandez, gave it to her.

The alleged abduction was discovered 24 hours later when Gloria's real mother asked for her baby.

A police check of all new mothers recently in Bellevue led to the apartment of Mrs. Carmen Rodriguez, 32. There, police said, they found Gloria — apparently unharmed.

Booked on a kidnapping charge, Mrs. Rodriguez told police she had applied for home relief and was informed she lacked certain papers and evidence that she had a baby to support.

The woman claimed investigators told her she must take her baby to their office to get relief consideration.

Churchill Has Plan For U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribnue says Prime Minister Churchill will propose to the new U. S. president a plan aimed at enabling Britain and western Europe to pay their own way without further American grants.

The newspaper quotes Edwin H. Leather, a Conservative Member of Parliament, as saying Churchill plans to greet the new president next March in Washington.

Leather, who has been touring the United States, said Churchill is expected to ask the new president to push through Congress: (1) Reduction of tariffs; (2) adoption of a customs simplification bill which has been pigeon-holed for several years; and (3) agreement on price stabilization for the world's raw materials.

Buying Grain

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Charles Hill, Parliamentary secretary to the Food Ministry, told the Commons yesterday Britain has contracted to buy 200,000 tons of grain from Russia. Shipment is expected soon.

Election Excitement Reaching Fever Pitch In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governor Adlai Stevenson's biggest and noisiest reception—in San Francisco—and tumultuous receptions given Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the south indicated today national excitement is reaching fever pitch as election day nears.

Stevenson's campaign showed signs of catching fire as he lashed out with fresh vigor at his Republican presidential opponent's "crusade." He accused the general last night of taking different positions in different states.

Eisenhower struck back with charges that the opposition's "big guns and little guns" were telling "plain lies" when they said his election threatened another depression and an end to social gains and public power development.

President Truman took off on another whistle-stop tour, this time into New England. In a speech prepared for delivery at Hartford, Conn., he told voters their "bread and butter" and hopes for peace are tied up in the election

Stevenson was reported flushed with enthusiasm after San Francisco's reception last night.

CHEER STEVENSON

The thoroughly partisan audience at the Cow Palace cheered lustily as he accused Eisenhower of attempting to ride two political horses in California, and sarcastically referred to Senator Richard Nixon's campaign fund disclosures.

Stevenson's audience was estimated at 23,000 persons, compared with 21,000 which greeted Eisenhower in the same hall last week.

The Democratic candidate heaped ridicule on what he said was the "team of isolationists and cut-throat reactionaries."

He echoed the Republican "time for a change" slogan, but his version was: "It is time for a change—time for the independents and understanding Republicans . . . to recognize the real nature of the general's candidacy."

ATTACKS ANGER IKE

It appeared that the Democratic barbs were getting under Eisenhower's skin — for he has begun angrily to deny accusations as falsehoods and lies.

In two stops in Tennessee yesterday, he emphasized that his election would not "impair the effective working out" of the Tennessee Valley Authority program.

In Oregon last week, he spoke out in opposition to federal authorities as the means of developing river basin resources. He proposed instead a local, state and federally-operated co-operative plan.

His final bold bid for support in the solid south by attempting to stir political rebellion in Texas, Louisiana and Tennessee aroused hopes in his camp that he might win some electoral votes in that area.

REASON FOR LOSSES

President Truman moved through Connecticut, New Hampshire and Massachusetts today—the first lap of a three-day tour.

He, like Stevenson, took up the Republican "time for a change" theme in his Hartford speech, saying that the mere fact the Democrats have been in power 20 years isn't sufficient reason for a change.

The Republicans have lost elections, he said, "for good reason":

"They lost because they've been against world co-operation, against a healthy foreign trade, against aid to other peoples. They lost because they've been against minorities of all kinds."

He said Eisenhower has compromised so much that "he doesn't have much left to compromise."

Girl 10 Born In Stalingrad Now To Make Home In Canada

TORONTO (CP)—A 10-year-old girl born in Stalingrad during the battle for that city arrived in Toronto last night after one of the loneliest journeys she had ever taken.

Olga Spitzer travelled from Merano, Italy, by train, plane and car. Her only companions were two dolls and a teddy bear.

For five days and nights from Rome to Paris to Montreal, she did not meet anyone who could talk her language. She was air sick on her first plane trip When she met her aunt here she was tired and miserable.

Olga's father fled from Vienna when the Germans marched in and her mother left Poland as the Nazis swept eastwards. Born at the height of the battle of Stalingrad, Olga's first words were in Russian. After the war, her father was imprisoned by the Russians as an anti-Communist and her mother was later told he had died. The two of them went to Poland and two years later went to Italy by way of Germany.

Mrs. Irene Spitzer had been ill with tuberculosis for a long time and her condition did not improve in Italy. She got in touch with her sister, Mrs. Maurice Finkelstein, who came to Toronto with her husband in 1949, and asked her to adopt Olga. After many immigration difficulties Olga was given permission to enter the country.

In her short life, Olga learned to speak Russian, then Polish and finally Italian. Now one of her greatest wishes is to learn English.

Age Limit Set At Factories Puzzles Expert

FERGUS — Canadians are hard to understand, Hermann Bruckdorfer admits. Refugee from behind the Iron Curtain, the Czechoslovak craftsman sought employment at a Canadian glass factory, offering to disclose secrets of mixing and staining glass that had been a close secret to a few families for generations.

"How old are you?" the man asked.

"41."

"Sorry. You're too old to work here."

Hermann just doesn't get it.

"But how could I know these things if I was a young boy?" he asks. "I took me many years to learn the things I know about glass. When I was very young I left school to learn the family trade. There is much to learn. I had to work in 24 different shops, each specializing in a certain type of glass work, before I was allowed to touch glass blowing. For six years, I walked two hours to get to work and two hours to get home again every day. It was years before I was an expert. There is much to learn."

OPEN OWN FACTORY

But he doesn't intend to let his unusual craft die out. As soon as he can get some capital, he plans to open a small glass factory of his own here. He will manufacture glass. Not ordinary window glass but the very special sort used by glass blowers, and for stained windows and other works of art. In the meantime, he is using glass imported from France, Italy and other parts of the world.

Using only a propane gas torch and a pair of ordinary tweezers, the artist produces many beautiful and intricate figures.

He plans to manufacture more than 400 different types and colors of glass. He knows the secret of producing glass in 150 colors and tints, and can make stained glass, such as is used in Europe's beautiful church windows. Much of his apprenticeship was served in Bohemia, source of special types of glass.

Perhaps the strangest thing of all about Hermann, the glass blower, is this: He doesn't blow glass. The exquisite figurines and whimsical creatures he produces are made entirely of melting glass twisted and turned in his skilled hands. He learned glass blowing and can do that, too, where it is required, but it is an elementary skill of the trade, he explained.

U.S. High Court Grants Stay Of Spy Execution

WASHINGTON (AP). — The Supreme Court Wednesday granted a stay to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, the New York couple sentenced to death for giving atom secrets to Russia.

The stay means the sentences can not be carried out until final Supreme Court action on a petition requesting a rehearing of their appeal.

Such requests for rehearing are rarely granted by the Supreme Court.

The High Court refused last Monday to review the case. A petition for rehearing amounts to a request that the court change its mind and review it.

General Amnesty For 1,000 Egyptians

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The government of Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib announced a general amnesty last night for an estimated 1,000 persons convicted or accused of political crimes between 1936 and the army coup last Aug. 23 which forced King Farouk to abdicate.

The limitation on the amnesty exempted from its application the 60 or more prominent politicians rounded up by Naguib's government after he took the premiership to further his announced purge of corrupt figures in politics.

Started With One Acre Wins Top Farm Award

KANSAS CITY (AP).— Walter Wayne Vogel, 21, of Republic, Ohio, who started farming seven years ago with one acre and built up an operation worth $16,000, today the new star farmer of America. The honor—carrying a $1,000 cash award—was awarded at Wednesday night's session of the Future Farmers of America convention here.

Says Collective Farms Worse Than Camps

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuters)—A former Russian farmboy said yesterday conditions on Soviet collective farms are so bad that many people prefer to live in forced labor camps.

"At least they get regular food rations at the labor camps," said 23-year-old Pavel Bondarchuk. "On collective farms, people work from dawn to dusk for a piece of bread."

Bondarchuk, a sergeant in a mechanized regiment stationed in Austria, deserted to West Germany last spring. He addressed a press conference arranged here by the U.S. High Commission.

Hardware Stores Push Use Of Do-It-Yourself Tools

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—To the hils, men, they're after us. "They" are the nation's hardware manufacturers, who are trying to popularize a do-it-yourself trend among the nation's house-husbands.

At the National Hardware Show here, booth after booth was loaded with subservise devices, designed to turn the American male into a combination carpenter-electrician-plumber, whether he wants to be turned or not. There's not an easy chair in the joint.

But there are tools and machines, ranging from old-fashioned screwdrivers to entire home workshops, which will do everything from hanging pictures to building houses. We haven't got a chance.

There's one electric sander, as an example, that's a triple-threat assault on our laziness. "It sands, polishes and massages," says the sign. We not only have to be a repair man, then, but they're trying to make us into a masseur-it-yourself.

Another device is a torch which aims to replace the good old blowtorch. It's a lightweight cylinder of propane gas, with a nozzle. You can light it with a match, it'll burn for at least 16 hours, then you throw the cylinder away and get a new one.

This torch is supposed to be just the thing for the man who wants to do any of the following: tinning, burning paint, fitting pipes, laying tile, doing body and fender work, soldering jewelry, splicing cable, softening old putty. Nothing like a peaceful evening at home, softening old putty.

There's an electric jig saw that's billed as "safe for children to use." If you have a six-year-old that feels a hankering to cut asphalt tiles, this is the very thing.

More and more chores can be done by you, unfortunately. A new canned compressed air bomb, like the ones with whipped cream and insect killers, can shampoo and dye rugs in one operation. It comes in five colors. After a hard day at the office, you can spend your evening relaxing over a wet rug.

Or you can re-cover bicycle seats, with the help of a new kit. That is if you feel like re-covering bicycle seats. All sorts of snazzy coverings, too, including one in leopard skin. Now your child can have the flashiest seat on the block.

NEW TORCH for home use is fuelled by disposable tank.

One kind manufacturer has taken pity on us men, and especially on our often-battered thumbs. A new type of picture hook uses gummed tape, with a hook attached. You moisten it, apply one to the wall and one to the back of picture, and the job's done. They'll support 15 pounds and will work on glass, tile and metal as well as wood and plaster.

Another industrial Good Samaritan has produced a solder in the form of tape. You wrap it around the joint you want to join, then just apply heat from a soldering iron or even a candle.

To make all these do-it-yourself appliances nice and homey, many of the manufacturers are turning the tools out in eye-catching styles. Even some of the electric sprayers and drills now come in all colors. Some of the items are neatly packaged, some newly streamlined, some chrome-plated.

And don't think, fellows, that Christmas will bring any respite. If one tool maker has his way, under the tree you'll find a lovely Christmas gift box. It's nicely wrapped in red ribbon, too, and contains the very thing you've always wanted — four assorted chisels.

Drop Alimony For TV Set

CHICAGO (CP)—Mrs. Alice Vojik, 23-year-old secretary who sued for divorce, doesn't want any alimony. She just wants her husband, George, 26, to return their television set.

Yesterday in court Vojik's lawyer said Mrs. Vojik had fallen in love with a television receiver. When she came home from work, he added, she parked in front of the set. This left Vojik to cook his own dinner. So he left March 3, and took the TV with him.

"Now she wants the TV set," the lawyer said. "My client will give it to her. It broke up his home and he never wants to see a TV set again."

Judge Julius Miner, told there was no chance of a reconciliation, continued the divorce proceedings and said:

"What consolation is a TV set on a cold, lonely night? Waive alimony, and she will get the TV."

Britain Makes Deal With Spain

LONDON (AP) — Spain will soon get £500,000 worth of piston-type aircraft engines from Britain in return for pyrites and other needed strategic metals.

Foreign Under-secretary Anthony Nutting told the house of commons last night Spain also will get radio-direction finders for airfields and out-dated radar and radio equipment as part of Britain's arms-for-export policy.

"All this is obsolescent material," Nutting said, "which could be used for civil and military purposes, but for which there is no demand from any friendly or neutral country."

Find Growing Restlessness Across U.S. Coal Fields

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Reports of growing restlessness came from the country's coal fields today in the wake of a strike threat tossed at the industry by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Several thousand miners are off the job to back up demands for a pay hike being held up pending approval of the Wage Stabilization Board.

While there is no indication that the walkouts will spread quickly both coal operators and miners are keeping a close watch on Washington for developments.

The miners' anxiety over whether the W. S. B. will approve the pay increase negotiated for them by Lewis was heightened yesterday when the mine boss told his members to refuse to work after Nov. 18 unless mine operators have made their increased royalty payments to the U.M.W. welfare fund by that date.

$1.90 A DAY INCREASE

The contract, now up before the W.S.B., called for an increase in the royalty payments of from 30 to 40 cents a ton in the soft coalfields. The contract also provides a wage boost of $1.90 a day. Miners have been earning $16.35 daily.

In winding up the U.M.W. convention at Cincinnati, Lewis told delegates the contract specifies that each operator certify by Nov. 18, and the 18th of each month thereafter, that he has paid the royalty covering production for the previous month. Lewis added:

"I don't want any union to go to work on the 18th (Nov. 18) unless it is found that the welfare is paid. There are no ifs and buts about it. The morning of the 18th is the deadline."

CLOSED BY WALKOUT

Shortly after Lewis spoke five southern West Virginia mines employing some 700 men were closed by a walkout. Closest source to the U. M. W. said the men apparently stayed home awaiting the W.S.B.'s approval of the $1.90 pay boost.

Approximately 3,155 Kentucky miners were reported on strike. Another 1,200 were off the job at four mines of Republic Steel Corp. in western Pennsylvania.

From Washington came reports the W.S.B. is expected to reach a vote by the end of this week on the legality of the $1.90 increase. The pay rise appears to be nearly twice as high as automatic cost of living regulations allow.

Knew Of No Illicit Relationship Between Wife And Elias Meek

CORNWALL (CP)—Alan Alguire, 29, yesterday testified that he knew of no illicit relationship between his attractive 28-year-old wife Dolly and Elias Meek, 21, his hired farmhand, who is charged with her murder Sept. 28, 1951.

Alguire was the second of eight witnesses heard yesterday at the retrial of Meek, convicted March 10 of the nearby Harrison's Corners slaying and sentenced to be hanged. He won a new trial on an appeal that the first jury was misdirected.

Dr. J. M. Pollock, Avonmore coroner, described the knife wounds he found when he examined Mrs. Alguire's body. He said she had been disembowelled. Near the body lay two knives and a hammer.

Dr. Pollock said he had treated a sister of the accused and had sent her to the Ontario Hospital at Brockville three times between 1939 and 1950. She died in the institution.

Alguire said he had treated Meek "like a brother" while he employed him. On the morning of the slaying, he went to help a neighbor fill a silo, leaving his wife, his three-year-old twins and Meek on the farm. When he got back several hours later, he saw his wife's body in a narrow passageway adjoining the house.

Dinner Honors Butter Sculptor

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Practically every organization in Oxford county and this city was represented at a dinner last night in honor of Ross Butler who won added fame for his sculpture of the Queen on her horse in butter shown at the Canadian National Exhibition this year.

Guest speaker at the dinner was John A. Carroll, assistant deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. The dinner was under the sponsorship of the Oxford County Breeders' Association.

Mr. Ross said a picture published in England saying that he used 15,000 pounds of butter—instead of 1,500—resulted in his receiving scores of irate letters. He hoped that some way would be found for Canada to send Britain 1,000,000 pounds of butter as a coronation gift.

BAND IMPORT—Sgt. W. D. Paxton, former trumpet-major with Britain's 4th Hussars, is the first British bandsman to come to Canada under the army's new plan to bring skilled musicians from the United Kingdom to help round out Canada's service bands. Sgt. Paxton will join the Royal Canadian Regiment Central Command band now stationed at Petawawa, Ont.

No More Jail 'Fishing'

TORONTO (CP) — Controller Ford Brand said yesterday there is suspicion that prisoners at the Don Jail are "fishing" articles up from the parking lot into cells. He said it is possible that prisoners in certain cells can extend a line from their windows to a second party in the parking lot. Board of Control approved $8,455 for additional security measures at the jail.

Doctors Wonder If Polio Trend Changed

REGINA (CP) — Health authorities are wondering if the poliomyelitis trend has changed. Case and death totals continue to mount in Western Canada's worst epidemic despite frost and cool weather in many areas. Previous years have seen outbreaks stop when cold weather arrived.

The west's totals climbed to 2,604 cases and 162 deaths yesterday, nearly 500 more cases than the combined total of the previous record years of each province.

Saskatchewan, with 37 new cases and four deaths in the last week, is the hardest hit, recording 1,002 cases and 62 deaths this year, compared with 512 cases and 22 deaths in its record year of 1947.

Alberta, with 607 cases and 54 deaths, is well above its 1948 record year when 380 cases and 28 deaths occurred, and British Columbia reported 428 cases and 26 deaths to top its 1947 record of 231 cases and 11 deaths.

The 20 deaths in Manitoba are equal in number to those of 1941 but its case total of 567 is far below the record of 1,011 of 11 years ago.

BACK TO KOREA—Sgt. Tommy Prince of Scanterbury, Man., grandson of an Indian chief and a paratrooper who won 10 medals fighting Chinese communist, German and Italian troops, is returning to Korea for the second time at his own request. Sgt. Prince, veteran of Second World War campaigns in the Aleutian Islands, Italy and northwest Europe, sailed first for Korea in November, 1950, with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. In Canada on his return he was an instructor at Camp Borden.

Not Satisfied With Evidence

STRATFORD (CP) — Magistrate A.F. Cook indicated yesterday that he was not satisfied with the testimony of two witnesses in an assault case, but said he had to dismiss the case because there was no other offsetting evidence.

Melville J. Buckner of Stratford was acquitted of assault occasioning actual bodily harm, a charge laid after his wife was run over by a car on highway No. 7 south of Stratford last July 27.

Mrs. Buckner, victim of the car accident, is in Stratford hospital with a fractured spine and broken ribs. She gave evidence from her hospital bed Sept. 3 and said she jumped from her husband's car and that "there was no assault to it."

The magistrate yesterday said evidence of other witnesses, who testified they heard Mrs. Buckner screaming for help as she rode out of the city in a car driven by her husband, indicated that the woman actually was seeking help at the time and that her story told under oath in hospital later was probably not as accurate.

Kill 2,000 Reds In Nanjih Raid

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist guerrillas killed more than 2,000 Communists in a raid on Nanjih Island off the Red China mainland, the Central News Agency reported today.

The dispatch said the raiders killed a Communist General and seized 810 prisoners in three days of fighting before withdrawing Monday.

The report indicates a stepped-up harassing action against the fringe of Communist China. Nationalist guerrillas raided three other islands last week and reported they killed about 750 Reds.

Nanjih lies off the southeast China coast about midway between Shanghai and Hong Kong and 120 miles directly west of Taipeh.

Unique Operation Performed On Baby

CHICAGO (AP)—The breastbone and parts of several ribs from a still-born baby were transplanted to the body of a living infant in a unique operation to correct birth deformities.

The tiny patient in the operation disclosed yesterday was born with her heart on the outside of her body and approximately one-fourth of the chest bone structure missing. She has gained weight since the operation.

But the surgeon, Dr. Saul A. Mackler, said it will be a month, or possibly a year, before it can be determined whether the operation was a success.

The baby is Linda Wetzel, born Sept. 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Werner Wetzel of Chicago. The Wetzels have one normal child, Peter, 2½ years old.

Cobourg Miffed By Advertising Of Port Hope

COBOURG (ENS)—Considerably miffed by the way Port Hope stole its thunder in extensively advertising itself at Carp last week in connection with the 1953 International Plowing Match, Cobourg is doing its best to make up for lost ground.

In a statement this week, Coboroug's mayor Jack Burnet has pointed out that the plowing match is going to be held practically inside the town of Cobourg. Port Hope, he added, was seven miles away.

Last week at the International Plowing Match in Carp, near Ottawa, the Port Hope Board of Trade was on hand giving out information about the 1953 event and about Port Hope.

Cobourg representatives became worried that casual visitors would get the idea that the match would be a Port Hope event, rather than a Cobourg one.

At any rate, Mayor Burnet issued the following statement:

"The international plowing match for 1953, sponsored by the counties of Northumberland and Durham, will be held at Cobourg, almost in the town. The setting is perfect as the fine new memorial arena and auditorium will provide facilities for executive offices and banquets.

"Hotels, motels and tourist camps adjacent will provide all accommodations necessary. Now that the 1952 match is history, we will continue planning for 1953.

"Mayor Lamport travels like an Eastern potentate and Mayor Whitton will require a suitable setting for her glamorous personality, and Cobourg will provide the proper environment for both. Our location being so central, 1953 promises to be the largest event of this kind in history.

"Cobourg here and now issues a challenge to mayors, near and far, for the mayors' championship match in 1953. Who knows, the dove of peace may be present and Mayors Whitton and Lamport may kiss and make up. The town of Port Hope, being less than seven miles away, will provide additional accommodation," said the mayor.

Top Breeders Come To Buy Horses, Stewart Sells Out

Eyes as much on brood stock as yearlings and racers, standard bred fanciers—more than 400 of them—were at Hugh Stewart's Hilltop Farm by noon today, waiting for the sale of 76 horses. They came from all over Ontario, from Pennsylvania, and from New York State. From New York came a large delegation, some to help with the auction, others to watch and perhaps buy. As early as 9 a.m. they began gathering in the barns, looking into stalls, studying the sale catalogue, and telling friends what they knew of so-and-so's performance. By the time the auction is well under way, it is expected more than 800 will be there.

One of the United States' top standard bred fanciers, Sam Swick of Westburg, Long Island, said that Mr. Stewart had "one of the best bunches of yearlings I've seen. They're as good as the ones he sold at Harrisburg (Penna.) last year.

"There are some fine brood mares here, too," he added.

Mr. Swick, who handles the large annual standard bred sales at Harrisburg, is an official at Roosevelt Raceway, one of the largest trotting tracks in the U.S.

ON FARM 13 YEARS

Mr. Stewart has been at Hilltop Farm for 13 years, spending a large part of that time raising trotters and pacers. It was not until after the war that his brood stock established itself as one of the outstanding stocks in Canada and the U.S.

When the Stewart family leaves Peterborough for western Canada, he said, it will be with a good deal of regret.

Buyers and fanciers present at the sale included Harry Yates of Sault Ste. Marie, an auctioneer, owner, trainer and judge, Tel Chambers of New York, Pete Murray and Jack Barrs of Saratoga, N.Y., Dr. John H. Black and John Locke of Toronto, and Dave Pinckney of Stratford.

Sales of horses didn't start until shortly after noon, and it was expected the sale would last into the late afternoon. Prospective buyers had their eyes particularly on the 26 brood mares and three stallions.

Of special interest were the stallion Prince Direct, main sire of the farm, and Stewart Direct, prize racer owned by Hugh Stewart. Stewart Direct has won more than $35,000 racing in Canada and the U.S.

Congress Okays Local Trades, Labor Council

The Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.) have now been officially recognized by the parent body, the Trades and Labor Congress. At an executive meeting Wednesday night it was announced they had received their charter.

Aim of the Peterborough Trades and Labour Council is to organize American Federation of Labor unions in this district so they can speak with a stronger voice on union and community affairs.

1,600 WORKERS—

Eight A.F.L. unions in the district have already affiliated and the executive members of the council hope to add nine more. In all, this covers about 1,600 workers—most of them craftsmen.

The council hope to have their inaugural meeting some time in November.

(Peterborough already has one labor council. It is the Peterborough and District Labor Council (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), composed of industrial workers. The Allied Labor Council that disintegrated three years ago included C.I.O., A.F.L. and independent unions.)

Glenn Price of Local 248, International Typographical Union, is the interim president of the A.F.L. council; and Henry Nokes of the Peterborough Fire Fighters Association is the secretary.

18,000 Apples To Help Scouts

More than 18,000 apples will be offered to Peterborough citizens Saturday when the Peterborough Boy Scout Association holds its annual Apple Day, its major fund-raising project for the year.

Cubs, Scouts, and Rovers will scour the city Friday night in a house-to-house canvass with rosy MacIntosh Reds to start the drive off. More than 400 men and boys will be working various districts mapped out for the different packs, troops and crews.

On Saturday most of the boys will be on downtown street corners during the morning selling tags and giving the apples away as a token of their appreciation for the donation.

This year the association bought 150 bushels, numbering about 18,000 apples and it hopes to have bushel baskets empty Saturday night. Last year they sold 145 bushels; every one of the 17,400 apples was sold.

Apple Day will be Peterborough's main contribution this year to the association. Previously the boys counted on their tri-annual paper drives to help heir activities but the price of waste paper is so low, it isn't worthwhile to collect it. Therefore the paper drives have been abandoned for the present.

Last year the Association's Apple Day in Peterborough netted about $1,000 and the executive hopes to better that mark on Saturday. This money helps to pay expenses of the association as well as various cub packs, scout troops and rover crews.

Jailed 18 Months For Stealing 10 Outboards

Lawrence Howell, 43-year-old Toronto painter and decorator, on Wednesday afternoon was sentenced to 18 months definite and six months indefinite in reformatory for stealing 10 outboard motors this summer.

He had pleaded guilty to all 10 charges and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, Q.C., said at the trial that he had helped police recover all but two of the motors. Total value of the motors was estimated by O.P.P. Constable John Cawood at $1,750.

Most of them were stolen during July and August in the Kawarthas.

A partner in the painting and decorating business, 38-year-old Herbert Halstead of Toronto, is out on $3,000 bail after being committed for trial on similar charges. And a third Toronto man, Joseph Larocque, 39, pleaded guilty in police court to retaining stolen goods. He was fined $200.

Howell is married and has a 13-year-old son. His criminal record includes convictions on charges of forgery, breaking and entering, and theft.

Judge John de N. Kennedy, presiding at the county criminal court, said the only extenuating circumstances were that Howell had assisted the police in recovering all but two of the motors, and he had pleaded guilty.

Lindsay May Resume Abandoned Bus Service

LINDSAY—Bus service in Lindsay may be resumed this winter if council and the bus company which operated the service formerly can come to an agreement.

It was revealed Wednesday that the bus company is willing to operate a bus service in the town during the winter months if the public appears to be sufficiently interested.

Service was suspended last spring after it had operated for a year, when it was found that summer operations were unprofitable.

Campbellford Hospital To Open In November

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Campbellford's new 38-bed hospital is just about ready for occupancy and members of the Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary are making plans to help with the decoration of the interior of the building. It is believed the building will be ready to move into some time in November.

Five members of the Auxiliary travelled to the Trenton hospital last week to obtain ideas on decoration from that institution, and to learn how the auxiliary there operates.

J. E. R. Munro Honored By Teachers On Retirement

A dinner was held Wednesday evening in honor of J. E. R. Munro, retiring principal of Queen Alexandra public school. It was the October meeting of the city branch of the Ontario Men Teachers' Federation.

Joseph Barnard, president of the local branch, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the special guests at the head table, Maurice Park, master at the Toronto Normal School; Tom Alcorn, vice-president of the Ontario Men Teachers' Federation; Win Davies, provincial secretary; R. J. Bolton, a provincial director, and F. H. Dearborn, a retired public school principal of the city and Mr. Munro.

The program opened with a sing-song, led by Don Munro, with Jack Telford at the piano. A quartette, composed of C. Crown, H. Wilson, V. Northcott and L. McNeil, sang two numbers, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "Old Black Joe." The latter was specially dedicated to the guest of the evening.

D. T. Crawford gave readings from Robert Service's works. Maurice Park, accompanied by Charles Allen, sang two solos.

BEGAN IN 1911

R. J. Bolton in his address of the evening paid special tribute to Mr. Munro as a principal and a teacher. Mr. Munro began his work as a teacher in Prince Edward County in 1911.

Two years later he attended Peterborough Normal School, and was subsequently taken on the Public school staff as teacher in South Central School. His duties were interrupted by the First Great War when he went overseas with the 93rd Battalion.

After serving in England and France, he returned to take up his duties in 1919 at King George School with Maurice Park as his principal. He became principal of King George School in 1922. While there he graduated from Queen's University with a bachelor of arts degree. But a few years later he was transferred to Queen Alexandra where he remained as principal until his retirement.

His activities outside of teaching were many, having taken keen interest in sports, local militia and the natural beauty of the community as portrayed in his paintings, to mention a few.

CONFIDENCE OF PARENTS

Mr. Bolton paid tribute to Mr. Munro as a principal who had definite goals, one who held the confidence of the parents whose children he guided. More important possibly Mr. Munro could be described as spending his happiest hours with his class. In his words: "Never did time pass so quickly, so easily and so delightfully as when he could go into his room, shut the door, and teach his class."

to do, yet has not had sufficient time.

O. M. Steer presented Mr. Munro with a camera.

PERSONAL CONTACT

In accepting the gift, Mr. Munro expressed his thanks to the group and paid tribute to the teaching profession as being one in which the personal contact with each individual child was the most important feature. Take away your buildings, your whole frame work of the educational system and effective

Munro's present step as a transference into a new sphere of life where he will have the chance to do all the things he has wanted very essence of the profession was the ability to deal intelligently and successfully with each child and to pass on knowledge which is useful to him as a citizen.

He emphasized the importance of full and free initiative with freedom to experiment. He said he had spent his life making every effort to create good will which is the life blood of any teaching. In turn he has always craved good will, and it was with utmost satisfaction that he accepted the good wishes of all in his retirement from active teaching.

Mr. Alcorn of the provincial executive, expressed to Mr. Munro the good wishes of the federation.

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of two requested solos by Mr. Park, "Sally in Our Alley" and "Give a Man a Horse he can Ride."

Ottawa Expert To Adjudicate Nine Plays

Nine plays will be performed publicly in the two-day Peterborough Drama Festival Nov. 21 and 22. Compilation of entries and allotting of performance time were dealt with at a general meeting of the Festival committee Wednesday night. Chairman Peter McCombe announced that Michael Meiklejohn, Ottawa producer and critic, has been engaged to adjudicate the festival.

The one-act plays will be staged at the Queen Mary auditorium. Friday evening, November 21, All Saints' Drama Club will present "Courage, Mr. Green," the senior group of the Blue Triangle Club will do "The Confutation of Wisdom," and Knox Theatre Group will give "Not What They Seem."

SATURDAY MATINEE

The three plays for the Saturday matinee are: "Toad of Toad Hall" by the juniors of the Blue Triangle Club; "Pomona," by the Normal School Players, and "The Hole in the Wall" by the P.C.V.S. Junior Dramatic Club.

At the final Saturday evening performance, audiences will see "Twelve Pound Look" by the Knox Theatre Group, "At Five o'Clock" by the Peterborough Little Theatre, and "Ladies Alone" by the All Saints' players.

Mr. Meiklejohn will give public adjudications after each performance, and a summary at the close of the festival Saturday evening. The festival is non-competitive. Advance sale of season tickets will begin next week.

Following the business part of their meeting Wednesday the festival committee and other members saw two films dealing with theatre techniques. Ray Gillies, stage manager of the festival, acted as projectionist.

Reflection Of Sun Blamed For Accident

Bright sunlight reflecting in his eyes from the rear view mirror was blamed by a Kenner Collegiate student for an accident on Romaine St., at 8:30 a.m. today.

An estimated $100 damage resulted to a horse's harness, bread wagon and bakery products in the wagon when a car driven by Stanley L. Graves, 16, of 599 Erskine Ave., crashed into the rear of a Wonder Bakeries delivery wagon.

Extensive damage resulted to the front end of the car which was travelling west on Romaine St., and Graves received a cut upper lip. The horse was not injured.

Bill Irwin, 193 London St., was the driver in charge of the bread wagon which was stopped while the driver was making a delivery.

The impact scattered bread and cakes along the street and damaged the horse's harness.

The car was owned by Graves' brother, Mitchell Graves, of R.R. 1, Keene. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Milky TV

Milk shake fanciers should inquire casually before ordering their favorite dairy drink if there is a television set on the premises. Otherwise, they are liable to get their palates whetted for a "chocolate malted," only to be disappointed. "Sorry," a waitress told a customer on Wednesday night, "We can't make milk shakes just now, the machine interferes with the TV set."

Youth Jailed Two Years For Breakin

Pleaded Guilty To Robbery Attempt, Carrying Explosives

A sentence of two years less a day was imposed on William Rudyk, 19-year-old Oshawa youth, Wednesday afternoon by Judge John de N. Kennedy.

Rudyk had previously pleaded guilty to two charges: breaking and entering Duffus Motors last April 13 with intent to commit theft, and being in possession of nitro-glycerine under suspicious circumstances.

With two other Oshawa youths —John F. Meagher, 20, and Joseph Rzamy, 19—he broke into the garage and twice unsuccessfully attempted to blow a safe containing $400.

The trio were discovered by Constable Gerald Emmons and Rudyk was arrested a couple of minutes later, as he tried to leave by a southwest door of the Duffus building. Though covered by Constable Emmon's revolver and handcuffed Rudyk made a bid for freedom: he took a two-ounce bottle of nitro-glycerine from his pocket and threatened to blow up both himself and the constable unless he was turned loose.

Constable Emmons continued to cover Rudyk with his revolver and ordered him to hand the "soup" over. Rudyk put the bottle back into his pocket with his unmanacled hand and made no further resistance to arrest.

LATER ARRESTED

Meagher and Rzamy on information given by Rudyk, were later arrested near Welcome by provincial police. And last June they were sentenced to two years less a day on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft.

"In your case I can find very few extenuating circumstances," said Judge Kennedy when giving sentence in criminal court. "You had a comfortable home, you were engaged to be married and there was no apparent reason why you shouldn't have lived a useful life in your community."

Judge Kennedy said the only thing that could be said in Rudyk's favor was that he had been a Crown witness, thus helping to convict his accomplices; and he had pleaded guilty to both charges. He had no previous criminal record.

Rudyk was given two years less a day on both convictions, the sentences to run concurrently.

18 Years In Red Cross Outpost Hospitals Matron Leaves Apsley For Haliburton

APSLEY — Matron at Apsley Red Cross Hospital for the last three years, Miss Louise Grover has been transferred to Haliburton as matron of the outpost hospital there.

Miss Grover has been succeeded by Miss Dorothy Baxter, of Hamilton, who took over as matron of the Apsley hospital September 26.

BORN IN NORWOOD

A native of Norwood, Miss Grover is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Grover, and was educated in Toronto schools. She graduated from Toronto General Hospital, later taking a post-graduate course in public health at Varsity.

Miss Grover was with the Victorian Order of Nurses for a few years after completing her training, then went into Red Cross nursing 18 years ago.

She has served in outpost hospitals operated by the Red Cross throughout Northern Ontario, including Whitney, the Rainy River district, and Hornpayne before being appointed to the Apsley hospital in 1949.

Miss Grover was first attracted to Red Cross nursing by the belief that serving in outpost hospitals in new settlements would be "an interesting field."

STILL ENTHUSIASTIC

Eighteen years have not dimmed her enthusiasm and she still finds her work "most interesting and instructive."

In recent years, Miss Grover has watched with interest the growth of many northern settlements from frontier mining communites to thriving towns and cities. Former outpost hospitals in many of these centres are now modern hospitals operated by the municipalities.

There were three beds in the Apsley hospital when the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross began sponsoring it in 1946. Miss Grover gives the Peterborough group credit for bringing about many improvements in the last few years, and there are now six beds in the hospital.

Miss Baxter, the new matron at Apsley, graduated from McMaster University in May this year with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Nursing. Before being appointed to the Apsley post she served at Red Cross hospitals at Emo in the Rainy River Valley and on Manitoulin Island this summer.

Gives Qualities Needed By Perfect Wife

By BOB THOMAS

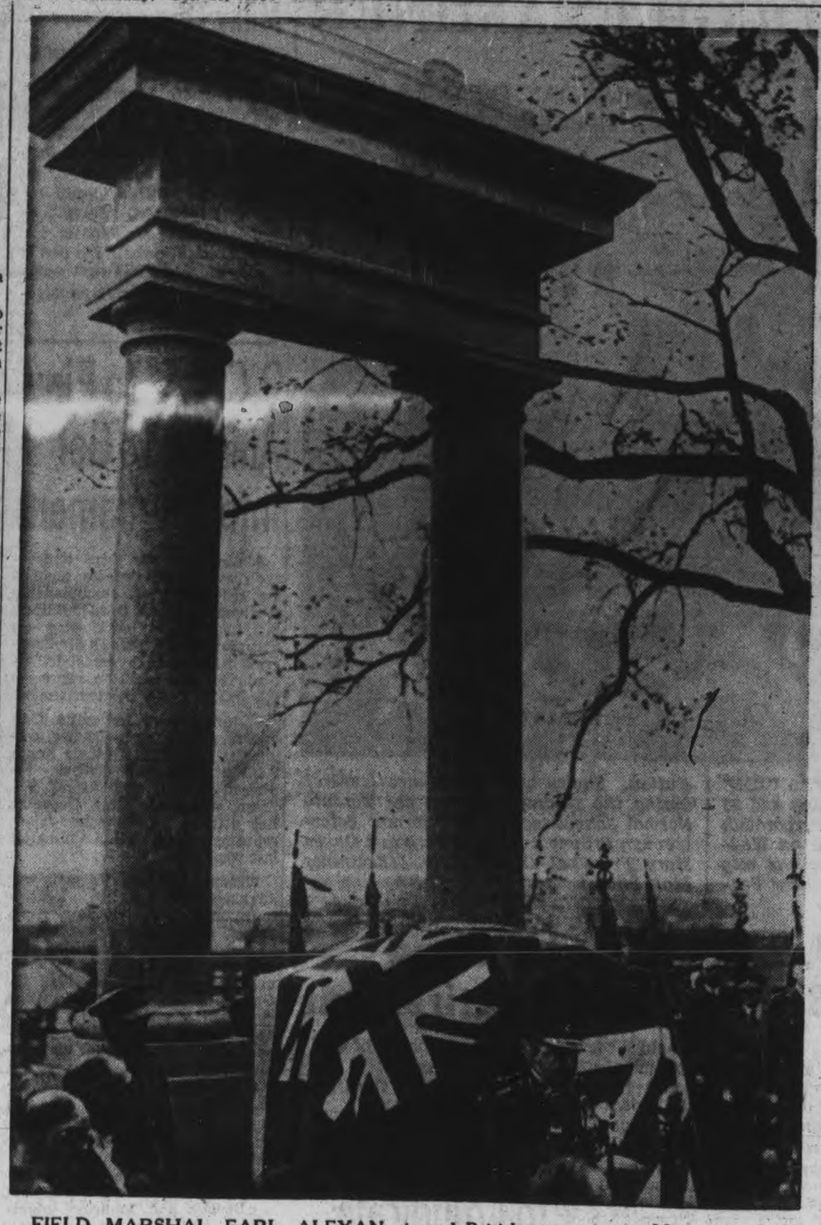
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Are you a perfect wife?

Chances are, you come closer to being a perfect mate than your husband. A psychologist says that the man is more often at fault in imperfect marriages.

The expert is Dr. Mason Rose who is advising on a film with the hopeful title of "Dream Wife." He remarked that dream wives are more common than dream husbands.

The trouble with many marriages Dr. Rose said, is that the men maintain an 18th century belief in the status of women.

"Most men don't want their wives to work," he said. "They feel that their children can't be properly reared by a working mother. But a high-energy type of woman shouldn't be limited to being a housewife."



The perfect mates, he commented, are those who view marriage as "a fellowship of wills." "Husband and wife must have equal rights and help each other," he said.

MARRIAGE QUIZ

Dr. Rose offered a test to determine whether you are a perfect wife. Here are the questions:

1. Are you troubled because your husband differs from you in beliefs and standards?
2. Do you feel there are serious disadvantages to being married?

Warns Liberals To Prepare For Election

PREECEVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said last night no one can be sure when the next federal general election may come but "we can be very sure that now is the time to begin preparing for it."

In a speech at a Liberal nominating convention in this little east-central Saskatchewan town, Mr. Garson stressed the importance of sound election organizational work.

"It is only lack of organization which will defeat us," he said. "for no government ever had a better record, a better case, than we have in the forthcoming election. If we lose, it will be because we have presented it badly."

The Minister said despite provincial leanings, the smaller parties, such as the C.C.F. and the Social Crediters, "are of little significance in the national picture." The Progressive Conservatives provided the only real Liberal opposition and "in many ways a vote against the government is a vote for the Progressive Conservative party, whether or not it is cast for a Progressive Conservative candidate."

Drive Herd Of Cattle 300 Miles To Market

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP) — Five weeks ago Floyd Phillips' outfit struck out for Quesnel with 150 head of white-face cattle, wild as deer and fat for market.

There's no way of keeping in touch with them, but they should be getting close to the end of what is believed to be the longest modern-day cattle drive in North America.

Oldtimers here estimate that Phillips and his cowpokes will arrive Sunday or Monday.

Behind them will be 300 miles of travel, through muskeg, over rocky terrain and across two ranges of mountains.

Phillips' ranch is in the Anahim country of British Columbia's vast interior. As the drive draws closer to Quesnel, other trail herds from the Nazko and Blackwater grazing lands will join it.

The enlarged drive will pour into the outskirts of this Cariboo rail town in time for the annual Quesnel cattle sale Oct. 21, where thousands of head will be up for auction this year.

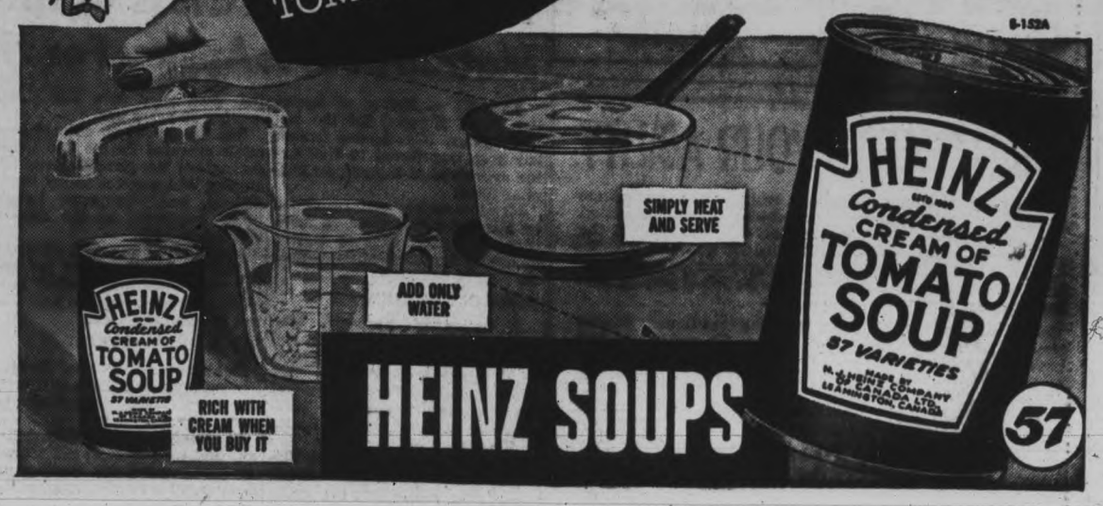
RESULT: real Cream of Tomato Soup

SAVE 1/2 PINT OF MILK every tin of HEINZ CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP



When you buy straight Tomato Soup and add an equal amount of milk to produce a soup that tastes something like Cream of Tomato Soup, you lose out on getting a rich creamy flavour and you also lose out on the cost—especially the way prices are today.

Why not buy Cream of Tomato Soup to start with, as made by Heinz. Then you can save on milk and get a better result by simply adding water. Instead of a milky tomato soup you will get the true creamy taste most people enjoy—for Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup is made with thick country cream.

Remember, too, that this soup is much more flavourful because only pedigreed tomatoes are [illegible] diluted with milk and Heinz Cream of Tomato soup with only water added. When you have tasted the wonderful difference you will want to stock up with Heinz and eat happily ever after.

Grain Elevators Closed In Union Row

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A dispute between two A.F.L. waterfront unions flared up yesterday, forcing 12 grain elevators to close and cutting off grain supplies from flour and feed mills.

About 400 elevator workers, members of local 1286, Grain Elevators, International Longshoremen's Association, began picketing the Harper feed mill, touching off the dispute anew.

The walk-out by the picketing elevator workers made 1,000 grain workers idle immediately. An additional 5,000 will be thrown out of work if the port's huge milling industry is forced to grind to a halt.

Buffalo is one of the largest milling centres in the world.

A spokesman for local 110, American Federation of Grain Millers, which has a collective bargaining agreement with the Harper firm, said the longshoreman's union picketing was illegal.

Owen J. Kavanagh, president of the longshoremen local, said the dispute involves jobs controlled by his union when the plant was operated by another firm.

Stevenson Heaps Ridicule On Ike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson said last night that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has rounded up a team of "isolationists and cut-throat reactionaries," quarterbacked by Republican Senator Robert Taft of Ohio.

Heaping ridicule and scorn on his Republican opposition, the Democratic presidential nominee swatted hard at a favorite target what he calls the "Old Guard" around Eisenhower, his rival for the White House.

He said the group is made up of "stubborn, obstinate men. . .who have had to be dragged, screaming and kicking, into the 20th century."

ON PARADE—Montreal saw its biggest military parade in post-war days during the weekend when the army showed a sample of its strength. Some of Canada's famous Van Doos are seen marching six abreast past the saluting stand at McGill's Roddick Gates.

South Africa Producer Of Uranium

By A. T. STEELE
(New York Herald Tribune News Service)

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—South Africa's first uranium plant went into production at the touch of a gold button by Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan.

Four hundred invited guests, including representatives of the United States government, witnessed the opening ceremony, which was held inside the new plant.

The plant is situated on the premises of the West Rand Consolidated gold mine near Krugersdorp, Transvaal, 25 miles west of Johannesburg. There uranium oxide is extracted chemically from the mine tailings after the removal of the gold.

Dedicating the new plant, Mr. Malan gave his hearers a clue to the impressive scale on which uranium will be produced in South Africa. He said the total investment in the uranium industry in this country will probably be about $112,000,000. He said that the gross revenue from uranium, when full production is attained, is not likely to be less than $84,000,000 annually.

13 GOLD MINES MARKED

To date, 13 gold mines in this region have been earmarked for uranium production. Others are yet to be chosen. Though the uranium program is the result of joint planning between the American, British and South African governments, it is no secret that the greater part of the initial outlay is being provided by the United States in the form of loans. These loans will be repaid by the mining companies concerned over a period of about ten years.

The United States will be the major buyer of the uranium oxide. Great Britain also is putting up some of the capital and will share in the purchases, though on a much smaller scale.

The gold mines of South Africa's famous Witwatersrand handle a total of 60,000,000 tons of ore annually, of which a fair percentage presumably contains uranium in workable quantities. Some of the mines in the newly developed Orange Free State gold fields also are exepcted to become uranium producers.

Man Killed In Crash

LISTOWEL (CP)—Allan W. Puffer, 31, Listowel, was killed in a car-truck collision north of Milverton yesterday. Returning from a business trip to Woodstock, Puffer's car crashed into a truck loaded with pigs and driven by C.M. Stevenson, Atwood.

TORONTO (CP)—Operators of the Royal Muskoka Hotel, destroyed by fire May 18, are suing 32 insurance companies for damages totalling $440,000 it was learned yesterday at Osgoode Hall. Some of the policies had been carried for as long as 35 years.

Plays Bridge With One Hand, Unable To See

MONTREAL (CP)—Lloyd A. McClintock plays a smart game of bridge using only one hand and with his eyes closed.

He lost his sight and his right hand in a dynamite explosion when he was a boy. He plays with a special Braille deck, "reading" the Braille marks with his thumb.

His game was good enough to place him among the top five in a Montreal service club's last bridge tournament.

Bridge is only one of McClintock's accomplishments.

TRAVELS WIDELY

He is supervisor of field services for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, a job which requires him to travel up to 40,000 miles a year.

He is also a lawyer, having completed his course at McGill University here. He does not practise but his knowledge of law has helped scores of sightless people who have consulted him.

McClintock is married and has a daughter.

He considers one of his main jobs the encouragement of a sense of humor in his blind companions. Typical of his approach to life is this story he used in an address recently:

"Some time ago I was holidaying with some very good friends in the country. My presence somewhat over-taxed the sleeping accommodations and their 17-year-old daughter had to sleep on a couch in the kitchen. While I was washing in the kitchen sink before retiring, the young girl, knowing I was blind, began to prepare for bed.

"Although I could not see, I was quite aware, from the sound of clot being dropped onachair, hes clothes being dropped on a chair, of what she was doing. So I turned around suddenly and let out a long, low whistle. I can assure you no one ever ran out of a room as quickly as she did."

Dr. John O. Wilson

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Dr. John Orr Wilson, whose death occurred suddenly at his residence, Bridge Street, on Sunday morning, was buried from the Hendren Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. W. H. Tonge officiated, and burial was in Lakefield Cemetery.

Although his residence in the village was of short duration, less than two years, Dr. Wilson made many friends, who sincerely regret his passing. Pallbearers were Carl Lewis of Stony Lake, Harold Garner, Norman Moffatt, and James Fraser of Peterborough, Dr. R. H. Campbell and Frank Coyle of Lakefield.

Finds Shorter Hours Not Attracting Workers

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The work week has reached the point where workers would rather have more money than shorter hours, Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, said yesterday.

He spoke at the official opening of a new foundry for McKinnon Industries Limited in Grantham township. He said agreements between his firm and its employees make it clear that the standard of living can be raised only by producing more.

Such agreements, he said, emphasize a normal work week and discard the theory that the men can be paid more for fewer hours and less work.

Old English Rose Has Faded Out

LONDON (CP)—It seems that even the traditional "old English rose" is not all it might be.

"This is one field in which amateur gardeners could really help the professionals," said botanist Ann P. Wylie at the International Horticultural Conference here.

Miss Wylie told the story of Empress Josephine who, when husband Napoleon went to the wars, sent French rose seeds to many parts of the world to try to achieve by cross-breeding, a lavender-blue rose.

Empress Josephine was disappointed, but today lavender-blue roses are growing in several parts of the world from descendants of those seeds. Miss Wylie is advocating some such pioneering spirit among today's amateur gardners.

Privy Council Will Rule On Interprovincial Trucking

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A new round in the federal-provincial fight for control of Canada's growing interprovincial and international road traffic is to be fought out in London next year.

The Privy Council is expected to settle the question of who has jurisdiction for this transport, either giving it to the provinces or clearing the way for the federal government to step in and assume an authority which it has always claimed but never exercised.

Before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council is an appeal by three provinces from a decision of the Supreme Court of Canada, which held that interprovincial and international highway traffic comes under federal law. The Canadian decision was given almost a year ago.

PROVINCES APPEAL

Last July, the Privy Council gave the governments of Ontario, Alberta and Prince Edward Island leave to appeal, and officials here say the case will be heard some time in 1953, possibly late in the year.

Its outcome likely will have a bearing on whether the federal government moves in on the truck and bus business. The Royal Commission on Transportation last year recommended that this be done, but the government has not moved to implement that recommendation pending the outcome of the court case.

The government is believed to lean towards the idea of taking over the trans-border highway traffic, but because the issue likely will not be cleared up in the courts for another year, it is not expected that any legislation will be brought in at the session of Parliament opening Nov. 20.

Federal entry into the highway field might involve a big reorganization of the Board of Transport Commissioners, which now regulates the railways, pipelines, some inland shipping and telephone service in three provinces. The Royal Commission recommended that the board be broadened to take in highway transport, air transport and the functions of the Canadian Maritime Commission.

There is some doubt here that the government contemplates going that far, but highway matters almost certainly would be placed under the Transport Board if the government got into that field.

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

A factor lending additional importance to the case at this time is the progress towards completion of the Trans-Canada Highway, expected to give a big stimulus to interprovincial highway operations.

The federal government has claimed all along that the interprovincial-international field is its territory. However, the question came to a head only in 1951 when Mackenzie Coach Lines of Lewiston, Me., challenged the right of the New Brunswick Motor Carrier Board to regulate its N.B. operations on its route between Boston and Glace Bay, N.S.

The governments of Prince Edward Island, Ontario, Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia lined up with the N.B. government before the Supreme Court. Against them were the federal government, the Canadian National Railways—which later took over operation of the Canadian section of the bus line—and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Before the Privy Council, the federal government and the C.N.R. are expected to be the main opponents of the three appealing provinces.

Four Eskimos Lost

HALIFAX (CP)—Search for a party of four Eskimos reported missing in the remote waters of North Labrador has been called off and the Eskimos given up for lost, R.C.A.F. officials said last night. The four left the settlement of Frobisher Oct. 7 for the 40-mile boat trip to Kojessoe Inlet on the rugged southeastern extremity of Baffin Island.

Double Amputee War Veteran MP Inspiration To Everyone

ST. STEPHEN, N. B. (CP)—"He's an inspiration to everyone who meets him."

That's how a friend and admirer describes Lorne B. Groom, double amputee war veteran and recently elected member of the New Brunswick Legislature.

He lost both legs above the knee as a result of wounds while fighting in the Second World War Back in Canada, doctors told him he could never use artificial legs.

That wasn't enough to keep Groom down. Now he walks on artificial legs, using two canes; drives a car, conducts his own business. He is married and has three children.

The 33-year-old legislator did his Charlotte county campaigning by car and covered as much territory as any other candidate. His car has an automatic shift. Its only special equipment is a hand-lever control for braking.

Groom and his three running mates put Charlotte into the Progressive Conservative column when his party defeated the Liberal government Sept. 22. He led the poll.

His wounds, suffered while serving as a lieutenant with New Brunswick's Carleton and York regiment in Italy, made him a 100-per-cent pensioner. He entered Christie Street military hospital in Toronto and took an optometrical ccurse from the University of Toronto.

Valedictorian of the 1948 graduating class at U. of T., Groom returned to his native St. Stephen as an optometrist and has been successful in this profession. He married Lucille Lindsay, Montreal.

Norman Buchanan, another successful candidate who campaigned with Groom, put it this way:

"He doesn't feel he lost a thing. His outlook is that he came back with more than when he went away."

Says Logan Sought Liquor

PEMBROKE (CP) — Telesphore Latour, 19, testified yesterday that Delbert Logan, 25, was looking for "liquor and women" at Deux Rivieres the night Logan was fatally shot.

Latour was a witness on the opening day of the trial of 37-year-old Herman Paquin on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the shooting at his home in the early hours of Aug. 19 last.

Latour said that he, Logan and his brother, Paul Latour, were drinking beer the night of Aug. 18 celebrating his brother's return from Korea.

He said they drove to a house near Deux Rivieres, about 80 miles northwest of here, and banged on the door, asking for liquor and women. He said they were refused.

Latour said Logan then began smashing a window with a chair. He heard glass breaking and then six or eight shots. The three got into their car and drove to Deux Rivieres, where Logan died in the courtyard of a hotel.

A grand jury earlier turned down an indictment charging Paquin with murder, but returned a true bill on the manslaughter charge.

The trial is continuing.

Report Forest Fire Now Under Control

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP) — A forest fire which threatened the water supply of this Vancouver Island city of 14,000 was reported under control Tuesday night by R.C.M.P. officers.

They said firefighters, aided by a change in the wind, controlled the blaze on the lower slopes of Extension mountain after it had advanced to within less than 500 feet Nanaimo's water supply.

Earlier, civil defence headquarters said it was prepared to evacuate the nearby village of Extension if the fire became worse. It covered an estimated 1,000 acres.

Small Vote

SHELBURNE, N.S. (CP)—Only 30 of more than 500 ratepayers voted at a meeting on the proposed borrowing of $7,500 for street repair work. The vote was 19 to 11 in favor.

Letter 35 Centuries Old Discovered At Enkomi

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A clearer look into the ancient history of Egypt and Cyprus is expected to be provided by a royal letter 35 centuries old found recently in excavations at Enkomi, museum officials said today.

They believe the letter, inscribed on a baked clay tablet, is from a pharoah of Egypt, probably the great Tuthmosis III, to his subject, a king of Cyprus, and dates from about 1450 B.C.

STILL IS MYSTERY

But what the letter says still is a mystery that archaeologists hope to solve. It was found by a Cypriot party making preliminary excavations at the site of the capital of the second Millenium Kingdom of Alashiya.

When the French digging party resumes its Alashiya project next month it expects to come across an entire library of such tablets. Then a key to the script of linear figures may be discovered as well.

It is a matter of record that Tuthmosis wrote to Cypriot kings. Their letters to him and to his successors have been found in Egypt.

Tuthmosis came to the throne about 1468 B.C. and promptly fought 15 battles or so to regain the empire that had dwindled away during the 22-year rule of his stepmother.

SEEKING ANSWERS

Prof. Claude Schaeffer, archaeologist who leads the French expedition, said his group has always assumed the answers to the letters found in Egypt would be turned up at Enkomi.

For five years, the team has been digging at the location. Step by step various buildings, temples and fortifications of the ancient capital have been laid bare, but until now there was no sign of the most important historical evidence of all—inscriptions.-

1952 Banner Tourist Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prince Edward Island ferries this year were unable to cope with the great influx of tourists who wanted to see the Maritime province which boasts "the best beaches and warmest salt water north of Florida."

The situation there was just one indication of the growth of Canada's tourist industry. Most parts of Canada reported a healthy upward jump during the first eight months of 1952.

A Canadian Press survey shows Canadians flocked to resort areas despite slightly higher prices for meals and accommodation. United States visitors were not deterred by official discounts on their currency of close to five per cent.

TWO-WAY INCREASE

Last year American tourists alone spent $255,000,000 in Canada and the total for 1952 will be from five to 10 per cent higher. The increase in the number of visitors is expected to be in approximately the same proportion.

Ontario, which last year garnered close to 50 per cent of the country's tourist revenue, this year reports about 3,500,000 persons entered the province up to the end of August on a tourist—more than 48-hour—basis. This represents an increase of 4½ per cent and officials hope for a sixth straight record year.

Quebec's biggest tourist centres, Montreal and Quebec, each reported a bigger volume of traffic.

FREE SPENDERS

Tourists in Quebec seem to spend the most money—an average of $15 a day. Montreal is next with a $10-$12 average and Vancouver reports a $10 average. The visitor to Ontario stays an average of six days and spends less than $10 a day.

United States tourists entering British Columbia this year numbered 683,878, an increase of seven per cent over last year. Alberta's national parks were the main attraction for 865,065 tourists compared with 735,787 in 1951.

Visitors to Saskatchewan totalled 170,000 including 70,000 Americans, an over-all increase of 30 per cent over last year. They spent an estimated $6,000,000 compared with $4,000,000 in 1951.

Manitoba reports a bigger-than-ever influx into the north for fishing, camping and the fall goose shoot. Visitors to the Whiteshell Forest Reserve have tripled since 1949.

Increases were general in the Maritime Provinces although figures are unavailable for Newfoundland. Nova Scotia resort operators voted the season "one of the best yet."

Leading Ladies Steal Show On Broadway

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—The ladies have the advantage as usual, especially now on Broadway.

An overflowing cornucopia of new shows is promising first night audiences a wealth of intriguing theatrical ideas. Some are new plays and some are showmanship spectacles.

But all of them present some of their most alluring aspects in the ladies who have the leading roles.

Shirley Booth, Uta Hagen, Katharine Hepburn and Elaine Malbin are some of the women leading this big parade.

COMICAL OUTLOOK

Miss Hagen has a comical outlook on the world in her new play.

As Hannah King, an American movie star, in "In Any Language," she flees to Rome to make a picture, and gets herself involved there with a romantic Italian director and her former husband.

Another young lady of the theatre, Shirley Booth is the type of actress who can be a fresh young daisy in one scene and a battered old bat in the next.

In "The Time Of The Cuckoo," the unorthodox Miss Booth is a tourist in romantic Venice, an eager, but hesitant and wistful creature who thinks that she tumbles upon romance along the Grand Canal.

The arrival on Broadway Friday Oct. 17, of Katharine Hepburn in the Theatre Guild production of Bernard Shaw's "The Millionaires," is a startling event in several ways.

It brings in Miss Hepburn in a previously obscure Shaw play in which she has already made an outstanding hit in London.

This production played for 13½ weeks in London with every seat sold for the entire engagement before the opening performance. The New York engagement is scheduled for a limited run of 10 weeks.

MUSICAL COMEDY

In the musical field, Broadway first-nighters will see a young leading woman, Elaine Malbin, who already has established herself in concert-opera.

Miss Malbin, a stately young brunette, will sing the title role of "My Darlin' Aida" when it has its premiere Oct. 27 at the Winter Garden on Broadway. This is a musical show version of the opera, "Aida," in which adaptor Charles Friedman has changed the scene of Verdi's classic from Memphis, Egypt to Memphis, Tenn.-

French Writer Says Joan Of Arc Never Burned At Stake; Authorities Upset

By RUSSEL HOWE

PARIS (Reuters)—A French historian has published a long, learned thesis to prove that Joan of Arc never was burned at the stake and that the English burned a masked "witch" in her place.

Joan lived on and was married five years after her "execution," historian Jean Grimod states.

His thesis, which has created a furore in the French religious world, asserts further that Joan was not born at the national shrine of Doremy, and that she was not called d'Arc.

She was, according to Grimod, the illegitimate daughter of the Duke of Orleans, brother of King Charles VI of France and Isabel of Bavaria.

Saint Joan—she was canonized in 1920—is one of the most revered of French saints. Wreaths are heaped around her statue in Paris on her festival day, May 30.

Father Doncoeur, Jesuit expert on St. Joan, speaking to reporters on Grimod's thesis—entitled "Joan of Arc Burned,"—termed it "a terrible scandal."

Lucien Fabre, author of one of the best-known Lives of Joan of Arc, said the thesis was "attractive," but not strictly provable.

HEARD VOICES

Most historians give the date of Joan's birth as Jan. 15, 1412, and the place as Domremy, hamlet on the border of Champagne and Lorraine.

They agree that in 1428 Joan, saying she was prompted by voices, persuaded the local commander to let her go to the Dauphin, Charles VII, at Chinon in Touraine. At that time, the British and their Burgundian allies were in possession of all the northern provinces of France except Brittany, and were besieging Orleans.

She demanded a troop of soldiers to relieve the beleaugered city and, fighting with them, drove the British away in 1429. Later, she led the Dauphin to be crowned at Rheims. A year later, Joan was tried on charges of heresy and witchcraft by a court of ecclesiastics.

The generally-accepted version is that she was burned at the stake by the English in the market place of Rouen on May 30, 1431, when she was 19 years old.

BURNED MASKED WITCH

Grimod points to the constant questions of the court concerning Joan's origins and sets out to prove that the English knew of them. Therefore, to avoid burning someone of royal birth, they burned a masked "witch" in her place, he says.

She thus was spared the legendary execution which "is not mentioned in any religious, official or judicial records," the thesis states.

The historian says Joan's coat of arms was that of the French royal family, but bearing the brisure (mark) of bastardy.

Grimod says Joan was married in Luxembourg in 1436, five years after her "execution," and may have spent the intervening years in exile in England.

He says her marriage certificate, signed by the Dean of Metz, is still in existence and adds that evidence exists of a visit by Joan to Orleans in 1439, when she was given 210 gold pounds by the municipality "for help to the town during the siege by the English."

A similar gift, he declares, is on the records of the city of Tours.

Joan's existence, the thesis concludes, is traceable up to 1443—12 years after her "execution."-

Empire Theatre Begins Its Last Run

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—What is destined to be the "last run" for another historic Broadway playhouse started last night with the premiere at the Empire Theatre of an exciting new play, "The Time of the Cuckoo."

This comedy by Arthur Laurents has a blithe, tearful and comic Shirley Booth playing her heart out in the last starring role which will appear on that stage.

And, judging by the cheers of the first-night audience, there will be no knocking down of the historic brick walls of the Empire for months.

The performances and this last play are entirely in the tradition of this historic stage where once appeared Maude Adams, Sarah Bernhardt, Katharine Cornell, Judith Anderson, Ethel Waters, John Drew, Helen Hayes and practically all of the Barrymores.

"The Time of the Cuckoo" tells the story of an American girl, Leona, who has saved her money and is taking a trip to Italy to find romance.

Lake Vanishes

WESTVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The bottom has dropped out of the Westville Sportsmen's Club's fishing plans — their lake is gone. The 28-acre artificial lake, built at a cost of $45,000, trickled away in the last few days into an abandoned coal mine.

SINK TOO — Bombers from the carrier Princeton, stationed in Korean waters, have been pasting North Korean targets with everything but the kitchen sink, and Navy Lt. Carl B. Lieutenant Austin is shown aboard the carrier, as he readies 1,000 pounds of "drain cleaner" for Pyongyang, North Korea's capital city.

Brig. W. L. Coke To Retire From Service

OTTAWA (CP) — Brig. W.L. Coke, 47, director-general of Army Medical Services for five years, will retire Nov. 16 after 29 years' service, Defence Minister Claxton announced today.

Brig. Coke will accept another post in the public service to be announced later.

His successor will be Col. K.A. Hunter, 48, formerly of London, Ont., now serving as deputy to Brig. Coke. He will be promoted to the rank of brigadier.

Brig. Coke, who comes from Watford, Ont., joined the permanent force in 1929 after training in the University Officer Training Corps. Early in the Second World War he went overseas with the 10th Field Ambulance and in 1942 took the 24th Field Ambulance to Italy. In 1944 he was appointed assistant director of medical services with the 1st Division.

Following the war he was medical officer of the Quebec Command until his appointment as director-general.

HELD FIELD POST

Col. Hunter joined the Army Medical Corps in 1930. He went overseas in 1940 as principal medical officer of the R.C.A.F. in London and later held a series of field posts with army formations in Sicily, Italy and northwest Europe.

He was mentioned in dispatches for services during the assault on Dieppe.

Following the war he was assistant director of medical services for occupation forces and later became medical officer for Central Army Command at Oakville, Ont. He took his present post in June, 1951, and is a graduate of the National Defence College at Kingston.

Loses Left Leg

DEADHAM, Mass. (AP) — A 10-year-old girl's left leg was severed above the knee last night when a cap on a 10-inch natural gas line exploded. Florentine Fleming was standing about 45 feet from the cap, being tested with 60 pounds of compressed air, when it exploded. The girl's leg was carried 90 feet from her body.

British Columbia Railway's Modern Observation Car

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer...

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—The Pacific Great Eastern railway doesn't claim to run the fastest or most luxurious rail service in the world. Its timetable merely makes the modest claim: "The railway with a personality."

This is pretty accurate. So is the boast: "347 miles of superb scenic beauty."

The P.G.E. starts from Squamish 33 miles northwest of Vancouver, and snakes through canyons and along lakeshores and riverbanks under the hulking shoulders of mountains to Quesnel in the Cariboo.

82-MILE EXTENSION

Started in 1912, the P.G.E. will have its biggest moment in nearly four decades early next month when the 82-mile link will be completed northward from Quesnel to Prince George. At Prince George, the P.G.E. will connect with Canadian National Railways' trans-continental line.

As owner of the railway, the B.C. government is laying on appropriate ceremonies for the occasion. Next year, the Legislature will be asked to approve a $10,000,000 appropriation to complete the P.G.E. from Squamish to Vancouver.

The P.G.E. takes 20 hours—more or less, usually more—to cover the 347 miles from Squamish to Quesnel.

On a recent trip, a new passenger pointed to the timetable and mentioned to the conductor that the train was 50 minutes late.

"Oh, we don't pay too much attention to that," the conductor replied genially.

VERSATILE CREW

When you mount the sleeping car at Squamish, a pleasant man in a white jacket helps you with your baggage. The next time you see him, he has a sleeping car conductor's cap and uniform on and is taking tickets. Next, he is back in his white jacket making up the berths.

"We don't waste any manpower on this line," said one employee. "Wouldn't it be silly to have a whole sleeping car conductor to handle just one car?"

The P.G.E. has 33 flat stops besides its 20 regular stops. But it may stop anywhere along the line to accommodate a lonely settler or to wait for a moose to get out of the way.

From June to September, the P.G.E. pulls an observation car at the rear. This is a flat car with wooden seats and a stout railing, open to the weather. As the P.G.E. now is almost wholly equipped with diesels, there is no smoke to bother the tourist as he cranes to peer down at the torrents rushing through the chasms far below or up at the snow-covered mountain peaks.

SLOW BUT SURE

Though the natives complain now and then about the service—four trains north, four south a week—the thousands of tourists seem to enjoy every minute of the leisurely trip. The P.G.E. probably seems slow to constant travellers because it has to negotiate such rugged country. It is proud of its safety record.

In the off-season, the P.G.E. puts on an ancient dining car which comprises kitchen, a counter and a row of stools. Three men can Quesnel—pronounced Kwe-nell—is growing rapidly and will probably grow faster when the P.G.E. is operating to Prince George.

Quesnel is mainly a logging centre. A sign on the front door of the Cariboo Hotel says: "No caulk boots allowed in this lobby."

Situated at the fork of the Fraser and Quesnel Rivers, it is an old-time trading post. Some of the old buildings are still in use, including one shared by the local of the International Woodworkers of America (C.C.L.) and a florist.

To many adults, the movie theatre here is probably the most modern in Canada. It proclaims: "No popcorn allowed in this theatre."

Doctor Declares TV Dangerous

LONDON (AP)—A suburban London doctor attacked television today as a "potent spreader of Tuberculosis."

In his annual district health report, West Bromwich doctor Clifford Cole said bad effects of TV might outweigh the advantage gained from drugs in the fight against pulmonary TB.

The trouble, Cole explained, is that people staying at home from work because of illness may get up to watch TV in the evening.

With people sitting in a confined space the risk of tubercular infection is great," he said.

Cole also objected to television on the ground that it encourages physical idleness and takes young people out of the fresh air where they should properly be after a day's work in factory or office.

Toll Roads Spread In U.S.

New York Herald Tribune News Service

NEW YORK — Toll roads are taking hold. Toll express highways now being constructed or planned for the near future will stretch out more than 3,000 miles and will cost more than $2,600,000,000 to build.

The gleaming strips of concrete planned in New York, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee, Ohio, Colorado and Oklahoma pay tribute to the tremendous financial success enjoyed by the Pennsylvania and New Jersey pikes.

And, while these roads apparently fulfil the dream of both the motorist and the automobile industry, in that they recognize high performance being built into cars and trucks, the toll road has come in for some sharp criticism by many groups in the nation.

It is apparent to many in the highway field and many of the public that toll roads provide the answer to how to get money for building roads and, once built, where to get money to maintain them at peak efficiency. The Pennsylvania Turnpike, first of the modern express roads, certainly indicates that toll funds have been spent to good advantage, from the point of view of the motorist.

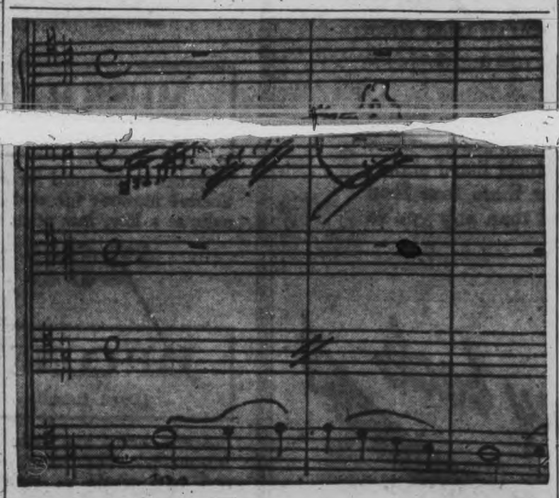
ARGUMENT CONTINUES

Yet arguments continue to appear that the toll road defies a concept that travel between states should be free and non-taxed. Toll roads, say critics, also represent double taxation, a situation long fought by stockholders of companies who argue they should not pay taxes on stock dividends since the company already has paid taxes.

The similarity, it is said, lies in the fact that car owners and truckers pay gasoline taxes and registration fees, and that such money should be used for highway construction and maintenance. Use of these funds, so the argument goes, would result in express highways, but free roads, not tolls.

The argument against toll roads goes something like this: Toll roads interfere with the orderly development of free highways. They also pose an immediate threat to the improvement of existing parallel free roads, which carry the bulk of the traffic.

The argument continues that toll roads cost more to finance and operate than comparable free roads.



The big advantage of the toll expressway, contend its advocates, is that a toll road presents a feasible solution to the problem of raising money for highway building. This, of course, doesn't mean that highways are financed by tolls, but rather that bond issues, sold by the state to raise highway funds, are paid off by toll receipts.

SOME AVOID PIKES

There is one single fact that stands out in favor of the toll road. In eleven years of operation the Pennsylvania Turnpike has collected about $53,000,000 in tolls from 31,000,000 vehicles.

Truck fleets often shun turnpikes, or tollpikes as they're sometimes called, because they feel this adds to the cost of haulage. Yet a trucker will use a pike in hilly country because he finds fuel savings resulting from well-graded roads more than offset the toll charge.

The issuing of toll vs. no-toll seems destined for a long life. Apparently, as even critics of toll roads admit, the toll expressway has established itself as a key to transportation. The issue to be decided, then, is how much toll, and where free roads fit in. Money for the construction is the problem, and this seems a puzzle not likely to be solved by any short-term arguments.

MUSICAL WHODUNIT—Students of music who have been examining the precious manuscript of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, which is on display in New York, are intrigued by the little sketch, above, which appears on the score. Corrections, and an inscription in Beethoven's own hand appear on the manuscript, which the great composer dedicated to the Royal Philharmonic Society in London, for whom he composed the work in 1824. However, it is not known whether Beethoven, his copyist, or some 19th Century wag with be-hop tendencies made the sketch. Officials of the British Museum believe that the drawing is at least a century old.

Jailed For Sabotage

REGENSBURG, Germany (Reuters)—A U.S. court yesterday sentenced Hermann Kohlbeck, 18, to four years' imprisonment for attempted sabotage. The court found him guilty of having tried to fill with cement an anti-invasion demolition chamber built by the U.S. army in a bridge here. The chamber was designed to hold an explosive charge in case of war.

AN E. B. EDDY PRODUCT

Marmalade, Pudding Preparations

FRUIT SHERBET

One and one-half bananas mashed, 1½ cups granulated sugar, juice of one and one-half lemons and three oranges, 1½ cups milk, generous shake of salt. Mix in order given and freeze with cold control very high. Chopped cherries, candied or maraschino, and nuts may be added to make this a party dessert that had the added advantage of being better when prepared a day ahead.

❖ ❖ ❖

OCTOBER PEACH PUDDING

(This is delicious the first time served, also good cold or steamed to warm over:)

Nine large peaches, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1-3 cup orange juice, 2¼ cups sifted pastry flour, 4½ teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons cold shortening, 6 tablespoons brown sugar, 1-3 cup pecans or walnuts, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 or 2 eggs, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Slice peaches into large shallow buttered baking dish. Mix the first quantity of sugar and spices together and sprinkle over the peaches, and sprinkle the orange juice over this

Make the batter by creaming the shortening with the sugar, then beating in the egg or eggs, and sifting over them the sifted dry ingredients and stirring them in with the milk and vanilla.

Drop batter over peaches in small spoonfuls and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes.

❖ ❖ ❖

STEAMED MARMALADE PUDDING

This turns out light and fluffy but does a strange thing in the process—you put it on to steam looking pale and light looking. It comes out dark brown. It must be the action of the soda on the marmalade. Please note that if you do not have a steamer this may be steamed in the buttered top of your double boiler over the bottom of the double boiler, but lid must be left on for the full hour.

Cream together 3 tablespoons butter and 6 tablespoons sugar, then beat in 2 eggs for 5 minutes. Sift over it 2 tablespoons soda, ¾ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, and stir this in, then add 3 tablespoons hot water and ¼ to 1-3 cup marmalade. Delicious with cream or spice sauce, hot or cold. You may use a rather moist jam instead of marmalade if you wish.

Home and School Association News

MARMORA

MARMORA (ENS). — October meeting of Marmora Home and School Association took place in Marmora Public School Wednesday evening. Mrs. D. P. Marett, vice-president, was in the chair.

The treasurer's report presented by Mrs. M. Kouri showed finances in good standing. In the absence of Principal E. C. Prentice, the attendance of parents and grandparents was taken by S. Trombley of the school staff. Honors went to Miss H. Taft's room. Mrs. E. Manchester gave a sketch of the proposed Christmas concert for the school to be held shortly before the Christmas vacation in the Town Hall. She next introduced the guest speaker, Miss Margaret Green, visiting teacher of Peterborough city schools. In an informal address, Miss Green touched upon the opportunity class that is conduucted by her for those whose education has been retarded through various causes. She pointed out the great value to the child's schooling when parents consent to be familiarized with the particular problem their child presents and co-operate with the teacher in the home to create a suitable atmosphere for the child.

She explained group tests as given to Grades 4, 5 and 6, and showed the necessity of acceleration of top pupils so that when they finish their lessons ahead of their classmates, they do not idle away the time at their disposal. She closed her address by stressing the importance of good training of the child in pre-school years.

A humorous reading, "The Tale of Ten Turkeys," in which the audience had to give various sound effects, was given by Mrs. James Heath of the school staff.

"Invictae" Circle Achieves Success At First Bazaar

The first large scale social event attempted by the "Invictae" Mission Circle of George St. United Church was a bazaar and coffee party on Wednesday evening and it has ended with most gratifying financial results.

Bazaar tables were set up in the primary room of the Sunday School and this part of the affair was under convenership of Miss Shirley Starke to whom much of the success is due. There was home baking, novelties, infants' wear and goods, and kitchen accessories for sale and Miss Starke herself attended a "mystery table" where parcels wrapped to conceal their contents could be purchased for 25 cents.

Windows and tables in the bazaar room were draped with bronze, primrose and amber streamers and decorated with bittersweet and cedar. Attractive description posters, done in verses to advertise each table, were the work of Circle members.

The coffee party was in the board room where Mrs. Howard Morrow was hostess. The table had an effective centrepiece arranged with yellow and bronze 'mums, slim cat-tail, sprigs of wheat and carnations, and was laid with a beautiful lace cloth. Silver candleabra at either end of the table held yellow candles, and orange tapers were set at each side of the bouquet. The coffee pourers were Mrs. E. W. Rowland and Miss J. Schaffer.

Receiving with the circle president Mrs. Lloyd Starke were the two ladies who have sponsored this group, Mrs. Charles Allen and Mrs. Jack Beatty. At the treasurer's table were Miss Ruth Lewars and Mrs. F. Grant.

Convener of the refreshment committee was Miss Margaret Duncan and those assisting her to serve were Mrs. Ken Reid, Miss Alma Tucker, Miss Marjory Brown, Mrs. George Murray, Miss Marion Brown, Mrs. Jack Reid and Miss Marlene McDonald.

Attending the table of home baking were Mrs. Douglas Harris and Mrs. Arthur Wells. The novelties were sold by Miss Velma Powers and Miss Esther MacLaggan, infants' wear by Mrs. Wesley Heath and Miss Bernice Davidson, and the kitchen accessories by Miss Doreen Samis.

WMS Groups Meet To Hear Mrs. J. A. Steed

St. James W. M. S. was hostess to missionary groups from George St., St. Andrew's, Trinity and Grace United Churches on Tuesday afternoon in Wesley Hall when a very interesting address was given by Mrs. J. A. Steed of Lakefield, a former missionary of Angola.

Mrs. Steed made use of charts prepared by her son, Dr. Arthur Steed, who is engaged in teaching better methods of cultivation in Angola. This chart pictured the various types of schools, and showed the contrast in the manner of living before and after Christianity was accepted. Under the topic "A day in a missionary's life" the speaker recalled many duties she was called upon to do during one day.

After extending a warm welcome to the guests, Mrs. G. Hewitt gave the call to worship and called upon Mrs. E. H. Brown of George St. to conduct the worship service. Mrs. R. Reynolds assisted by giving the scripture reading.

Musical numbers were much enjoyed. Solos were rendered by Mrs. H. Cotton of St. Andrew's and Mrs. Allan Parker of Trinity. Mrs. H. Corner and Mrs. J. Dutton of Grace United sang a duet. Accompaniments were played by Mrs. H. Doig.

The offering was dedicated by Miss M. Collins.

Mrs. L. Bird thanked Mrs. Steed and those who had contributed to the program.

Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. H. McCormack. Light refreshments were served by a committee of ladies with Mrs. McCormack as convener.

Mr. J. Weir introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Louis Zacks. Dr. Zacks had chosen as his subject "Cancer," emphasizing the need for the public to face the problem of this disease as fully as they have that of polio. He spoke of the part played in publicity work, research, welfare treatment by the three organizations: The Canadian Cancer Society, The National Cancer Institute of Canada, The Provincial Cancer Organization.

Dr. Zacks then dealt with the disease itself, describing its habits and answering some of the questions commonly asked about it. Throughout his talk Dr. Zacks emphasized the high percentage of cures resulting from early diagnosis — as high as 95 per cent in skin cancer and 80 per cent in certain other forms.

A film on the subject "Time is Life," was then shown.

Mrs. J. O. Holt moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

An executive meeting is to be held on October 27th at the home of Mrs. Nels Foster.

Lunch was served by Mrs. G. Rutherford assisted by Mrs. L. Latchford, Mrs. Mortimer, Mrs. J. Simmons, Mrs. J. Anderson and Mrs. Ray Johnston.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD J. SCANLON, the bride formerly Miss Patricia Brady, were married in Marmora on Saturday.—(R. G. Brook Photo)

Scanlon-Brady Vows Taken

Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, beautifully decorated with autumn flowers, giant gladiolis adorning the altar and baby 'mums in the sanctuary, was the setting for a wedding Saturday when Patricia Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brady, Marmora, became the bride of Richard Joseph Scanlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Scanlon, of Toronto.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. J. A. O'Neil, parish priest. The Rev. G. Scanlon was present in the sanctuary.

Wedding music was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Hugh Brady. The soloist, Mr. Harold Wilson, Toronto, sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother", "Panis Anelicus", "O Sanctissima" and Mrs. Hugh Brady sang, "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling" while the bride and groom knelt before the statue of The Blessed Mother and placed there a duplicate of the bride's bouquet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over satin, her veil of nylon tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of white satin and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums and Scotch heather.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Francis Clarke, wore a gown of Kelly green nylon velvet with matching headdress and mittens. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow 'mums. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Lois Daly and Miss Anne Robinson, wore gowns of toast nylon tulle over apricot taffeta with matching caps and mittens and carried cascade bouquets of bronze toned chrysanthemums. Flower girls, Misses Mary Louise Brady and Rosemary Brady, nieces of the bride, were charmingly gowned in apple green Kate Greenway styled velveteen with matching headdresses and carried nosegays of yellow and white baby mums.

Mr. Bernard Scanlon, brother of the groom, was groomsman and the ushers were James Daly and Edward Allen.

The wedding breakfast was served in the parish hall. The bride's mother received in midnight blue crepe with coral accessories and blue feather hat. She wore a corsage of Sweetheart roses. The groom's mother assisted, wearing irridescent green taffeta with brown accessories and a corsage of Ophelia roses.

For travelling the bride chose a rust and black ensemble with a gardenia corsage.

Guests were present from Toronto, Peterborough, Brantford, Leaside, Thornhill, Campbellford, Weston, Belleville and Long Beach, California.

Resolutions To Do With Immigrants

REGINA (CP)—Resolutions on the spiritual care of immigrants to Canada and on parental rights in education were adopted yesterday by the 32nd annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada.

The resolution on immigration urged C.W.L. members to "offer the hand of Christian fellowship to new Canadians." Bishop John C. Cody of London, Ont., said the resolution was "carrying out the mandate of the bishops of the whole country."

The resolution on parental rights in the field of education emphasized the work that individual members could do in parent-teacher organizations and urged that a clear-cut definition of parental rights be incorporated into the British North America Act.

Bishop Cody urged more Catholic women to take an active part in public affairs.

Several resolutions pertaining to spiritual activities also were adopted.

A resolution urging the federal government to pay family allowances to immigrant families after three months of residence in the country was among those adopted. The present regulations call for 12 months residence.

Chapter News

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

Mrs. R. Matthews, regent, presided at the meeting of Jeanette Scott Chapter, I.O.D.E., held Tuesday evening in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room.

Once again it was decided to send cod liver oil to the Chapter's adopted schol at Rose Island, Ontario. Members were asked to bring in good used story or educational books suitable for ages six to 13, to be sent to the children of this school.

The Chapter is also giving assistance to a University student through the "Student Aid Fund."

Each member was requested to donate one article of warm used clothing toward the drive for Britain. Food shipments will no longer be packed locally but arrangements have been made with an English organization to pack food parcels in England for the chapters. This has been done because of the high postal rates on the overseas food parcels.

Mrs. G. Harrison reported the success of the rummage sale held recently in the Market Hall. A report was given by Mrs. R. Maybee on the annual spring fashion show which is to be held in the Collegiate auditorium March 11 and 12, 1953. Plans were made for the Chapter's annual party to be held after Christmas.

Following the meeting Mrs. E. Spurway showed excellent slides taken on her trip to England and the Continent this past summer.

Next month Miss Mary Medd will report on her attendance as delegate to the semi-annual convention in Kitchener, being held October 24 and 25, and she will also give a talk on her recent trip to England.

Of Canada's population of 15 years or older in 1951, more than 64 per cent were married.

Central H&S Assoc Has Successful Autumn Tea

Refreshing, minty creme de menthe was the color keynote of the autumn tea held Wednesday afternoon by the Central Home and School Association. It was the shade of the lace tablecloth on the tea table which centred the kindergarten room and of the tall tapers in candelabra flanking the centre bouquet of lovely bronze 'mums. And taking a wide-eyed view of the whole scene was a farmer boy doll leaning against the flowers.

This unusual table decoration was the work of Mrs. J. Callaghan and she was assisted with this and in decorating the room by Mrs. Wally Davidson.

General convener of the tea was Mrs. W. Guppy and it was considered a good success with more than 150 guests being entertained. They were received at the door by the Association president, Mrs. E. L. Horning and by the wife of the school principal, Mrs. D. T. Crawford. Mrs. J. Armstrong took the tickets.

Tea pourers were Mrs. L. Bird, Mrs. M. Munro, Mrs. R. A. Fitchett and Mrs. W. J. Scott, and the tea tea room attendants were Mrs. L. Raper, Mrs. W. G. Gunn, Mrs. W. Miller, Mrs. D. Craig, Mrs. C. Endicott, Mrs. G. Willamett, Mrs. V. Webber, Mrs. W. E. Kibblewhite, Miss Shirley Palmer, Miss E Dix and Miss L. Esplen.

A background of soft music during the tea hours was provided by Mrs. E. Munro and Miss Shirley Palmer, and senior girls of the school, Margaret Munro, Victoria Willamett, Joan Gillespie. Diana Reynolds and Marjorie Vinette.

Two other senior girls looked after small children while their mothers had tea. They were Lorraine Gunn and Carol Scully Generous helpings of home made candy in cellophane bags sold out very rapidly and left the table attendants Mrs. S. J. Rowe and Mrs. P. Ardern free to enjoy the tea.

Home baking did not seem in such great demand and kept Mrs. F. Hocking and her assistants, Mrs. W. Davidson and Mrs. W. Sorrie busy making sales throughout the afternoon.

Behind the scene helpers at this tea were Mrs. F. Sargent, Mrs. T. M. Braithwaite, Mrs. R. Weekes, Mrs. B. Scarlett and Mrs. W. Crary in the kitchen, Mrs. R. Kelsey making tea, Mrs. W. Caldwell, Mrs. J. Callaghan and Mrs. J. Henderson preparing the sandwich plates. Mrs. F. Lockington preparing the cake plates and Mrs. G. Minty looked after the relish dishes. Mrs. H. Tranter and Mrs. W. Millar were in charge of replenishing the tea pots.

Keene W.M.S Guests Of St. Andrew's

St. Andrew's W.M.S. on Wednesday evening entertained the Keene United Church W.M.S. for a meeting which was found very pleasing and beneficial to all. A large number of ladies from each organization were present.

Mrs. A. A. Munro greeted the guests and presided for the opening ritual and business. She used as a call to worship "We wonder how." Mrs. E. Hawley reported for community friendship, Mrs. L. Wood on cards of thanks received, and Mrs. E. F. Reid on supplies.

The program was then taken over by Keene members with their president Mrs. MacFarlane presiding. She used the 100th Psalm as her call to worship and the Bible reading by Mrs. Stewart Davidson was on God's calling the disciples. Mrs. H. B. Herrington led in prayer.

Mrs. Ross McIntyre read a story titled "The two searchers." Miss Margaret Bryce sang "I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

The Rev. H. B. Herrington gave the address of the evening and issued these challenges: "Are we really trying to follow the way of the Kingdom? Christ or Chaos? Do we really mean the Lord's Prayer when we pray it?"

Offering gifts were accepted and dedicated by the Rev. Henry Cotton.

A happy social hour followed the meeting with Mrs. H. Tremaine pouring tea and executive members of St. Andrew's serving refreshments.

What's Right?

After a man has asked a woman for a dance the orchestra plays something they decide they can't dance to.

WRONG: As soon as they are off the dance floor he leaves her alone.

RIGHT: He stays with her until the dance is finished and then takes her back to her escort.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Meals For Four On Grocery Budget Of $20

(First of three instalments.)

When I first read the letter, part of which you will read below in a minute, I said, "It can't be done." After a few moments of realizing it was being done I said, "Come, come, Mary. Where is your never-say-die attitude?"

Just read this: ". . . . my husband and I have two children, a boy 9 and a girl 4, and I wonder if you could help me plan menus so I could stay within my budget which is $20 a week. This includes everything — meat, milk, bread, papers, groceries, and a few other things such as cosmetics, drugs, and so on. If you could help me in any way, I would be so grateful.—Mrs. C.J.P."

What's the point in saying "It can't be done" when this gal is doing it? All she is asking for is a little help.

Well, last night she got it. Another dietitian and I went for an hour's walk and all during our stroll we talked over ways of serving nutritious and attractive meals to those four people and stay within that narrow budget.

That second to last sentence has me a little edge-y, though: ". . . . and a few other things such as cosmetics, or drugs and so on." Drugs! Good grief! the druggist charged me $4.75 for a dozen penicillin tablets a few weeks ago!

This family just can't afford to be sick. Every item you will see in this column has been chosen with careful attention to nutrition. Today I have given Mrs. C. J. P. one week's breakfasts. Next week look for lunches and suppers and the following week for dinners.

MINIMUM-COST NUTRITIOUS BREAKFASTS FOR ONE WEEK

NOTE: Buy bulk cereals in 5-lb. lots at flour and feed store. Buy unsliced bread at 13 and 14 cents per loaf at large groceries —always buy 100% whole wheat. Have 5-lb. cartons skim milk powder on hand. Buy second-grade or cull apples by the bushel.

BREAKFASTS

1—8-oz. glass tomato juice; hot rolled oats cereal with ½ cup wheat germ added (buy fresh wheat germ at flour and feed store for 10 cents per lb.), dark brown sugar, whole milk; whole wheat toast and margarine, jam; milk for children, tea for adults.

2—Concord grapes; poached egg on whole wheat toast; whole wheat toast and margarine and marmalade; milk for children, tea for adults.

3—Fresh large ripe pear; whole grain mixed cereal (whole wheat ground, whole rye ground, wheat germ, and cornmeal), whole milk (or extra thick milk made from skim milk powder), dark brown sugar; hot chocolate made from skim milk powder for children and adults (see below).

4—Applesauce; French toast with jam or corn syrup; whole wheat toast, milk for children, tea for adults. (Make the French toast using 2 beaten eggs and 1¼ cups milk made from skim milk powder extra rich.)

5—Scrambled eggs; sliced tomatoes; whole wheat toast; jam or jelly; hot chocolate made from skim milk powder for children and adults.

6—Canned grapefruit juice; cornmeal porridge with dark brown sugar and whole milk; milk for children, tea for adults.

7—Sunday: One sliced orange each; two slices each back bacon; one boiled egg each; whole wheat toast and honey; milk for children; coffee for adults.

NOTES: These menus will require 1½ dozen eggs per week—for in the dinner menus I am going to suggest using eggs for dinner one night per week.

HOT CHOCOLATE FROM SKIM MILK POWDER

These amounts will provide 2 cups each for 4 people.

To 1 cup skim milk powder add 2½ tablespoons cocoa and 3 or 4 tablespoons sugar and mix until blended. Add 2 cups cold water and beat with rotary beater to mix to a smooth paste, then add 3½ cups hot water and stir over heat until scalding hot. Keep hot in top of double boiler. Add a shake of salt if desired. Give a good final beating with rotary beater just before serving to make it frothy.

See column next week for the lunches and suppers on $20 per week.

DOROTHY DIX

Store Managers' Actions Can Worry Careful Women

DEAR MISS DIX: My weekly marketing is done in a large market of our small town. If I am starting out with a limited amount of money, I have a habit of marking each price on the package so I can keep an account of how much I am spending. A few weeks ago I did this, and the manager hung over the railing as I went through the checking line. A friend accompanying me said this was an insult and I shouldn't go back. However, I wanted the manager to know I was innocent of any cheating, and I continued to patronize the store. At one time, the cashier leaned over to look in my pocketbook. I realized then it was time to change my market. Later, at a nearby store, the manager came up and watched the checker go over the purchases. It happened again in still another store.

I have never had the slightest suspicion cast on my honesty, and I deeply resent the doubts that seem to exist in the minds of these various store employees. I'd be willing to do anything to clear my name.

DISTRESSED

ANSWER: I cannot possibly imagine how such a state of affairs could have been brought about. Being a frequent shopper in super-markets myself, and as I also keep track of purchases, I know that the practice is approved by checkers rather than disapproved. It is a source of considerable annoyance to them for a purchaser to buy more than she can pay for, then have to have the entire order rearranged and rechecked while a long line of impatient customers awaits attention. Furthermore, every item in a large store is price-marked so clearly that there is no possibility of either you or the checker being intentionally dishonest. There must be some other reason for the managers' actions in your case—and, personally, I think you are probably the victim of an overscrupulous conscience.

The best way to clear up the matter to your satisfaction is to see the first manager, ask him exactly why he acted as he did and, if his explanation leaves any doubt in your mind, see the managers of the other markets, too.

Store employees are pretty good judges of character, and unless one's actions are definitely suspicious, they go about their appointed tasks with no doubts as to a person's honesty. I'm sure a frank discussion with the people who are worrying you will convince you of their good intentions.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a man of 28, ten years older than I am. We have never been on date together though I see him quite often. The trouble is he is a ladies' man. How can I get over that. Don't tell me to forget him because I have tried and can't. P.A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You will probably have no choice as far as forgetting the man is concerned. Apparently he is simply interested in adding you to his collection of ladies and has no intention of becoming serious about you. Why waste your time and love on someone who is so completely unavailable? All you are doing is building a day dream out of nothing. A more wasteful procedure is impossible. Stop it!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a boy friend whose father owns a truck. When my friend gets the truck he doesn't come to see me. I like him a lot, and he likes me, but he will not keep a date is he has a chance to drive the truck. B. J. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Girls compete with many things for the affections of an adolescent male. You have come up against some of the stiffest competition there is — anything on wheels that has a motor. From a scooter to a plane, teenage boys will put the machine before a girl in most cases. As your friend grows older, the truck will lose much of its appeal, and you'll have your chance for first place.

Asphodel Man Awarded $667, Hit By Truck

William Scriver, 58, an Asphodel Township resident whose home is just south of Hastings village, was today awarded $667.85 damages for injuries received when he was struck down by a truck on January 26, 1951.

As the driver of the truck was never identified, Scriver was allowed to take legal action against the Ontario Registrar of Motor Vehicles. And his damages, as assessed by County Judge John de N. Kennedy, will come out of the Unsatisfied Judgments Fund.

Scriver said he had been working at the tannery on the outskirts of Hastings and was walking home shortly before midnight. He was walking north, well over on the shoulder of Highway 45, and only 30 feet from his own laneway when he was struck by the northbound truck.

The impact threw him on to a snowbank on the west side of the highway, and he then rolled down on to the paved surface. He was unable to get up for a few minutes, but later managed to reach his own home unaided.

TRUCK STOPPED

Scriver testified that the truck continued on for a short distance, then he heard the engine stop and shortly afterwards start up again. He didn't see the truck after he was hit.

His one glimpse of the vehicle was when he looked back over his shoulder after he noticed the headlights approaching from the south. He was only able to describe it as a "red-cab truck."

Scriver received a fractured right elbow and there was some hemorrhaging in the tissues of his arm. The elbow was in a cast for three weeks and he was unable to work for nine weeks.

He told the court that his grip still isn't normal and he cannot twist his arm inward in a normal manner.

Judge Kennedy, who presided at the special sitting of the county court, found as a fact that Scriver had been hit by a truck travelling on the wrong side of the highway.

"The driver of the unidentified truck was guilty of gross negligence in driving on the wrong side of the road at night and in failing to keep a proper lookout," said Judge Kennedy.

Damages were assessed at $737.85 plus court costs. But from this Judge Kennedy ordered $70 to be deducted—the amount received by Scriver from an accident insurance policy.

Trevor Clarke was counsel for Scriver; Gordon H. T. Farquharson was counsel for the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Raise Salary For Nurses

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Hospital officials here last night recommended an increase in pay rates for graduate registered nurses of $35 a month for those boarding out and $14 for those living in. The increases would bring wages of the two groups to $185 and $160 a month respectively.

The recommendations were made in a report of a survey presented to the Memorial Hospital Trust of the city.

The survey said 132 hospital staff employees other than nurses are negotiating for substantial wage boosts through a union. This action made a revision of nurses' wages necessary.

The wage increases were recommended to encourage more qualified nurses to become permanent staff members.

Two Men Arrested After 90 M.P.H. Chase

BRANTFORD (CP) — Two British Columbia men last night were arrested at gunpoint after a 90-mile-an-hour chase in which their automobile ran off a highway near Burford, 10 miles west of here.

Charged with vagrancy were William E. Peters, 27, and Albert Wheeler, 25.

Police fired three shots during the chase, two of which struck the fleeing car. The driver kept on going. Five officers with drawn guns confronted the two men when their car finally came to rest in a ditch.

Payroll Sales Double In Bond Campaign

OTTAWA (CP) — Payroll sales of the new series of Canada savings bonds almost doubled during the first two days of the current campaign, the Bank of Canada reported today.

The two-day total came to $7,330,000, compared with $4,635,000 purchased in the same period last year.

Canada's armed forces subscribed to $1,551,000, more than eight times greater than the $186,000 worth of sales a year ago.

Labor Union Agent Freed From Jail

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today ordered the release from Vancouver jail of Tony Poje, a labor union agent, pending his appeal from decisions of British Columbia courts.

Poje, an agent of the International Woodworkers of America Union, was fined $3,000 and sentenced to three months in jail for ignoring a court injunction prohibiting the picketing of a British ship in Vancouver harbor.

Proje refused to pay the fine and was ordered to spend 12 months in jail. His appeal to the British Columbia Appeal Court was dismissed. He now plans to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, but the case may not be heard until February. The court ordered his release pending the appeal.

Aid U.S. Hunters Gemmell Promises

SUDBURY (CP) — Welland S. Gemmell, Ontario lands and forests minister, said today every consideration will be given non-resident deer hunters in keeping their deer carcasses in frozen food lockers in the province beyond the 1952 hunting season.

He made the announcement in a telephone interview from Toronto.

Operators of hunting camps in this area said that many United States hunters had indicated they would not hunt in Northern Ontario this year if there was not some way of keeping their meat.

Rev. H. U. Trinier Speaks At Gilmour Church

Gilmour Memorial Church held its 114th anniversary Sunday in a church beautifully decorated with fall flowers and the bright sun of a glorious autumn day streaming through the windows.

Almost 200 attended both morning and evening services of the Chemong Rd. church, The choir under leadership of Mrs. J. Mann with Mrs. C. Telford at the organ, provided special music.

A. Marshal of Peterborough sang at both morning and evening services.

The Rev. Wm. Leaton, pastor of the church conducted the worship period. The Rev. Harold A. Trinier, Editor of Canadian Baptist was the anniversary speaker. His morning topic was "Summer is over. Harvest is Past", taken from the 1st Prophecy of Jeremiah.

"Every season has its attraction" said Mr. Trinier, "hush of winter's snow, wonders of new life in spring, beauty of summer, but none nicer than autumn with its array of color, smoky hills and cozy homes."

Referring to the harvest this year, he stated, that it has been exceptionally bountiful. Of course he said, this is the annual experience of the farmer who prepares his soil and tends his crop. City dwellers understand little of this. Then there is the farmer who looks upon the scanty store for winter and knows he has not sufficient and looks upon his fields with frustration and defeat. He sees his error of neglect too late. "The summer is over and harvest is past." The second text of his morning address was "Whatever a man soweth, also shall he reap." The principle is related to missed opportunities, like students confronted with examinations for which they are not prepared.

How different, he said "to the student who is prepared". "Also like sinners," Mr. Trinier said "after a life of selfishness, he thinks of the past. "What of the future? Now is the time!" declared" Mr. Trinier.

"Are we walking with Christ? time, is taking stock. All our life is a probation period. Autumn is a time to prepare for winter. Winter can be lovely if we are prepared for it, but an ordeal if we are caught ill-equipped.

"Old age may be a beautiful ending of our days, if we have lived an Eternal life here. It can be a terrible time if we have lived only a day at a time. Life is a time of accounting. Our time should be used developing spiritually instead of worrying over trivial things. 'God is not mocked'," he warned.

In closing he stated "For some of us there is little time, for some of us still summer, still time of opportunity," and he urged us to spend remaining years accumulating spiritual riches.

In the evening service, he took as his text "Prayer," taken from the scripture reading, 11th chapter of St. Luke, read by Mr. Leaton.

Under fire in Korea, the men who have stood up and endured, seem to do so by support of power beyond themselves, Mr. Trinier said. These men have learned to pray individually. He urged us to learn to derive strength beyond ourselves through prayer. There will come a time when we will need that strength.

"I myself," said Mr. Trinier, "am a great believer in prayer, from which I derive strength and guidance, help and comfort." "Prayer," he said, "is the most preached about subject and least understood. To some it is just repetition of words or conditioning of one's spirit."

Mr. Trinier said: "Do not think of prayer as saying things, doing things. Think of prayer as opposite. Think of prayer as rest. As the body needs rest, so does the spirit of man. Think of the invitations from the Bible. 'Be still, know that I am God. Come unto me all that are heavily laden.' When Jesus was in the garden he prayed thus: 'Not my will, but Thine be done.' Prayer was his life. There was no emergency measure in Jesus' prayer life. Not like many of us who run to God only in desperate straits, just like running to a stranger in an emergency.

"Think of prayer as compionship with God. Words are not gins here, practised in this world, so completely that when we come to the last step, Eternal life will be the nearer.

"Think of prayer as a desire. What do you want? Think of prayer as your real life. It is not wrong to want things, it is not wrong to be ambitious, but lift up your wants and needs to God. Ask yourself, 'Are these worthy of me or God?'

"Think of prayer as released power. Just like electricity, unused, unharnessed for centuries, yet it was there waiting. Same as prayer, all power on earth is yours and comes to you by way of prayer."

In closing he likened our prayer life to a smooth pool of water. Some one drops a pebble in the middle. A little circle appeared and then another; they become larger and larger as they reverberate to the outer edge. We may seem like the little drop, yet it might be the drop that counts and

250,000 Jap Miners Will Start Strike

TOKYO (Reuters)—Almost 250,000 Japanese miners from 16 coal mines will start an indefinite strike tomorrow for wage increases.

After a breakdown in negotiations, the men took part in a 48-hour strike starting Monday. The owners replied by threatening to cut wages four per cent

The miners want increases of up to 100 per cent. It is estimated that the strike will cut Japanese coal output by 100,000 tons a day.

Africans Use Chain-Gangs

GENVA (Reuters) — South Africa was accused today of hiring Negro chain-gangs out to farms at the equivalent of 25 cents a day.

The U.N. committee on forced labor was told the chain-gangs were taken to and from work in steel cages.

The evidence was included in a report from the British Anti-Slavery and Aborigines' Protection Society that South Africa had contravened the 1930 international convention on forced labor.

C.W.W. Greenidge, secretary of the society, said South African farmers often subscribed money to build state prisons near their farms so they could have a supply of cheap labor.

Africans arrested for petty crimes, he said, were often given the choice of working on the farms or going to jail.

TOKYO (Reuters(—Japanese police have issued warrants for the arrest of seven of the 13 Japanese delegates to the recent Communist "peace conference" in Peiping.

Their homes were raided today by about 800 police.

The seven are accused of leaving the country without getting government permission. The government announced that no permission would be granted to attend the conference but a number of Japanese went anyway.

Russians Have Fired 500 Factory Police

VIENNA (AP) — The Wiener Kurier reported today that the Russians have fired 500 of their armed, uniformed factory police in eastern Austria as "unreliable." The paper said the jobs were quickly filled by Austrian workers eager to get more money.

The factory police, men 21 to 45 years old, are the nearest thing in the Russian zone of Austria to East Germany's people's police. Totalling 8,000 to 10,000 men, they are stationed in the 300 plants and oil refineries under Russian control.

Duchess Pays Sarawak Visit

SIBU, Sarawak (AP) — A traditional "Virgin's paradise" of bare-breasted beauties greeted the Duchess of Kent today on her arrival in this jungle-surrounded interior town of the land of he white rajahs.

The feminine parade — a dozen native girls — awaited the Duchess at the gate of the residency. They were decked with jingling corselets of dangling silver coins, bright-beaded collars, gay sarongs and huge silver headdresses. But following custom, most had left the bosom bare.

It was the most interesting day of the 10-day tour by the Duchess and her 17-year-old son, the first British royalty ever to visit Sarawak. Now a Crown colony, the North Borneo territory was ruled by Britain's Brooke family until the Japanese occupation.

The party flew here from the capital, Kuching, by flying boat.

Can't Fire Worker Without Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled today that mere membership in an organization listed by the attorney-general as subversive is insufficient for firing a government worker.

If the worker is to be fired, the court held, there must be in addition to such membership a finding of reasonable grounds for disloyalty.

The court ruled in a case involving a decorated, legless Second World War veteran, James Kutcher of Newark, N.J. It held that Carl R. Gray, administrator of veterans affairs, failed to make a finding of reasonable grounds for disloyalty in firing Kutcher.

Kutcher admitted membership in the Socialist Workers party, generally described as the Trotsky wing of the Communist party.

Well's gun discharged accidentally near his face. Hospital authorities said they fear he may lose the sight of one eye. He also is believed to have a fractured skull.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britons are entitled to "painless" dentistry under the national health program, the Middlesex county health executive ruled today.

Build New Plant In Toronto Area

DETROIT (AP) — Expansion of National Automotive Fibres, Inc., operations in Canada by the building of a new plant in the Toronto area, was announced today by R.J. Stack, president.

Stack said the company's wholly-owned subsidiary, Canadian Automotive Trim, Ltd., has awarded a contract for building a new plant in the Ajax area, just east of Toronto. CHICAGO (AP) — The co-managers of Lauro Salas, who lost his lightweight boxing championship to Jimmy Carter last night, were held up and robbed by a gunman of $467.50 as they left the Chicago Stadium.

The robber, a shabbily-dressed Negro, also took $300 from a companion of Salas' co-managers Jimmy Fitten and Roger Leighton.

Fitten reported to police that the gunman took $427.50 from him and $40 from Laten. Each boxer received $6,429 as a share of the gate receipts and nearly $10,000 from television receipts.

Fitten told police the holdup man returned three cheques representing Salas' share.

The News, supporting Eisenhower, plans to poll 30,000 persons by secret straw votes. In 1948 it forecast the Truman vote within 1.2 per cent of the actual count.

Ask Government Protest Ban

LONDON (Reuters) — The government was asked today if it intended doing anything about a ban placed on British cars at important motor shows in Toronto and Montreal.

Henry Strauss, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, said the government was aware of the ban, but could do nothing, as the shows were private exhibitions.

Capt. R.T.D. Ryder, a Conservative member, urged that the Board of Trade suggest to "those who can use their influence that we are making a considerable effort to build up two-way trade with Canada and any facilities and help we can get will be much appreciated."

Said Strauss: "I think that is widely recognized in this country and in Canada."

GOOD REPUTATION

"Our Holstein cattle have a great reputation abroad, and when exporting conditions improve I hope we will all be ready for the bigger market that will open to us."

Mayor Hugh Waddell was introduced to the large afternoon crowd of about 500, mostly farmers and cattle breeders. Briefly, he extended a cordial welcome on behalf of the citizens.

"We know this is an important show, we are glad you hold it in Peterborough, and we hope you will be back with us next year," His Worship said.

George R. McLaughlin of Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, was declared premier breeder and also premier exhibitor, in the announcement by John Powell of Brantford, secretary of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association.

In the female division which occupied the afternoon of judging until 7 p.m., by D. S. Dunton of Brampton, the senior and grand championships went to the Elmcroft Farms' three-year-old heifer "Elmcroft Adeen May."

Reserve senior and reserve grand ribbons were won by James T. Brown of Newcastle, on his Alice Mattie Dutchland, winner of the class for wet cows, five years and up.

JUNIOR CHAMPION

The junor female champion was Ridgedale Francy Achilles, first in the senior yearling class, from the herd of G. H. Walker & Son of Port Perry, and the reserve junior champion was Cedar Dale Sky Rocket, winner of the numerous junior yearling heifer class for H. C. McCloskey of Queensville, York county. She and the reserve senior and grand champion bull from the same barn helped win the county herd title.

Fifty-nine breeders from York on the west to Lennox-Addington on the east brought out 180 Holsteins, all well groomed and fitted for the ring.

In a final comment, Mr. Powell remarked that the first prize ribbons were more widely distributed than ever he had noticed at the other championship shows here.

Peterborough gathered up three firsts, one each to Elmhurst Brothers of Birdsall's, N. W. McConkey and Earl Doris of Otonabee.

James T. Brown of Newcastle, H. C. McCloskey of Downsview, and S. B. Roman of King each took two. Two firsts went to Northumberland, one to Lorne Evans & Sons, of Warkworth, and the other to Alex Merrill & Sons, Campbellford.

Elmcroft Farms and G. H. Ealker & Son of Port Perry were Ontario county winners.

HASTINGS WINNER

The Rocket Tone bull of Quinte District Cattle Breeders' Association was a winner for Hastings County. Central Durham Bull Club received one first, and Geo. Jackson of Downsview, in York, was another.

Distribution to counties were: first prizes only: York 5, Peterborough 3, Durham 3, Northumberland 2, Ontario 2, Hastings one. In addition there were the group classes such as county herd, progeny of dam, and so on.

The Holstein Association does not stress firsts. Awards are all the same, without grading. Encouraging to the directors, from President George W. Henry down was the increase in the number of competing breeders from Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox-Addington and Victoria.

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. (AP)—The U.S. army let it be known Wednesday it is getting ready to fire the first "live ammunition" atomic shell from its big "all purpose" gun.

Attlee Forces Showdown With Bevan

Submit Ultimatum To Caucus Group Be Disbanded

LONDON (Reuters) — Clement Attlee and his supporters decided at a meeting last night to force a showdown with Aneurin Bevan for control of Britain's Labor party.

Bevan, fiery Welsh leader of a group of about 30 left-wing Labor members of Parliament, has been at odds for more than a year with the moderate wing of the party represented by most of Labor's 296 members in the Commons.

The Attlee supporters decided to submit an ultimatum to a caucus of Labor members of the Commons demanding that Bevan disband what Attlee has called a "party within a party."

Attlee is understood to be drawing up the ultimatum resolution which will demand that:

1. The Bevan group, which has been holding meetings in private, be disbanded immediately.

2. The Bevan supporters cease attacking the leadership of the party through the left-wing socialist weekly, The Tribune.

A bitter fight is certain at next week's caucus. A compromise will be suggested by a middle-of-the-road group now trying to keep the Labor party together, but the party's leadership now has committed itself to stand or fall on the ultimatum it will place before the meeting.

The decision apparently rejected peace overtures made by Bevan in the Tribune Wednesday. He maintained there was nothing sinister about meetings of his followers and invited all Labor M.P.'s to attend the meetings. However, he said he and his supporters would not give up their rights to spread Socialist education throughout Britain.

If the Labor caucus approves the Attlee ultimatum, Bevan will have to toe the line or quit. But if the Attlee ultimatum is rejected the party leader and his closest supporters would have to resign their party posts.

DEFEAT UNLIKELY

Attlee commands majority support in the parliamentary group, and is unlikely to be defeated. But, if his victory is narrow, his prestige might be damaged almost beyond repair.

The clash is the biggest within Labor ranks since 1931. That year party leader Ramsay MacDonald and several other rightists quit to join the Conservatives in a coali-

Armed Police Capture 1 Immigrant

Man Found Hiding On Island Near Maskinonge

THREE RIVERS, Que. (CP) —Heavily-armed police today surrounded a tent on a lonely St. Lawrence River island and captured one of two Polish immigrants sought in connection with the shot-gun hold-up slaying of a service station proprietor three weeks ago.

They identified their captive as Maksymilian Ciesla, 21, and said he surrendered without resistance, though armed with two rifles and a stock of ammunition found in his tent.

He will be taken to Provincial Police headquarters in Montreal later today.

There was no immediate indication of the whereabouts of the second man sought with Ciesla in an intensive search of the marsh-carpeted, island-dotted reaches of the St. Lawrence since Aurelien Houle was slain in an attempted holdup of his combined restaurant-service station at Yamaska East Sept. 25.

NEAR MASKINONGE

The man was captured on an island near Maskinonge, St. Lawrence River town about 20 miles west of here on the route between Three Rivers and Montreal.

A Provincial Police squad under Lieut. Ubald Legault set out from Montreal yesterday for the Maskinonge area. They were joined by other police constables who had been concentrating on the islands near Sorel, about 50 miles west of here.

Armed with sub-machine guns and tear gas weapons, they made their way along a six-mile route that led through marshy fields and across riverside flood-walls to Ciesla's island hideout. Travelling part of the way by power boat, they crept up on his tent soon after daybreak and pounced on him before he could make a move.

Lieut. Legault's squad was led to the hideout by reports from boat-owners that their gasoline supplies were being raided. Yesterday, there were reports a man had been seen on the island.

Accomplices Also In Van, Closely Guarded

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd, 38, today was taken to the penitentiary at Kingston to start serving the life sentence imposed on him yesterday for bank robbery. Inspector John Nimmo and Sheriff J. D. Conover were in charge of the police patrol wagon in which Boyd set out from Don jail early today with a motorcycle escort. Boyd, who said in an interview he will not try to escape from the penitentiary, entered the prison at 11 a.m.

With Boyd, leader of a notorious bank robbery and jailbreaking gang, went William R. Jackson, 27, sentenced to 20 years on two charges of bank robbery and scheduled also to complete a seven-year term imposed on him last year for assault and robbery.

A third member of the Boyd gang taken to Kingston today was Allister Gibson, 25, Jackson's brother-in-law, who received eight years on one charge of bank robbery.

Also in the penitentiary party, but not connected in any way with the Boyd gang, was Marcel Seguin, sentenced this week to three years and 10 lashes for beating and robbing a suburban housewife whose home he entered by posing as a utilities worker.

Meanwhile it was announced the $26,000 reward money for the capture of the Boyd gang after the Sept. 8 jailbreak will be distributed to the "right parties" as soon as the Ontario government decides who they are. Toronto and suburban North York police forces have turned over the names of claimants to Inspector Frank Kelly of the Ontario Provincial Police who will make the distribution.

Boyd and three members of his gang were recaptured in an old barn in North York township after eight days of freedom.

Thousands Riot In Indonesia Following Vote

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Thousands of Indonesians rioted in Indonesia's capital today in the wake of a parliamentary vote censoring Defence Minister Hamengku Buwono Ix, the popular Sultan of Jogjakarta.

Order was restored after President Soekarno assured the rioters that their demands for Parliament's dissolution would be considered. But the capital remained tense as rumors spread that the government might fall and the military high command imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Several thousand persons mobbed the residence of The Netherlands high commissioner, tore down the Dutch flag flying there and ripped it to shreds. Many carried placards demanding the recall of the Dutch military mission.

CALL OUT TANKS, ARTILLERY

Government tanks and artillery rolled into the heart of Jakarta as some 15,000 demonstrators congregated around The Parliament building at dawn and demanded the Legislature be dissolved. Troops and tanks took up positions around the building and around Soekarno's palace.

A five-hour blackout was imposed on all outgoing cables. Military roadblocks jammed traffic through the city and business came to a virtual standstill. Telephone service was suspended and was still out this afternoon.

All cable and radio communications between Jakarta and Amsterdam and London were cut for almost three hours today and the government-operated radio - telephone service remained dead after cable service was restored.

TAKE SERIOUS VIEW

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The Netherlands government takes a "serious view" of the tearing down of Dutch flags during today's demonstrations in Jakarta, a Foreign Office spokesman said.

A message to this effect was given to the Indonesian high commissioner, Susanto Tirtoprodjo, when he called at the Dutch Foreign Office to offer his apologies for the incidents.

Navy Rockets Travel 40 Miles In Sky

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Navy announced last night it has launched rockets from giant balloons, high above the north geomagnetic pole, and sent them to altitudes of about 40 miles —literally above the top of he world.

The instrument-laden balloons, tall as 10-storey buildings, were released from the Coast Guard icebreaker Eastwind in Baffin Bay, west of northern Greenland.

The soaring rockets radioed back cosmic radiation measurements at the one point on the globe where the earth's magnetic field has the least influence on incoming cosmic ray particles.

"This (40 miles) is the greatest height known to have been reached in these latitudes," the navy said.

The navy also sent photographic "nuclear emulsion" plates aboard the balloons to altitudes of about 90,000 feet, or 17 miles.

The valuable photographic plates and equipment from two of the balloons were seen to parachute safely to earth. One set landed on Ellesmere Island west of Greenland, and the other on the Greenland icecap within 10 miles of the geomagnetic pole.

"The snow storms during the last of August and early September prevented navy helicopters from recovering the equipment," the navy announcement said.

"There is some hope that it may be recovered by the Greenlanders or Eskimos during the coming spring."

Stalin Keeps All Top Jobs

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party named its new high command today and kept Joseph Stalin firmly in all the top jobs. The party's new central committee announced election of a praesidium of 25 members and 11 alternates to replace the old politburo and a 10-man secretariat to supervise party administration. Stalin was named head of both key groups. Also elected was a new chairman of the party control committee which has charge of party discipline.

The praesidium is more than twice the size of the old politburo of 11 members and one alternate. Replacing the politburo, it will direct the work of the central committee between the party's quadrennial full session and will also take over the duties of the old orgburo—the organization bureau—which dealt with party organization.

The secretariat also was enlarged. It formerly had only five members.

STALIN HEADS GROUPS

Although the praesidium and secretariat membership were so greatly increased, there was no doubt that Stalin remains the supreme authority in the Communist party as well as in the Soviet government.

His top rank in the party was emphasized by the placing of his name out of alphabetical order at the head of the announced listing of both the praesidium and secretariat. All other names were given in their Russian alphabetical order.

In addition, Stalin is head of the party central committee and, in the Soviet government, chairman of the council of ministers — Prime Minister of the Soviet Union.

A number of young party leaders were added to both the presidium and the secretariat Most of these are under 50. Some are barely past 40.

One significant point was the promotion to praesidium alternate of Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky. Vishinsky, now at the United Nations Assembly in New York formerly was a member of the central committee, to which he was re-elected, but he never was a member of the politburo.

Two members of the old politburo were not made full members of the praesidium. A.A. Andreev was omitted altogether and A.N. Kosygin was listed as one of the 11 alternates.

The full members of the presidium who formerly served on the politburo are Stalin, L. P. Beria, N.A. Bulganin, Marshal K.E. Voroshilov, L.M. Kaganovich, General [illegible] Khrushchev and N.M. Shvernik, president of the Soviet Union and the only alternate member of the politburo.

Allied Soldiers Hurl Back Costly Chinese Attacks

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Allied soldiers hurled back bloody but waning Chinese Communist attacks on two central Korean hills last night and today, adding hundreds to record 1952 Red casualty tolls.

The eighth army said U.S. troops since Tuesday morning had killed or wounded 3,750 Chinese on Triangle Hill, north or Kumwha. Dead Communists littered the frost-whitened battlefield.

That is the Allied-held height where AP correspondent Milo Farneti said 1,500 Reds launched six futile assaults between 8 p.m. Thursday and dawn today. He said the U. S. defenders killed or wounded 630 Reds.

South Korean soldiers, backed by tank and mortar fire, repulsed about 700 Reds who simultaneously attacked Sniper Ridge, an Allied-controlled hill two miles east of Triangle.

RED CASUALTIES MOUNT

Red casualties were mounting at a rate approaching that of the bloody week of Oct. 8-14, which the Eighth Army estimated cost the Communists 10,186 soldiers. The total — highest for a single week since last November — included 5,868 killed, 4,258 wounded and 60 captured.

The report said most of these casualties were inflicted at White Horse Mountain, more than 15 miles west of Triangle Hill.

Communist casualties in the first week of October were listed as 7,528 killed, wounded and captured, making a total of 17,714 for the first two weeks of the month.

The Red assaults weakened noticeably. AP correspondent John Fujii said South Korean fire, supported by tanks and mortars, was so intense that the Chinese were

Bullet Talks In Washington

OTTAWA (CP) — High-level Anglo-American - Canadian military talks in Washington aimed at "greater econony in the use of resources" were announced last night.

Arms standardization particularly the search for agreement on a common rifle bullet, appear to be a main purpose of the meeting. If so, Canada will be able to report marked progress in her search for a bullet to fill the bill.

Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds, chief of the general staff, will represent Canada in the week-long discussions starting Monday.

He is likely to tell the British and Americans that Canada has made real strides in seeking a bullet she hopes will be acceptable to both of them. All three countries have been engaged in the search since Canada intervened more than a year ago just when the British and Americans were about ready to adopt different rifles and bullets.

At that time, Canada asked them to delay a decision until a new effort was made to find a weapon and bullet acceptable to both.

A team of ballistics experts has been working for several months on such a bullet, but no progress report has been made public.

Woman Fined $109 Smuggling Cigarettes

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Ruth Chamberlain of Toronto was fined a total of $109 in magistrates court here this morning after pleading guilty to smuggling a large quantity of cigarettes across the border at Queenston, Oct. 16.

A customs official testified that she declared only two packs of cigarettes, but on investigation 10,360 cigarettes were discovered in the panelling of her car.

"That's a lot of cigarettes," the magistrate declared after the woman said she wanted them for herself and her friends.

Stewart Smith, Lewiston, N.Y., pleaded not guilty to a charge of smuggling cigarettes, value to excess of $200, across the border into Niagara township, Oct. 16. Smith elected trial by a higher court. Bail was set at $1,000.

Good Deed Costly

WELLAND (CP) — Edward J. Douglas, 30, of Oshawa, today swerved his car to miss a cat crashed into [illegible] a four-foot ditch. The result was $1,500 damages to his car and minor cuts to his face.

Bear Blacks Woman's Eye

KIOSK (CP)—A black bear threw a window at Mrs. Harvey Huneault and gave her a black eye.

Mrs. Huneault, a widow, was asleep in her log cabin in this Algonquin Park village when she heard a rattling at her window. Then the window flew into the room.

Sleepily, Mrs. Huneault climbed from bed, took the window and shoved it back into its frame, putting it behind the blind.

The window soared right back and clipped her in the eye.

Mrs. Huneault raised the blind and met a 500-pound black bear eye to eye.

She screamed and the bear ambled away.

Brisk Fighting Still In Indo-China

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Brisk fighting continued today around the town of Nghia Lo, 100 miles northwest of Hanoi, but the French said Communist-led Vietminh forces so far have steered shy of a direct assault on the strongly defended town itself.

Entrenched in the hills around Nghia Lo, the Red troops kept up a mortar barrage against the town. The rebels themselves were under

The Vietminh appeared to be awaiting the arrival of more equipment and supplies before attempting a direct assault.

Strong rebel forces also were believed to be operating in an area 25 to 50 miles south and southeast of Nghia Lo in an effort to draw off part of the French forces and their Thai tribesmen allies defending the town.

The plane dropped a flare and [illegible] pair on the ground.

Ground parties set out to reach the men at dawn today. Both were thought to be in a good health despite their two days and two nights in the dense bush

Montreal Writer Committed For Trial

OTTAWA (CP) — Raymond Arthur Davies, Montreal free lance writer, today was committed for trial in a higher court by Magistrate Glenn Strike. He is charged with making false statements in a passport application.

Davies, released on $2,000 property bail, replied only a brief "no" [illegible] say.

His committal was delayed more than a week while arrangements were made for bail. His preliminary hearing was completed last week.

Sidestep Angel Decision

Anglican Parliament Evades Ruling

LONDON (AP) — The top parliament of the Church of England —the Convocation of Canterbury— today sidestepped a chance to rule on whether people can become angels when they die.

The angel controversy has run through the Church hierarchy from humble village vicars to Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury.

It started when Ernest Reese, a bricklayer in the sleepy Sussex village of Hurst Green, wanted to put a marble angel over the grave of his nine-year-old daughter.

Rev. Charles Bell, the vicar of Hurst Green, banned the statue. Reese appealed to the consistory court of the diocese of Chichester, but in vain. That court ruled "the one thing you do not become when you die is an angel."

Then the church information board stepped into the picture. It told reporters that a belief in angels is not an essential part of the Christian belief and said the Church takes the view that angels on graves, as a representative of the after life, was perhaps "rather primitive and misleading."

That statement roused Rev. J.A. Burley, a delegate from Chelmsford to the lower house of the Convocation of Canterbury.

Today he offered a motion which would put the lower house on record as "disturbed" by a statement from the Church information board which "contradicted the teachings of Holy Scripture and the doctrine of the Church of England." The motion asked the upper house, made up of bishops and other dignitaries, "to take such action as it might deem fit."

But the lower house let the matter stand without taking a vote.

Editor Differs With Former Chaplain and English Professor

Davies Detests Approved Reading Lists

OTTAWA (CP) — A prominent Canadian writer lined up yesterday against an English professor and a former chaplain to Canada's navy "Wrens" in a court discussion on the issue of pornography in the novel "Women's Barracks," an exhibit in an obscene-literature case.

Tereska Torres' story of life among members of Fighting French forces cooped up in a barracks in wartime England was defended as an honest work by Robertson Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner and a well-known author, playwright and critic.

The book was described as nauseating, and as commercializing filth, by Rev. Terence J. Finlay, rector of St. John's Anglican Church here and former chaplain in the women's naval branch, and by Emmett O'Grady, English professor at the University of Ottawa.

The clergyman and professor appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Davies for the defence, as evidence continued on 11 charges of distributing obscene literature brought against the National News Company. All involve distribution at Ottawa newsstands.

BOOK NOT SHOCKING

Mr. Davies, one of the livelier figures in Canadian literature and drama, told Judge A.G. McDougall he does not feel that virtuous people would find "Women's Barracks" shocking. He would not agree it was written and published for the sole purpose of pornography.

Mr. Davies also took a sideswipe at guided reading.

"I abominate, execrate and utterly loathe so-called approved reading lists," he said. "Such lists often eliminate many of the classics which the young should read and recommend others which are inconsequential. I believe guided reading should be a matter of taste rather than of morality."

Asked if he agreed with the action of 50 United States cities in recently banning sale of obscene literature on the newsstands, Mr. Davies replied:

"I cannot say that I do. Censorship of that sort is usually very well intended, but it only too often tends to drive pornography underground. Underground pornography is very much worse than anything that might appear openly on the newsstand."

OPPOSES CENSORSHIP

He would not agree with Crown Attorney Edward Houston that book publishers should establish the type of self-censorship existing in radio and television.

"Literature is still a very great art today, while radio, films and television are not," Mr. Davies said. As an art, literature "must be free to interpret life without shackles."

Mr. Findlay testified that "Women's Barracks" nauseated him. The book was greatly concerned with the sex life of women, and it merely used a wartime background as an excuse for the story.

Prof. O'Grady said he sees no objection to books in which sex or sin are depicted "unless the book is deliberately designed for what we sometimes call the 'snicker market.'"

In the case of "Women's Barracks," he found it highly objectionable and dangerous reading for teen-agers and immature adult minds.

He could see no good or useful purpose in publication of the book.

Using Mechanical Heart

Doctors Find Gadget Good In Operations

DETROIT (AP)—A successful mechanical heart for humans, giving your heart a holiday, was announced today.

For 50 minutes, the amazing little machine pumped a man's blood through his body.

Rumbling like a quiet washing machine, it by-passed the left side of his heart. It detoured the blood coming from his lungs and pulsed it back into his arties.

Empty of blood, with no work to do, the still-beating heart was opened to repair a faulty valve.

The man, 41, is alive and well today, three months after the operation July 3.

Only this one human success was announced—but with a hint it has worked on other persons since.

It marks a milestone in medicine. With mechanical hearts, the heart can be laid open for new surgery, under direct view

With part or all the heart emptied, surgeons could better remove bullets or other objects, repair valves or dangerously bulging weak spots in heart walls, take out tumors, plug holes in the heart's dividing walls. The spare hearts may some day help save persons whose own hearts stop.

The human success was announced in the journal of the American Medical Association by Drs. F.D. Dodrill, Edward Hill and Robert A. Gerisch of Harper Hospital here.

Say Foreign Trade Balance Climbs To 6-Year High

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's favorable balance of foreign trade climbed to a six-year high of $243,100,000 for the first eight months of 1952 as expanding sales to the United Kingdom helped overcome a growing unfavorable balance in United States trade. Volume of trade was at an all-time high, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday. But its report of falling prices indicated that Canada may have a tough time trying to boost the dollar value of total trade above the $8,000,000,000 peak reached last year.

For the first eight months this year total trade amounted to $5,435,700,000, up slightly from $5,325,200,000 in the similar period a year ago. Prices began to drop during the summer months.

The favorable balance, biggest since the $306,000,000 favorable balance reached in the first eight months of 1946, was a reversal of the $335,800,000 eight-month deficit for 1951.

It was the result of an expansion in exports to $2,839,500,000 from $2,495,700,000 in the first eight months of 1951 and a drop in imports to $2,596,400,000 from $2,830,500,000.

U.K. BUYS MORE

Higher United Kingdom purchases of Canadian goods played the biggest role in building the surplus. Exports climbed to $537,100,000 from $395,100,000. Imports of U.K. goods dropped to $227,900,000 from $307,000,000.

This gave Canada a favorable balance of $309,300,000 for the eight months of Anglo-Canadian trade, almost four times greater than the $88,000,000 surplus last year and the highest since the $372,100,000 favorable balance in the eight months of 1947.

However, Canada faced a major problem south of her border. Imports of American goods for the eight months eased to $1,917,200,000 from $1,935,300,000. Exports also dropped to $1,503,700,000 from $1,527,600,000.

The deficit—traditional in U.S. trade—increased to $413,500,000, the biggest since the 1947 unfavorable balance of $644,500,000.

Pair Remanded During Inquiry

BRANTFORD (CP) — Arrested after a wild 90-mile-an-hour chase, Albert Wheeler, 21, of Willowbunch, Sask., and William Peters, 27, of Guelph, yesterday appeared in court and were remanded pending further investigation.

Wheeler pleaded guilty to a charge of having a concealed weapon, a large hunting knife. Peters pleaded guilty to dangerous driving.

Police said the car the men were driving belongs to a salesman in South Burnaby, B.C. Peters said they borrowed the car to drive to Toronto to find his girl friend.

Officers also said the men told them they threw a quantity of women's clothing, including a fur coat and a cape, out of the car at Ancaster. Asked why they did so, Peters was quoted as telling police:

"I couldn't find my girl, so I had no use for the clothes."

Rule Express Ignored Signals

LONDON (Reuters)—A Scottish express roaring down the tracks at high speed past a caution signal and two danger signals caused last week's London rail disaster which killed 112 persons, the chairman of a public inquiry said yesterday.

A caution signal warns a train to slow down in readiness to stop. Danger signals nearer a station, are an order to stop immediately.

Col. G.R.S. Wilson, chief inspecting officer of the state-run British railways, who is conducting the inquiry into the crash, said he was giving his opinion before evidence had been sifted because of the great public concern over the wreck. He offered no reason why the signals were disregarded.

Groom Killed, 5 Horses Missing In Track Fire

CHESTER, W.Va. (AP) — A negro groom trying to lead horses to safety from flame-filled barns died and at least five horses are missing as the result of a blaze which swept through a section of the Waterford race track stables.

The flames broke out during the running of the seventh race yesterday. Nearly 4,000 spectators were asked to stay in their seats a half-mile away as grooms and other track employees rushed to release frightened horses.

JOCKEY INJURED

Jockey Tim O'Harrington, 25, suffered rib injuries when he was knocked down by a fleeing horse, and George McIntosh, 30, one of the firemen, was burned about the eyes.

Carlyle Johnson, a track official, said 792 horses were quartered in the 17 barns. The terrified animals dashed about wildly after being freed.

There were 359 horses stabled in the barns which were destroyed. Many of the horses fled over the countryside and some are still being rounded up.

Johnson said an accurate estimate of the loss could not be made but said "it will be well over $100,000."

Ottawa Changes Assessments

Max R. Sloan of Toronto, assessment supervisor of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs, was the guest speaker at the Ottawa Board of Trade dinner Wednesday night in the Chateau Laurier.

At the head table with Peterborough former assessment commissioner was W. Hamilton Munro who grew up and received his early education in this city, and was for years head of the power and street railway services in the Capital.

Mr. Sloan said there should be no general increase in a year or so when new assessments of Ottawa have been completed, as valuations will be based on 1940 costs.

Some inequalities had been uncovered in certain property valuations in Ottawa, Mr. Sloan said, but he had never seen reassessments without some increases. Equalization of assessment is sought by assessing teams now inspecting Ottawa dwellings and commercial properties, Mr. Sloan told his audience of interested business men.

Property owners would not be assessed high because they had painted a house, installed an oil-burner or put in hardwood floors. And store owners would not be called upon to pay higher taxes because they had installed new store fronts.

Mr. Sloan dealt exhaustively with the basis for the new assessment, why inspectors assess homes from top to bottom, and what they look for.

"We don't increase a man's taxes if he improves his property," Mr. Sloan said. One of the headaches of large urban centres like Ottawa and Toronto lay in the fact that many residents had moved out to the suburban areas and then demanded to be taken in by the large municipality and to be provided with its municipal services.

tion government to cope with the depression.

The sudden and dramatic decision of the party chiefs to force an immediate showdown with the Bevanites shows they regard the position inside the party as so intolerable that it must be ended — even at the cost of injuring future election prospects.

It was learned that Attlee won a substantial majority for his drastic tactics at a meeting of his closest advisors within the parliamentary group, the so-called Shadow Cabinet. This group is elected by all Labor M.P.'s.

THE REV. J. M. RITCHIE, until recently pastor of St. Paul's Church, Warkworth, has accepted a call to Shawville, Que. His successor will be the Rev. A. L. Sisco, formerly of Tweed. Mr. Ritchie is leaving Warkworth just before his church will celebrate its 100th anniversary.

Seven Women To Receive Top 100F Award

The Grand Decoration of Chivalry, the highest award in Oddfellowship, will be bestowed upon seven women, one from Peterborough, Saturday night at the P.C.-V.S. gym by the officers of the Department of Ontario staff and lodges from this district. The ceremony is sanctioned by the Sovereign Grand Lodge and sponsored by the Canton Peterborough No. 17, I.O.O.F.

For their work in the Rebekah branch of the I.O.O.F., Mrs. Olive Price, of Peterborough, Mrs. Nettie Smith of Cobourg, Mrs. Mary Thow of Trenton, Mrs. Gertrude Jeffs and Miss Stella Keir, both of Campbellford, Miss Minnie Williams, and Mrs. Rita McDonald of Ottawa, will receive the decoration Saturday night.

More than 70 men and women will take part in the ceremony Saturday, coming from as far away as Windsor, Kingston and North Bay. Others will be in lodges in Belleville, Cobourg, Oshawa, Orillia and Peterborough.

Conducting the ceremony will be the officers of the Department of Ontario staff, headed by commander Major-General W. J. H. Adams of Port Dover. He will be assisted by the past commander, Major-General E. E. Wonch, of North Bay, department adjutant; Col. Elmer J. Rose of Windsor, department chaplain; Lieut.-Col. the Rev. W. J. Patton of Sombra, and department banneret, Lieut.-Col. Gordon Bilodeau of Stratford.

Give Hospitals $312,200 Grants

OTTAWA (CP) — Hospitals in six Ontario communities today were awarded $312,200 in federal health grants, the biggest single grant — $207,000 — going to McKellar General hospital at Fort William.

The Health Department said the McKellar grant is for an extensive program of renovation and expansion to be completed next year.

Toronto St. Michael's hospital got $50,000 to help pay for a 100-bed expansion to its nurses' residence.

To provide for expansion in nurses' residences, Brockville's General hospital got $3,900 and Kincardine's General hospital $9,500.

Collingwood's General and Marine hospital received $8,500 to pay for converting the superintendent's offices into space for four additional patients and providing a 10-bed nurses residence.

Stock Market Prices Show Improvement

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices continued to improve in early afternoon stock market trading with base metals and western oils vieing for the lead.

Both base metals and western oils gained more than two points on the exchange's indices after gaining steadily and industrials gained more than one index point. Golds gained about half a point.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 809,000 shares.

Western oils showed a majority of good advances as Bailey Selburn, Canadian Williston, Federated and General A gained. Only a few issues dropped pennies.

Base metals were spurred by United Asbestos also gained. Barvue, Cobalt Lode and Silver Miller slipped.

All groups in the golds list gained. New Dickenson led the juniors with a gain of 25 cents and, among the prospects, Gunnar gained pennies in a turnover of about 25,000 shares. Most other price changes were small although Ventures, a holding company, gained half a point.

Reserve Judgment In Theft Case

TORONTO (CP)—Judgment was reserved yesterday in an appeal by Jean Young, former Canadian Army staff sergeant against a conviction in June of conspiracy in thefts at the army camp at Petawawa.

Young's counsel said Young had been promised by two Provost Corps officers that his case would not reach civilian courts if he would confess to the thefts. Young then made a confession, he said.

T. N. Phelan, Crown counsel, said Young, an experienced officer, "should have known better." He said men who have been in the army two or three weeks learn not to rely on the promise of an officer.

Vishinsky Keeping U.S. In Suspense

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky kept the United Nations waiting today for the fireworks he is expected to touch off in replying to U.S. State Secretary Dean Acheson's plea for a concerted U.N. effort to end the Korean war. The Soviet Foreign Minister was not scheduled to speak today, and he told reporters he did not know when he would address the general assembly. "Maybe never," he added with a sly grin.

Poland was the first Iron Curtain country listed for the assembly's general debate today, drawing fourth place in a tentative line-up of five countries to speak. But Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzezewski of Poland was not expected to steal Vishinsky's thunder by replying to the major American foreign policy speech Acheson made to the assembly yesterday.

SOUTH AFRICA ISSUE

Before these speeches, the assembly was to take up the proposal to include on its agenda the Asian-Arab bloc's charge of racial discrimination in South Africa.

Acheson yesterday urged "every member of the United Nations. . . to support the common action in Korea" and pledged a fight to the finish against aggression.

"We shall fight on as long as is necessary to stop the aggression and to restore peace and security to Korea," Acheson said. "We shall stop fighting when an armistice on just terms has been achieved. And we shall not allow faint-heartedness or recklessness to defeat our cause, which is to defend peace."

The secretary asked for more help — troops, food, clothing, material and money—for the U.N. forces.

"We must convince the aggressor," he declared, "that continued fighting in Korea will cost him more than he can gain."

In a plea designed to hold the free world together against threatened Kremlin attempts to split the non-Communist countries, Acheson urged solidarity in the field of collective security, emphasizing:

"The alternative to this solidarity is the disintegration of the United Nations and the triumph of lawlessness in the world."

KOREA SUPREME TEST

"It is in Korea," he said, "that our whole structure of collective security is meeting its supreme test. It will stand or fall upon what we do here."

Following Acheson's speech the assembly agreed to take up every item on its proposed 72-subject agenda except the South African question. France did not challenge inclusion of the freedom demands of nationalists in her Tunisian and Moroccan protectorates, though she already has said she will boycott this debate.

When the speech was over, Vishinsky said:

"My English is not too good. I will have to read the speech."

Elsewhere through the packed new assembly hall, the general reaction to Acheson's address was "good." Britain's Selwyn Lloyd said it was a speech of "great wisdom and understanding." Henri Hoppenot of France praised as "courageous" the moderation of the words, which many diplomats here had feared might be too explosive.

14-Year Prison Term For George Humble

TORONTO (CP) — A 14-year prison term was imposed today on George Humble, 41, convicted of manslaughter in the shooting of Jean Peters who had been living with him.

A Crown appeal against the dismissal of a bootlegging charge has been adjourned to Nov. 17. On May 27 Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q. C., dismissed a charge of keeping liquor for sale that had been laid against Ted Rosebush of Chandos township. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Q.C., has appealed the magistrate's decision but a technical point arose today when the appeal was scheduled to be heard before Judge John de N. Kennedy. There is a legal difference of opinion on whether the Crown gave notice of the appeal within the required time after the dismissal.

EASTER LILY

Miss Mary Nicholson, 366 Mark St., is pretty proud of her Easter lily. When she received it, the plant had fine bloom. In the spring, she set it in her garden and it flourished. About two weeks ago when the nights became chilly, Miss Nicholson brought it into the house. The 27-inch plant rewarded her with eight blossoms, six inches in diameter.

Coal Strike Creeping Across U.S.

Wait Wage Board Ruling On Legality Of Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A protest strike of 150,000 miners crept through the U.S. coal fields and producers pressed for price increases today as the Wage Stabilization Board scheduled another attempt to decide the legality of the recent soft-coal pay boost.

Price officials said the Office of Price Stabilization was awaiting W. S. B. action before considering officially the many requests received from producers for a ceiling-price increase.

Labor members of the W.S.B., who angrily rejected a "suggestion" from Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam that the W.S.B. postpone its study of the case for several days, were ready to give their approval to the $1.90-a-day wage boost.

NEEDS W.S.B. OKAY

The increase, negotiated by John L. Lewis last month, cannot be paid until the W.S.B. gives its approval because it is nearly twice as high as that automatically approvable under cost-of-living regulations.

But labor members of the W.S.B. which is composed of labor, industry and public members, have argued that the other wage rules justify the increase. They say it is neither inflationary nor unstabilizing.

Industry members, however, firmly reject that thesis. They say they have seen no evidence to indicate the pay raise is within existing ceilings.

DIDN'T CALL STRIKE

The coal miners strike was not called by Lewis — was not, in fact, called at all. Bituminous miners had only to look at their latest pay cheques, covering the first two weeks of October, to see that they did not get the raise. They then walked off the job on grounds that their contract was in effect broken.

The pay increase was to have taken effect Oct. 1, and, if it is approved, will be retroactive to that date.

Should the W.S.B. fail to approve the contract within the next few days the number of idle miners is certain to swell and may shut off up to 80 per cent of the country's soft coal production.

Lakefield Folk Gives TV Set To County Home

Leisure hours for residents at the County Home for the Aged, Lakefield, have been brightened considerably this week. A television set was installed in their common sitting-room a week ago and has been performing very well.

It brightens the lives of 23 elderly people who heretofore have had to depend on five small radio sets, a few movie shows throughout the year, and semi-monthly church services.

The gift of the $360 set was made possible by contributions of Lakefield and district people. Two men sparked the whole thing —past president of Lakefield Canadian Legion Walter Chappelle, and power house operator Tom Allen. The idea occurred to them nine months ago and through the hard stint of collecting money, often 25 cents at a time, as well as two bingo games, they were able to save the entire amount and have the set installed at the Home on October 11. The two men give special thanks to the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, Lakefield, for their part in the affair.

On Thursday evening a few county officials, headed by Warden R. R. Stewart, gathered at the Home where they were thanked by the delighted old people and to receive a receipt for the machine from Messrs. Chappelle and Allen.

Chairman of the County Home committee, David McIntyre, thanked the donors warmly, as did the Warden, County Clerk Mrs. Jennie Spurway, and Deputy Reeve of Smith Township Robert McAdam.

County officials enjoyed a social half-hour in Superintendent John Butterworth's office, and announced that they were very pleased with Mr. Butterworth's ability and that of his wife as matron, and assistant matron Miss Mildred Estabrook.

The operation of the television set is an added responsibility for the superintendent; he switches it on at 2 p.m. daily, and it runs continuously until 10 p.m. He says that it has been more of a boon already to the shut-ins than any other form of entertainment.

TWO GOOD SAMARITANS, Walter Chappelle, left, and Tom Allen, centre, both of Lakefield, delivered a paid receipt for a television set to chairman of the County Home for the aged, Dave McIntyre, on Thursday evening. After nine months of individual collecting from Lakefield and district people the cost of the set was attained and officially presented to the Home at a quiet social gathering on Thursday evening. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Lindsay Accepts Lower Offer For Vacant Land

LINDSAY (ENS)—A stormy session of Lindsay council yesterday failed to solve the problem of what the town should do with a large parcel of land in the north end.

The land, situated between Colborne and Elgin St., on the edge of town, and with over 400 feet of frontage on Highway 45 has been a gravel pit for over 30 years and is now exhausted. Before Tuesday night's regular meeting a letter was received offering $1,000 for property on which he would erect a large sale house for implements. He offered to fill in holes caused by the gravel digging and renovate the land for his own use.

OFFERED TO BUILD 19 HOUSES

Alderman James McQuarrie, the centre of the controversy which has raged since that meeting fought to keep the gravel pit land. He said he could get a buyer to build houses on the land, and this would provide more revenue for the town. A special meeting of council was called when a letter was received by Town Clerk Allely which disclosed a bid for the land of $1,200 from the T. A. Wilson Lumber Company of Cannington. The company offered to build 19 homes on the land, construction to start next spring.

On hearing the letter, Mayor Lamb protested, claiming that something was "fishy" when a second letter had arrived in two days on a property in which nobody had evinced any interest for over 30 years. He was in favor of retaining the original bid, in case the business should move into Ops Township, as other businesses and homes have in the past year.

Alderman Hick favored accepting the Wilson bid.

INCREASES OFFER TO $1,500

When a vote was taken at Wednesday's meeting a three-all tie was brought about by the failure of one member to vote. The chairman J. B. Baker, cast the deciding vote in favor of the Weldon offer. Later the town clerk realized that Ald. H. Pierce had not voted on the motion. He summoned council by telephone, for a special meeting last night. Alderman McQuarrie, after walking out of the special meeting the night before, returned to the fight again. Another surprise was waiting for the members of council last night, when they reconvened. Another offer had been received from the Wilson Company, with a bid of $1,500 for the property. He again offered to build 19 new homes on the site.

Alderman McQuarrie again claimed the town's duty was to accept the highest offer. Alderman Pierce was in favor of opening the matter for tender, and accepting the highest bid in that manner. A flareup followed, when Alderman Lloyd Burrows, a veteran member, called Ald. McQuarrie, a freshman on the body, a "five-year-old schoolboy." Alderman McQuarrie replied: "I'm surprised at you, as chairman of the finance committee, after quibbling in the past over $75, throwing away $500 a year in taxes this way."

Mayor Lamb and Reeve Richard Butler then made a motion that Weldon's offer be accepted at $1,200, despite the fact that no formal offer in that amount had been made. Aldermen Stevens and MacQuarrie sponsored a motion that the Wilson offer of $1,500 be accepted. Both motions were lost. The mayor then suggested that the original Weldon offer of $1,000 be put to a vote again. Alderman MacQuarrie disagreed with the move, claiming it was illegal since one member of council was absent. Alderman Burrows asked Clerk Allely to consult the local by-law on council.

The by-law showed that members should be summoned to special meetings by letter only. The alderman had been summoned by telephone. Alderman McQuarrie, Stevens, Hick and Pierce were in favor of adopting the Wilson offer. The other three members of council voted for Weldon. Mayor Lamb pointed out that the chairman could, if he so desired, vote as an alderman. Alderman Baker then voted for Weldon deadlocking the issue once again. Then the mayor suggested tha the chairman could have a second vote as chairman. He voted the same way, passing the motion in favor of the Weldon offer.

Alderman McQuarrie commented after the vote: "I'm really surprised over the result of this vote. The sale barn will bring about $1,000 a year in taxes, while the houses if built, would have brought over $2,000.

At one time during the session, three members of the council, including the mayor, were trying to shout each other down at the same time.

Opera House Renovated For Opening

COBOURG (ENS) — Work is rushing to completion on the renovation of the opera house by the members of the Cobourg Opera and Drama Guild.

The entire auditorium has been repainted, a transformation from its former drab, run-down appearance, that has to be seen to be realized. Scenery has been painted by Yarko Zavi, Cobourg ceramist artist and everything will be in shape for next week's big opening on Thursday for a two-night run.

Robertson Davies, well-known author and playwright, will officiate at the opening ceremonies. The play to be presented at the opener is "The Voice of the People" of which he is the author. Rehearsing has been going on to the accompaniment sometimes of the noise of workmen fixing up the opera house.

Also to be presented will be the opera ballet, Le Coq d'Or with Mary MacMillan of Port Hope as dance director and also performer in the title role. The musical director of the ballet is Mrs. Doris Dunlop, Cobourg.

Funds for the renovation of the opera house have been raised and are continuing to be raised, by public subscription and are nearing the $1,000 mark.

Those in charge of seat reservations were swamped when tickets went on sale Wednesday and in less than half an hour the best seats for the opening night had all been reserved. If anything is left it will soon be restricted to standing room only. Reserved seat sales for Friday night are also proceeding swiftly.

22 New Cases

COBOURG (ENS)—The 22 new cases of communicable disease listed for the week ending October 11 by the counties health unit, were confined entirely to the rural sections except for a small epidemic of mumps in Newcastle which has a dozen new cases. Chickenpox, German measles and scarlet fever were scattered in the eastern rural sections of Durham County.

Sugar Beets Join Wheat In Western Crop

Icing for the huge grain crop in the Canadian West is a tremendous heap of sugar beets, Stewart Lockington of Quaker Oats commented to The Examiner today. He returned from the Prairies Thursday.

Alberta is riding on the crest of present production of these three commodities, oil, grain and sugar. Everything has apparently turned out well this year, and likewise every Albertan is happy, but it looks almost a certainty for Winnipeg to make the trek East for the Grey Cup finals.

"You have to be out there to get the feeling of that part of our country," Mr. Lockington said. "The grain crop, chiefly wheat, is tremendous, a new record as reported in the approach to the harvest, which is now nearly completed. This crop is grading high, but it is comparatively low in protein.

Farmers are on a quota basis of delivery to the elevators. That is intended to be an equitable method of assuring every farmer some elevator space for his grain. You are told that you may deliver so many bushels per acre of your crop to the available elevator storage.

As the East has heard, transport is the next problem. Canada not only produces this wonderful crop, but now we've got to sell it.

BOATS CARRY ORE

A lot of the boats on the Great Lakes are carrying ore from Duluth to Buffalo. That service ends October 30, and from there on the grain fleet will be enlarged by any of the ore boats that can load wheat.

One thing is certain, the bay ports will be plugged with wheat.

Those are a few glimpses Mr. Lockington reflected from the West.

"Alberta is very happy," he said. "They've had a wonderful year."

Included in that roseate satisfaction is a record crop of beets that are piling up in huge mounds at the refineries.

The republic of Brazil covers 3,289,440 square miles compared to 3,845,144 for Canada.

First Ambassador To Japan

It may be said that the only unsuitable aspect of Mr. Robert Mayhew's appointment as Canadian ambassador to Japan is political. Mr. Mayhew steps straight out of the Cabinet into a high diplomatic chair. What is to become of our diplomatic service if the best cushions go to politicians? Will career diplomats have to look forward only to second-class rank and second class pay as the pinnacle of their careers?. If the top is denied them, will the best and brightest young men seek to serve, refuse to start up a ladder which never gets to the roof?

* * *

We may answer our question by saying that if party politicians are translated, like Mr. Mayhew, to the diplomatic top, so career diplomats, like Mr. Pearson, can be translated to the political top. In fact, the situation, as Mr. St. Laurent has been plotting it, is topsy-turvy. Now the sage advisors of young men setting out on a career may say to the chap eager to be a civil servant of the people: go into politics; that is the way to become an ambassador. And he may say to the other young fellow seeking politic fame: go into the civil service; that is the way to become a cabinet minister.

* * *

In principle we do not like this high-wire jumping. The reward for excellent political service should be political office, and the fruits of faithful and brilliant work in the Department of External Affairs should be consular office. It may be, of course, that Mr. Pearson was formerly a misguided civil servant, whose real vocation was politics, and that Mr. Mayhew (now seventy years of age) missed his vocation during fifty years of politics and should have been in the diplomatic service. But we somehow doubt that Mr. Pearson would admit that he was misplaced in the civil service or Mr. Mayhew that he was a bad politician.

* * *

Perhaps it is unfair to link the two cases as if they were something out of Alice in Wonderland. Perhaps Mr. Mayhew is merely being rewarded for his political service in a manner easy for the Prime Minister to arrange. If so, we object to the nature of the reward. The bright and shining Canadian Department of External Affairs should not become a chaise-longue for any counterparts of the American Madame Minister to Luxembourg Perle Mesta or Mr. Ambassador to Mexico William O'Dwyer (of New York notoriety).

* * *

The comparison is odious. Mr. Mayhew, apart from the political basis of his appointment, seems excellently qualified. He is a British Columbian who in business, industry and as Minister of Fisheries, has had long dealings with the Orient, particularly with the Japanese. And, if Canada wants to pay a compliment to her ex-enemy Japan in making the first ambassadorial appointment to that country, how can she honour Japan more than by sending a senior Privy Councillor right out of the Cabinet? Did not Britain send Lord Halifax to Washington?

Use Gold Coins?

Contrary to general belief, the use and free holding of gold coins has been perfectly legal in Canada, and always has been. The reasons gold coins are not in circulation is that none has been minted since 1919 and existing gold coinage is either hoarded or treasured as souvenirs. Mr. George Drew suggested in a gold mining community of Northern Ontario that gold coins should again be minted. "People want their ancient symbol of value." It would be very pleasant if gold coins could be had, to put on a shelf against a rainy day, to give as birthday and wedding presents, and to hold as souvenirs, but we wonder if the effect of issuing many gold coins would be as agreeable.

Gold differs from all other metals in being used as a monetary and financial instrument. That use is both delicate and strong, susceptible to national climates and international situations. So important is this use in the economic scheme of things that all governments control its flow and the International Monetary Fund and international agreements put its price and distribution beyond national tampering. There is a world price for gold ($35 an ounce) which is fixed in reality by the United States, the world's largest buyer of it. If gold coins were again minted and circulated, an inflationary black market would be created.

Speaking as he was in a gold mining community Mr. Drew would undoubtedly get a sympathetic hearing for his suggestion, and also support for his plea of a free world market in gold and a higher price. If gold fetched more money, our gold mining industry would revive immediately. The trouble is that if Canada increased the price of gold, the cost of all other goods and services would rise. We would have more inflation than ever—yet the Conservatives say that the present Liberal government has encouraged inflation. If the Government increased its buying price for gold (all gold mined in Canada must be sold to the Bank of Canada), the Opposition would really have a case against the Government.

Only if the United States raised gold prices would Canada benefit and not suffer serious inflation from higher gold prices. The United States has shown no signs of raising its buying price. It looks as if gold mining companies will have to get along as best they can with the present price and various government subsidies—unless Mr. Drew's party is put into office after the next Federal elections and raises gold prices. What would it do to counter the resulting inflationary pressure and to keep the dollar buying even the little a dollar now buys?

Retiring With Pleasure

This afternoon Mr. J. E. R. Munro left his school desk after forty-one years of teaching, mainly as principal in the city's public schools. He leaves in good spirits, his usual health and with many interests to occupy him. It is a genial and cultivated way to retire and we join with his colleagues who dined him Wednesday evening in wishing him much pleasure.

Retirement is not the end of the road if, like Charles Lamb, the superannuated man has not made it a tread-mill during his working years, but has bounded off with delight and fascination along side-paths, exploring the world and man as he progresses. The world's work awaits every man, but it is not the whole of existence nor even the chief purpose of living. Work may provide a man his meat, but it should not be his drink too. There is a saying that drink is the curse of the working classes. Oscar Wilde parried this by saying that work is the curse of the drinking classes. So it can be—considering the drinking classes to be those fine people who sup the nectar of the arts, of nature and of pleasure and leisure.

Whether or not Mr. Munro ever considered work a curse, he is now assured that whatever minatoriness it held has happily been removed.

Collect Radio Licence Fees From All?

The Winnipeg Tribune suggests that since almost everybody has a radio, and the present system of collecting the licence fee is so unsatisfactory and expensive, the Government might as well go directly at the job, assume that everybody should have a licence for radio, and level an automatic tax.

This sounds sensible but has several important flaws. It would certainly be cheaper to collect the fee as a special tax, and, overall, the individual Canadian would probably save money. The very heavy cost of present collections and the maintenance of the Board of Transport snoops would be eliminated. The money thus saved would help meet present C.B.C. deficits, and of course, if the fee were collected automatically from everybody, the C.B.C. would not have to go to the government at all.

The major flaw is that while nearly every Canadian uses a radio, not every Canadian owns one. Hotels, boarding-houses and parents may provide the radio, and may do so at no extra tax cost to themselves, since one radio licence is said to cover all the radios in the household (exclusive of car radios). If everybody had to pay the tax, many people would be assessed who formerly were not liable for it.

Anyway, who would collect the universal radio tax? The Federal Income Tax authorities? Then they would presumably get it only from people filing income tax forms and [illegible] is already saturated; not many tens of thousands of radios will be sold hereafter each year. Will the present owners escape Scot-free? Would the municipal authority be the radio collector? If so, on what basis and by what constitutional authority? Further, now that television is taking the field, can it be assumed next year and thereafter, as perhaps it could have been assumed two or three years ago, that every home uses a radio set?

The Tribune's suggestion raises more questions than it solves.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Does the weather vane on top of the gilded dome of the new city hall fluctuate with the winds, or is it merely an ornament?

ANSWER: The two Canada geese which form the weather vane head into the wind—which is, I think, an ornithologically correct thing for them to do. If the wind is blowing from the north-west you will see the birds flying north-west.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: Were there ever any slaves in Canada?

ANSWER: I presume you mean bound slaves, not ones who came up here to get their freedom. Of course. The census of 1784 showed there to be 304 negro slaves in the towns of Montreal, Quebec and Three Rivers. Slavery was abolished in Upper Canada (Ontario) in 1793—the first legislation against bondage in a British possession and forty years before slavery was abolished in England. The last slave transaction in Canada took place on the 25th of August, 1797 at Montreal when a slave named Emanuel Allen, a 33-year-old negro, was sold at a public auction for $180.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALPHA: What value would a Canadian one-cent piece, dated 1858, have? Also what collector would be interested in it?

ANSWER: I know nothing about Canadian numismatics, and the only informed coin-collector I know in Peterborough, Miss Zetta Jameson of Harvey Street, has left the parental roof and gone out of town. Bankers are interested only in collecting the current currency.

An 1858 one-cent piece should have rather high value, because decimal coinage replaced £.s.d. in Canada only in 1857 or 1858. (I am confused about the year because according to the late F. H. Dobbin, indexing local press items, decimal coins were first introduced into Peterborough on July 1st 1857. According to a careful Montreal collector of Canadian curiosities, the year was 1858.) It may be that you have one of the first Canadian coppers minted. I suggest you write to the Royal Ontario Museum, University Avenue, Toronto, and ask the numismatist there about your one-cent piece. There must surely be some knowledgeable collectors of coins living in Peterborough. And I ask any such to please write and give me and my questioner the benefit of their knowledge.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: Do you think the Handcraft Guild display put on at the Peterborough Fair was worth the effort on the part of the ladies, who set it up? I wouldn't like to tell you how long it took them to prepare for it, but all the letters written to the paper, either "for" or "against" the benefits of the "fair" simply ignored the art and handcraft exhibits. Perhaps they should be set up on a "Lazy Susan" with a fountain playing in the centre?

ANSWER: Alpha was engaged on work of national importance (testing cider presses) outside Peterborough during Fair week, so cannot offer an opinion about the Handcraft Guild display. The handicraft which I have seen at Dixon House has been worth seeing—and doing. I certainly would not entrust or attritube the work to any Lazy Susan and pour cold water on it.

✧ ✧ ✧

HAULTAIN ASHES SURRENDERED: Two weeks ago today an internment in Little Lake Cemetery took place which was of unusual interest to people concerned in and with Peterborough's history. The ashes of Miss Clara Haultain and Mrs. J. G. (Emily Bell) Macklin, both former residents of Montreal, were put into the twenty-grave Haultain plot. The bodies of both ladies had been cremated.

Miss Clara Haultain died September 10th last, at the age of 93. Mrs. Macklin died December 4th, 1932. They were sisters. Archdeacon Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church read the committal service. This may surprise some Peterborough people, for their father had been a pillar of the Presbyterian Church, and in fact eight-five years ago was the Secretary of the French-Canadian Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, and had to leave Peterborough for four years' residence in Montreal when he acted in this capacity. But probably sometime in the last hundred years the two ladies whose ashes were buried in Little Lake Cemetery a fortnight ago gave up the faith of the father and entered the bosom of the C of E.

Miss Clara Haultain and Mrs. Macklin were daughters of Lieut.-Colonel Frederick William Haultain, a notable Peterborough personage before his death on December 9th, 1882 at the age of 61. His brother (and therefore the uncle of the two ladies buried in Little Lake Cemetery two weeks ago) was Major-General Francis M. Haultain.

✧ ✧ ✧

PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE now are rather confused between the General and the Colonel. The Colonel, who died in 1882, lived at the top of Brock Street, beside the Quaker Oats Company property, in a large [illegible]. The house was later the Rush home. It caught fire at the time of the Quaker Oats fire in December 1916; sparks blew across to it. (Local young men valiantly rescued the furniture from the house and piled it on the lawn; but more sparks got it too.) The General who died on April 3rd, 1900, at the age of 81, lived at 59 McDonnel Street, the home of Mr. B. D. Hall in his youth.

Colonel Haultain had four sons and three daughters. One of the sons was the Hon. Sir Frederick William Gordon Haultain, chief justice of Saskatchewan who died before the recent war. Two of his daughters were Miss Clara and Mrs. Macklin, the ladies whose ashes were lately brought to Peterborough. Mrs. Macklin was the mother of the wife of Colonel Wilfred Bovey, of McGill University.

General Haultain's family included T. Arnold Haultain, a writer of books who had been secretary to Goldwyn Smith (whose Toronto home, The Grange, now forms the nucleus of the Toronto Art Gallery); and another son, Professor Herbert E. T. Haultain, now emeritus professor of engineering at the University of Toronto.

Both General Haultain and Colonel Haultain are buried in Little Lake Cemetery, in the family plot bought by the Colonel.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SOLDIERLY TRADITION is strong in the family. The General and the Colonel were sons of Major-General Haultain of the Royal Artillery, and were educated at Woolwich Military Academy, England. Colonel Haultain retired from the army in 1860 (after service at Quebec, Montreal, Kingston and Gibraltar), and retired to Canada and to Peterborough in September of that year.

The very next year the Liberals put him up as their candidate and he won the seat over the strong candidature of Mr. W. S. Conger, former member of parliament and one of Peterborough's first Mayors. (Incidentally, it was Mr. Conger who formed the joint stock company to purchase land for Little Lake Cemetery and to operate it as a cemetery.)

Colonel Haultain was again returned in the general election of 1863. Between 1869 and 1873 he lived in Montreal, as I have noted above. in 1873 he returned to Peterborough and became Registrar of the county following the death of Captain Rubidge, the first Registrar. He was an active member of St. Paul's Church, and there is a memorial tablet on its walls today.

At the time of his death this tribute was paid to Colonel Haultain: "He was not only a zealous worker within the pale of his church, but his was a philanthropy, whose aims, wishes and labour extended to wherever there was good to do, evil to combat, and suffering and sorrow to ameliorate or assuage. In instances of the one, he was ever ready to promote, by his best exertions, all evangelical religious work, frequently holding religious services in places where the regular labours of ministers of the church were not available. The poor were his especial care, and as chairman of the Hall Trust, and in the management of the Protestant Home, the kindly charity of his nature was revealed in all its earnestness. However greatly he will be missed in all other circles, the poor and needy will miss more than all the kindly word which was always seconded, when necessity arose, by the substantial earnest of a kindly deed".

For a professional soldier who attained the bristling rank and authority of Lieutenant-Colonel in the regular British Army in the post-Napoleonic days, Colonel Haultain was a remarkable man. His two daughters had good reason to wish to be buried beside him.

FOR THE RECORD: We must all still remember happily the superb bright and mild weather during the long Thanksgiving week-end. Alpha hereby records his thanks. Good growing weather for late Brussels sprouts, too.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

Make Coronation A Commonwealth Ceremony

(KINGSTON WHIGS-TANDARD)

THE SUGGESTION put forward by Senator Rupert Davies in a letter to The Times of London that Canada and other self-governing members of the British Commonwealth be given much more important roles in the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II than has ever been accorded them before, will undoubtedly receive a warm reception in this country and other Commonwealth Dominions.

It canot be emphasized too often or too emphatically that Elizabeth is Queen of Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand, in exactly the same way she is Queen of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. True, this is a comparatively new concept and is not accepted in the British Isles as readily as it is in the Dominions. Nevertheless, legally it is fact and the time is now ripe to blend this new status of the Dominions with the centuries-old tradition which surrounds the crowning of a monarch.

Never before has there been such a pressing need to unite the people of the Commonwealth and never before has there been such a fortuitous opportunity. Only the Crown now binds together people living in many different parts of the world, people of diverse races, creeds and colours, into the greatest voluntary partnership man has yet achieved. Would it not be the part of statesmanship to do everything possible at the time of the Coronation to surround this symbol of unity with a truly Commonwealth ceremony?

The event itself stirs the imagination; the young Queen makes an instantaneous appeal to the highest emotions; everything points to the beginning of a new era in which the Dominions may play as prominent or perhaps even a more prominent part than Great Britain herself. No single circumstance should be overlooked at the outset of this new reign to knit the bonds of the Commonwealth tighter.

Queen Elizabeth is a very young woman. It is possible and probable that her reign will extend over half a century. That is far too long to wait for another opportunity to demonstrate that the old concept of Empire has been replaced with the new concept of Commonwealth.

We strongly urge those charged with making the preparations for the Coronation that they do everything possible to make all members of the Commonwealth Family feel that it is truly a Commonwealth rather than a strictly British ceremony.

"The hen's name is Betty," said the waiter. "Is that all right, sir?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Is not God in the height of heaven? and behold the height of the stars, how high they are! . . . Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee.

For then shalt thou have delight in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face unto God. . . Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee: and the light shall shine upon thy ways. (Job 22:12, 21, 26, 28.)

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time. St. Catharines Hospital Extension

(St. Catharines Standard)

Mr. A. A. Schmon, chairman of the board of governors of the General Hospital, has performed a useful service in giving a factual and detailed account of the financing of the hospital extension, and just what the large amount of money will bring to this district in the way of better medical services. The full story was contained in yesterday's paper, but the salient points are worth repeating, since a campaign for funds is soon to be inaugurated.

Originally it was estimated that the extension program would cost $2,144,000. That was more than three years ago. Since then the total cost has climbed to $3,726,000, an overall increase of $1,582,000. Part of the increase is due to rising costs over the past three years; part is due to a greatly enlarged program compared to what was visualized in 1949.

What is the enlarged program and what are the extra costs? The new six-storey east wing will cost $340,000 more than estimated and the modernization of the old building will cost $471,000 more. These two items are largely due to increased costs. The rest—$771,000—is all concerned with enlarging the scope of the hospital—a new clincial building, a new nurses' training school, and an extension to the nurses' residence. In connection with the latter, Mr. Schmon wisely pointed out that it is no use enlarging a hospital unless you make provision for training and housing extra nurses.

The final program will cost $1,582,000 more than originally planned, but the public is not being asked to provide that amount or anything like it. The public is being asked, through industries, organizations and the like, to subscribe $300,000 in a "Help Furnish Your Hospital" campaign. The rest of the money will come from other sources, governments and private. Already it has been indicated that industry will provide about half of the $300,000.

RATS IN THE RAIN

Two gangsters were escorting a member of a rival gang across a lonely field on a dark rainy night.

"What rats you guys are," groaned the doomed one, "making me walk through the rain like this."

"How about us?" growled the escort. "We gotta walk back!"

MISGIVINGS ABOUT MOSSADEGH

No More Rides

WINNIPEG (CP)—The University of Manitoba has ruled against the practice whereby students thumbed their way from the suburban campus to the city. Believing the practice slowed traffic, the officials announced "thumbers" would be fined $1.

Ike Says Soviet Union Presents Deadly Challenge

NEW YORK (CP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said last night the Soviet Union has presented a "deadly challenge" to the free world, a challenge that must be answered "if we are to survive in freedom."

At the same time he expressed the certainty that the free world has the strength to meet it.

The Republican candidate for president delivered the principal speech at the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner attended by more than 2,000 prominent persons of both the Democratic and Republican parties. The address was non-political.

Eisenhower presented a detailed analysis of the recent 10-day meeting in Moscow of the 19th Communist party congress. From it he drew the conclusion that Joseph Stalin proposed the destruction of "democracy in general and the United States in particular."

APPEALS FOR UNITY

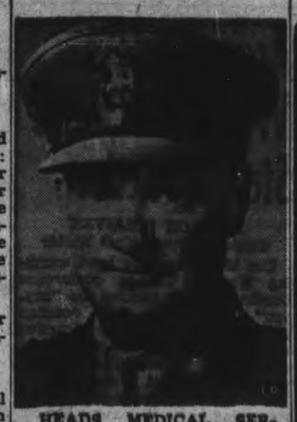
Eisenhower said the formula for meeting the Soviet menace is a greater unity within the United States, with its wartime allies and with the three countries — Germany, Italy and Japan — which were its enemies then.

Eisenhower suggested that the U.S. should place loans at the disposal of Japan and Germany.

Both countries have lost their principal pre-war markets, he said.

"In the long run these facts pose huge problems. We must not wait for the long run to have elapsed before we start facing these issues with loans spurred by panic and other such desperate, last-minute improvising."

In the case of Britain, he said the United States must work to remove "our harmful differences on crucial Far Eastern policies." The U.S. must show "understanding of the problems of the British Commonwealth" even while arguing firmly against Britain's reluctance to enter certain continental European arrangements.



Similarly with France, Eisenhower called for a policy that would assist in the solution of the "dangerous problem of the North African populations now striving for freedom from French domination."

OUTLINE FOR U.S.

Eisenhower said the U.S. should take this position in world affairs: "Resolutely, to hearten our friends; wisely, to confound our enemies; constantly, to give hope to the hearts of the enslaved; prudently, to guard the trust of the free, and courageously, to be worthy of the high commission history has conferred upon us.

"United in this faith, no power—however massed, however menacing—can prevail against us."

Children Write Letters Of Thanksgiving

WINNIPEG (CP)—Thanksgiving Day is a day to give thanks and a Winnipeg schoolmaster has come up with a good way of expressing it.

James W. Chafe, principal of Alexandra School, had children from four grades write letters of thanks to friends or relatives before heading for home and the turkey week-end.

"Thanksgiving Day should be a day of Thanksgiving—not just an opportunity to stuff yourself," he says. "Most of the children here aren't aware of the many things they have to be thankful for."

Mr. Chafe feels the school should try to get across the idea that giving isn't a one-way street.

"We tried to show the children that even if you can't repay people for their kindnesses in kind, you can be grateful and you can let them know."

His pupils held an exercise in letter writing and a Thanksgiving Day service was held in the school auditorium. They sang hymns and heard a talk by a former German citizen on what they had to be thankful for.

Grandmothers appeared to get most of the student letters. One letter to a grandmother in Calgary thanked her for "taking such good care of me when I was staying with you."

Another went to a boy who had saved the writer from drowning; others to friends who had saved children from being struck down by cars.

GuardsMoreImportant Than Walls–Foote

TORONTO (CP)—Reform Institutions Minister Foote, who returned yesterday from a two-week tour of United States prisons, said he is convinced that prison guards are more important than prison walls.

"We got confirmation everywhere that the quality of the staff guarding prisoners is even more important than the buildings," said the Minister who with his deputy minister, Col. Hedley Basher, made the tour to study safety devices which might be used in the Don Jail and in other Ontario prisons.

The leftward slant of this writing is a sign that this person keeps his true feelings very much under control.

You sometimes find this type of writing in young people who are going through a phase of pseudo-sophistication. As they outgrow this attitude, their handwriting reverts back to a right slant.

In the above script, the 'i' dots and 't' crossings are carefully placed and the pen is kept under control as each word is being written, showing the writer's caution and exactitude.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Bob Baker is president this year of the Peterborough Badminton Club, which starts its season with a round-robin open night Saturday in the Market Hall. Rod Stuart is vice-prexy, S. Fleming, secretary, E. Johnston, treasurer, Vince O'Donoghue, captain, and Irene Jones and Marg Lundy conveners. Games committee to look after all matches is made up of Vince O'Donoghue Rod Stuart and Marg Lundy. The club welcomes prospective members, and looks for a big winter season. Bowmanville recqueteers come here Nov. 8 and the Belleville Club is expected in competition up this way ere Christmas. Youngsters, too, are encouraged by the local club to play this lively indoor game.

Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts and the Peterborough Orfuns are tied atop the O.R.F.U. intermediate "A" heap at the moment, but that'll be changed along about 10:30 tonight in Morrow Park. These strong squads clash here this eve and the winner will rule the roost alone. In a short grid schedule, every melee is most important, so the Ghosts and the Orfuns will give it all they have in this clash. The Messrs. Wildes, Hodson, Huntley, Jensen, Armstrong, White, Berry, Ouelette, Naismith, McGillis, Thompson, Burns, Beavis, Conlin, Milligan, Howe, Fitzgerald and the rest of Tony Kotowski's classy crew will really roll in an effort to grab the group leadership. This is a football "natural" for sure.

A New Puck Deal Here

Do you realize, puck fans, that two weeks from tonight sees the start of O.H.A. senior "B" play here? Yes, it's that close—and a new deal is promised hockey followers this semester. A stronger group with three new entries. Oshawa, Orillia and Stouffville. The later were provincial champs last year, so they're no soft touch. Orillia and Oshawa are building and should be potent. Belleville is importing to meet the challenge, and Kingston—group finalists last spring—have all their suspended players back. They'll be tough onions. However, he Petes have combined with the 1951-52 Eagles' players, so they should be no pushovers, either. Sounds like a keen puck campaign coming up, eh?

Ray Harding advises us that entries for the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association will be taken at an eight p.m. "Y" meeting Oct. 23—a week from yesterday. A nominating committee will also bring in a suggested slate of officers at that time, so things can start rolling in the minor setup. Chairman Al Watkins (of the O.M.H.A.) has Alex Sinclair, Pat Doherty and Angus Bradley on this committee. Prexy Don Smedmor and his able executive did a good job last season for the kids, the boys who are the future O.H.A. stars, and there are big plans being considered now for the P.M.H.A. this winter. They have a night a week all through at Civic Arena.

The Hockey Grab-bag

Some odds and ends on hockey up this way: Stu Lingard, classy young Cobourg goalie, is seeking a tryout with the local junior "B" Oddfellows. High time for a group meeting to line up junior clubs. Andy Milne is playing for Sudbury Wolves. Al Burns returns as playing coach of Lindsay Muskies in the lakeshore intermediate setup, with Sixty Coombs and Sliver O'Donoghue with the team again, too. O.M.H.A. announces a low cost insurance covering all players on affiliated teams in case of injury. For a dollar premium, it covers hospital and doctor bills if players are hurt during a game or practice, or on their way to or from a game. Sounds okay to us.

Two collegiate football teams play out of town on the morrow. Juniors trek to Oshawa to meet the Collegians there in group play. Bev Goulding's senior P.C.V.S. pack tangles with Banting H. S. at Alliston, winner going into the Red Feather tourney at Toronto next weekend. Two undefeated junior teams, Oshawa Central and St. Peter's clash at 2:30 Saturday aft in Morrow Park for the group leadership, an important fray. Saints will be minus their good quarterback, John Hickey, who suffered concussion playing for S.P.S. seniors in a Cobourg exhibition yesterday. A Cobourg player got a fractured arm in the hard-hitting game which the lakeshore lads won 15-12. A few other St. Peter's boys will be out of the lineup tomorrow, too, we believe.

Mohawks Sign Ray Leacock

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Mohawks of the International Hockey League yesterday signed defenceman Ray Leacock who will be one of the few Negroes ever to appear in organized hockey in the United States.

Leacock was one of eight players signed yesterday as the Mohawks brought their roster to the full strength of 17 players.

The 21-year-old Leacock was a 1951 Montreal Golden gloves heavyweight boxing champion. He weighs 182 pounds.

Cincinnati will be appearing in the International League this year for the first time. It dropped out of the American League after three seasons.

Argos-Riders Weekend Game Star Attraction

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The kids who have been warming Western Canada conference benches eagerly seeking the "hey, you" signal from their coaches probably will get plenty of action this weekend in end-of-schedule don't-matter games. The situation is vastly different in the east.

The Big Four, with four games remaining in its 12-game schedule, is a wide-open battle with three clubs jockeying for the two playoff berths. The inside track belongs to Hamilton Tiger-Cats with a three-point bulge over second-place Ottawa Rough Riders

The choice game of the weekend is billed between the Riders and the in-and-out Toronto Argonauts who dropped from a first-place tie to third position following their home - and - home Thanksgiving weekend double loss to the Tiger-Cats.

The Argonauts, who have blown big half-time and three-quarter leads in recent games, apparently forgetting that football is a 60-minute game, play at Ottawa's Lansdowne Park. They are only one point behind Riders and if Coach Frank Clair can get his Double Blues "up" for this one, Riders may expect a grim fight.

EASY FOR HAMILTON

Tiger-Cats have a comparatively soft touch at Hamilton against the winless Montreal Alouettes and a victory here would just about gain them a berth in the post-season playoffs.

Everything is cut and dried in the West. Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who have clinched first place and a bye into the best-of-three finals, meet the Stampeders at Calgary and Edmonton Eskimos finish the regular season at Regina against the last-place Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Eskimos and Stampeders open their home-and-home total-points semi-finals at Calgary next Wednesday and it's a cinch both clubs will rest their veterans at the weekend in preparation for the big games. Blue Bombers are idle after Saturday until the finals start Nov. 1 and they'll depend on youngsters to carry the load Saturday.

Decides To Retire From Billiard Play

CHICAGO (CP)—Willie Hoppe yesterday announced his retirement from active billiard tournament competition.

The "old master," who reached 65 last Saturday, closes a 46-year reign as the world's No. 1 tournament billiard player.

He first won a world's title Jan. 15, 1906, in Paris at 18. He defeated the 18.1 balkline king, Maurice Vignaux, and established a world record average of 20.83 points an inning to win 500-323.

Ever since then Hoppe has held a world championship of some kind or other in the billiard field.

In the course of his career he held 51 titles, his most recent being the 1952 three-cushion crown won last March in San Francisco.

BOY OR GIRL?—Mickey Mantle, New York Yankee slugging star, and his wife, Merlyn, relax at the home of her parents. Mickey just recently announced they are expecting a baby. Object of their attention is a pair of lace trimmed baby shoes which Mrs. Mantle purchased. Mantle will take his third physical examination for army draft next Wednesday in Oklahoma City. Mickey was twice classed 4-F because of osteomyelitis, a bone infection in his left leg.

Hope Zucchero In Mood For Big Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — "I hope the old boy is in a good mood," says trainer William Payne in weighing the probable showing of Zucchero in tomorrow's $50,000 International horse race.

The trainer of the English thoroughbred, rated by most handicappers the best of four foreign horses in the race, reveals that while Zucchero means sugar in Italian the horse is anything but sweet.

"He's something of a movie actor," Payne says. "If he gets in a little bit of bad racing luck he says to himself 'guess this isn't my day' and he won't run."

Because of the horse's mischevious temperament, Payne has been granted an unusual request. He'll be allowed to walk Zucchero to the post, although under Maryland racing rules no one except the starter and his assistants shall participate in starting a race.

Zucchero had a reputation as a bad actor in England. Payne said he was bought by George Rolls, a London bookmaker, after English racing authorities had considered ruling him out of racing for misbehavior.

But Zucchero can run when he makes up his mind. Trainer Payne insists he's the best four-year-old in England. Zucchero won two races this year and four last year.

His jockey will be Charle Smirke. The English jockey is unusually heavy for a rider, weighing 121 pounds.

The International will bring together two horses English fans had hoped to see in a showdown. The other, Wilwyn, won 10 straight races after losing its first 1952 start, but never has hooked up with Zucchero.

The three-year-old Wilwyn is owned by Robert Boucher, an English farmer. He is being trained by 21-year-old John Waugh.

WON'T MIND TRACK

Waugh doesn't think the foreign horses, all of which are used to English racing, will be bothered by the strange conditions of an American track.

"Our horses have to run over all kinds — to the left, to the right, up and down, and straight, so they are used to different courses," said Waugh.

The American horses, Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship, Mrs. Henry L. Straus' Pilaster, and Hasty House Farms' Ruhe, have run the same way always—counter-clockwise, or to the left, which is the way they'll go tomorrow.

The 1½-mile distance also is right down the alley of the invaders while U. S. horses run that far only a couple of times a year.

The fourth foreign entry, Indian Hemp, owned by Max Bell of Calgary, has done its racing in England along with the other three.

Give Slaughter Comeback Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Enos (Country) Slaughter, veteran outfield star of St. Louis Cardinals, today was selected as the player who made the greatest comeback of the 1952 baseball season.

Slaughter won The Associated Press comeback-of-the-year award handily, receiving 26 of the 61 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Thirteen other candidates were nominated but none proved a serious threat. Luke Easter of Cleveland was second with 11 votes.

Slaughter was considered all washed up last April, after hitting .281 in 1951. But he astounded critics in 1952 by not only participating in 140 contests but hitting at a .300 clip.

Betty Pogue Leads

Glens took six points from Corvettes and Tigers took six from Bombers this week in the Y.M.C.A. lasses' senior bowling circuit. Aces beat Lucky Strikes by four and Hurricanes took four over Commandos.

Betty Pogue was high bowler with a 312 single and 761 three. Dorothy Martin just missed 300 by rolling 297. Mary Flaherty had a 644 triple and D. Martin 638. Good singles also included: S. Marshall 267, A. Reid 260, M. Flaherty 245, H. Howden 242, N. Hepburn 231 and J. Ward 228.

Once-Proud Ruppert Stadium Now Headed For Scrap Heap

By CHUCK CAPALDO

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Ruppert Stadium, the once-proud home of Newark Bears and the jump-off point for many major league stars, is headed for the scrap heap.

New York Yankees yesterday finally gave up on the 14,000-seat white elephant and snuffed out flickering hopes that organized baseball would return here with the announcement:

"The park will be torn down and the property offered for sale for real estate."

Behind those 15 words is a story of minor-league baseball at its best, of seven pennants in the International League, four league play-off championships and of three Little World Series triumphs.

SAW MANY STARS

It is a story of some of the biggest names ever to grace a score card such as Red Rolfe, Dixie Walker, Joe Gordon, Tommy Henrich, Charley (King Kong) Keller and Spud Chandler and, before them, big Ed Walsh, Art Devlin, Josh Devore and Joe McGinnity.

Many oldtimers who etched their names in the record books played before Ruppert Stadium became part and parcel of Newark's tumultuous baseball scene in 1925 but they are an indelible part of its rich heritage.

Then, as now, the park was dead weight for the man who built it, Charles A. Davids, a Bayside, N.Y., promoter who dabbled in semi-pro ball on Long Island.

He bought the Reading, Pa., franchise in the old Eastern League for a reported $80,000 and the site and the erection of Davids Stadium but it was more than he could handle. Payments couldn't be met and a receiver was appointed.

Two years later, in 1927, the late Paul Block, a publisher, purchased it for $360,000 plus $147,000 in debts.

RUPPERT BUYS STADIUM

With rumors flying that Block was losing money and Brooklyn was going to take over, the late Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, bought the franchise for $360,000 and renamed Davids Stadium.

Thus began the golden era of Newark baseball and 18 years of perhaps the most successful farm club operation organized baseball ever will see. In 1932, the first year Ruppert owned the club, he saw the first of the pennants that were hoisted over Ruppert Stadium with clock-like regularity until dwindling crowds sounded the death knell of the Bears.

The recession began during the war, and with television greasing the skids, the Yankees gave up on its ghost-like franchise in 1949. The following year the Bears were sold to Chicago Cubs who shifted the club to Springfield, Mass.

The Yankees rented the park out for midget auto races, circuses and the roller derby.

Injured Players Return

COBOURG — Cobourg Galloping Ghosts were in a more cheerful mood today as they heard that some of the injured members of the team would see some action in Friday's game in Peterborough against the powerful Orfuns.

The tilt is the most important to the Ghost hopes since they last became Dominion champions in 1949. The two clubs are tied at 14 points, and each has only one more game with the other. The Gallopers have a game with the Kingston R.C.E.M.E., but it is regarded as a sure thing since the soldier club has yet to win and has been losing by scores of 50 and 60 points.

The Petes have two games left with Oshawa Red Raiders, but figure to win them since they have overshadowed the Motor City club to date, winning handily in two encounters so far with the Motor City crew.

Star quarterback Mel Taylor will be lost to the Ghosts for a period of three weeks. He has been sent west by his firm. Taylor had been counted on as a starter in the Peterborough game, but he will be out of action until O.R.F.U. playoffs under the present circumstances.

Hard hitting half Coon Medhurst likely will play in Peterborough since he is recovering nicely after the heavy weekend which shook him up severely. He had not been counted on earlier in the week. Jack Reeves, another important backfield cog, is a doubtful starter, and John Brodie, third injured backfielder, may also miss the Petes game under the lights.

RUNNING LOW

The Ghosts, knee deep in good reserves at the start of the season, are feeling the bite of the heavy schedule as the playoffs loom. They have lost Karl Lenahan, their junior star, out for one year with a broken collarbone. Star end Bill Douglas is just back after a month-long injury layoff. Marty McGuire, a first-string linesman, is still feeling the effects of an early season injury and the failure of Bruce Richardson and Pete McPharland to last with the club left two more holes to fill.

Biggest contingent of fans ever to travel with the team is expected to make the Peterborough trip, headed by a clown band. The Cobourg club reserved a block of 500 tickets for the tilt, and one section of the stand will be marked off for the Cobourg rooters under present plans.

Halfback 17, May Miss Finals

WINNIPEG (CP)—Gerry James, 17-year-old halfback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, probably will miss the western interprovincial football finals, which start Nov. 1.

James said yesterday he will leave Winnipeg Oct. 20 to join Toronto Marlboros junior hockey team. Last winter, he played most of the season with Marlboros junior B team, but moved up to A company near the end of the schedule.

The brilliant youngster, who made the big jump from high school football to senior ranks this season, said there is a possibility he will get a week off to train for football if Bombers win a berth in the Grey Cup final at Toronto Nov. 29.

James scored his first points in W.I.F.U. competition last Monday when he scored two touchdowns against Saskatchewan Roughriders. Prior to that game, he had been used mostly on kick returns.

Buffalo, Providence Tie 1-1 In Overtime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For one day at least Providence Reds and Buffalo Bisons can boast of leading the other five clubs in the American Hockey League.

The Reds and Bisons battled to a 1-1 overtime deadlock in the season's opener in Providence last night. Barry Sullivan, converting Ray Powell's rebound, put the home six ahead at the seven-minute mark of the third period But 10 minutes later, Buffalo's Vern Kaiser, on passes from Gordie Pennell and Lorne Davis, put the equalizer past the Reds' goalie, Harvey Bennett.

Elmer Lach, who scored two goals to pace Montreal Canadiens to a 3-1 victory over New York Rangers.

Dave Creighton, whose second-period goal broke a 1-1 tie and gave Boston Bruins a 2-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Thinks Boxing Needs Official Medical Help

CHICAGO (AP) — A physician, formerly an athletic official, said today that boxing needs official medical supervision "to remove the stigma of legalized murder."

He said that many boxing deaths are not accidental, as listed, but due to failure of equipment or regulations to protect the boxer sufficiently.

Dr. Frank Ferliano, former chairman of the medical advisory board to the New York State Athletic Commission, urged a national or international medical code for the sport.

Dr. Ferliano outlined his views in an article in the current issue of the journal of the American Medical Association.

PAID BY PROMOTERS

He pointed out that physicians attending boxers at New York bouts are paid now by the promoters.

This "placing of the physician on the payroll of the promoters and arena owners," Dr. Ferliano said, "is the weakest part in the state boxing laws."

It has resulted, he said, in lack of general knowledge about ring injuries. "One reason for this is that physicians have little desire to publish their observations because of their relationship with their employers."

Cook Decides To Get Tough

CLEVELAND (AP)—Coach Bun Cook of Cleveland Barons, known throughout the American Hockey League for his policy of fatherly friendship toward his players, is going to change his tactics.

"I can't help thinking we could have saved a lot of games last year if I had cracked down on some of the boys," the former hockey great said yesterday.

He said he sometimes let a player go two or three games before calling him for doing something wrong, but "there will be no more of that. I expect to crack down immediately."

In 15 years of A.H.L. coaching, Cook has had five title winners, gone to the finals three times and won nine division championships.

Cook has picked Jackie Gordon, centre of the first line, to be captain of the Barons this season. Gordon succeeds Fred Thurier, who resigned from the team.

Chicago's Bubble Bursts Blanked By Red Wings 7-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Chicago bubble has burst. The league-leading Hawks, who have been playing out of character since they got a new coach, new owner and a bunch of new players this National Hockey League season, were unceremoniously dumped 7-0 by the Red Wings at Detroit last night. It was the Hawks' first loss in five games and, incidentally, the worst defeat for any N.H.L. club to date.

But it still left them atop the loop with seven points, one ahead of the second-place Wings. The shutout was a rough return to his old home town for Sid Abel, who left Detroit to coach the Hawks, last year's last-place finishers.

In other games, Boston Bruins trimmed the winless Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 in a penalty-studded contest and Montreal Canadiens whacked out a 3-1 victory over the league cellar dwellers, New York Rangers.

Abel watched his former team mates thud into the attack that last year gave Detroit the N.H.L. championship. Sparked by Ted Lindsay, who fired two goals, the Wings started to click in the middle period. Chicago's new goalie, Al Rollins, held them out almost single-handedly in the initial frame making 23 saves.

SPEED PAYS OFF

Detroit speed then began to blast through the ineffective Chicago defence, rattling home singletons from the sticks of Gordie Howe, Marcel Pronovost, Metro Prystai, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson.

Conn Smythe's revamped Leafs, who have managed only a tie in three games, lost out in a high-sticking contest with the Bruins in which 16 penalties were called. Boston goals, which came while Leafs were short-handed, were by Real Chevrefils and Dave Creighton.

Two match penalties were handed out—to Leo Labine and Tod Sloan in the first period when they became involved in a fist-and-sticks melee. Sloan took a five-stitch cut on the top of the head and Labine a huge bump on his.

Labine's stand-in, Pentti Lund, aided in Boston's first goal, passing to Jerry Toppazzini who relayed to Chevrefils at the Toronto goal mouth. Chevrefils counted on his second try at 37 seconds of the second period.

RANGERS LOSE REISE

Ted Kennedy tied it a little later and in the finale, Creighton dribbled the puck through Harry Watson's skates before hoisting it into the nets.

Canadiens' victory came on two goals by Elmer Lach and a successful penalty shot by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion. A crowd of 13,882 saw the penalty score, first of the season. Canadiens were a man short at the time.

Lach fired in his two goals in less than a minute of the third period while Ed Kullman of New York was in the penalty box. Bert Olmstead assisted on the first and the second was a solo effort. The Rangers' lone goal was scored by Herb Dickenson.

Rangers lost defenceman Leo Reise, carried from the ice in the third period after falling against a goalpost. He was reported to have suffered a muscular injury about the neck and left shoulder.

ALL LOVE 'THE DOBBER'

REGINA (CP)—Glenn Dobbs is the "losingest" coach in big-time football next to Montreal's Doug Walker but is the 31-year-old Oklahoma import a failure? Forget it, fellows. Everybody loves The Dobber.

Attendance figures show that Dobbs, in his first year as coach, has been a success at the box-office although his Roughriders have won only two of 15 games in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. Walker's Alouettes haven't won a game in eight.

Look at these Saskatchewan crowd figures:

For eight home games—and Riders won only one of them—86,313 fans paid their way into Taylor Field for an average of 10,789 a game. The total attendance is 10,000 above Regina's population and the average is a record for the Regina park.

The big, good-natured Dobbs swept football fans off their feet last year with his nifty forward passing on the field and his behavior away from the football wars. He quarter-backed Riders to the Grey Cup final last November and this year made his coaching debut with a cellar finish.

In Edmonton tomorrow, The Dobber leads Riders into their final 1952 appearance of the season and he says they won't quit until the final gun.

"We're shooting everything we have left at the Eskimos," he said yesterday. "After all, the Saskatchewan fans have never let us down and we'll field a team for the Edmonton game even if we have to get out there on crutches."

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The airways traffic control of the U. S. Department of Commerce here said five airline pilots sighted early today what the pilots described as "a meteorite which seemed to explode at a very high altitude."

The airways traffic authorities said the reports came from the Tennessee Valley, through Arkansas, Texas and from Lafayette, Baton Rouge and Laplace, La.

Grove Takes Win

Grove downed King Edward 4-0 at Grove yesterday in a senior school soccer match. Patterson scored early for Grove, with Roy Wood, Patterson again and then Simmons concluding their scoring all in the first half. It was closer in the second half and Casey almost counted one on a corner kick. Merrett, Davy, Patterson, and Copping stood out for Grove; with D. Simons and Murduff best for King Edward. Teams:

Grove: Davy, Keene, Merrett, Griffin, Casey, Patterson, Hargreaves, R. Wood, Simmons, Copping, L. Wood, Duncan, Sherry, Bailey.

K. E.: R. Rowe, W. Rowe, Murduff, Livingston, Markwick, Simons, Elmsley, Heard, Wilde, Jones, Walling, Tushingham.

Third-Period Goal Gives Edmonton Tie

EDMONTON (CP)—A third-period goal gave Edmonton Flyers a 3-3 tie with Seattle Bombers in a fast Western Hockey League game here last night before some 3,000 fans.

A high shot from the blue line by defenceman Bill Folk was deflected into the Seattle net off Ching Johnson's stick to knot the count after Bombers had led 3-2 in the second.

Jim Uniak and Gerry Ehman got the other Edmonton goals. Seattle scoring was done by George Pargeter, Gerry Foley and Rudy Fillon.

Murray Rose of Blenheim was brought to hospital here in critical condition. Police said they believed he fell asleep at the wheel of his car and drove off the road.

Back In Own Army

Former Kashmir General Turns Sergeant

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

FT. BELVOIR, Va. (NEA). — It's not so much the actual demotion from general to sergeant which rankles. It's just that having once been a general does have drawbacks for a man when he finds himself a sergeant.

That's the report of Sgt. Russell K. Haight, 30, now an engineering instructor at Ft. Belvoir, Va., in the Kashmir Army in 1947. He successfully led a brigade of 2,000 tough dragoons against the Indian Army and almost broke up part of the holy wars there single handed.

He was such an able general that the Indian government, in desperation, persuaded the U. S. State Department to talk him out of his command. He got his own Haight-type revenge on the Indians, however, for this.

Fleeing a plot on his life, and with a heavy price put on his head by the Indians, he duped an Indian officer into providing him a staff car across the border to safety in New Delhi.

• • •

The only thing that peeves Sgt. Haight today is that just after being pressured into giving up his general's stars, and then re-enlisting in the U. S. Army, his application for a U. S. commission was turned down on the grounds of insufficient experience.

One of the big things Haight has is military experience. At 17, he left Denver, Colo., high school in 1939 to join the Canadian army. He was in the Commandos and saw some rough combat before America got into the war.

Transferring to U. S. forces he spent time in the infantry, teaching judo and weapon training. At the end of the war he was in pilot training. Then he had a short stint as a cop in Denver, sold insurance and finally wound up in Afghanistan as a civil engineer.
